When all nominations are in, voting begins on the first ballot. In the Republican convention, if "Ike" chooses to run, he will probably be renominated on the first ballot or by acclamation. If he chooses not to run, it may take several ballots to nominate someone else. In the Democratic convention, since there are many candidates, a decision before several ballots appears unlikely.

The first ballot is usually fairly unimportant, except as a preliminary showing of strength. There are numerous "favorite sons" whose names are put up primarily to pay back political "debts," or to pay homage to an outstanding figure in the state.

The "favorite son" technique is used for other purposes, chief among them bargaining. States firmly committed to one candidate in advance of the convention have little bargaining strength. But, if the battle is close, states committed to "favorite sons" may be able to hold out for a "high price." Sometimes the "price" is promise of a cabinet post or high office for someone from the state. It is a delicate matter to hold out for the right length of time, but not too long.

MAJORITY RULES

In both parties, it takes a majority of all the delegates to nominate. In the Democratic convention, some states follow the "unit" rule. This means that if, of 27 delegates from the state, 14 were for candidate "A" and 13 for candidate "B," all 27 would be cast as a "unit" for candidate "A." In the Republican Party and in some Democratic state delegations, delegates vote as individuals. Thus "A" would get 14, and "B" 13 votes. The "unit" rule usually puts the state delegation in a better bargaining position.

If a candidate is not nominated on the first ballot, leading contenders begin trading votes. States supporting "favorite sons" shop around. Success is on the auction block and talks of deals are common at this stage.

Potential nominees usually scrupulously avoid conventions, and retire to a safe distance. Then they can come to the convention and say: "I stand before you, clean and honest. I have made no promises and no corrupt bargains. I owe nothing to anyone. My hands are clean."

DEALS ARE MADE

As a practical matter, bargains have always been made, usually by the candidate's tacit consent, without his actual knowledge. A cabinet post, an ambassadorship, or even the vice-presidency may have been promised to get the decisive block of votes swung into the winner's column.

Abraham Lincoln, fearful his managers in the 1860 convention would compromise him by "deals" telegraphed his managers: "Make no bargains for me." It would appear his managers paid scant attention, nor could they. David Davis, later a member of the U. S. Supreme Court, read the message and snapped, "H—! We are here and he is not!" Seward, Lincoln's chief opponent at the convention, later became Secretary of State, a not-uncommon post for defeated contenders in the last century.

Buick CENTURY
6-Passenger 4-Door Riviera

Then come drive a 1956 Buick—and get something you'll get nowhere else.

It's a new kind of blazing performance that breaks with the past and brings you today what other cars may offer in the future.

Only Buick, of all the world's automobiles, has Variable Pitch Dynaflow*—the one transmission which takes its cue from the variable pitch propellers of modern aircraft.

So here you get an exhilarating response from the first inch of pedal travel—with absolutely no pauses or lags—and with the better gas mileage this low throttle range can provide.

Only here can you switch the pitch by flooring the pedal for a soaring burst of full power when safetv demands it.

And only here can you have such years-ahead performance with the smart new beauty of Buick's sweep-ahead styling—with the new sweetness of Buick's great new ride—with the superb new surety of Buick's precise new handling.

What does all this add up to for you? Just this:

You couldn't pick a better time than right now to make a great buy on all this new Buick bounty. It's only midsummer—with your present car at its peak trade-in value. And our prices today are sweet enough to help keep Buick outselling all other cars in America except two of the well-known smaller cars.

So drop in on us today—or this week, at the latest—and we'll start things rolling for you in a great big way.

760 Votes Cast In City Primary

Seven hundred and sixty of over 3,000 registered voters in the City of Tecumseh and 80 in Tecumseh Township cast their ballots in Tuesday's primary election. There are 250 registered voters in the township.

In the Republican race for the nomination for governor, Donald S. Leonard led in the city with 355 votes. Albert E. Cobo received 218 votes. Gov. G. Mennen Williams, unopposed on the Democratic ticket, had 130 votes. In the township, Leonard received 19 votes, Cobo 53 and Williams 4.

In the contest for prosecuting attorney, which held keen interest throughout the county, Kenneth B. Glaser Jr. led with 221 city votes. Paul T. Betz received 184 votes and Yale Leland Kerby ran closely behind with 183. In the township the votes were Kerby, 32; Glaser, 19 and Betz, 17.

William M. Howe led the vote for sheriff in the City of Tecumseh with 156 votes. Runners-up were Robert C. Stites with 146, Elmer C. Smith, 129 and Arthur R. Kerr, 125. Votes in the township for sheriff were cast like this: Stites, 39; Smith, 13; Howe, 10 and Kerr, 3.

In the race for coroner Clarence L. Brown of Hudson led in city voting with 313 votes. Edward J. Braun of Adrian, received 292 and Donald F. Dunmore of Adrian 293.

Elmer R. Porter of Blissfield, Republican, incumbent for state senator from the 19th district led in the city race with 438 votes compared with 90 for Grenval W. Spangler (D) of Tecumseh. Porter received 55 township votes and Spangler received 4.

All vote totals are unofficial and were received by The HERALD early Wednesday morning before the official tabulation.

Fifty-one absentee ballots were cast in the city primary Tuesday. Two of these ballots came from European countries. Jack Williams, who is visiting his father in England, returned his ballot, which had been sent to him by City Clerk Naomi Sallows and another came from Mrs. Shirley Bailey Webber, who is in Germany with her husband, who is in the U. S. Army.

Swimmers Finish Summer Classes at Local Pool

Nearly 100 Tecumseh boys and girls have completed the summer swimming classes at the Joyce Andrews Memorial Pool and have passed their tests in one of the four classifications, beginner, junior-intermediate swimmers, intermediate and swimmers. They are now eligible for Red Cross certificates in those grades.

Instructors for the six weeks program are Victor Lawson and Bill Benham, who have conducted the tests and who announce that there will be a "make-up" day later for those who were not able to attend regularly scheduled tests.

Carl Hale, pool manager, announces that the pool is open to both children and adults from 2 to 5 p.m. in the afternoon and from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the evening seven days a week. This will continue until further notice and will depend on weather conditions. Attendance has not been as heavy during the cool days as during the hot weather of early summer.

JoAnn Green, Deborah Hain, Terry Haughn, Shirley Head, Dean Hebb, Mary Lou Hoot, Karlene Irelan, Dick Johnson, Leatha Kimerer, Merilee Kiser, Sue Klappich, Virginia Linn, Sharon Martin, Trina Mattis, Mike Mobley, Terry Morden, Cora Murphy, Leo Oswald, Anne Preston, Phillip Radant, Judy Reister, Terry Reister, Ricky Teske, David Withrow, Lanny Withrow, Lana Wright and Laura Wright.

POLICE COLLECTIONS FOR JULY TOTAL $1,141.57

During the month of July, Tecumseh police collected $478.60 in fines and $44.47 in meter violations. Parking meter collections for the month were $618.50, making a total of $1,141.57 for the month.

Police also handled four accidents and 15 complaints, issued 19 summonses and 108 meter violations. They made 15 arrests and five liquor inspections.

RECKLESS DRIVER

Leon Richardson of 3190 Murray Drive was arrested Saturday night for reckless driving. He was arraigned Monday and was fined $50 plus $8.60 costs.

Schools To Re-Open Tuesday, Sept. 4

All schools, both city and rural, of the Tecumseh Public School system will open Tuesday, Sept. 4. Changes have been made in the overall planning since last spring, reports superintendent of schools James McDowell, as the board of education is attempting to make available the best possible educational facilities to all children of the entire area.

Superintendent McDowell's report follows:

By careful planning and more efficient use of the classrooms at the high school, the administration has been able to arrange a junior high schedule which will enable all seventh and eighth grade pupils, both rural and city, to attend school at the high school in Tecumseh. This means, however, that there will be at least five noon hour classes for the high school pupils but these pupils and teachers will be given other time off for lunch.

The Centennial school will, therefore, not be used for the seventh and eighth grades as planned earlier in the year. The building, although readied for service this fall, will not be used unless the Kelley school votes favorably on annexation to Tecumseh in Oct.

This will enable all junior high pupils to have the same program which would have been impossible if the Centennial school had been used.

The Bradley school, which is voting on annexation to Tecumseh Aug. 24, and which will undoubtedly vote favorably since those residents who wished to send their children to the Clinton schools have already had their property transferred, will be closed and the pupils transported to other schools. The teacher, Marilyn Whelan, will be transferred to another location.

At the present time, should the staff remain static, school locations for the rural areas are as follows:

Grubb—Mrs. Doris Jones, 5 and 6; Tipton—Miss Joan Whelan, 1 and 2; Paragon—Mrs. Kime, 3 and 4; Pink—Mrs. Hulse, 1; Lanning—Mrs. Mabel Young, 3 and 4; Lamkin—Mrs. Baker, 5 and 6; Newburg—Mrs. Bless, kindergarten — two sections; Colvin—Mrs. Renfro, 2; Sutton—Mrs. Leonard, 1 and 2; Mrs. Bailey, 3 and 4; Mrs. Sneyd, 5 and 6.

Holloway—Mrs. VanDoren, 1, 3, 4, 5, 6; Centennial—Closed; Ridgeway—Miss Younglove, 5 and 6; Miss Marilyn Whelan, 3 and 4; Mrs. Rosemary Schroeder, 1 and 2; Mrs. Holtz, kindergarten—two sections; Macon—Mrs. Gorton, 1 and 2; Mrs. Beal, 3 and 4; Culbertson—Mrs. Betzoldt, 5 and 6; Bird—Closed; Bradley—Closed.

All buildings except the Patterson school and the high school have been renovated and considerable work done on grounds and equipment. All buildings have been cleaned thoroughly and needed repairs made as well as additional furniture purchased for same where needed. Lawns have been kept mowed and it is hoped that the children will be pleased with their locations when they return to school.

Bus schedules are not yet completed and many changes will have to be made after school starts. Although the location of each child in the total area was mapped last spring, new children have moved in and additional property transferred to Tecumseh this summer. It is, therefore, impossible to develop a perfect schedule for the first day. However, adjustments will be made wherever necessary.

All rural elementary pupils who live more than a half-mile from their schools will be transported as well as all rural secondary pupils who live more than one mile from school. Schedules for city pupils living more than these minimum distances will be approximately as in previous years.

Special bus schedules for kindergarten pupils will enable each child living more than one-half mile from school to be picked up or returned as kindergartners will attend school for half days only.

As nearly as can be determined at this time, school for grades seven, eight, nine, 10, 11 and 12 will begin at 8 a.m. and dismiss at 3:02 p.m. For both rural and city elementary schools with the exception of kindergartens the starting time will be approximately 9 a.m. and the children will be dismissed at approximately 3:30 p.m.

By operating schedules like these, it has been possible for the Tecumseh schools in the past to cut operating cost on the buses by better than half average costs of other schools in the county since each bus does double and sometimes triple duty. No children will be transported by private cars to Tecumseh schools at the expense of the district. All must ride the buses or pay their own expenses.

Additional information will be presented next week.

Archery Meet Held Sunday

Area archers met Sunday under the auspices of the local Conservation League at their grounds northwest of Tecumseh. This informal family sport is one of the more important parts of the League's program.

Cooperating with archers from Adrian and from Fayette and Delta, Ohio, the Tecumseh group is part of what is known as the State-Line Archers. Meets are held once each month in rotation at the four locations. The one Sunday was the fourth and last for Tecumseh this summer.

Anyone interested is free to attend any meet and take part in the contests.

There were 33 in Sunday's shoot besides spectators and families who enjoyed the picnic lunch and the social part of the outing. Don Creger is field captain for the range.

First place in the various classes was won as follows: free style ladies: Expert "A," Alice Vince, Adrian; Expert Bowman "B," Edna Helzerman, Tecumseh; Bowman, Helen Boyd, Manitou Beach.

Instructive shooting — ladies: Bowman, Sue Burt.

NEW POLICE OFFICER

Young Readers Used 2632 Books

During the past eight weeks the vacation reading club and story-hour of the Tecumseh Public Library has been meeting Wednesdays. Average attendance of the Wednesday gatherings was 58 youngsters.

The boys and girls read a total of 2,632 books during the eight weeks.

Each child was given a sailboat which was placed at a port on a large map of Michigan. This port represented the starting point. When a book was read, that child's boat was moved to the next port on the Great Lakes surrounding Mich.

Laura Seager read the most books with a total of 86.

Last Wednesday a party was held at the library for 78 children. Games were played, a story told and refreshments were served.

Services Held for Victor H. Gillespie

Victor Howard Gillespie, a resident of this community all his life, died Thursday morning at his home north of Tecumseh of a heart attack. Mr. Gillespie, who was 64 years of age had lived at his Allen road farm home for more than 50 years.

He was born Jan. 28, 1892, in Clinton township, the son of John and Dorcelia Everhart Gillespie, attended rural schools and graduated from Tecumseh high school. His wife, the former Laura Brown of near Clinton, preceded him in death in 1930 and he had lived alone since that time.

He is survived by one brother, Clare Gillespie, whose home is on the Clinton-Macon road and a number of nieces, nephews and cousins. His parents, a brother, Frank and a sister Leva Gillespie preceded him in death.

Mr. Gillespie was a member of Masonic Blue Lodge and the Royal Arch Masons.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon by the Rev. Blair Bashore at the Green Funeral Home and a Masonic graveside service was held at Riverside cemetery in Clinton with Howard Wilson Sr., chaplain; Ray Puffer Jr., worshipful master; Stanley Miller, senior warden and Robert Osburn, junior warden. The bearers were Ray Schlegel, Ted McConnell, Merle Mellot, Vern Russell, E. J. Aebersold and William Butler.

Revenue Bonds for Water Extension Project Are Sold

City Councilmen have accepted the bid of the First of Michigan Corporation and Paine, Webber, Jackson and Curtis of Detroit for the purchase of $220,000 worth of revenue bonds for the new city water tower and extension of the water supply system.

At a special meeting of the council Aug. 2, the company offered to purchase the bonds at an interest cost to the city, computed as specified in the notice of sale, of $87,739.26 and a premium of $91.74.

Work on the tower and water system will begin as soon as materials and supplies are available.

Cadets Take Part in Rescue Mission

Four cadets of Tecumseh Civil Air Patrol took part Aug. 4 and 5 in a simulated rescue mission which is staged for the education and experience of Civil Air Patrol personnel. Ray Puffer III, Marshal Boike and Lonny Penrod of Tecumseh and Gary Underwood of Clinton were part of the crew of a re-fueling aircraft from the Grand Haven Airport participating in SARCAP, (Search and Rescue Civil Air Patrol).

Two hundred and eighty cadets from all over the state were set problems by the Air Force, in this case the locating of a wrecked plane, the flight plan of which they were given. Eighty-six radio equipped vehicles and 15 aircraft were used in the problem.

L. H. Titley Named to Cemetery Board

LeRoy H. Titley was appointed to the Tecumseh cemetery board for a three year term at Monday night's meeting of the city council. Mr. Titley succeeds Ellsworth Collins, whose term has expired and who is no longer a resident of Tecumseh.

Mr. Collins has been a member of the cemetery board since April, 1947, when he was elected chairman of the board. He has served in this capacity since that year.

In other business, the council accepted the final plat of Indian Village subdivision which was submitted by Weston Haeussler.

A petition was read from Tecumseh Homes, Inc. for curb and gutter installation in the first addition to Sunset Meade. It was referred to the city manager for scheduling.

Bills amounting to $32,105.85 in the general fund, $14,226.89 in the water receiving fund, $6,603.41 in the water operation and maintenance fund and $2,936.56 in the hospital sinking fund were approved.

City manager Ed Nelson reported completion of curb and gutter on Evans and Chippewa streets and two blocks nearly completed on Oneida street. Culvert installation of Occidental road has begun, and, weather permitting, it will be completed this month.

The manager also reported purchase of a new police car from Wilson Motor Sales.

OFFICES CLOSED

Tecumseh High School superintendent's office and all principal's offices will be closed from Aug. 11 through Aug. 25.

Firemen Answer Three Alarms

City firemen answered an alarm at 6:45 p.m. Sunday when lightning struck the home of L. G. Garrison on Raisin Center highway. A hole was burned in the roof of the house and extent of the damage has not been estimated.

At 1:30 a.m. Monday, the department was called to 234 Cummins St., where C. Sanshez reported that the motor of his regrigerator had shorted and caught fire. There was only smoke damage.

M. D. Boss of S. Ottawa St. called firemen at 3:25 p.m. Tuesday. His television set caught fire. The only damage reported was loss of the set.

Rec Field Gets Sprayed

The photos show Jack Curtiss of 409 Center Drive, Tecumseh, spraying the Tecumseh recreation field with insecticide.

This spray is not harmful to wildlife or humans, but kills insects by either contact or fumes. The spray is effective for 20 to 30 days and longer in good weather. Approximately 650 gallons of this mixture were used to cover the field.

The spray consists of water, molasses, malathion 5L, and methoxychlor EM-2. The molasses is used as a bait to attract insects.

Ed Nelson, city manager, hired Jack to spray the field to keep mosquitoes and other insects to a minimum.

BRIDE-ELECT HONORED

Mrs. Rose Service and Mrs. Shirley Anderson entertained at the Service home recently, honoring Mrs. Anderson's sister, Miss Deloras Fletcher, whose marriage to Edward Bock of Britton will be an event of Aug. 18. The occasion was a pantry shower and the 22 guests brought many beautiful and useful gifts for the future kitchen. Games were enjoyed and the prizes awarded were given to the guest of honor. The hostesses served refreshments with the help of Mrs. Orman Sox and Mrs. Raymond Service. Guests were present from Ann Arbor, Britton, Clinton, Raisin Center and Tecumseh.

NOW'S THE TIME to find a home and move in before the new school term begins. I am a member of the Multiple Listing Bureau so have hundreds of properties I can discuss with you.

TECUMSEH

HERE IS A NICE family home located at edge of city, with spacious rooms, new kitchen, lot 112 x 198, garage and many extras. Also has income possibilities. Shown by appointment.

$2000 DOWN will buy you this modern, two bedroom home with large landscaped lot 90 x 785. This home has had many extras added such as a furnace, venetian blinds, two-car garage and not to mention the trees and shrubs. Really priced to sell.

IF YOU HAVE been looking for a modern, two bedroom home near the school with a nice basement, this is surely it. The children will surely love being so close to Tecumseh's pool, modern school and athletic field. Why not look this one over if you're in the market for a house? Just call and set your own time.

MACON

WORDS CAN NOT DESCRIBE all the extras that the owner has taken time to put into this lovely new six-room home. Will try and give you some idea, and recommend that you look it over. It has six rooms on the first floor with the living room size 23 x 14 and the master bedroom 18 x 11. The fireplace is very attractive. The basement has been divided into three rooms and it also has a lovely fireplace. The drapes, TV antenna and new carpeting are to remain with the home.

FARMS

100 ACRES 3 MILES east of Clinton with very attractive home.

180 ACRE FARM west of Clinton on the black top road. Ten room house, and good set of outbuildings.

40 ACRES AT EDGE of Tecumseh with large home. Land is ideal for subdivision and also perfect for trailer court or car lot.

Baker-Helling Vows Exchanged

Frances Ruth Helling of Muskegon and Bruce Gordon Baker of Tecumseh were united in marriage last Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Muskegon Ceneral Lutheran church. The Rev. William Burcaw performed the double ring ceremony.

Miss Helling is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Helling of Muskegon and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Chester Baker of Tecumseh.

The bride chose a gown of antique Italian taffeta fashioned in princess tyle. A boat neckline outlined in Alencon lace was a feature of the gown.

The new Mrs. Baker asked her sister, Mrs. William Roelofs of Muskegon to assist her as matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Doris Kibbie of Marshall and Miss Susan Helling, sister of the bride. Little Jane Roelofs was the flower girl.

A reception for 200 guests was held at the Houston House in Muskegon immediately after the ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of Western Michigan College and is affiliated with Delta Zeta sorority. She will act as a critic teacher for Western Michigan College in Paw Paw this fall. Mr. Baker is a junior at Western. He served in the U.S. Army for two years. After Sept. 1 the couple will live at D-11 Elmwood Apartments in Kalamazoo.

Paul Burns Attends Conclave at M.S.U.

Paul F. Burns, teacher of vocational agriculture at Tecumseh high school, received advance information at the conference for teachers of vocational agriculture at Michigan State University, July 30-Aug. 3, on agriculture methods and teaching techniques.

More than 295 Michigan high school superintendents, principals, directors of vocational education, and teachers of institutional on-farm training and vocational agriculture attended the event at Kellogg Center.

Outstanding speakers, workshop, demonstrations, tours, symposia and forums were part of the five-day program.

Major speaker at the conference was Edgar J. Woods, general sales manager of the tractor and implement division, Ford Motor Company.

Service "keys" were presented to those teachers completing five, 10, 20 and 30 years of continuous service in vocational agriculture.

This 37th annual conference was co-sponsored by the state office of vocational education, Michigan Association of Teachers of Vocational Agriculture and both the M.S.U. College of Agriculture and College of Education.

———o———

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Swan and family arrived Saturday evening to spend a few days with their father, Fred Swan. Mr. and Mrs. Swan are on their way home to Westtown, Pa., after spending several months in Japan. Other week-end guests in the Swan home were Mr. Swan's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Langthorne and daughter and Mrs. Margaret Langthorne of Detroit.

Spangler Wins State Hearst Golf Tournament

Val Spangler, Tecumseh golfer, won the Hearst state golf tournament last Thursday with a score of 143.

The tournament was held in Birmingham, Mich.

Val, 18, had scores of 71 and 72 over the North Hills Country Club.

He beat out 47 other golfers to take the state crown.

And by winning the state tournament he qualified for the national finals.

They will be played in Chicago Aug. 25 to 30.

Val qualified for the state tournament by winning the district meet at the Lenawee Country Club in June.

The former Tecumseh high school star won the state tournament by one stroke. Dick Alleyrand of Birmingham had scores of 76 and 68 for a 144 total. Alleyrand also qualified for the national tournament.

Field and Stream

(MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION OFFICIAL NEWS BULLETIN)

Field and Stream ....Standing Head

Conservation Department field biologists, working against time, will collect deer information up to the "11th hour" before making their recommendations for fall hunting seasons this year.

The Conservation Commission must have the recommendations for study and passage at its Aug. 9-10 meeting in order to make Hunting Law Digest printing deadlines.

Department staff members, using rules of the new deer law passed by the legislature this year, are expected to recommend that a system of quotas and areas be set up to harvest surplus deer this fall.

If this is the case, quotas of hunting permits will be recommended in certain "trouble" areas where deer are so numerous that they have eaten winter food plants down to the nub or where they have damaged farm crops.

Last winter, Michigan lost more than 115,000 deer, with large percentages of these winter-weakened animals starving and being pulled down by dogs.

The new law is aimed at taking enough deer in hunting seasons so remaining breeding stock will have a better chance of getting through the winter.

To date, Department field workers have built a sizeable pile of information for the Commission's use. Deer population studies, embryo counts in does killed on highways and fawn production data are all included.

The quota-area system, if used, will be in addition to the regular Nov. 15-30 buck season.

A small island off Brimley state park, southwest of Sault Ste. Marie, is a rookery for herring gulls. The island is a part of the park.

The gulls, in their morning forages for food, delight in sticking their long noses into park trash baskets to pull out the litter. They are merely looking for breakfast.

Football Physicals Scheduled Aug. 23

About 90 boys are expected to answer the call for physical examinations for football Thursday, Aug. 23 at 9 a.m. in the high school gym here.

Coach Bob Breniff said the call is for all boys interested in playing Indian football this year. The call includes seventh and eighth graders.

But practice will not begin until Aug. 27.

Tony Kasik, center

Dave Merrilat and Ron Gurtzweiler, guards

Bob Covell and Dave Holden, tackles

Larry Yoakum, quarterback

Ray Larned at full.

He stresses, however, that no player has automatically cinched a position.

He so far does not know how a so-called second team will shape up, although he does have some of the players in mind for the 11 positions.

Tecumseh opens the season this year with strong Hudson. Last year the Tigers won 45-0.

A more complete story on the Indians' league chances will be forthcoming.

THE HIGHEST honor that can be bestowed upon a baseball player is election to the Hall of Fame.

Long after the player is gone, his name lives on in the national shrine at Cooperstown, N. Y., where Abner Doubleday is believed to have invented the game in 1839.

That's why Hank Greenberg and Joe Cronin were choked with emotion at this year's ceremonies when the two former sluggers, both now general managers, were permanently enshrined.

Real Detroit Affair

I well know how they feel. My proudest treasure is knowing I too am there among the immortals, my plaque not far from that of John J. McGraw, the man who signed me as a kid of 16 to my first New York Giant contract and helped make me a big leaguer.

This year's ceremonies were quite a Detroit affair. Not only was former Tiger Greenberg enshrined and the Tigers played the Giants in the annual exhibition game but, coincidentally, Lyall Smith, sports editor of a Detroit newspaper, happens to be this year's president of the Baseball Writers' Association and thus took an active part in the impressive ceremonies.

Future Immortals?

On Doubleday Field, converted from a cow pasture where Cooperstown schoolboys first played the game more than a century ago, young Tiger stars who may someday themselves be enshrined in the Hall of Fame performed before stands (seating 9,000) that were sold out three months in advance.

Players like Harvey Kuenn and Al Kaline, for instance, may someday gain immortality.

To achieve election to the Hall of Fame, a candidate must receive 75 per cent of the total vote of the Baseball Writers' Association after he has been out of the sport at least five years. The writers themselves must have covered baseball 10 years before they are eligible to vote.

A special committee elects oldtime players not familiar to contemporary sportswriters.

Priceless Relics

The Hall of Fame and Museum, which were established in 1939 and are supported by both major leagues, contain many priceless relics of the sport in addition to descriptive bronze plaques of all the players immortalized.

This collection includes one of the early baseballs, the bats of Ty Cobb and Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig's locker, as well as such more recent additions as Stan Musial's shoes and the two balls with which Allie Reynolds completed his two no-hitters in one season.

There's lots more, including memorable paintings and photographs, and any baseball fan who makes the trip to Cooperstown will certainly find it worth the visit.

Nothing takes to the road like a Chevy!

Once in a blue moon a car like this comes along—a design so advanced in performance, so beautifully balanced and so roadworthy that it stands out above every other car on the highway.

It has a solid, sure-footed way of going that makes driving safer and more pleasant on any road. And you feel a very special sense of security in its rapid-fire responsiveness to your touch on the wheel, brakes and accelerator.

You can see that the '56 Chevy is a standout for style. But until you have driven one you're missing the best part of the news—the fact that Chevrolet is the smoothest, solidest, most wedded-to-the-road automobile you ever bossed. Try it and see.

A REFRIGERATOR-FREEZER
Means More Leisure and Less Work

Mothers, how would you like to sleep an extra 20 or 30 minutes in the morning? You probably could if you didn't have to fix school lunches for the children—or for Dad.

If you had a combination Freezer-Refrigerator you could prepare lunches days in advance. On a week-end you could make, in a few minutes, enough sandwiches for a week or two and store them in your freezer section. Baked goods and even complete meals can be stored in the same manner. An old-fashioned refrigerator just wasn't designed to give you such convenience.

A two-zone Refrigerator-Freezer is economical, too, because you can buy food in season, in quantity, when the price is right.

Commenting on the Passing Scene

HOW LOW CAN THE so-called human race get? Some one who claims to belong to Homo Sapiens, commonly called man, stole a fairly large planter filled with flowers off a grave in Brookside cemetery.

The story of the theft was told to us by a Tecumseh lady. The planter was stolen from her brother's grave.

You can imagine how the lady felt about the loss and about the fact that there are very cheap people in Tecumseh: cheap enough to steal from a grave.

The lady said she knew that reporting the theft would not lead to the recovery of the planter from her brother's grave; but she thought others who have loved ones buried in city-operated Brookside cemetery should become cognizant of the fact that at times nothing is held sacred.

DID IT EVER OCCUR TO YOU that litter-bugs are not only associated with state parks but that we have any number of this type right here in Tecumseh?

If you doubt it, take a look at most of the streets and alleys in the downtown area and the streets immediately surrounding the business area.

They are littered with bits of "flotsam and jetsam" that include old cardboard boxes, newspapers, broken wood boxes and bottles.

The result is a terrible blight on the town and something should be done to remedy this condition. Perhaps a little more cooperation between the city street department and the businessmen is needed. Maybe an ordinance to prevent littering would help.

IT MUST TAKE A LOT of intestinal fortitude for members of the Klu Klux Klan in the south to dress up in robes thus hiding their identity and talk against the United States Supreme Court and their country.

One wonders if these men favoring white supremacy would be so outspoken without the white robes on.

THE UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN'S Bureau of Business Research has completed an interesting study which gives an indication as to why shoppers shop outside their own community.

The results, listed here, are surprising. Made in Oakland County, the findings showed that more than 50 per cent of the shoppers answering go out of town to shop because of variety and price.

These two categories accounted for 50.8 per cent of the whole. Broken down they were 29.6 for variety and 21.2 for price.

Other reasons were: quality, 10.3; sales, 9.3; parking, 6.7; style, 3.6; service, 3.6; convenience, 3.5; and more modern stores, courtesy and miscellaneous reasons made up the remainder.

There may be clues in the study that might aid small town business.

EDUCATION—The gateway to growth of mind, spirit, and personality.

"College and Private School Directory of the U. S. and Canada."

"Lovejoy's College Guide." Here are two excellent reference works which give thorough and complete information for prospective students, parents, and guidance counselors.

"Off to College," Emerson, S. Friendly tips and straightforward information to help you enjoy the challenge of college.

You can always tell a senior by her stately cap and gown;
You can always tell a junior by the way she struts around;
You can always tell a freshman by her timid looks and such;
You can always tell a sophomore but you cannot tell her much!

This book is primarily for those who approach the first days at college with all the "trepidation of newly hatched chickens." Cleverly illustrated.

"Launching Your Preschooler," Bley, E. Mr. Bley has been working with children for many years in schools and camps, as well as with his own children, aged 7 and 8. He gives excellent guidance and suggestions in a conversational manner.

"How Good is Your School?", Yauch, W. Have you ever wondered about what was going on in the school your child is attending? Do the teachers sometimes do things which don't seem reasonable to you? Are you worried that your child will not learn all the things you think he should by the time he is through school? Are you worried that your child doesn't know as much as you did when you were in the same grade? Do you think the school is letting your child off pretty easy? If your answers to these and similar questions are "Yes," then this book is for you.

"How to Get Better Schools," Dreiman, D. America's children are America's future. The purpose of this book is to put into the parent's hands the tools which the National Citizens' Commission for the Public Schools has developed and perfected out of the experience of countless communities.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:

To the man who killed our black cat Wednesday night around 8 p. m. Why? Do you hate cats or what was the matter? You saw the cat and had time to slow up, the cat was almost across the road.

No matter how many more pets we have we will never find another to take Fourteen's place. We had him almost six years this New Year's Eve.

Some one had dropped him off, not much more than eight weeks old. We watched him grow and when sick he was taken to the vets. Had his shots as all our animals. Then to think we had to lose him this way.

I can't help but wonder, would the outcome have been the same if that had been a child, instead of a cat, crossing the road.

I know Mill St. is a highway, but how many think of it as also being residential. The speed limit is 30 miles per hour, but seven out of 10 cars once they hit either bridge are doing 50 or over. The Rat-Race starts about 7 p.m. and continues until 7 a.m.

How many times the residents of this street have heard the speeding cars, the shrieking of brakes and the worry of wondering who or what happened to be in the road. Maybe it was only some slap happy driver going to the store or into the Dairy Queen. Chances are now that some child is going to be next.

I know too many people won't sympathize with us, as for some reason pets of any kind are considered dumb animals. I can assure you that won't hurt us at all. As we feel the slap happy drivers are the dumb ones.

I hope that something is done about the speeding on Mill St. before a human life is taken.

Then maybe the loss of our pet will hurt a little less.

Mrs. George Foos,
10 Mill St.
Tecumseh, Mich.

Dear Editor:

It is likely that the hottest weather of the summer is still ahead of us and the following warning to Lenawee County residents may be helpful through the agency of your paper:

YOUR FOOD NEEDS CARE IN SUMMER

Keep your food hot; keep it cold — or don't keep it.

This is the advice of the Lenawee County Health Department. It warns that food can become unfit to eat in just an hour if it isn't kept at the right temperature.

Germs multiply without changing the taste, looks or odor of food — and if you eat it, you are a likely candidate for food poisoning.

You should be extra-careful with meats (raw, pre-cooked or cooked), fish, milk, salad dressings, cream fillings, custards, pudding and gelatin preparations.

WHAT TO DO

1. Keep cooked left-overs cold at all times.
2. Picnic food should be kept clean and cold until transferred to an insulated container or packed in ice for transportation. When you arrive at your picnic spot, keep the food covered and in the shade until it's time to eat.
3. Use care and cleanliness in preparing food. Wash your hands before you touch food and make sure that all dishes, mixing utensils and pans are thoroughly clean.

Food poisoning is due to eating food that is infected with living bacteria, or food that contains poisons developed by bacteria.

The most common cause of food poisoning in this country is contamination of food with living bacteria belonging to the Salmonella group — such as occurred in the recent hospitalization of 31 sum-

Realty Views

Do you realize a significant trend is developing in America? This is the trend toward owning a home. Of course, it has always been popular, but now homeowners make up more than half of the U. S. families.

In 1940, about 4 out of 10 families owned their own home. Today, the percentage is 55%. And, by 1960, it is estimated that 7 out of 10 American families will own their own homes.

Probably never before has any nation achieved such a widespread ownership of its land. Since World War II, for example, 9,000,000 new homeowners have been added.

Whenever an idea involving "big money" becomes popular, there must be a reason. There is—in fact, many! Just to mention a few: Saving some of the "rent money", the comfortable feeling of permanence, the prestige and pride of owning a home, and so on. And one other: The ease of ownership. Modern credit, with installment payments, has helped immensely and made it possible for millions of families to enjoy the privilege once reserved for kings and nobles—a home of their own.

If you are renting, perhaps you'd better talk it over with us. Your own home means a better life. To borrow a popular sales slogan, "Eventually, why not NOW?

Bridgemen Come Down for X-Rays

Bridgemen came down from their work stations high above the Straits of Mackinac to join with others in St. Ignace in having chest X-rays and blood tests.

The Michigan Department of Health mobile units, dwarfed by the pair of 552-foot bridge towers thrusting up in the middle of the Straits, did a brisk business as 1,325 persons stepped up for chest pictures and 500 had blood specimens taken.

Skilled workers on the massive, five-mile-long bridge put safety first as they scrambled over lofty catwalks, but health authorities pointed out that even a lifebelt and a hard helmet won't protect against the microscopic, but potentially lethal, tuberculosis germ.

The St. Ignace survey is one of a series of campaigns set up this summer by the health department in an attempt to find TB in early stages and to screen for syphilis. From St. Ignace, the X-ray and blood-testing units moved on to the Grand Traverse Bay area, offering check-ups to cherry pickers and food handlers.

Health officials will study results of the testing to see if programs are needed for the mobile population groups.

Here's why more farmers choose

Twentieth CENTURY
MANUFACTURING COMPANY
AC ARC WELDERS
TWIN CARBON TORCHES

There's more than one reason why Twentieth Century Welders are a favorite among farmers who know good welding.

First and foremost . . . they'll tackle, and turn out "to a T", any welding job. Just dial the right heat for the job, and put your Twentieth Century Welder and Carbon Arc Torch to work:

Cutting metal — Brazing
Drilling holes — Bending and shaping
Soldering — Hard Surfacing

AND . . . Twentieth Century Welders save you time and money.

NOW . . . You can quickly and easily repair or replace worn or broken parts on automobiles, tractors, trucks, on all farm machinery.

AND . . . with a Twentieth Century Welder, you can easily make pieces of new equipment.

Take the work out of welding, with the welder that "fits" your farm—a Twentieth Century Welder. Come in. See us for information and demonstration.

Plenty of Zip at a pip of a price

Seriously—where else can you get so much snap and ginger at such a peach of a price?

Where else can you get a big, high-powered, steady-riding hardtop like this '56 Buick Riviera—at a figure that's pretty close to what they're asking for similar models of the well-known smaller cars?

Nowhere else that we know of—which is one big reason why Buick outsells all others cars in America except two of those smaller cars.

But right along with low price is something else behind Buick's big success: Buick is a lot more automobile for the money,

It gives you more room and luxury—more zip and power thrill—fine handling and sure-footed stability.

And it gives you something you can get in no other car—today's advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflow.* It's the only transmission in the world with the cruising thrift and the switch-pitch safety-surge taken from the modern plane's propeller.

So why wait any longer—when the time to take action is now, so you can start enjoying all the golden months of summer and fall in a new '56 Buick?

Now—when Buick prices are as low as—perhaps lower than—they'll ever be again.

Now—when your present car is at its peak of worth—and when today's high volume '56 Buick sales permit us to make you an even better trade-in allowance.

Come see us—and look into the car that puts you years ahead right now.

Come see us today—and discover the dilly of a deal that will make you wonder why on earth you waited as long as you did.

Arlyne K. Becker, Curtis Banks Are Wed in Britton

Arlyne K. Becker of Britton became the bride of Curtis Banks of Dundee Saturday, Aug. 4 at 6:30 p.m. in the Britton Methodist church. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Haybert Woodall of Britton.

MRS. CURTIS BANKS

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Becker of Britton and Mr. Banks' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Homer Banks of Dundee.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father. Her only attendant was her sister, Mary Becker.

The new Mrs. Banks chose a waltz length gown of nylon net over taffeta for her wedding. Her finger tip veil of illusion with rose point lace fell from a seed pearl studded tiarra. The bride carried a bouquet of colonial roses.

Her bridesmaid, Miss Becker, wore a gown of sheer blue nylon fashioned in princess style. She also carried a bouquet of colonial roses.

Mrs. Haybert Woodall played the wedding march and "Because" on the organ.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the church dining room. The bride's table was centered by a three-tiered wedding cake. The cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom. The bride's godmother Mrs. Joseph La Fleure of St. Joseph, Mich. cut the cake.

For a short trip to northern Michigan the bride wore a suit of Wedgewood blue and gold with Wedgewood accessories.

Upon their return the couple will reside with the bride's parents in Britton.

Local Topics

Gail Claxton of Britton and Patty O'Brien of Tecumseh are spending the weekend at the National Music Camp near Interlochen, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Hartsell and sons Chummy and Larry are spending the week at the Harry Dernberger cottage on East Twin Lake near Lewiston, Mich.

Mrs. Fred Marsh left Friday to visit her half-sister, Ruth Marsh in Mount Morris, N.Y., who was 89 years old last Saturday. Mrs Marsh will also visit relatives in Rochester, Avon, and Geneseo.

In the account of the Davis-Biederman wedding published last week the sentence which read: "The former Miss Biederman asked Miss Connie Clark to be her only bridesmaid" should have been "The former Miss Biederman asked Miss Connie Clark to be her maid of honor and Miss Dulcie Bowen to attend her as her only bridesmaid."

Dr. and Mrs. Robert J. Bowers spent the weekend in Hillsdale with Mrs. Bowers' parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Howe Jr.

The offices of A. C. Hamaker and Co. have been moved recently from the Hamaker home on north Mill street to 104 E. Chicago Blvd., over the C. A. Wright drug store.

Mrs. James Slayton left for her home in Charleston, W. Va., Monday after visiting in the home of her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Finch. Her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Slayton and five daughters of Westtown, Pa., were also guests in the Finch home the previous weekend and her daughter, Mrs. R. W. Lyman and daughter Linda of Lansing came Saturday for a two-day visit. Mrs. Slayton and Mrs. Finch spent part of last week in Madison, Wis., with their brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Vernor Finch.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo H. Stoll of Bedford, Ind., visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest F. Robinson over the weekend. Their son Jeffery returned home with them after a week spent with his grandparents.

Among the many guests of the Hayden family who came for the wedding Saturday evening were Miss Senath Hosmer of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Heller of Appleton, Wis. Mrs. Heller is the former Camilla Hayden, an aunt of the bride.

Woodward-Hayden Vows Spoken Saturday Evening

A candlelight ceremony at the Tecumseh Friends church Saturday evening united in marriage Martha Ann Hayden and Kenneth Charles Woodward. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth C. Hayden and the late Perry Hayden and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Woodward, all of Tecumseh.

MR. AND MRS. KENNETH WOODWARD

The ceremony was preceded by an impressive musical program which included appropriate organ selections by Miss Alice Fogle of Lansing and two cello solos, "Arioso" by Bach and "After a Dream," a composition by Faure, played by Camilla Heller Dopman, a cousin of the bride. Mrs. Doppman was accompanied at the piano by her husband, William Doppman.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Wells, sister and brother-in-law of the bride sang, "O Perfect Love" as a duet and Mr. Wells read Elizabeth Barrett Browning's "How Do I Love Thee" with "Claire de Lune" as a musical background. Later as the bridal pair knelt at the altar Mr. and Mrs. Wells sang the prayer, "O Lord Most Holy" by Franck.

Single lighted tapers in tall holders on either side of the altar steps led to the bockground of palms, candelabra and hampers of white gladioli which formed the beautiful setting for the wedding party. The Rev. Edward Escolme performed the double ring ceremony at 8 o'clock and the bride was given in marriage by her brother, William Hayden of Bloomington, Ill., in behalf of their mother.

Mrs. Kenyon Sprunger attended her sister at matron of honor and Miss Eloise Gerig of Woodburn, Ind., was the only bridesmaid. Harry Woodward assisted his brother as best man and another brother, Arthur Woodward was a member of the party while Richard Stein and Joe Hayden seated the guests and lighted the candles.

Rosepointe lace over tulle and satin formed the wedding gown of the lovely bride. It was of waltz length with a fitted bodice which featured a wide scoop neckline and shirred elbow length sleeves. The lace of the sleeves and neckline was re-embroidered with seed pearls as was the crown which held her double, fingertip veil of bridal illusion. The skirt, draped over a full tulle ruffle, gave the effect of scallops at the hemline. Her bouquet was of Eucharist lilies with bebe chrysanthemums made in a cascade effect and edged with ivy and she carride a lace handkerchief which was an heirloom handed down from her grandmother Hayden and traditionally carried by family brides.

Both bridal attendants were in delphinium blue taffeta, made ballerina length in princess effect. Each frock had a bodice of heavy blue lace with a deeply rounded neckline and large bows of taffeta with streamers finishing the back. They wore picture hats of matching tulle with white gloves and carried bouquets of rubrum lilies and ivy.

Mrs. Hayden wore a blue ensemble for her daughter's wedding with a corsage of pink rosettes while the mother of the groom was gowned in beige and her flowers were yellow rosebuds.

A reception for the guests of the bride and groom was held at the Baptist Youth House immediately after the ceremony with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Comfort and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Wells acting as hosts. The guests were registered by Miss Mary Brown and Mrs. Harry Woodward as hostess at the refreshment table. Mrs. Edward Escolme and Mrs. H. N. Heller of Appleton, Wis., an aunt of the bride, poured coffee and Diane Woodward and Mary Nixon assited by Donna and Flora Nixon had charge of the punch bowl. Ice cream was served by Mrs. Arthur Wodward.

Mrs. Donald Johnson and Mrs. Robert Weeldreyer cut the six-tiered wedding cake which was topped by the wedding bell which had adorned the bride's mother's cake 30 years before. An unusual feature was supplied by the little niece of the bride, Deborah Wells, who with the help of her brother, David distributed wrapped pieces of the groom's cake to the guests from a basket decorated with a cascade of pink ribbons. Deborah wore a formal gown of blue net.

When the newly wedded pair left on their trip to undetermined points in northern Michigan the bride wore a black and white fall ensemble with a corsage of a yellow Fugi mum surrounded by Hibbard rosebuds. Her jewelry, a crystal necklace and earrings was a gift of the groom.

Mrs. Woodward graduated from Tecumseh high school, attended Asbury College and received her B.S. degree from Taylor University at Upland, Ind. For the past year she has been teaching in the Lansing public school system. The groom is a graduate of Clinton high school and has a degree from Michigan State University. He has served two years in the armed forces and now is employed by the Auto Owners Insurance Co. They will live at 1204 W. Ionia St., Lansing.

Guests were in town for the wedding froh Chicago, Winnetka and Wheaton, Ill.; Marion, Berne, Woodburn and Hammond, Ind.; Toledo and Berea, Ohio; Appleton, Wis.; Bradenton, Fla.; Louisville, Ky. and Detroit, Lansing, Albion, Marshall, Battle Creek, Adrian, Muskegon, Ann Arbor, Highland Park, Forester, Monroe, Clinton, Dearborn, Blissfield, Britton, Holloway and Carleton, Mich.

Pre-nuptial events given by friends of the bride for her pleasure had included a shower given by Mrs. Donald Johnson at the home of her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Edward Escolme in Tecumseh and a miscellaneous shower for Lansing friends when Mrs. Harry Woodward and Eloise Gerig entertained. An afternoon tea was given at the Hayden home, Aug. 3, for those assisting at the reception and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Woodward were host and hostess to the bridal party at a buffet dinner served after the rehearsal Friday evening.

Field and Streams

However, park rangers note that contentment comes only after the gulls pick each piece of paper to pieces and scatter the pieces broadly before returning to their island home.

Each morning in the summer, the summer, the park looks like Broadway after the return of Charles Lindbergh.

Park rangers, dedicated both to protection of wildlife and park cleanliness, find themselves in a dilemma. When it comes time to beautify the park (every morning) they would as not invade the gulls' island with ball bats in hand and mayhem in mind. At other times, in the cool of the evening, with the gulls circling overhead gracefully, they are willing to forget chores a minute to watch these beauties of the wild north.

But such aesthetic mellowings pass with each night and bring in their place muttered threats against the dadblasted seabirds and all their kin.

"These birds have become something of an administrative problem," says Norman Roeske, park manager. "If anybody's got any ideas how to answer the trouble, we are open to suggestion."

Two fires burned six acres of Michigan forests and grasslands last week, lifting the state's loss this year to 2259 acres in 410 fires.

The year's total is well below last year to this date. Rain and chill weather this summer have helped keep fire losses down.

RODEO

Britton vicinity has been the scene of a real rodeo this past week. Fifty light steers, brought a few days before from Texas by Walter W. Miller, stampeded Saturday when being transferred to a pasture across Ridge Road and took off for parts unknown.

Three airplanes from the Milan Airport and from 38 to 40 of Mr. Miller's neighbors and friends have been enlisted in the search which followed.

As every steer captured has had to be lassoed the most effective helpers have been mounted and as many as 11 horsemen have been in the field at one time. Headquarters for the search has been at the Otis Kantiz farm, where lunches have been served for the searchers.

One steer was killed by a Wabash train and by Monday morning all but five of the others had been rounded up from cornfields, woods and pasture over a territory of several miles.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller are most appreciative of all the help they have received and are especially grateful to the airport and the Kanitz family.

LEO BISHOP REPORTS that Kirk Smith in a couple more years will put Tecumseh on the golf map in professional ranks.

ON A RAINY SUNDAY afternoon in Briggs stadium when the Tigers' game was started late because of the rain and then interrupted in the ninth inning with two outs for the Yankees and two strikes on the batter and later finished, Mrs. Mary Lou Peck, who sat out the strange game too, tapped us on the shoulder and said: "I'm glad somebody else from Tecumseh is crazy, too."

FOR THOSE OF YOU who might be interested, we caught a lot of fish; but they didn't always cooperate. On the first day we had company for dinner who expected to eat a large number of bluegills. But we had only 10 for eight persons and some of the 10 were not what you could call large. In fact, some of them were quite small. So baloney was on the bill of fare and we will have to face this the rest of our life since baloney never can take the place of a good-sized bluegill.

THE FUNNIEST SIGHT at fabulous Northland, the smart Detroit shopping area, was watching ladies bring out false hair in the sun to check the shade of the scalp doiley against their own hair. A young fellow of about 20 who looked like he had caught his hair in a lawn mower was watching the ladies and he looked at me and shook his head as if to say "Aren't women funny?" I agreed, of course, but I was seriously considering pulling the same trick to cover up my thinning locks.

Frank K. Smith Buys Country Club

Frank K. Smith has purchased the voting stock of the Tecumseh Country Club from the Tecumseh Products Company.

Mr. Smith now will be sole owner of the property which includes the nine-hole golf course.

The new owner reported that improvements in the country club will be made in the near future.

He said there will be no change in the operating policies or the personnel. Ray White will remain as manager of the club and Leo Bishop will continue as golf professional and greens keeper.

RIDGEWAY BIBLE SCHOOL CLOSES

Mrs. Gladys Hardesty was the school's supervisor. Teachers and helpers in the school were: Bible—Mrs. Ruth Hall; music—Mrs. Naomi Spohr and Mrs. Eula Avery; beginners—Mrs. Dorothy Hamann, Elaine Lawhead and Kathryn Lidster; primary — Mrs. Bernadean Vaughn, Mrs. Ruby Willett, Mrs. Lucille Rambow, Sondra Hathaway, Nancy Spivey and Delight Bandy; junior girls—Mrs. Fred Belleville and Carol Hamann; junior boys—the Rev. Fred Belleville and Floyd Avery; intermediate girls—Leona Hathaway; intermediate boys—Mrs. Vivian Bandy and Iris Slick.

Supt. Gives More In formation on New School Year

The following information pertaining to the new school year was compiled by Supt. James McDowell who reports that the Tecumseh Public Schools will re-open Tuesday, Sept. 4, and close May 31, 1957.

In most rural areas students will receive a week more of instruction than they had in previous years; but city school schedules will be about the same as they were in past years.

Supt. McDowell also reported:

Some of the rural schools purchased new furniture for their own use sometime during the past year. Because of the grouping of the children so that only one or two grades will be taught in any room means that only a limited range of size of children will use each school, some of this furniture will be transferred to other schools.

However, wherever possible new or nearly new furniture of comparable quality has been placed in these schools.

The only school which will operate strictly on a one room rural school set-up is the Holloway School where all grades, if children are enrolled for them, will be taught, that is 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6.

Holloway area kindergartners and seventh grade and up will be transported to other schools for the present.

If the Kelley District does annex to Tecumseh, it will be possible to give both these districts the advantage of groups limited to the first, second and third grades at one location and the fourth, fifth and sixth at another location.

All pupils in the Tecumseh Public School System rent their books and all schools in the area will use the same books as have been used in the Tecumseh city schools in the past. This, of course, is necessary because the board wishes te give all children in the area, the same opportunity, using programs and materials which are as nearly as possible comparable to those in the Tecumseh city schools.

This change in textbooks means quite a capital outlay by the schools for next year. However, the parents of the rural pupils were asked to donate the books used in the past so that those which are identical with those used in the city schools this year would be available. Most of the rural parents were very cooperative last spring as were the Tecumseh city parents when the rental plan was established through a board action sponsored by the P.T.A. a number of years ago.

The book fees which have been established for next year are the same as for 1955-1956 although books have risen sharply in cost. The book fees are as follows: Kindergarten $2; one throufh six, $4; and seventh through 12, $5.

It is hoped that those parents who did not turn in their children's books last spring may wish to do so this fall.

Actually, retail cost if purchased in a book store of the new books for the average elementary pupil is $16.50 and for the secondary pupil it is $27.90.

It is, therefore, only through careful use of these district-owned books by the children that a low rental fee such as above is adequate to cover book cost for the year.

Parents are asked to continue to urge their children to be careful of their school books, and to refrain from misuse of same. Should any radical change in prices or in the excellent care which books in the past have received occur, it may be necessary to raise the book fees.

Pupils from any of the rural schools that have been attending other high schools may continue to attend those schools if agreeable to those schools and the Tecumseh Public Schools will pay the tuition.

However, if a pupil has not yet attended a secondary school and lives in the Tecumseh Public School District he must attend the local high school or pay his own tuition.

No new tuition pupils will be accepted in the Tecumseh Public Schools for 1956-1957 except those whose parents pay the tuition charges. No tuition pupils from other districts will be accepted by the Tecumseh Public Schools except those who have been enrolled in the past and who are already attending the local school.

Special supervisors have been engaged by the board of education to assist the teachers of the rural area schools in art and music. Through these supervisors it is hoped that the programs for the pupils in the rural areas will be as complete as those of the children within the city limits who attend the city elementary schools.

Only in one area will their pro-

NEWBURG SCHOOL — This is Clinton No. 4 Fractional, commonly called Newburg.
Located on Staib Rd., the school was one of many that annexed to the Tecumseh Public Schools last spring.
The school census shows that the school has 25 students or potential students. Its local valuation is in excess of $138,000 and its state equalized valuation is $235,578. Newburg has a $10,708 valuation behind each child.

Sanitary Land Fill Started

A sanitary land fill has been started near the city dump.

For some time the city has been trying to alleviate the bad condition of odor and smoke from burning garbage.

Residents are now asked to dump all of their garbage in the sanitary land fill which is plainly marked with signs.

Wyandotte St. has been cut through to the fill for easier accessibility.

TAX PAYMENT RATE HAS BEEN GOOD

The rate of payment of city taxes has been steady, reports city treasurer Mrs. Naomi Sallows.

Cities, Villages Get Road Funds

Net receipts of the State Motor Vehicle Highway Fund for the second quarter of the calendar year 1956 amounted to $30,554,707.86, and this money is now being distributed to the State Highway Department, the counties, and the cities and incorporated villages of the state, Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler announces.

Net receipts of the Motor Vehicle Highway Fund for the second quarter of 1955 were $31,444,347.29, representing a decrease of $889,639.43 for the second quarter of 1956, compared to the same period in 1955.

Tecumseh will get $7,192 and Britton will get $806.

NEW RECREATION FIELD BLEACHERS — This is what the new recreation field bleachers will look like when they are finally constructed here. They will be ready for the first home football game of the year about the middle of Sept. Seating 1280, the new bleachers will cost about $12,000. So far, $7000 of this amount has been pledged by various clubs and organizations.

Circus Will Come to Town

The Hagen Brothers' circus will play in Tecumseh Monday, Aug. 27, at the corner of Russell Rd. and Green Highway.

Its appearance here is sponsored by the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Performances will be given twice a day. One will be at 2:15 p.m. and one will be at 8 p.m.

MEN PICKED UP FOR NON-SUPPORT

Two men were picked up by Tecumseh police during the week on non-support charges.

They were Leonard Neil who was picked up Monday and Elwood Fletcher who was picked up Tuesday for the sheriff's department.

Cam Twisters Seek To Give More Dignity to Hot-Rodding

The Tecumseh Cam Twisters is a new organization of drivers devoted to promote safety and road courtesy.

Purpose of the group, plainly speaking, is to put the word "hot rod" in a place of respect and honor.

Object of the Cam Twisters is to promote interest in various types of hot rod activities under regulated conditions with the cooperation of police and other agencies.

So far the local group has had the cooperation of the Tecumseh Products Company which loans them a strip at their airport to hold their drag races, Tecumseh police and firemen, local service stations and garages and the Collins Funeral Home which stands by during the races with an ambulance.

The group meets twice a month at the airport and holds Sunday races and time trials.

Later, after the group gets the "bugs" ironed out, trophies and other prizes will be awarded winners at the Sunday races.

Other clubs have been formed in Adrian, Monroe, Onsted and Dundee.

One of the major purposes of the club is to put a stop to unlawful street drag racing.

Another purpose is to lend incentives to young mechanics who design and engineer "souped up" cars.

Still another is to create an attitude of good sportsmanship and citizenship among its members.

FESTIVAL

The tenth annual Lenawee County Band Festival, which will be held on the Tecumseh recreation field on the evening of Oct. 2, will present the theme "One World".

The 12 Lenawee County school bands will tell the story of how, through transportation and communication, the "One World" of today came about.

The ox cart, the sailboat, the steamboat, the automobile, the telephone etc., which have all done their part in bringing about the conditions of today, will be pictured by the bands in their usual colorful and spectacular manner.

Several of the bands are already working on their programs.

This event, one of the largest, of its kind, in southern Michigan, will surpass even those of former years with its suspence, brilliance, drama and beauty, Claire Camburn, director, reports.

C C Closes; Jaycees To Take Over

The Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce closed its books Wednesday and the activities of the chamber probably will be assumed by the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce,

After several months trying to make ends meet, the board of directors of the senior chamber decided to close up shop.

The primary reason given was the lack of support from some business places.

The board of directors of the junior chamber tentatively has approved their club's taking over the activities of the senior chamber on a part time basis. The junior board agreed to be an information center and to answer mail for a six weeks period.

Then the plan to continue will be brought up before the whole membership of the junior chamber at its Sept. meeting.

The present thinking is to have some one on hand from 1 to 4 p.m. each day to answer mail and questions.

The junior chamber also will be given a chance to lease the senior chamber's equipment and furniture.

Russell Thurlby Died Saturday

Russell L. Thurlby, a resident of Tecumseh for most of his life, died Saturday afternoon at Herrick Memorial hospital where he had been a patient for the past three weeks. Mr. Thurlby, whose home was at 203 S. Oneida street, had been an invalid for eight years.

He was born in Adrian, Jan. 17, 1889, and was the son of John and Clara Becker Thurlby. For 30 years he was employed by the Hicks Lightning Rod Co. of Tecumseh. Later he was chauffeur for Mrs. Albert Cummins for several years and then was employed at the Tecumseh Products Co.

Besides his wife, Lela, he is survived by one son, Russell Jr.; two brothers, Charles and Truman both of River Rouge and one sister, Mrs. Nina Pennington of the Clinton-Macon road.

Preceding him in death were two sisters, Mrs. Florence Spengler of Elyria, Ohio, and Mrs. Fern Wheeler, Pasadena, Calif.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. E. C. Dickin at the Collins Funeral Home.

Burial was in Brookside cemetery with Duaine Service, Victor Linden, Charles Jones, Harold Black, Fritz Gygi and Albert Tonneberger as bearers.

He was assisted by the Rev. Alvin Brazee.

Charged with Assault, Battery

Chris Basinger, Jr., of Tecumseh was arrested by Adrian police Saturday on an assault and battery charge.

Arraigned Monday before Justice John Lowe, he was given 30 days probation and a 10-day suspended jail sentence.

He also paid a fine of $50 and costs of $8.60.

Accident Kills Melvin Smith's Mother

Mrs. LeVern Smith, 69, of Lyons, Ohio, mother of Melvin Smith of Tecumseh, was killed last Thursday in a two-car head-on collision two miles north of Adrian on M-52.

The accident also took the lives of Mrs. Mabelle L. Hinkle, 76, and her husband James Hinkle, 78.

Mrs. Hinkle died at the scene and Mrs. Smith was dead on arrival at Bixby hospital in Adrian. Mr. Hinkle died Saturday.

The accident happened at a repair barricade. Mr. Hinkle was driving north and a car driven by Ray Neblo of Adrian was going south.

Melbourn Arnold, riding with Mr. Neblo, was seriously injured. Mr. Neblo had minor injuries.

The two cars met head-on in the one-lane traffic on the bridge. Sheriff officers said the Hinkle car was going around the barricade when the Neblo car approached.

PO-MATOES

"Tomatoes on potato vines." Every year someone makes this startling discovery and has a cluster of little, round, green globes to prove it—full of meat and seeds just like a real tomato. This time it is Dr. H. M. Currier with a branch from the garden of his father-in-law, Ed Hammond of Toledo.

Since potatoes grow in the average garden from "seed potatoes" which are not seed at all but tubers left over from the year before, it is a bit difficult to convince most non-gardeners that what they have are really potato seed.

The potato blossom obviously seldom reaches fertility or all potato plants would bear "tomatoes." The few that do mature, by natural or artificial means, offer the growers their only chance to develop new varieties.

Maybe these "po-matoes" would make a new, exotic salad. Has anybody tried them?

Man Fined in Delinquency Case

Bobby Cole Jones, 21, of Tecumseh was fined $25 and assessed costs of $4.30 when he appeared before Justice L. J. VanDeusen of Clinton on the charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 16-year-old girl.

Jones was arrested Saturday by Tecumseh police for the Clinton state police.

NOBLE GRANDS MEET

The fifth semi-annual meeting of the Lenawee County Past Noble Grands of the Rebekah Lodge was held Saturday evening at the Sand Creek high school with the Weston Rebekah lodge as hostess.

The meeting was opened by the vice grand of the Weston lodge and association officers were introduced. They are: president, Electa Wilcox, Onsted; vice president, Cora Cole, Weston; secretary, Anne Fairbanks, Britton; treasurer, Mary Fergason, Tecumseh. Regular business was conducted and new officers elected. Three officers were moved up one position and a new treasurer was elected, Eva Moore of Blisfield.

The next meeting of the group will be held in Blissfield in April.

Those attending the meeting from Britton were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fairbanks, Miss Pearl Smith, Mrs. Ethel Kanous, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Smith and children, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Weichner, Mrs. Bertha Brodock, Mrs. Byron Covell and Mr. and Mrs. William Cundiff.

The 18th annual Kuster family reunion was held Sunday at the Britton Park with 51 present from Lansing, Jackson, St. Johns, Detroit, Adrian and Cleveland, Ohio. During the business meeting, Art Jones of Detroit was re-elected president and Katherine Breckel of Cleveland, secretary and treasurer. The reunion next year will again be held in Britton.

Charlynn Fairbanks accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Inman and daughter Karen of Sand Lake to attend the graduation exercises of Dale Inman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Inman at Great Lakes Naval Station, Chicago. They returned home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Frayer of Adrian were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Covell.

Boy Scouts of Troop 23 had a swimming party last week at Wamplers Lake and visited Michigan Producers Dairy Co. in Adrian recently. Another project of the group has been a clean-up day in the flower gardens in the Britton park.

Mrs. Charles Beach and two sons of Clarkston were recent weekend guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Niblack. Penny Niblack, who had spent three weeks with her sister and family, returned to her home. Last Sunday, the family attended the Niblack family reunion at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wirick and daughter at Posey Lake near Hudson. Mrs. Raymond Lidster of Britton also attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Covell and guests, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Covell of Maywood and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Flock of Garden Grove, Calif., were in Plymouth recently to attend the Hinshaw-Covell wedding. Mrs. Hinshaw is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Covell of Plymouth. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Covell and two grandsons and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Flock and two sons returned to their homes in Calif., last week after spending two weeks with relatives here and in New York.

The Dorcas Class of the Congregational Christian church will meet Thursday, Aug. 16 for a potluck dinner at noon in the Fellowship rooms.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rhora and family and Miss Julie Crawford visited relatives in Edon, Ohio, Sunday.

A family night potluck supper will be held Thursday, Aug. 16 in the Methodist church at 6:30 p.m. for all members and friends of the church.

The Tri-Township Republican Women's Association was held recently in the home of Mrs. William Gibson on Ridge Hwy. Mrs. Jay Ferman was elected vice president for the Macon area, Mrs. Albert Filter, vice president for Ridgeway and Mrs. Walter German, vice president for the Raisin area. The next meeting will be Sept. 10 in the home of Mrs. Jay Ferman in Britton.

Civil Service Exams Announced

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced the following examinations: valuation engineer (mining), $4,480 to $7,570 a year, for duty with the bureau of land management, department of the interior in the western states and in Alaska; radio engineer for positions paying $4,480 and $5,335 a year in the federal communications commission; and geophysicist (exploration), $3,670 to $11,610 a year for positions in various federal agencies. Both radio engineer and geophysicist positions are located throughout the United States, its territories and possessions.

To qualify for either the radio or the valuation engineer positions, applicants must have had appropriate education experience. In addition, for persons who wish to qualify on the basis of technical experience rather than education, a written examination will be given to test the adequacy of such experience. The geophysicist positions require appropriate education or a combination of education and expeirence.

Further information regarding the requirements and instructions on applying may be obtained at many post offices throughout the country, or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

Community Studies Seen Producing Progress

Michigan communities can make real progress if they will put even a fraction of the intelligence into community study and action as they put into industrial and medical research, declares Howard Y. McClusky, professor of educational psychology and consultant in community adult education at the University of Michigan.

A community discussion course offered by the Community Adult Education Service of the University is giving the state's citizens a chance to go into action to solve some of their local problems such as the work now in progress by the Tecumseh area study committee.

The University of Michigan has been pioneering in community action for eighteen years.

The nine-session course, which has been developed over the last two years banks heavily on local leadership.

"We are betting on the intelligence of local people," says Professor McClusky, "and we think it is a safe bet. These towns have plenty of able people in them."

In helping communities help themselves, members of the U-M staff assist in setting up the non-credit course, then stay in the background as much as possible. U-M leaders have attended not more than four of the sessions in some of the communities, which have included Northville, Pontiac, Mendon, Escanaba, Armada and others.

The course is woven around a local leader and the membership commonly includes 10 to 30 persons—a good cross-section of active leadership in the town.

Since discussion is the heart of the procedure, a large enrollment would stifle progress. Rather than overload a class, it is better to run two classes simultaneously, as Wayne did last winter, Professor McClusky said. Utica will set up two and possibly four courses this fall.

At the first meeting of the very informal course, which is subtitled "Let's Take a Look at Our Community," the group delves into the whats and wherefores of the course.

Later sessions concern "What Is a Community?", "What Are the Things That Make Up a Good Community?", "What are the Facts About Our Community?", "How to Get Things Done in the Community?", "How Do We Get Started?", "What Are Our Needs and What Are the Methods of Meeting Them?", "Community Development Skills and Knowledge?" and "Where Do We Go From Here?"

The University aids the project by furnishing lesson guides and material. About 75 pages of information are included in the kit.

The last session, of course, is the springboard for action. By that time, Professor McClusky believes, the laymen have become more alert "in an educational way" concerning their community and have acquired a sound basis for deciding what to promote. This is adult education of the highest order, the professor asserts.

Nancy Ann Willnow Is Bride of Harold Anderson

Candles and white gladioli were the setting in St. Peter's Episcopal church Saturday at 6 p.m. when Nancy Ann Willnow and Harold Boynton Anderson of Clark Lake were united in marriage. The Rev. E. C. Dickin performed the impressive double ring ceremony.

Miss Willnow's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd H. Willnow of Clark Lake and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Harold Anderson, also of Clark Lake, formerly of Tecumseh. The groom's family has attended St. Peter's for generations and it has become traditional for them to be married there.

Candles based with white gladioli and white satin ribbon marked every other pew. Around the altar were large hampers of white gladioli, carnations and asters. At the front of the altar were palms and swags and lighted candelabra decorated the back altar.

For her wedding, Miss Willnow chose a gown of pure silk taffeta. The bodice [illegible] embroidered chantilly lace. The sleeves tapered ending in scallops which matched those of the sabrina neckline. The back of the gown was fashioned in a V. The front of the skirt had appliques of chantilly lace and pearls. The dress ended in a chapel length train which was fastened to give a bustle effect during the reception. The bride carried a bouquet of Eucharist lilies. She wore a veil of silk illusion.

Mrs. Phyliss J. Pierson of Cement City was her sister's matron-of-honor while Miss Kathryn L. Reid of Battle Creek was the bridesmaid. Miss SuAnn Pierson, a niece of the bride, acted as junior bridesmaid.

The attendants wore gowns of crystallete fashioned in an empire silhouette with scoop necklines. The back of each gown was accented with a bouffant bow falling from the neck. The skirts had an aerial back panel which extended to the floor and over a hoop. Pearl chokers, earrings and nylon knit gloves completed the attendants' ensembles and were gifts of the bride. Mrs. Pierson wore a gown of cherry red, while Miss Reid was gowned in coral. Miss Pierson was in pink.

The honor attendant carried a bouquet of white Fuji mums with red crotan leaves while the bridesmaid carried yellow Fuji mums with green and white crotan leaves. The junior bridesmaid carried a miniature cascade bouquet of pink dot pompoms. All three wore semi-picture hats formed of net and studded with seed pearls.

MRS. HAROLD ANDERSON

The groom asked Ronald Henkel of Tecumseh to assist him as best man while Kimberly Retter of Clark Lake, Richard Purkey and Donald Maves of Tecumseh seated the guests.

Before the service Mrs. Marjorie Boon of Grand Haven sang "I Love Thee" and "The Day of Golden Promise." At the end of the ceremony Mrs. Boon sang "The Lord's Prayer." She was accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Kenton Hunt.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held for 200 guests in the church parlors. A four-tiered cake topped with flowers centered the bride's table. A bridal ring of flowers surrounded the base of the cake. Norman Marquart of Portland and Miss Joan Mast of Dexter served a lunch of chicken salad. Mrs. Howard Finch poured coffee.

Douglas Pierson and Larry Retter, nephews of the couple, assisted with the gifts. Mrs. Keith Fletcher and Delores Fletcher, cousins of the bride, served punch while Miss Annette DeVries had charge of the guest book.

For a trip to New York City and the New England states the new Mrs. Anderson chose a dress of aqua silk taffeta with a full skirt and white accessories. She wore a shoulder corsage of pale pink rosettes.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents at the Hotel Clinton.

The new Mrs. Anderson graduated from Cement City high school and Western Michigan College. She will teach home economics at Vandercook school in the fall. Mr. Anderson is a graduate of Tecumseh high school and served four years in the Marines. He is self-employed. The couple will reside at 2 Hyde Road, Clark Lake.

Hilda Valdes Rangel and Dean Jones Wed in Mexico

A wedding with both a local and an international interest took place last Friday in Mexico City, Mexico when Hilda Eugenia Valdes Rangel was united in marriage to Dean W. Jones, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wade L. Jones of Tecumseh. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Humberto Valdes Fuentes of Mexico City.

The double ring ceremony took place at 12 noon in the Good Shepherd Lutheran church at Lomas and Chapultepec Heights and was performed by the Rev. Otto T. Zeer. Miss Valdes, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Hugo Rangel Couto was attended by her cousin, Julia Luisa Bracho as maid of honor and Susana and Christina Pellon as bridesmaids. Humberto Valdes Perez, a brother of the bride assisted Mr. Jones as best man and her cousin George Davila Couto was also a member of the party.

Three little girls, Azul Valdes Delgado and Patricia and Adrianna Rangel Abreu, dressed in bouffant tiered dresses of white [illegible] silk tulle with matching shirred caps were flower girls carrying baskets of rosebuds and petals.

Miss Paquita Perez Abreu, of the National Opera, Palace of Fine Arts, was the soloist, singing Franz Liszt's "Love's Dream" with Ricardo Acosta at the organ.

The costume of the lovely bride was of imported French lace. The very full skirt had a wide flounce of nylon tulle headed with bands of French satin which ended in bows and streamers on the cathedral train. Folds of the lace finished the off-the-shoulder bodice and formed short sleeves which were supplemented by lace mitts. Her elbow length double veil was held by a lace half hat and she carried white orchids with a shower of natural orange blossoms.

Her maid of honor was in pink taffeta with matching accessories and carried a rope of natural orange blossoms. During part of the marriage service this rope was looped about the shoulders of the bride and groom signifying their union. The bridesmaid's dresses were yellow with fitted bodices and full skirts and their flowers were colonial bouquets of Talisman roses.

Following the ceremony a luncheon for 150 guests was served at the Claro de Luna Restaurant and featured an elaborate wedding cake whose decorations included a chariot drawn by three white swans. There was music and dancing during the reception.

The bridal couple then left by plane for Club Deportivo in Acapulo, the bride wearing a suit of light green linen with hat and shoes to match.

A civil ceremony in keeping with Mexican law had been held at the home of the bride Aug. 6 preceding the religious service and had also been the occasion for much festivity.

The new Mrs. Jones, who had been employed as a secretary before her marriage is a graduate of both the Madox and Fitzgibbon Schools for Girls and has attended the University of Mexico in Mexico City studying music and philosophy. Mr. Jones, who graduated from Tecumseh high school and the Michigan College of Mining and Technology and attended the graduate school of Steven's Institute of Technology, is special representative of the export department of Tecumseh Products Co.

They will live in the Fisher apartment, 416 W. Chicago Blvd., Tecumseh.

Mrs. Laine Holden and Mrs. Norman Groeschow of Adrian, sisters of Mr. Jones and his cousin Miss Meredith Jones of Cleveland were the only Americans attending the wedding. They returned by air Sunday afternoon.

Letters to the Editor:

This morning I awoke with a whimsical, droll sensation. I had gone to bed, you see, the night before after thoroughly digesting and analyzing the contents of the HERALD in which Savants Murray and Laidlaw have out-schemed and outwitted the JCC and—through it—Tecumseh as a whole. This laughable feeling was engendered by the knowledge that the SPECTRE of FLOURIDE had been pulled out of its devilish pit by these two self-centered dentists and placed on the first rung of the ladder of public thought.

You see, it is difficult to bring the truth to the people, as the clergy of any town will tell you. Now this news of the Junior Chamber of Commerce stand has reached the anguished ears of the people—the FEW, that is—who spent their money and time and efforts to spare this community the HORRORS of this poison called FLUORIDE and to prevent the establishment of a system making us vulnerable to Communist RUSSIA, who, through their agents, might destroy us overnight by the simple device of an overdose of this FLUORIDE POISON while we sleep!

Now these few—your protectors—wonder how they can circumvent the nefarious, ever-recurring machinations now stewing in the "kettle" of this local clique's "CIRCLE OF POISON." This statement can be more stoutly expressed because of the well-known fact that most of the American press is gagged on the subject of FLUORIDE because of the loss of revenues from advertising magnates — who really control our newspapers.

This morning, again to get back to the point of view, this situation became more amusing than ever when we began to wonder how this "clan" plans to go about their "enlightenment and educational" program of teaching these people that FLUORIDE is NOT poison! Regardless of the intimations, this is the end result expected in the THRONE ROOM of these few so-called savants. Poison is poison whether it be by the drop or by the ton-gallon. And, it is self-evident when you see that any fluoride you buy at your local druggist bears the SKULL and CROSSBONES! How they plan to teach the contrary, as we say, is beyond our scope of thinking when we realize that the people will be THEN paying their way to SLOW DEATH.

As I write this letter—a decision I owe to the moral aspects of my religion—I have before me sheaths of positive, decisive documentary evidence that the poisoning of community water through FLOURIDATION is NOT THE ANSWER TO HEALTHY CHILDREN'S TEETH—far from it! Some of these sources offer large monetary awards to ANYONE (including Laidlaw and Murray) who can prove to the contrary! One prominent scientist says that anyone who can prove such, can also prove that the moon is made of green "CHEESE!"

Tecumseh is not the only small community that has been swallowed up by the FLUORIDE FOLLY. It just happened to be one of the more lucky ones that discarded it—in time, we hope, before too much damage was done. For, you see, FLUORIDE POISONING is accumulative—with woes unforeseen and unending! Across this nation now—and in Canada, too—is developing a vast, public-spirited drive to overcome this dooming scheme of slowly poisoning the population through fluoridation of public water systems.

In one community the people swallowed all they would, marched to the seat of city government in protest. They WON! In another the city attorney issued a warrant to the water department for discontinuance of fluoride methods because it exceeded their authority. Good thing he won, too—else you would be forced to drink anything they might decide to put into your water!

What we are most interested in here now is how learned men of medicine can sponsor such a program as the JCC now plans to do. Do they want to dissolve the trust placed in their professions by the public? For, MD can mean more than "MERCIFUL DELIVERER." It also can mean "MERCHANT OF DEATH!"

In our simple opinion, Doctors Laidlaw and Murray owe the JCC an open apology—if not a resignation!

Hannas Will Take Part in Detroit Festival

Mayor Hugh H. Hanna and Mrs. Hanna of Tecumseh, Michigan will join the mayors of more than 100 other Michigan cities participating in the opening ceremonies of Detroit's 1956 Riverama Civic Festival Friday night.

Their day's schedule calls for attendance at a civic luncheon at noon, an inspection of the new civic center on the waterfront and the new city-county building, finest of its type in the country. They will also view the plans and models of the exhibits and convention hall, largest in the nation, now under construction.

The mayor and Mrs. Hanna will be guests of the management of S. S. Aquarama, the new ocean type cruise ship. The party will be conducted on a tour of the ship.

Topping the day's events for the mayor and Mrs. Hanna will be an evening at Aqua Follies, world famous stage and water show with a cast of over 100 well known swimmers, divers, dancers and singers. This extravaganza is the finest synchronization of each of these forms of entertainment to music with the most startling lighting effects ever staged.

Missionaries To Speak at Assembly of God

Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Graves, missionaries to Ceylon for more than 25 years, will be guest speakers at the Assembly of God on Sunday, Aug. 19 at 11 a.m. according to an announcement by Rev. L. H. MacPherson, pastor. The Graves will relate some of their experiences and will tell of the progress of missions in Ceylon.

Mr. and Mrs. Graves have done much to promote the growth of Assemblies of God missions in Ceylon. They have engaged in evangelistic, pastoral and teaching ministry. They founded and built the Ceylon Bible Institute in Colombo. During his last term in Ceylon, Mr. Graves served as Superintendent of the Assemblies of God of Ceylon, and as Principal of the Ceylon Bible Institute.

During World War II Mr. Graves had opportunity to minister to servicemen stationed in Ceylon. As a result some of these servicemen are ministers of the Gospel today.

Prior to going to Ceylon the Graves pastored in Chetopa and Ottawa, Kansas. They are graduates of Central Bible Institute in Springfield, Missouri.

After their furlough they plan to return to Ceylon. They are now visiting various churches of the Assemblies of God presenting the needs of the work in Ceylon.

The public is cordially invited to hear these veteran missionaries tell of their experiences in Ceylon. The service will begin at 11 Sunday morning, Aug. 19.

Name Gilbert As Operations Head of A & P Division

Melvin J. Gilbert has been promoted to director of operations for A & P food stores' central western division with headquarters in Detroit.

Promotion of Gilbert from assistant director of operations for the division was announced by division president Frank H. Bucher.

Gilbert came to Detroit in 1952 as assistant director of operations after serving as operating superintendent of the division's Louisville unit. At Louisville, he supervised construction of one of the company's single-level warehouses.

He started with A & P in 1929 in the operations department of the Grand Rapids unit and was promoted to operating superintendent of the Louisville unit in 1939.

Return from Church Conclave

Local area Jehovah's Witnesses returned home after attending a four-day district assembly at Lansing, Michigan, last week end. Sponsored by the Watchtower Society the event drew more than 10,000 persons, including many from Europe, South America, Canada, and all parts of the United States. This was but one of 42 like gatherings scheduled for July and August throughout the United States and England.

R. L. Anderson, of New York City, climaxed the meet with a stirring speech, "Why Permanent Peace Will Come In Our Day". Anderson declared, "A mirror always reflects what it sees. The mirror of human history casts a reflection that is not pleasant. The effects of 6000 years of war and blemishes of human failures stand exposed for all to see. The urgency of our time", he continued, "shows a greater need for world peace than ever before. Despite the dismal outlook, permanent peace will come in our day."

The general sessions stressed the need for all Christians to be filled with accurate knowledge. Counsel was given on proper moral conduct, Christian marriage and its obligations.

A mass baptism took place and 349 candidates were immersed in water, symbolizing their dedication to do God's will. They will take up the ministerial work of Jehovah's Witnesses.

A special resolution was unanimously endorsed by the entire assembly and sent to Premier Bulganin, chairman of the Council of Ministers for the Soviet Union, demanding the release of all of Jehovah's Witnesses and the restoration of freedom of worship to all peoples behind the Iron Curtain.

gram differ and that is in physical education. It is impossible because of lack of facilities in the rural schools to give the pupils the well rounded physical education program including showers that is offered in the city schools. However, it is hoped that very soon such facilities will be made available in all areas of our district.

The kindergarten room that has been at Central has been closed because the space is needed for an additional first grade and better facilities are available at Newburg school and because most of the children who attended Central kindergarten were bus pupils and could be taken to Newburg and returned in about the same length of time. There were very few kindergarten children who walked to Central School.

Some city bus kindergartners will be at Patterson school, some at Brownville, and some at Newburg. There will be two sections of kindergarten at each of the kindergarten locations.

In general these are the areas served at the various kindergarten locations—west of Union, south of Russell and west of Union, north of Maves Trailer Park and part of Tecumseh Acres at Newburg school; — part of Tecumseh Acres; west of Evans, south of Chicago Blvd. to Cummins if less than one-half mile from school; and north of Chicago Blvd. toward Maves Trailer Park if less than one-half mile from school and west of Evans except Brown St., east of south Union at Patterson; Brown St. east of south Union, Herrick Park, east of Evans and north of Shawnee; north and east of Tecumseh to Culbertson area and south to M-50 to Brownville; Culbertson, Macon, Bird, Ridgeway, Centennial and Holloway to Ridgeway; south of Shawnee in city and east of Evans by bus to Newburg.

Any kindergarten child living within one-half mile of these locations will be expected to walk, all others will be transported to and from kindergarten.

Bus schedules will be published Aug. 30.

The best possible service will be given all these kindergarten children regardless of their geographical location in our district.

Names of children who are at each kindergarten location will be published Aug. 30.

Betty Litzenberg, Filibert Boston Are Married

Betty Lee Litzenberg and Filibert Roth Boston were united in marriage Sunday afternoon at the chapel of the First Methodist church of Ann Arbor. The Rev. Erland Wangdahl officiated. The bride is the daughter of Maj. Gen. Homer Litzenberg of the Marine Corps stationed at Parris Island, S. C. Prof. Emeritus and Mrs. Orlan W. Boston of Vinewood Boulevard, Ann Arbor, are the parents of the bridegroom.

Miss Litzenberg wore a gown of candlelight satin appliqued with lace and embroidered with silver thread. Her elbow length veil of net was fastened by a half-crown cap with similar applique. The bridal bouquet was of stephanotis and white pompoms with ankle length streamers. Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Beatrice Chappelle of Birmingham, Ala. Her gown was of horizon blue lace with a wide crownless hat of the same material and she carried a bouquet of blue carnations with white streamers.

The bride's brother, Capt H. L. Litzenberg, III, of the Marine Corps stationed at Birmingham, Ala., was the best man.

The bride attended Trinity College in Washington, D. C., and plans to finish her studies at the University of Michigan, majoring in economics. Mr. Boston, a graduate of the College of Engineering of the University of Michigan, is a process engineer with the Tecumseh Products Co. The couple will be at home after Sept. 16 at 207 south Van Buren.

FFA Boys Were Busy

A regular meeting of the Tecumseh Future Farmers of America was held in the agriculture room of the high school. The meeting was brought to order by president Darrell Lowery.

The secretary's and treasurer's reports were given then the following business was discussed: plans for a chicken barbecue, work on group projects, the broiler project and the pig chain.

The pig chain changed hands from Lawrence Reichenbaugh to Darrell Lowery and LeRoy Burleson.

The chapter also voted to raise two feeder pigs as a group project. Robert Roe is managing the feeder pigs.

Also, at the meeting it was decided that Ramon Aylesworth and LeRoy Burleson would attend an educational trip along with their adviser Mr. Paul Burns.

The trip is an award given by the A & P Food stores to the outstanding FFA chapters in the state. Twenty-two other chapters are also making the trip.

The other chapters are from: Alma, Bellevue, Caro, Cassopolis, Cedar Springs, Elkton, Feleh, Ionia, Imlay City, Marshall, Merrill, Midland, Olivet, Onsted, Ovid, Owosso, Petoskey, Sandusky, Saranac, Stephenson, Williamston and Yale.

The educational award trip will take place Wednesday Aug. 29, and the agenda for the day is: 9 a.m. light refreshments, Park Shelton Hotel, educational program, dinner, and Cinerama Holiday at the Music Hall Theater, adjourn at 5 p.m.

This will be the thirteenth annual award trip sponsored by the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company. The Tecumseh chapter attended last in 1954.

The chapter wheat and oat projects have been combined, the four acres of wheat yielded 36 bushels per acre, Bill Lopshire was in charge. The two acres oats yielded 35 bushels per acre, Richard Niedermier in charge. Last year our wheat averaged 43 bushels per acre and our oats 73.

The Partridge Implement Company combined the wheat and the Tecumseh Farm Equipment Company combined the oats for the FFA boys.

Boy Scout Troop 73 is meeting regularly each Thursday evening at 7 p.m. at the cabin. Troop 4 meets each Tuesday at the same time and place.

Christian Science Services Listed

The fact that mankind can turn to the divine Mind, God, for intelligence and ability will be brought out at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Mind" is the Golden Text from Psalms (147:5): "Great is our Lord, and of great power: his understanding is infinite."

The practical value of understanding God as divine Mind will be emphasized in readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, including the following (258:21): "The human capacities are enlarged and perfected in proportion as humanity gains the true conception of man and God."

Included in the Bible readings will be the following advice of Paul to the Philippians (2:5): "Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus."

State Police Cars Equipped with Cameras

Two Michigan state police unmarked patrol cars have been put into operation equipped with cameras with which pictures will be taken of more flagrant traffic violations to prove that they occurred. They are presently assigned to the Brighton and East Lansing posts.

The Brighton car is equipped with a Polaroid camera, which develops a picture instantly. The finished print can be shown to a violator even while the officer is issuing the ticket.

The other car has a movie camera, with which one picture, or frame, can be taken at a time or a moving sequence. In this case, however, the film must be developed and printed later.

The cars will be used only in the daytime, which is also the policy with respect to other unmarked patrol vehicles operated by the department. The cameras are so set up that only one officer in a car is necessary.

After a period at Brighton and East Lansing, the cars will be rotated among all the posts.

(MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION OFFICIAL NEWS BULLETIN)

Ann Arbor has been named home base for the Great Lakes Fisheries Commission, international six-member board recently set up to help fisheries research set to guide sea lamprey control on the Great Lakes.

The commission met at Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, July 30 and heard impressive reports from U.S. and Canadian researchers working on the sea lamprey problem.

Lampreys have devastated certain fish populations in the Great Lakes. Electrical weirs are blocking many rivers emptying into the Great Lakes to prevent lampreys from spawning. Also certain chemicals have been found to kill young lampreys living in upriver mud and gravel banks.

At present, 97 weirs are in operation on Lake Superior, Michigan and Huron; 55 more are scheduled for construction on Lake Michigan streams and 10-26 on Lake Superior streams this year. Others will be built on other lakes in the next few years so that barriers will block all rivers on all the Great Lakes by the end of 1960.

The commission also planned to hold its next meeting in Ann Arbor in mid-August and called its statutory annual meeting for late Nov.

"Dial M . . ." Is at Saline

"Dial M for Murder", the celebrated murder mystery by Frederick Knott opened for a two-week run at the Saline Mill Theatre, Tuesday, Aug. 7, at 8:30 p.m., according to Barbara Hamel, who directs as well as produces the play.

The taut melodrama, which thrilled thousands of play-goers on both sides of the Atlantic, was made into a motion picture by Alfred Hitchcock, starring Ray Milland and Grace Kelly.

"Dial M for Murder" in which, appropriately, the telephone figures prominently, is the scream-in-the-night story of a famous tennis player, Tony Wendice, who plots to have his wife, Margot, murdered by a hired assassin. Suspense mounts with each scene, particularly after the attack on Margot goes awry and a shrewd police inspector enters the case.

In the Saline Mill production, Howard Malpas, a native of London, has the trying role of Tony Wendice. This is Malpas' first acting stint this season, although he has directed two other plays, "Blithe Spirit" and "The Pursuit of Happiness". In 1955 he scored in "Jane". Currently a resident of Detroit, he is also active in dramatic and television circles in that area.

Margot Wendice is portrayed by a newcomer to the Mill, Constance Wilson of Cornwall, Ontario, Canada. She is supervisor of extra-curricular dramatic activities of the high school there.

The rest of the cast include: Harry Burkey, Richard Thiede and Lewis Boatner. The role of Inspector Hubbard was awarded to Ed Bordo, who has received critical acclaim for his parts in "The Moon is Blue" and "The Pursuit of Happiness".

The sets were designed by Bob Maitland.

Tickets are available at the box office or by phoning Saline 31 for reservations. Curtain time is 8:30, with performances nightly except Mondays.

And Central and Tecumseh Acres drew to a tie at 36 all. The Acres trailed most of the game. Dave Lemerand finally got hot, scoring six tds, and tieing the game in the final minutes.

In Junior League play Central defeated Herrick Park 12 to 6. Gerald Quinn and Brad Bruce starred for the winners.

Herrick Park and Tecumseh played to a 12-all tie.

Central defeated Herrick Park 6 to 0 with Max Smith leading his team at quarterback.

Central and Herrick tied at 6-all. The refs called this game in the third period because the players were blocking and tackling and not playing according to the rules.

SPORTS

by MEL OTT

IT IS NEWS to no one that the Tigers' pitching has been sagging badly for many weeks. Where at the beginning of the season the pitching was expected to carry the club, along with the defense, it has been the hitting instead that has been holding the team together — and the defense.

Injuries have in part been responsible for the weakened state of the mound corps. Manager Bucky Harris has been hard-pressed even to nominate a starting pitcher some days. There was a time when he was down to half a dozen able-bodied hurlers.

Everything has gone wrong in the pitching department. Much had been expected of Ned Garver this year. He reported in excellent shape and pitched a strong performance against Cleveland shortly after the season opened.

Very Little Help

Then he pulled a muscle between his wrist and elbow while throwing a curve in batting practice at Kansas City a few days later. He was out a long time, didn't even touch a ball while on the disabled list for 30 days, then came back to develop neuritis in his back muscles. He may be through for the season.

Frank Lary was expected to come into his own this year. Despite defeat, he turned in an excellent job opening day. Thereafter, he began losing effectiveness and has been tagged with increasing frequency.

Players on other teams say Frank's difficulty stems from all his pitches coming in with approximately the same speed. Whether it's his fast ball, curve or slider, they say they're able to time it because there's little change in the pace.

Moreover, they say that because Frank has a tendency to be a little wild, once he gets behind the batter, like a 3-and-1 count, he has to come in with a pitch they're set for.

Trouble With Control

Paul Foytack, like Lary, possesses great potential. Also like Lary, his trouble with his control gets him into considerable difficulty.

Although he has a live fast ball, one that jumps and is rather hard to follow, most homers hit off Foytack are hit off his fast ball. For once Paul misses the plate with his curve and change of pace, the batters know he'll come in with the fast one and they're set for it.

Steve Gromek is plagued by homeritis when his fast ball isn't working. If Steve is having a bad day, his fast ball won't have any hop and will come in straight as a string. That's the kind of pitch that's relatively easy to belt out of the park.

Despite having the best record on the staff, Bill Hoeft has been erratic at times. A nerve condition in his elbow for several weeks didn't help any, either.

Erratic, too, describes reliefers Al Aber and Walt Masterson, who perform stoutly one afternoon and get shelled in a hurry the next time out.

A similar story can be told about Virgil Trucks, whose on-and-off performances have been attributable in part to injuries of the knee and back.

Jim Bunning and Bob Miller have yet to prove themselves major leaguers, while bonus hurler Jim Brady needs a lot more seasoning.

It doesn't cost a cent to Take a Ford Test Drive . . . and you may save hundreds!

Would you trade 20 minutes of your time for a saving of hundreds?

August is Saving Season at your Ford Dealer's. Bag a deal while he clears his decks for the '57 models.

Why put off the fun of a Ford Test Drive for a single day? As you know, it puts you under absolutely no obligation. And it may save you literally hundreds of dollars—we'll get to that a little further on.

By a Test Drive we mean more than a once-around-the-block "spin."

We want you to test the power that rocketed Ford to a 500-mile stock car record at Indianapolis . . . the GO that won the grand prize at NASCAR's Daytona Championships. We want you to feel how this Ford scat pays off in your kind of driving: in traffic, passing on the highway, getting going at traffic lights. We'll put either a Ford Six or a mighty V-8 with up to 225 h.p. at your disposal.

We want you to drive and listen—drive and feel.

That fine-car quiet results from sound insulation under the hood, under the roof, in door and body panels—the most insulation in any car at anywhere near Ford's low price.

Some other things that contribute to that smooth, silent, luxury-car ride are things which Ford's leading competitor certainly can't boast: Ball-Joint suspension with wide base control arms for better steering, more stabilized wheel alignment . . . shock absorbers that are mounted to the frame rather than the body.

"Sure," you'll say as you drive along the road. "Feels pretty good—but after all, this car is new."

Well sir, when you come in from your drive we'll show you why Ford will stay like new for a long, long time.

We'll show you how Ford has five cross-members (including a "K" member) in its frame. Ford's leading competitor only has two. We'll show you the deep-block Y-like engine design which enables Ford engines to take it.

Now—what you've been waiting for. How can you save hundreds of dollars by taking a Ford Test Drive?

Simply by proving to yourself that there really is a fine car in the low-price field.

You see, the reason a Ford does not cost hundreds of dollars more than it does, is Ford's huge production and the huge volume which we Ford Dealers sell.

But enough of this talk. Come in. And you do the driving and the talking. Bring the family, too.

FORD goes first

Superhighways Can Be Dangerous

Superhighways are not the accident cure-all their enthusiastic early supporters claimed they were, according to the National Safety Council, because even the best road can't overcome driver error.

However, you can avoid trouble on your vacation travels and enjoy wonderful facility of movement if you understand the danger points of superhighway driving. Here are some tips from the Council:

Speed causes most of the trouble — not just ordinary speed, but race track speed which the ordinary motorist seldom contends with. High speed does two things: it gives you less time to think and react in an emergency situation, and it increases the severity of an accident if one does occur.

Don't get too conservative, though. Slow drivers cause trouble, too.

Such differences in speed cause one of the most common types of superhighway accident — the rear-end collision in overtaking and passing. Fast drivers close the gap on trucks, buses and slower-moving cars much more quickly than they expect from their previous experience. Result: they swing out too late to clear the vehicle ahead or fail to see it in time at night.

Another common accident location is the inter-change — the cloverleaf intersection or other means of entry and exit. These cause the speed differential that is so dangerous in fast traffic. A well-designed road should have an acceleration lane for entering cars so that they can reach the proper pace before merging with traffic.

Speed makes it foolhardy to follow another car closely, as proved by the multiple chain reaction crashes that have occurred on superhighways. The interval of one car length for every 10 miles of speed is not enough on an expressway. So allow plenty of room for slowing and stopping. Remember this: at 40 m.p.h. your car will go 44 feet between the time you see danger and you get your foot on the brake, then 84 additional feet to stop if your brakes are good. But at 70, it will take you 77 feet to get on the brake and 256 feet more to stop!

Stopping on a superhighway is dangerous because high speed cars often are unable to stop or veer out in time. This is especially true at night when cars may be traveling too fast to stop within the distance illuminated by headlights. Don't stop [illegible] a superhighway for frivolous reasons. If mechanical or other trouble forces a stop, get completely off the highway and send someone back at least 300 feet with a flashlight or flare.

Much has been written about highway hypnosis. While its importance as an accident cause never has been definitely measured, the trance-like state inducted by mile after mile of effortless driving, of visual concentration on the car or tail-light ahead, and of listening to the drone of the motor and the rush of wind undoubtedly dulls alertness. The alarms, dangers and minor emergencies common to driving on old roads keep the instinct of self-preservation functioning; on the superhighway this animal awareness of danger is lulled and relaxed — too much. So play the radio, converse with passengers, play license plate poker or do anything that will keep you from being mesmerized by steady, fast driving.

When seeking distraction, though, don't take your eyes from the road. The speed at which traffic is moving on expressways makes quick reaction to danger imperative. So don't let lighting a cigarette, checking a map, or settling a squabble among the children take your eyes from that point several hundred feet ahead of your car where you must see danger and avoid it.

Bad weather makes the superhighway no better than the ordinary road. It may even be worse, because some drivers still will be going too fast. Patches of fog and ice in shaded cuts through mountainous areas have brought many travelers to grief. There's nothing about the design of a superhighway that makes ice less slippery or fog less impenetrable. So watch out!

By all means don't drive on a superhighway if you are tired or sleepy or if you feel ill. Fast driving requires the utmost alertness and attention.

John Parsen hesitated. "I'd like to buy a home," he confided, "but I'm concerned about the future. What do you think of the long range outlook? Is this a sound time to buy?"

"Before we go into a formal answer," I replied, "let me ask you a question or two. What do you think of your own future?"

"It looks bright," he said. "I've got a good job with a growing concern. I'm not worried about my own employment, just conditions in general."

"Fine," I replied, "now how do conditions look to you. Alarming?"

"No," he admitted, "they appear good. Oh, some lines are readjusting, but the whole economy still seems healthy."

"I thing you're right," I said. "And as for the future, several of our leading economists predict that the middle 1960's will be a boom period. More inflation. Lots of new families as the big crop of "war babies" marry and form families of their own."

"That is logical," John said. "O.K. Let's look at some houses. I've decided NOW is a good time to buy, and besides, we need a good home of our own."

May we show YOU some homes too?

It Isn't Fever and It's Not Caused by Hay But It's Miserable Stuff

It isn't a fever and it isn't caused by hay, but by any other name it would be just as miserable. Hay fever, according to the Michigan Department of Health, is a general term which includes all kinds of allergies to various pollens, dusts, and other offenders.

Some people, the health department explains, suffer from perennial hay fever which may occur at any time of the year. It is caused by sensitivity to house dusts, animal hair, feathers or other substances. Then there is summer hay fever which is caused by pollen from grasses such as timothy and redtop. Spring hay fever is a result of tree pollens.

Most common, however, is fall hay fever usually due to ragweed pollen. Ragweed is one of the most common Michigan weeds, growing wild in fields, vacant lots, and along highways. The pollen is produced in large quantities by mid-Aug. and may travel great distances over land and water, carried by the wind.

A good defense against hay fever, according to the health department, is retreat. Fortunately, Michigan offers areas sufficiently free from ragweed pollen to be comfortable for the average hay fever sufferer. These include most of the upper peninsula and the northern third of the lower peninsula.

For those unable to get away during the hay fever season, the family doctor may suggest injections to reduce sensitivity, or prescribe certain medicines to relieve symptoms. There is also the possibility of removing pollens through the use of an air filter or electric pollen remover.

If none of these is successful, the only thing to do is suffer through the season. Although it is most uncomfortable, there is a consolation . . . fall hay fever is one malady with a sure cure, for winter always comes.

You get more car when you buy it . . . more dollars when you sell it! Chevy has the highest resale value of the leading low-priced models!

Why people who used to buy higher priced cars are changing to Chevrolet

Sales and official registration figures show that the higher priced cars are losing more and more buyers to Chevrolet. And it isn't just because a Chevrolet costs less, either!

If you buy a higher priced car instead of a Chevrolet, what do you get in return for those extra hundreds of dollars?

More room? No, because the difference in room is usually measured in fractions of inches—often in Chevrolet's favor! Better roadability? Not with Chevy's wedded-to-the-road stability and sure-footed cornering ability. Better performance? Well, Tom McCahill, automotive expert for Mechanix Illustrated, called Chevrolet "the greatest performance buy ever offered at any time in America!" Result: more buyers are deciding they'd rather drive a sweet-handling Chevrolet even if it didn't cost less! Wouldn't you?

LAST WEEK'S ITEMS

Mrs. Ray Williams, Mrs. Charles Gorton Sr., and Mrs. Virginia Thomas were appointed to decide the date and place for the Sunday school picnic. It will be announced next Sunday.

The Macon official church board meeting will be held at the church Tuesday, Aug. 14 at 8 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman Jordan spent Sunday with their daughter Lenora.

Mrs. Charles Gorton entertained her Sunday school class Friday evening. After the business meeting games and contests were played.

Mrs. James Thomas, Mrs. Janet Gorton and Mrs. Wilma Clark entertained Thursday evening in honor of Geraldine Beck whose marriage to William Gorton will be an event of Aug. 18. It was an around the clock shower. Each guest brought a gift for a specific time of the day. Games were played. A three-tiered cake centered the serving table. The party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clark.

Mrs. Lila Cadmus, Mrs. Dean Moore of Tecumseh, and Mrs. Mildred Moore entertained 40 ladies Wednesday evening at a miscellaneous shower for Miss Delora Fletcher of Tecumseh. She will be married to Edward Bock on Aug. 18. A truth or consequences party was held. Decorations for the party were in pale green and white.

The annual Preston-Moore reunion met Saturday noon in Moore's recreation room. Immediately following a chicken dinner a business meeting was conducted by Vernon Moore of Blissfield. It was decided to have the next reunion in the Britton Park on the first Saturday in Aug. of 1957. The following officers were elected: Hamilton Moore, president; Mrs. Iva Caswell, secretary; and Mrs. Dorothy Renal, treasurer.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Turned Out To Be a Good Break

We had a water main break last Thursday. Happened early in the morning—about two a.m.—and the first thing most of us knew about it was when we tried to turn on the faucets and nothing came out but a hissing noise.

Nobody was inconvenienced much though. Repair crew went right to work—and things were fixed up in jig time.

Incidentally, the water company got a flood of payments on overdue bills that day. Lots of "forgetful" folks must have figured they were being warned!

From where I sit, sometimes our obligations slip our minds. Like the responsibility we all have to our communities . . . to see that our neighbors enjoy the right to decide for themselves how to work, how to vote, whether or not to enjoy a bottle of beer. Any time we "forget" we owe this right to others, we take a chance on stopping the flow of tolerance that makes this country such a grand place for us to live in.

Shooting Stars Will Brighten Aug. Skies

"Shooting stars" will flash across the Aug. skies at a higher rate than at any other time of the year, according to University of Michigan astronomer, Hazel M. Losh.

This is the yearly show of the Perseid Meteors. Although visible for two or three weeks, they will reach their peak around August 10 and 11, with about 70 meteors an hour being visible after midnight with good sky conditions, Professor Losh said.

Although these streaks of light may be seen in any direction, their paths, when traced back, will appear to intersect in the northeast where the constellation, Perseus, will be rising around 10 p.m. This accounts for the name given to the annual display.

These bits of iron and stone become visible only when they enter the Earth's atmosphere. "Coming in at terrific speeds," Professor Losh continued, "they are checked and the resulting friction sets them burning." However, most of them are consumed in their plunge.

Among the bright planets of interest this month will be Saturn in the southwestern sky. It will set around midnight.

Mars, red in color, will be rising around 10 p.m., just slightly south of the most eastern point of the horizon. "This is the year of the close approach of Mars to the Earth," the professor explains. Although it will reach its closest distance in September, during the month of August it will be rapidly coming nearer, changing its distance from 43 million miles at the beginning of the month to a little more than 35 million by the end.

The Milky Way will dominate the August evening sky. It is during this time that we see its full half circle running as nearly north and south as it ever does, Professor Losh points out.

By the end of the month we'll be having a 13 hour day instead of the June high of 15 hours.

More Money To Go to School Lunch

The Michigan school lunch program received a $600,000 increase when the U.S. Department of Agriculture notified school officials of one-fourth more federal money available next year.

The total amount allocated to the states out of the new appropriation of $100 million for the coming year is $83.6 million. Last year the states received slightly more than $67 million out of an appropriation of just over $83 million. The remainder, more than $16 million, is used by the U.S.D.A. to buy vitamin-rich foods which are available at "bargain" prices, and to pay administrative costs.

The money is allocated to the states on the basis of the number of children of school age and the need. States where the income per person is below the national average get slightly more money per child. Payments by the children and by state and local governments must match the federal contributions at least 3 to 1.

More than 11 million school children took part in the program last year and were served approximately 1,800 million meals.

It's a great time to buy a Buick!

Buick CENTURY 6-Passenger 4-Door Riviera

Today you can have what other cars may not have for years

JUST BETWEEN US—don't you get a kick out of keeping a step ahead of the other fellow—especially when it comes to cars?

So wouldn't you find it fun to boss the newest thing in motordom—a car with the greatest advance in transmissions since the gearshift left the floor?

And wouldn't you like to have all this at a price that is right—and when the weather is right—and right when your car is at its top worth?

Well, sir, we've got that kind of situation for you—now.

Because this very day you can step into a 1956 Buick with Variable Pitch Dynaflow*—a transmission so modern that you may not find its like in other cars for years to come.

You can have the thrill of split-second action from the merest nudge of the pedal – and with the good-news gas savings this economy range brings.

You can have the safety-surge of power that comes from pushing down on the pedal and switching the pitch.

All with the walloping might of Buick's 322-cubic-inch V8 engine. All with the new luxury of a ride that's built on four brawny coil springs for buoyant levelness. A ride with new steering ease and sweeter handling.

Best of all, you can make the buy of a lifetime. For today's low prices have helped move Buick into America's best-selling 3 more firmly than ever.

That means we can come to terms on the trade-in value of your car in a way that's bound to tickle you pink.

Why not stop in and take us up on that —today?

Patricia Marx and Gordon Keyser Married in Detroit

At the Jefferson Avenue Presbyterian church in Detroit Saturday evening, Aug. 11, Patricia Ann Marx of Grosse Pointe became the bride of Gordon R. Keyser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Keyser of Tecumseh. Miss Marx's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Oscar B. Marx Jr. of 954 Lakepointe in Grosse Pointe.

MRS. GORDON KEYSER

Bouquets of white gladioli decorated the altar before which the Rev. Allan A. Zaun performed the double ring ceremony at 8 p.m. Tenor solos by Harry Friesma added to the impressiveness of the service.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride was preceded to the altar by her five attendants. Her sister, Miss Sandra Marx was maid of honor and Barbara Marx and Judy Wilson of Grosse Pointe, Diane Shaver of Cincinnati, Ohio and Joan Marlow of Waterloo, Iowa were the bridesmaids.

David VanWinkle of Arlington Heights, Ill., assisted Mr. Keyser as best man and the ushers were Oscar B. Marx III, a brother of the bride and David Lott, Douglas McDowell and David Ousterhout, all of Tecumseh.

The bride had chosen white silk taffeta for her distinctive wedding gown, whose sculptured bodice was made with a wide square neckline and was trimmed only by a tailored bow of the material. It had short sleeves and the full skirt swept into a court train. Her very full fingertip length veil was secured by a low tiara of leaves made of tiny pearl beads and sequins. Her cascade bouquet was of white gladioli and ivy.

The ballerina length dress of Miss Sandra Marx, the maid of honor was of mint green silk taffeta made with a bouffant skirt and long fitted bodice. A sash of darker green, threaded through heavy lace and ending in a large bow finished the back of the bodice. Maize taffeta frocks accented by gold sashes and fashioned like that of the maid of honor were worn by the four other attendants. All wore tiny veiled hats and carried cascade bouquets of gladioli, that of Miss Marx being yellow and the bridesmaid's mint green.
Meptg

A dress of dusty rose lace with ribbon accents was worn by Mrs. Marx for her daughter's wedding. Her tiny feathered hat matched her gown and her corsage was blue Cympedium orchids. Mrs. Keyser, mother of the bridegroom, wore champagne colored lace with a matching hat and her flowers were yellow orchids.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception for 250 guests was given at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center where Miss Sherry Tucker and Miss Margaret Lane assisted with the serving.

A graduate of the University of Michigan, the new Mrs. Keyser is at present teaching in the Detroit school system. Mr. Keyser also graduated from the U. of M. and this year will be working for a master's degree at Wayne University. Their home will be at 5538 Cass Ave., Detroit.

The bride-elect was introduced recently to Tecumseh friends at a tea given in her honor by Mrs. Paul Keyser and has been the recipient of many gift showers since. Mrs. M. A. Bradley gave a linen shower for Miss Marx and Mrs. Harold Brodie of Green Lake entertained with a personal shower and luncheon at Rotunda Inn.

There were a kitchen shower and a luncheon given for her pleasure by Mrs. Henry Cope and Miss Emma Marx of Grosse Pointe, a barbecue at the Grosse Ile home of Judy Wilson and a spinster dinner at the Rotunda Inn with her grandmother, Mrs. Frank Bowles as hostess.

Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Marx entertained the family and bridal party at dinner following the wedding rehearsal.

Attends Meetings In New York City

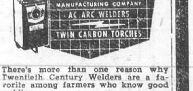
Here's why more farmers choose



There's more than one reason why Twentieth Century Welders are a favorite among farmers who know good welding.
First and foremost . . . they'll tackle, and turn out "to a T", any welding job. Just dial the right heat for the job, and put your Twentieth Century Welder and Carbon Arc Torch to work:
Cutting metal — Brazing
Drilling holes — Bending and shaping
Soldering — Hard Surfacing
AND . . . Twentieth Century Welders save you time and money.
NOW . . . You can quickly and easily repair or replace worn or broken parts on automobiles, tractors, trucks, on all farm machinery.
AND . . . with a Twentieth Century Welder, you can easily make pieces of new equipment.
Take the work out of welding, with the welder that "fits" your farm—a Twentieth Century Welder. Come in. See us for information and demonstration.

through July 16 this year. Through July 18 last year, 9,048,000 had visited parks.

State officials say rain and generally cold weather cut into park attendance thus far this year.

The popular belief that all migrating ducks fly straight south to escape cold winter weather does not hold true, according to Conservation Department studies of waterfowl movements.

Recovery of birds banded on the lower Detroit River since 1949 indicates that several species of diving ducks utilize a west to east flight route for fall migrations through Michigan and to the Chesapeake Bay area on the Atlantic coast.

The "divers" include the canvasback, redhead, ringneck, scaup, golden-eye and buffle-head.

The "dabblers" or surface-feeding ducks, include mallards, pintails, teals, gadwalls and widgeons.

The waterfowl investigations showed that black ducks have a split migration pattern, with some of the species going to the Atlantic coast while others move south along the Mississippi Valley. Mallards and most other dabblers migrate primarily along the Mississippi.

Since 1949, game division workers from Pte. Mouillee state game area have banded almost 30,000 waterfowl. Recoveries of banded birds ranged from six per cent for lesser scaup (blue-bills) to a high of about 26 per cent for mallards. A large percentage of all recoveries occurred within a 200-mile radius of the banding station.

Band recoveries demonstrated that the life expectancy of ducks is comparatively short. Of the banded birds killed, the largest percentage was taken in the first year after banding.

The study indicates fall migration in the area is characterized by a main migration peak, largely divers, around Nov. 1-15. This main flight is preceded by a dabbler flight and followed by another peak in dabbler migration. Diver numbers drop rapidly while dabblers gradually decrease to the winter level.

Fishing without a license continues to be one of the most frequent conservation law violations in Michigan.

Of the 112 conservation law convictions reported last week, 74 persons received financial penalties for failure to purchase a state fishing license.

The 112 violators paid a total of $682 in fines and $973 in court costs. Money from fines goes to library funds in the county where the fine is collected.

Resident fishing licenses cost $1.50; temporary nonresident permits cost $3; and annual nonresident licenses are $4. A trout stamp costs an additional $1.

A fishing license is required for all persons 17 years of age or older, except wives of resident fishermen, for fishing on inland waters in Michigan. No license is required for sport fishing on the Great Lakes, Lake St. Slair, or the Detroit, St. Clair and St. Marys Rivers.

Results of a nationwide survey of the economic aspects of hunting and sport fishing will be available next month, the federal Fish and Wildlife Service announced recently.

Field work on the survey, which began last spring, has been completed and some 9,000 questionnaires are now being analyzed. A detailed report on the survey is scheduled for presentation at the Sept. meeting of the International Association of Game, Fish and Conservation Commissioners. Printed copies of the Service report will be available at that time.

Scout Troop Takes Two-Day Hike

Six members of Boy Scout Troop 73 and their leader, Howard Wilson Jr. left Saturday morning for a two-day hike over "Freedom Trail." This trail, which includes Tecumseh and Adrian has been named by the scouting association of this region and follows roughly a portion of the Indian trail which once led from the valley of the Wabash river to "Saline Springs."

Starting on Burt street in Tecumseh at the recorded site of the pre-historic Indian earth works which have been called "The Indian Dancing Grounds" it follows the Raisin river south, visiting abandoned mill sites at Bloods road and Quaker Mill, the spot where Aunt Laura Haviland had her "Raisin Valley Institute" and other points which were part of the pre-Civil War underground railroad.

In spite of rain, the boys camped over night at the scout camp site on the river at Laberdee road and Wilmouth highway. They checked in at the sheriff's office in Adrian and made it safely back to Tecumseh about 4:30 Sunday afternoon, with a new knowledge of Lenawee, some tired muscles and a few blisters. The group included George Milosh, Larry Titley and Jerry and Dennis Irelan of Tecumseh, Billy Ettinger of Britton and Bob Habrick of Ridgeway.

Plans are being made for the organization of a Boy Scout mother's club, which will be open to the mothers of all local scouts and which assist in scout activities.

Bellevilles Take Over Aug. 27

THE TECUMSEH HERALD has been sold to Fred C. and Sara A. Belleville and Philip F. and Geraldean Belleville of Yale, Mich., who will assume their duties Aug. 27.

The present owners, Hilda A. Wickwire, Marjorie M. Wickwire and Mary L. Dunlap, wife and daughters of Earl L. Wickwire, have published THE HERALD since the death of Mr. Wickwire in Aug., 1952. Mr. Wickwire purchased the paper in 1929, and upon his death, Miss Marjorie Wickwire assumed the duties of publisher.

Fred Belleville, a Michigan publisher for 18 years, is also owner of the Yale Expositor, the Sanilac County Herald and the Lake Huron Resorter. He has had 25 years experience in the graphic arts field.

Mr. Belleville is a past member of the Yale Board of Education, a past member of the Rotary Club, a member of the Yale Businessmen's Club and a director of the Yale Industrial Improvement Association.

Philip Belleville, his son, graduated in June from the University of Michigan with honors in his field. He was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa Phi and is a member of Alpha Kappa Psi fraternity. He is at present editor of the Yale Expositor.

He is a member of the Yale Businessmen's Club and a member of the Industrial Improvement Association of Yale.

Mrs. F. C. Belleville will remain in Yale for the present to manage the other Belleville publications until final arrangements can be made.

Robert L. Warren, managing editor of THE HERALD for the last two and one-half years, will move to Brown City, Mich., where he will be publisher of the Brown City Banner.

Hagen Brothers' Circus Will Give Two Performances Here Next Monday

The Hagen Brothers' Circus will give two performances in Tecumseh next Monday, Aug. 27. The first show will be presented at 2:15 and the second one will be presented at 8 p.m.

The circus's exhibit here will be sponsored by the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Each show will be given in Tecumseh Acres where the circus tents will be pitched at the corner of Russell Rd. and Green Highway.

Two special convoys are used to transport this great tented organization from city to city. Traveling with the circus are several hundred employees, including 20 advance men.

It takes five acres of ground to house this transient city in the daytime.

The circus carries a traveling zoo with many rare and costly specimens of the wild animal kingdom — featuring the only African Tapir on tour in the U.S. today. Elephants, lions, llamas, monkeys, peccaries and many others are only a part of this traveling museum of natural history.

Great stars from foreign countries, respective champions in their own lines, participate in the gigantic display of arenic numbers. The two featured horse displays are handled by Jack Banta acknowledged to be the greatest Liberty horse trainer of all time. Among the equestrians will be the Newman family, champion bareback riding act, from England.

The petite and charming Diana Allen comes from the Antipodes to thrill and amuse in her daring feats in the air. From England the famous LeClairs, international jugglers.

Then the sensational Bantas high wire aerialists will be joined by such fabulous acts as Miss Patty Couls, America's youngest animal trainer, 14 years old, who will present Dixie, the world's largest elephant who heads the herd of pachyderms. Others are the skating Carltons, "Thrills on Wheels", Los Holms and high school Liberty horses.

In all 25 big circus acts in three rings.

Of course, no circus would be complete without clowns, and heading the Congress of Kings Jesters, is the one and only "Happy" Davis, the prince of clowndom.

Palmans Will Re-Open Today

Palmans Furniture store re-opens today (Thursday). The store is planning a grand opening observance with gifts for everybody in attendance and a grand door prize.

The large store on the four corners has been redecorated and remodeled for Palmans complete selection of brand name appliances and furniture.

Palmans will be managed by Earl Brownfield. He and Mrs. Brownfield and their two children will move to Tecumseh in the near future. At present they are living in Adrian.

Clarence Woodby, assistant manager, a former resident of Tecumseh, also is making arrangements to move from Adrian to Tecumseh.

One World and the Ox Cart

What does the ox cart have to do with "One World" anyway?

Well, "One World" is the theme of the Lenawee County Band Festival to be held here Oct. 2.

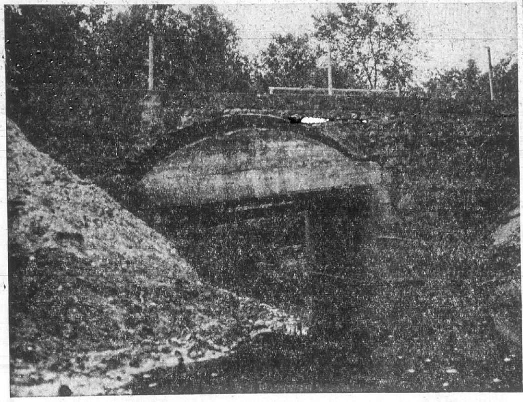
The ox cart is the part that the Britton band will take in this festival.

How can this idea tie in with the main show? Well, the program will tell how we have emerged from the old days and have reached the present.

One may say that if it hadn't been for the ox cart we would not have the automobile.

The wonders of the present time had to get a start somewhere. So, the ox cart is the first link, one may say, in a chain of tools or discoveries that is compelling us to think, not of localities, but of the whole world.

Boys and girls of the Britton school band will, most ably, present the theme of the Ox Cart, as they open the show at the great Lenawee County Band Festival, planned for Oct. 2 on the Tecumseh recreation field.



THIS IS THE OLD—This bridge on north Occidental Rd. will be replaced by a new one. The picture clearly shows how through the years the concrete core of the old bridge has dropped down and when the water was high on Evans Creek in the spring the huge chunk of concrete dammed up the creek and flooded adjacent property.

School Bells Ring Sept. 4

Staff of 115 To Serve 2834 Students

When the school bells chime throughout the district Sept. 4, a staff of 115 will be on hand to serve approximately 2834 public school children between the ages of five and 19 as shown by the 1956 school census.

The staff consists of four administrators, 53 elementary teachers, 30 secondary teachers, two public librarians, three secretaries, one maintenance engineer, four cafeteria workers, nine custodians, eight bus drivers and one relief driver.

Preliminary plans for re-opening will be completed during staff meetings which will open at 9 a.m. Wednesday, Aug. 29, when all members will meet with Mr. McDowell, superintendent of schools, in the high school study hall.

Following a general discussion of the personnel policies booklet, the teachers' manual, and general plans for the year, the staff will adjourn to the country club for luncheon at 12:30 p.m.

At 2 p.m. the elementary staff will meet with Mr. Greene, elementary supervisor, in the gym at the Patterson school and the secondary staff with Mr. Hart, secondary principal, in the high school study hall to discuss problems relating to their specific fields.

Thursday Central school teachers will meet with Mr. Kaiser; the other elementary teachers with Mr. Greene; and the secondary teachers with Mr. Hart at 9 a.m.

In the afternoon at 1 p.m the teachers have work periods and group conferences. The teachers new to the staff and others who so desire will meet with Mr. McDowell for orientation and a question and answer period concerning their part in community life and problems relative to their individual work.

On Friday morning at 9 a.m. will be the final meeting with the principals and elementary supervisor to clear up last minute details and at 10 a.m. elementary teachers will meet with Mrs. Jacobs who is the child attendance officer.

At 11 a.m. elementary teachers will meet with the art, music, and physical education supervisors and teachers and the secondary teachers with the librarians in the high school study hall. At 1 p.m. the instructional staff will again meet with the superintendent for a discussion of last minute details.

Tecumseh Public Schools will open Tuesday, Sept. 4, and classes will start immediately. Parents are urged to make sure that their children attend this opening day as important announcements and assignments are made without which children lose valuable educational opportunities.

Tuition rates for pupils living outside District No. 11, Tecumseh Public Schools, will be $98.48 for children in grades kindergarten through sixth, and $134.54 for children in the seventh through the twelfth. Tuition must be paid by all pupils living outside District No. 11, Tecumseh Public Schools, half by Nov. 15 and the balance by March 15 of this school year.

A very fine program will be provided both in instrumental and vocal music at the elementary and secondary level. In addition to the usual classes in music, the band director will meet with all fifth and sixth grade pupils interested in band and they will receive their instruction during the school day as at the secondary school level. Vocal music instruction will be provided during the regular school day.

Pupils desiring to take private instrumental or vocal music lessons must do so during certain specified times. Fourth through eighth grade pupils may leave school for such purposes once a week during their gym period only; pupils nine through 12 from study hall only.

The services of a speech correctionist and child psychologist, although they are not directly on the staff of the Tecumseh Public Schools, are available to the pupils in the area since a portion of their support comes from within this area. The speech correctionist is available directly through the school and the child psychologist through the Lenawee County Child Guidance Clinic in Adrian.

There will be an open meeting for discussion of plans for the school year 1956-1957 for all parents who desire to attend on Thursday evening, Aug. 30 at 8 p.m. in the high school gymnasium. The superintendents, principals, and supervisors will be present to discuss problems and to give any information which is available at the time to those who have questions.

Jr. and Sr. High Students Register, Enroll Tuesday

Tecumseh junior and senior high school students will report to the high school gymnasium at 9 a.m., Tuesday, Sept. 4, for registration and enrollment.

The book fee of $5, which each student in grades seven through 12 is required to pay, will be collected at this time. After the book fee has been paid, each student will receive his class schedule card. Students may leave for the rest of the morning after this has been completed unless they plan to take algebra or foreign languages. Prognostic tests for these subjects will be given at 10 a.m., Tuesday, in the high school study hall.

All students are to return at 1:30 p.m., Tuesday, and go to their seventh period classroom for a period of orientation. Regular classes will begin Wednesday, Sept. 5 at 8 a.m. This year the school day will begin at 8 a.m. and conclude at 3:02 p.m.

All rural and city students in grades seven through 12 will attend classes in the high school building.

In the seventh and eighth grades, physical education classes will meet three days per week with life adjustment classes meeting the other two days for some groups with other groups meeting two days per week for physical education and three days for life adjustment.

At the end of the first semester, this program will be reversed.

In grades nine through 12, one hour of physical education per day is required unless excused by special permission of the principal. Physical education is an elective in the twelfth grade. In addition, the usual sports for boys and girls will be carried on throughout the year.

Each boy and girl from the seventh grade through the twelfth grade will receive a clean towel twice a week. These towels are marked with the school name and it is hoped that should parents or friends find that pupils are bringing them home, they will return them to the school immediately. The fee for the lock, locker and towel service is $1 per semester for high school students and 50 cents per semester for seventh and eighth grade students.

Students in grades nine through 12 who have not enrolled for the 1956-1957 schoolyear are to enroll Thursday, Aug. 30 and Friday, Aug. 31 from 1:30 to 3 p.m., in the high school principal's office. Seventh and eighth grade pupils who have not enrolled will be enrolled Tuesday morning at 9 a.m. Students who have moved to Tecumseh from other localities are to bring the report cards they obtained at the last school they attended.

Students should be prepared to pay the $5 book fee on Tuesday morning, and the towel and locker fee on Wednesday at the first meeting of their physical education class.

WATER DEPARTMENT IMPROVEMENTS—R. J. Crawford, superintendent for Jechura Brothers, Inc., of Toledo, Ohio, supervises the installation of a section of pipe on north Maumee St. This is part of a $220,000 water department improvement program now in process by the city.

1200 Sunday Diners Are Expected for St. Elizabeth's Roast Beef Dinner

St. Elizabeth's Parish is preparing for its third annual roast beef dinner which will be held Sunday, Aug. 26, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

The parish dinner to be held on the fourth Sunday of Aug. each year, was started by the Rev. Father Thomas Collins for the purpose of getting the parishoners and their friends together as well as for supplementing funds to support the new school and other parish expenses.

Chairman for this year's dinner is Harvey Wilson, assisted by Mrs. Robert Sage as co-chairman.

The planning committees expect to feed 1000 to 1200 persons again this year as was done in previous years. Last year diners attended from Detroit, Pontiac, Flint, Ann Arbor, Redford, Utica, Plymouth and other cities.

Ben Hammack and Tim Neill are in charge of cooking the beef and parishoners will take part in preparing the food.

The welcoming committee are Dr. Robert Murray, Dr. A. J Phelan and Joseph Horvath and wives.

Mrs. Joseph O'Pravil and Mrs Carl Gruber are in charge of the kitchen.

Tickets will be sold at the door only. Tom O'Hara and Lloyd Rhein are in charge.

Mrs. Robert Bowers will act as treasurer for the event.

Mrs. Arthur Lopshire and Mrs. Mable Whiting will be in charge of religious articles; and soft drinks and ice cream will be sold by Kathy Tomorsky and Mary Joe Tressler.

Gorton-Beck Vows Spoken In Macon Methodist Church

Geraldine Elsie Beck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Beck of Saline became the bride of William E. Gorton of Route 2, Tecumseh, Saturday evening in the Macon Methodist church. The double ring ceremony was performed at 8:30 by the Rev. Donald Bates and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

MRS. WILLIAM E. GORTON

Hampers of white and pink gladioli were massed with palms and lighted candelabra to decorate the church and the pews were marked with clusters of gladioli tied with satin bows.

Karen Beck was her sister's maid of honor and Joan Ropeta of Dearborn, Mrs. Edward Clark of Macon and Mrs. Charles Gorton Jr. of Britton were bridesmaids. Charles Gorton, brother of the bridegroom was best man and the ushers were Ronald Hopp of Saline and Jack Crittenden and Dick Hanley of Macon.

Tiers of petit point lace formed the bridal gown which had long sleeves and a wide V neckline. Her fingertip veil was held by a crown of seed pearls and she carried a lace covered white Bible topped by a pale lavender orchid.

The four bridal attendants wore similar waltz length gowns of tulle and lace. That of the maid of honor was yellow, Miss Ropeta's lavender, Mrs. Gorton's pink and Mrs. Clark was in blue. Each carried a basket of flowers.

Mrs. Beck wore beige lace for her daughter's wedding and the bridegroom's mother was in aqua nylon lace. Both had orchid corsages.

The Saline township hall was decorated in a color scheme of blue and white when 150 guests were entertained at a reception following the ceremony. The Alice Jane circle of the church served the refreshments which featured a four-tiered wedding cake.

After a few days spent at Orchard Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Gorton will reside on Pennington road near Macon where the groom is engaged in farming. He graduated in 1954 from the Britton-Macon Agricultural high school and plans to take a course in television and radio work. The bride is a graduate of the Saline high school and is now a junior at the University of Michigan.

Showers Honor Dulcie Bowen

Among the social events leading up to the Sept. 8 wedding of Miss Dulcie Bowen and John Sisson have been several showers. Mrs. Orville Farver, Mrs. Hugh H. Hanna and Mrs. Donald Cobb entertained recently at a luncheon and miscellaneous shower for the bride-elect at the Devils Lake summer home of Mrs. Farver.

Last week the Wamplers Lake cottage of Mrs. Dalton Walper was the scene of a picnic luncheon and kitchen shower given by Mrs. Walper and Mrs. L. W. Larsen and Thursday evening Mrs. Richie Davis and Miss Constance Clark gave a miscellaneous shower for the pleasure of Miss Bowen at the home of Mrs. Davis' mother, Mrs. Fred Biederman.

Britton Church Is Scene of Bock-Fletcher Wedding

The Britton Congregational church was the scene of the wedding Saturday evening of Delora Fletcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Fletcher of 206 N. Maumee St., Tecumseh, and Edward Bock of Britton. Mr. Bock is the son of Joseph Bock and the late Mrs. Bock of Britton.

MRS. EDWARD BOCK

The candlelight ceremony was performed by the Rev. O. E. Priest at 7:30 p.m. Guests were seated at pews marked with white gladioli and white ribbon bows by Arlen Fletcher, brother of the bride and Duane Bock, brother of the groom.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of white Chantilly lace over satin. The fitted bodice had a round neckline and long sleeves that ended in points over her hands. The floor length skirt was of white net and lace over satin and she carried a white orchid surrounded by lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Donald Anderson, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Lorna Dicks, niece of the bridegroom and Miss Rosemary Murphy. Little Marie Geisenhaver was flower girl.

Mr. Bock asked Allan Barrett to be his best man and also attending him were Ben Ball and Jack Patterson.

Pale green and yellow princess style gowns were worn by the matron of honor and bridesmaids respectively. They carried colonial bouquets of carnations to match their V necked dresses. A floor length dress of white lace and net over taffeta was worn by the flower girl and a band of artificial flowers encircled her head. Her miniature bouquet was styled like the bridesmaids' and was of white carnations.

Miss Julie Crawford accompanied by Miss Marcia Bashore at the organ sang "The Wedding Blessing" and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar.

Mrs. Fletcher chose a dress of yellow cotton and brown accessories for her daughter's wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Wenton Murphy were hosts at the reception that followed the ceremony at the Tecumseh Products Union hall. Baskets of white and yellow gladioli decorated the room and music was provided by Driscoll's orchestra. A buffet supper was served to the 350 guests with Mrs. Wanda Geisenhaver cutting the bride's cake and Miss Shirley Holdridge the groom's. Punch was served by Miss Judy Fairbanks and Miss Judy Seidel assisted with the coffee. Miss Mary Pat McCann served the ice cream.

Guests were registered by Miss Mary Lou Partridge and the Misses Mary Howell, Merene Boltz, Luella Bishop and Pat Davis assisted with the gifts.

When the couple left for their wedding trip to northern Michigan, the new Mrs. Bock was wearing a fall ensemble of black and white. She is a graduate of Tecumseh high school with the 1956 class and is employed in the office of the General Telephone Co. Mr. Bock graduated from Milan high school in 1952 and works for the Elliott Construction Co. of Tecumseh.

They will reside at 533 N. Main St., Britton.

V-P, Dark Horse Issues in Convention Balloting

BY PROF. NORTON E. LONG
MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

(Editor's note: This is the last in a series of articles about the national political conventions of the M.S.U. Department of Information Services. An expert on public administration and political parties, Prof. Long is currently acting head of the department of political science and director of the Michigan Citizenship Clearing House.)

The real convention excitement begins after the first ballot or two, and a recess may be called. When that happens, you will know there is negotiating going on out of sound and sight of the radio or television microphones and cameras. Such recesses may be opposed for tactical reasons when the backers of one candidate fear the opposition may gain from the opportunity to regroup or bargain afforded by the recess.

"Polling" a delegation — a device by which the roll call of an entire delegation is read and each delegate rises and tells how he votes — may be requested bcause of honest confusion over the tabulating of the state's vote. But more often, it is a harrassing technique to gain time.

After many ballots, if the vote becomes deadlocked, a "dark horse" candidate may get the nomination. A "dark horse" is usually a comparatively unknown man chosen to break the deadlock. This year, there has been some speculation that if Stevenson and Harriman deadlock, the Democratic convention may turn to a "dark horse" like Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri or Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas.

MAY SHIFT VOTE

Sooner or later, the decision will have been made. A large state or two will shift its vote, or blocks of small ones will do the same. At the point where it appears almost inevitable that one candidate will be nominated, the so-called "band wagon" stage occurs. One after the other, the states jump on the "band wagon" of the winner, fearful of being one of the last states to switch. No one wants to support a loser.

Once the nomination is made, the successful candidate makes his previously-prepared acceptance speech. In 1932, Franklin Roosevelt flew to Chicago and become the first nominee to accept the nomination while the convention was still in session. Before that, the nominee made his formal speech of acceptance at a ceremony a month or so later.

Much the same procedure is followed to nominate a vice-president. Usually there is little squabbling. The presidential nominee may send word that he wants so-and-so to run in the second spot.

KEEPS "LOSING" WING

Typically, the vice-president is the "twin opposite" of the presidential nominee. If the presidential candidate is from the East, the vice-president is from another section of the country. The vice-president may have political leaning or opinions quite the opposite of the presidential aspirant, to keep the "losing" wing of the party in line.

There has been some criticism of the fact that the vice-president is so seldom selected on his own personal merits. This year, it is probable that in the Republican convention at least, the personal qualities of the vice-presidential candidate will be subjected to more scrutiny than ever before if President Eisenhower heads the ticket. The recent Stassen-Nixon dispute indicates the great importance given to the second spot this year.

In the past, men felt the vice-presidency was a political dead-end. For instance, Teddy Roosevelt was "kicked upstairs to the grave-yard of the vice presidency" by certain elements of his party. Fate planned it differently. Today few persons asked to accept the vice-president's position would turn it down as Daniel Webster did when he said: "I do not propose to be buried until I am really dead and in my coffin."

And few vice-presidents once elected would be likely to resign as John C. Calhoun did in 1832 to serve in the U.S. Senate.

MANY DIE IN OFFICE

Though no president died in office until 1841, the mortality rate since then has been high. William Henry Harrison, 1841 , Zachary Taylor, 1850, Warren G. Harding, 1923, and Franklin D. Roosevelt, 1945, all died in office. Woodrow Wilson was seriously ill after his stroke in 1919, though he served out his term. Abraham Lincoln, 1865, James A. Garfield, 1881, and William McKinley, 1901, died at the hands of assassins.

The vice-president nominated, the tired delegates adjourn and begin their trek home. In the next three months, a great campaign must be waged.

This is it, in outline. Politics, and especially political conventions, are an exciting manifestation of our democratic process. It is true they have their critics who insist candidates should be nominated and party policies decided in a saner, more deliberate and more democratic way. But until and unless a change is made, we can only look on, understand and enjoy.

Causes of Death to Wild Ducks Studied

Did you know that from 100,000 to 150,000 wild ducks stay in the southeastern part of Michigan during the winter?

These and other figures are being compiled at the University of Michigan in a joint research project with the State Conservation Department. The project, "Causes of Waterfowl Mortality in the Detroit River," is being conducted by George S. Hunt, lecturer in Natural Resources at the U-M.

The project hopes to determine why the ducks die in the river area and what can be done about lowering the death rate.

The study area is an approximate nine square mile region of the Detroit River which includes the island of Grosse Ile. About 5,000 wild ducks live in this region during the winter, Hunt says, and an estimated 500 die every year from starvation, polution, exposure and lead poisoning.

Cause of death is determined by autopsy, which is performed on ducks found dead in the study area.

The biggest death dealing blow to the ducks is the freeze up of a major portion of the river, he notes. There is plenty of food in the river, Hunt explains, but the ducks can't reach it during this period.

Over 30,000 ducks have been "banded" since 1948, he says. The bands, he explains, keep track of what happens to the ducks for the researchers. "Like a doctor, we want to keep track of our patients,"

In 1948 an estimated 10,000 ducks died in the area that is now being studied, Hunt explains. This caused a step-up in the project. Some of the ducks that have been banded since this time have been found as far away as the Bahamas, California, and Alaska.

Results of the project will be published within the next year by the Conservation Department, Hunt says.

Studies Housing

Mrs. Gertrude Schneider of 701 West Chicago Blvd., Tecumseh, an instructor in the Britton-Macon Agricultural School, Britton, is giving housing problems an intensive three-week once over.

The study, in Michigan State University's Teaching Housing for the Family Workshop, covers most aspects of the problems in securing and maintaining homes.

Dr. Margaret Barkley of Buffalo State College for Teachers, Buffalo, N.Y., is in charge of the activities, which are planned to provide resource material and ideas for better teaching.

M.S.U. faculty members from the landscape architecture and urban planning department serve as resource people in discussions of the continuous development in housing needs for young couples, families with children and older people.

They also offer suggestions on landscaping the family home.

An associate professor in related arts at the University of Minnesota, Miss Helen Ludwig, spent three days of the workshop indicating the new trends in home furnishings.

Another M.S.U. home economics faculty member takes up the "how" of selecting and caring for household equipment.

In addition to the lectures and individual research are field trips to furniture and equipment stores.

Cotton, Rayon and Blends Found Coolest

The way a fabric is made has much to do with its wearing comfort, especially in warm weather.

Clothing specialists at Michigan State University say the comfort of a shirt or blouse may depend considerably on whether the fabric is porous enough to permit air to move freely through it.

Fabrics made from fibers that don't absorb moisture such as some of the new synthetics, need to be constructed so that air can circulate through. Otherwise, moisture on the skin will not evaporate and the wearer will be uncomfortable.

The specialists cite research which was done in Minnesota and South Dakota comparing cotton with the newer fibers for shirting. Used for the study were two cotton fabrics, one rayon, two blends of cotton and synthetic and ten of various synthetics. The fabrics were all of medium to good quality and looked similar in general. Closer examination showed important differences in weaves.

MRS. MURRAY DAY ASSISTS LIBRARIAN

Mrs. Murray Day is now the full time assistant at the Tecumseh Public Library succeeding Miss Ruth Harding.

Mrs. Day, who has been part time substitute librarian for several years, has been taking special courses at Eastern Michigan College at Ypsilanti for some time.

Manager Wants Council To Pass Two Ordinances

Two new city ordinances have been recommended by city manager Ed Nelson.

The first concerns persons putting trash into the streets. The city manager told the council Monday night "It is getting to a point that we can't keep our streets looking good without spending a lot of time cleaning up."

The second one also has been recommended by the state liquor inspector who thinks the city should have an ordinance forbidding children from being in beer taverns.

The city manager said: "They are with their parents but some of them stay in the taverns until one and two in the morning which the liquor inspector does not like.

"There is no state law on this but some cities have an ordinance preventing children from staying in taverns so I would recommend that we adopt such an ordinance."

NOTICE

Last week the City Office sent out notices to all residents of changes made in their home numbering. This was done so we would have a uniform city numbering.

We did intend to follow this up so that all home numbering would be changed. However, Consumers Power Company has promised to have this work done.

They will furnish the numbers and install them starting next week.

Your cooperation with the Consumers Power Company men will be appreciated.

(MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION OFFICIAL NEWS BULLETIN)

Conservation Department fish workers recently completed planting of more than 2300 tiger muskellunge in Spider Lake, Grand Traverse county, as part of an experimental muskie research program.

The fish were hatched from eggs obtained from spawning muskies netted in several lakes in Gogebic county. When planted, the muskies were two months old and averaged about four inches in length.

Spider Lake was selected as a planting site after fish division personnel studied recommendations from field workers. The 550-acre lake, near Traverse City, is considered biologically suited for muskellunge.

More than 25,000 U. S. mail trucks are carrying "Smokey Bear" posters this month, reminding Americans of the importance of forest fire prevention.

The Post Office Department is cooperating with the U. S. Forest Service and state conservation departments in a program to reduce fire losses as millions of persons go to the woods on vacation trips.

Post Office offiicals estimate that the familiar Smokey Bear emblem will be seen by more than 50 million persons as the trucks make their regular mail deliveries.

Two moose sightings were reported recently in the upper peninsula.

A bull moose was seen in 16 Mile Lake, Alger county, according to John Seppi, predatory animal control trapper from Chatham.

Another moose was sighted recently in Crane Lake, Iron county, by Ray Galbraith of Kingsford. Galbraith told conservation officer Robert Timmer of Iron Mountain that the moose was standing near the shore less than 100 yards away.

Conservation Department game biologists estimate that there probably are no more than 10 moose in the entire upper peninsula.

Approximately 70 of the animals were released in the U. P. about 20 years ago, but the population dwindled. The moose now in the upper peninsula either are remnants of those early releases, or animals that have come across the ice to the U. P. from Canada.

A controlled burning project in Arenac county last year had welcome results for blueberry pickers this season.

The 195-acre tract was burned in 1955 to encourage growth of vegetation suitable for game habitat. A by-product of the burning was revitalization of blueberry plants in the area.

Although blueberry production is generally poor this year, plants on the burned area produced berries abundantly.

Gene Gazlay, district game supervisor for the Conservation Department at Gladwin, said local residents discovered the berry crop and the word spread quickly. As many as 20 cars a day have visited the area in the past three weeks, bringing blueberry pickers from as

by MEL OTT

WHEN BILLY HOEFT was pitching in Chicago one Saturday earlier this season, the Tigers had staked him to a comfortable lead but the White Sox were beginning to melt it away.

As the Chicagos began to get to Bill in lusty fashion, coach Billy Hitchcock strode to the mound to try to settle him down.

It was the Game-of-the-Week and television was carrying the contest from coast to coast.

Hitchcock turned his back on the unwinking eye of the camera to talk to the pitcher, ready to offer soothing words of comfort.

With unruffled calm, Hoeft stopped him. "Don't turn your back on the camera, Bill. Let the TV audience see your face when you're out here."

Stengel Suffered

Even more humorous is the incident that occurred when Casey Stengel was managing the old Dodgers when they were known as the Daffy Dodgers and were a tail-end team.

I was with the Giants then and we were playing Casey's gang in Brooklyn. The Dodgers were having a particularly bad day. They couldn't do anything right and Casey seemed to blame the umpires for much of it.

He'd shake both his fists at the third base umpire, later he'd rant at the ump behind the plate.

Meanwhile, during one of my turns at bat, the umpire called two successive strikes on what I considered obviously bad balls. On both calls I really gave him what-for. The second time, up went the thumb. I was out of the game.

Ford Frick, who was then president of the National League, witnessed the game. To my surprise, he called me in the next morning. The plate umpire was also there.

Had It Coming

"I want to straighten this out," Frick said. "Why was Ott thrown out and not Stengel?"

I admitted I had used improper language.

"Okay, you had it coming," Frick said. "But," turning to the umpire, "why spare Stengel, who was doing much worse?"

The umpire's face broke into a broad grin. "Oh, that," he said. "How could I throw out a guy who's complaining about his own team? All he was doing was waving his fists in front of me and the other umpires and squawking about how miserably his players were doing."

"Guarding" Shoes

Then there were the days when rookie players weren't as smart as they are now. I remember how on railroad trips, when we used pullman berths, we'd pretend to assign players to guard the shoes that had been placed on the floor outside the curtains for the night.

The rookie, of course, was "assigned" the 4-to-8 a.m. shift. Somebody made sure to wake the poor fellow at four in the morning.

Later we'd be awakened by a loud commotion as the rookie fought off the bewildered porter who wanted to take the shoes to shine them.

AT CENTRAL, mornings the greatest portion of the time was spent by letting the boys and girls play at their own free will. Activities available were badminton, ping pong, tennis, basketball, softball, volleyball, dominoes, football and box hockey.

Wednesday was set aside as handicraft although only nine were enrolled.

Gliders were built and a contest was held and a weekly tournament was run.

In the Junior league Central picked up a third with a three won, five lost record. Leading hitters were Bob Dick, Mike Tucker and Denny Harrison.

Central Seniors took a second in the league with Bob Manley, Jon Elliott and Hal Weakly the leading batters.

Central girls had a fine season, winning seven and losing none.

Central Midgets took second in touch football, winning one, losing two and tying one. Jim Heflin was chosen most valuable player.

Central Junior gridders won first place in the league with a three won, no losses and one tie record. Gerry Quinn was the most valuable player.

Central Seniors took a first in the league with a three won, no losses and a tie.

Know What You're Voting For

Town Journal has a high regard for the intelligence of the American electorate. The magazine says editorially: "We believe that plenty of politicians bark up the wrong trees when they appeal solely to the immediate self-interest of voters. The great majority of Americans have the common sense to know that 'government money' all comes from somebody in taxes. They know, even though they may not think about it every day, that individual liberty is too precious to be traded for temporary federal favors."

Then Town Journal lists some of the great issues that face the nation today: "Is the federal power to be entrenched further with less remaining to state and local governments? Are we following the right policies for assuring peace? What course of action will best improve agriculture's prosperity? How can the cause of 'civil rights' be advanced without aggravating racial tensions? Can government do more to harmonize the common interests of agriculture, labor, industry and consumers? Can spending be reduced, taxes lowered, and payments made on the national debt? Shall the federal government assume new responsibilities in education?"

It is the duty of candidates for high office to make their positions clear on such vital questions as these. It is the duty of the voters to carefully evaluate those positions before marking their ballots. This is not a partisan matter. There are men in both parties whose over-riding goal is to maintain a government which is the servant, not the master, of the people. And there are men in both parties who have succumbed to the lure of all-powerful government — the kind of government which must ultimately destroy human freedom.

Vote! But before you do that, know what you're voting for.

Watch Out for "Trillions"

In the interest of accuracy, I think it is time to warn reporters and Linotype operators that the word "trillion" has an "r" in it.

During recent years we have had a lot of trouble getting millions and billions straightened out. One of the most common typo's is to write $281,000,000 when we actually mean $281,000,000,000. They look pretty much alike. And they sound pretty much alike, too — million and billion. Just a matter of an "m" or a "b".

But now, as the national debt approaches new horizons and our Congress is thinking "big" we should probably all get familiar with the word "trillion." It's a little more complicated since, instead of just substituting a "t" for a "b", an "r" must be thrown in.

Another problem with a trillion dollar debt, from the newspaperman's standpoint, is the difficulty of making $1,000,000,000,000 fit into a headline. Of course a headline writer might use a note to say, "Zeros continued on page 8", but that hardly seems proper newspaper styling.

There is also an international problem. Here's how Webster defines trillion: "In French and American notation, a thousand billions, or in English and German notations, a million billions." Imagine what would happen if we started talking trillions in our foreign aid departments. Only safeguard would be another headline complication. It would probably be necessary to write "Trillion (Amer. & Fr.)" or "Trillion (Ger. and Eng.)"

Under the circumstances, it would seem the better part of wisdom for newspapermen to fight the trillion dollar trend. It's too complicated. But — just in case — remember that trillion has an "r" in it — "R", like the first letter in the word "Ruin".

Tecumseh BOOK SHELVES Library

BOOKLIST

FICTION:

"Captain Horatio Hornblower," Forester, C.

This is the story of that last thrilling period of naval sailing ships, the Napoleonic era.

"The End of Eternity," Asinov, I.

NON-FICTION:

"How Much and How Many," Bendick, J.

Here are all the facts on weights and measures—not only what they are, but how they got that way and why.

"Driftwood Valley," Fletcher, S.

Two young people built a log cabin and spent three eventful years in a remote part of British Columbia, some thirty miles from the nearest Indian village, and over two hundred miles from the nearest road, railroad, or telephone. Their mission was both scientific and adventurous.

"John D. Rockefeller, Jr." Fosdick, R.

This is the story of a man whose life has been pitted against the subtle adversities of great wealth—a life dedicated to the public good.

"The Tragic Days of Billy the Kid," Hunt, F.

In place of the former distorted figure of legend, a young man of flesh and blood and heart emerges into clear perspective in this authentic book.

Realty Views

In the morning mail was a letter from out-of-state. "We would like to buy a large home in Tecumseh," it stated and then went on to specify many exact features.

The only trouble — we had no listing that would match the requirements. And the prospect was due to arrive in a few days.

Finally, I figured out a house that might fill the bill. But, of course, it wasn't listed for sale. However, I suspected the owner might be interested in getting something smaller.

"I haven't thought about selling," the owner told me, "but it's worth considering."

The next evening, he asked me to visit them and explain the proposal in full detail. After much discussion, they agreed to sell.

The out-of-state project was overjoyed. "Just exactly what we wanted," he said enthusiastically. And, bought it.

So if you are in the market for any class of real estate — home, farm, ranch or other — let us know.

For if we don't have what you want, we'll try real hard to find it.

Letters To The Editor

August 18, 1956
Tecumseh, Mich.

To the editor:

I address this letter to the editor only because I am not sure how else to reach the proper people.

I wish to express my compliments and appreciation to the city of Tecumseh, the council, the committee on recreation, or whoever is responsible for this summer's fine program for our children.

Not only has it kept the children busy with ball practice every day and a schedule of games every night, but it has also kept us parents on the jump because we hated to miss a game (cheap entertainment too). Attendance was good, spirit was high, and competition keen.

There has not been the familiar whine, "Mother, what can I do?" Not this year. They've been busy!

I think Mr. Bob Breniff did a terrific job of scheduling (and pretty good umping too). He was ably assisted by Bill Newell, Bill Hansen and Bob Benham, who had their hands full with three or four teams each to coach.

I have heard many parents comment on how pleased they were with this summer's program and I thought you should know.

In addition the swimming setup at the pool is terrific when children can learn to swim for $2 — well, it's just wonderful. We are so lucky. Mr. Vic Lawson's patience is unbelievable.

Thanks Tecumseh! It's a great place to live.

Gene Barton

Dear Friend:

My weekly newsletters reports on activities of the Congress and this will be my last regular edition.

You will recall that my letter of January 20 was a series of predictions. At that time I predicted President Eisenhower would run and be elected for a second term; that the economy would hold up with no marked slump, and that there would be no war.

With respect to legislation, I had one notable "miss." That was the school construction bill. On other predictions, however, I was successful: that there would be no income tax relief; that corporate and excise taxes would be continued; that the highway bill would be-

Dr. Blake Will Speak at State Fair

One of the outstanding Christian leaders in the world—Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, president of the National Council of Churches of Christ—will be the speaker for the sixth annual Sunrise Service to be held Sunday, Sept. 2, at 8 a.m. at the Michigan State Fair.

For the past five years, the Sunrise Service has been sponsored by the State Fair in cooperation with the Detroit Council of Churches.

Since 1951 Dr. Blake has been Stated Clerk of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. As Stated Clerk he holds the position of permanent executive officer of the General Assembly which is the supreme governing body of the church.

Dr. Blake was elected president of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the United States on Dec. 2, 1954 for a three-year term.

Participating in the Sunrise Service will be ministers of various denominations. Held outdoors at the Music Shell, it was attended by between 9,000 and 10,000 persons last year.

Donald L. Swanson, State Fair manager, announced that admission to the grounds again will be free to those attending the Sunrise Service.

Michigan Once Had Mountains High As Alps

Michigan once boasted mountain peaks as high as any of those in the alps or the Andes, according to Russell C. Hussey, professor of geology at the University of Michigan.

"At one time, the Killarney Mountain range—one of the grandest mountain ranges in all history—extended, in Michigan, from Marquette west to the Houghton-Hancock area. The Hurons and the Porcupines are remnants of the great Killarney range which in length extended some 1,000 miles from Ontario southwest to Oklahoma," Professor Hussey states.

But this all-but-vanished grandeur was a feature of pre-Cambrian days, more than 500,000,000 years ago, before the advent of the seas which covered Michigan at intervals during long geologic periods.

For Michigan has, in fact, been invaded at least 12 times by great bodies of marine water, the geologist states. Evidence of the one-time presence of these seas is at hand in Alpena, Rogers City and Petoskey where we can find rocks containing marine fossils of the animals which once lived in these great shallow bodies of water, he explains.

These rocks were soft muds previous to the withdrawal of the seas. In the Upper Peninsula the fossils are best studied in the Escanaba area where the rock crops out along the Escanaba River.

According to Professor Hussey, the first sea that invaded Michigan swept in about 500 million years ago—the last about 200 million years ago.

He states that these ancient seas advanced along four seaways—lower California, the Alaskan area, the Newfoundland-Nova Scotia area, and the region of the Gulf. The seas, which from time to time have invaded all the continents, and on this continent pushed in as far as Michigan, encroached wherever the land, slowly sinking, had subsided below sea-level.

The geologist calls attention to the fish-fossil-bearing rocks of the Alpena quarries of the Devonian period. "At that time," he asserts, "tropical conditions prevailed over a good part of North America and Michigan was covered by warm, shallow seas in which corals lived. Whole Silurian coral reefs may be traced from Ontario, southwest through northern Michigan down into Ohio, Illinois and Indiana."

Commenting on North America's present "dry" interval, the geology professor says that there has been no invading sea for 60 million years. "But we are sure to get another! At some time in the future the land will undoubtedly sink and another great sea will come in. It's quite likely that Hudson Bay may be the beginning of another such sea."

Sow Grass This Month

Aug. is the month for lawn seeding in Lenawee county, according to County Agricultural Agent Louis G. Hall. Specifically, he says the best time is between (Aug. 10-25 in the northern part of the lower peninsula and upper peninsula, Aug. 15 - Sept. 1 in the southern half of the lower peninsula.

Hall points out that grasses grow best during cool, moist weather, and this area gets that kind of weather most often during Sept. and Oct. By planting in Aug. you get the rains and still make sure your grass seedlings have enough growth before winter comes to survive the cold weather.

Another point in favor of fall planting is that the grass has very little competition from weeds.

Here are some of the agent's recommendations:

Kentucky bluegrass does best on soil that is high in both organic matter and fertility. Red fescues do better on red and brown clays, on sandy soils and in shady areas.

If you're in doubt as to the type of seed to use, try a 50-50 mixture of bluegrass and fescue. If the sail is high in fertility, the bluegrass will predominate, and if the soil is low in fertility, the fescue will take over.

One to two pounds of seed per 1,000 square feet is the recommended rate of seeding. For even distribution divide the seed into two equal portions. Seed one-half while going the length of the lawn, and the other half while going across it.

Put on a high nitrogen fertilizer, such as 12-6-4, just before seeding, and rake it in lightly. Apply the fertilizer at the rate of 10 to 20 pounds per acre.

Grass seed mixtures containing nurse grasses like redtop and rye will start much faster than the pure seed mixtures. But the nurse grasses become coarse and competitive once they are established. Hall advises using the desired grasses alone. So just be a little more patient, he suggests, and look for your grass seedlings two or three weeks after seeding.

Twentieth CENTURY
MANUFACTURING COMPANY
AC ARC WELDERS
TWIN CARBON TORCHES

There's more than one reason why Twentieth Century Welders are a favorite among farmers who know good welding.

First and foremost . . . they'll tackle, and turn out "to a T", any welding job. Just dial the right heat for the job, and put your Twentieth Century Welder and Carbon Arc Torch to work:

Cutting metal — Brazing
Drilling holes — Bending and shaping
Soldering — Hard Surfacing

AND . . . Twentieth Century Welders save you time and money.

NOW . . . You can quickly and easily repair or replace worn or broken parts on automobiles, tractors, trucks, on all farm machinery.

AND . . . with a Twentieth Century Welder, you can easily make pieces of new equipment.

Take the work out of welding, with the welder that "fits" your farm—a Twentieth Century Welder. Come in. See us for information and demonstration.

come law and that the bill to exempt natural gas producers would not; that farmers would see relief from the price cost squeeze and their gasoline taxes would be refunded; that a soil bank would be enacted, but resumption of rigid price supports would not become law. I also predicted that the budget would be balanced — actually we have a small surplus.

Notable shortcomings of the 84th Congress include failure to grant statehood for Hawaii; failure to enact civil rights legislation; attempts to halt the trend to get the government out of commercial and industrial activities, and, of course, failure to enact a program of federal aid for school construction.

Meanwhile, I have enjoyed my service as your representative in Congress and keeping in touch with you through weekly newsletters and my weekly radio reports. I hope all of you will be active in the tremendously important election this fall. ## From Far and Near They Come Here

In its three years of operation, the Tecumseh Motel has had guests from every state, from every Province of Canada, and from every continent, according to Mrs. A. C. Hamaker.

Mr. D. W. Powell, a representative of the Victorian Dept. of Agriculture recently registered from Melbourne, Australia, completing the continents.

Among those from strange places recently were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hoisington, residents of the Aleution Islands.

This summer the motel also has had guests from Brazil, Mexico, England, Switzerland, Norway, Denmark and France.

Recent refinements added to the Tecumseh Motel have been fans and radios in each room as standard equipment.

Television will be placed in a part of the rooms, making the accommodations among the finest.

The Tecumseh Motel has been approved for listing in the new edition of "Lodging For A Night" by Duncan Hines.

Christian Science Services Listed

The healing power of divine Love will be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Christ Jesus."

Jesus' assurance to his disciples of their ability to heal the sick by means of prayer will be included in the Scriptural reading (John 14:12): "Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father."

Selections read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (243:4): "The divine Love, which made harmless the poisonous viper, which delivered men from the boiling oil, from the fiery furnace, from the jaws of the lion, can heal the sick in every age and triumph over sin and death."

Game habitat development on Michigan farms continued to progress during the first half of this year as Conservation Department workers completed and processed wildlife development plans for 295 farms.

More than 1,035,000 seedlings were supplied for spring planting to some 922 farmers who are cooperating in the program. Of this group, 402 were new to the program and 520 were continuing cooperators.

The department also provided wire, posts, and seed of grass, legumes and buckwheat to aid farmers in developing suitable game habitat on their land.

During the eight and one-half years of the cooperative program, about 4700 wildlife plans have been processed for farms. The service and materials are provided without charge to farmers in the southern lower peninsula who wish to furnish cover and food for small game animals and birds.

Full information on the program can be obtained by writing the Conservation Department game division, Lansing 26.

Questionnaires went out to 1100 farmers in Michigan's important pheasant country. The farmers are being asked how many pheasant nests and broods they saw this year at plowing time and at mowing time.

Biologists are particularly interested in the number of broods sighted because a reduction in the hatch may have resulted after a wet, cold spring.

The questionnaires are being sent to every fourth name on the department list of farmers who have cooperated in the game habitat improvement program.

This survey will provide the first quantitative information on this year's pheasant crop. Further information was gained from the annual census of pheasant broods by rural mail carriers July 30 to Aug. 11.

PLAYGROUND

TECUMSEH ACRES—Every new program or idea takes time really to get started. Such was the case with our new recreation program for Tecumseh Acres.

At first a small number turned out but we soon learned that a large number are from one to four years and that quite a few had household jobs which kept them at home in the morning but allowed them to take part in the afternoon program. The average attendance was about 20 each morning.

A director was on hand to direct and supervise the children and their games.

The recreation department provided each playground with more facilities and equipment than they have had in previous years and it was all put to good use.

Tecumseh Acres had a softball diamond, and softball equipment, a volley ball and net, croquet set and badminton rackets; and box hockey was played.

Because of the varying ages of the children on the playground each morning and since only a guess was possible as to how many would be there no program of games was planned.

Wednesday mornings a small number enjoyed handicraft and made some nice leather objects and baskets for their mothers.

Those at Tecumseh Acres had only one complaint. They would like a drinking fountain.

Tecumseh Acres also took part in the softball games and for the last two weeks football was played. And special tournaments were played.

As for winning games Tecumseh Acres didn't win many but as Brooklyn used to say: "Wait until next year."

HERRICK PARK—At the beginning the interest of the morning group was high, especially the younger ones from seven to 12. Organized games were played. Softball, football and basketball were the most popular.

The younger groups were more interested in lemonade or in telling about their summer vacations. The extremely young entertained themselves on the swings, slides, etc.

During handicraft periods on Fridays model airplanes, coasters, baskets, drawings and leatherwork were made.

Attendance averaged about 30 a day. Special tournaments were held.

The afternoon program at Herrick consisted of various types of games and league play. Herrick Park copped titles in three leagues: Midgets, Juniors and Seniors. The girls' team had a 0-8 record. All totaled the teams won 18 and lost 14.

In football Herrick Park won the Midget crown with a 4-0 record; took third in the Junier with a 0-3-1 record; and second in the Senior with a 2-1-1 record.

The staff thanked the kids for their swell cooperation.

Cancer Research Continues

(Editor's Note: The constant work of scientists in many laboratories is dedicated to finding a cancer cure or preventative. The following is the second of two articles describing the cancer research of Michigan State University scientists.)

Three Michigan State University research teams are focusing their attention on the basic structure and function of the cell in the belief that there lies the answer to the mysteries about cancer.

These groups are working with proteins and nucleic acids — two of the most important constituents of living cells — in efforts to learn about the roles they play in normal and cancerous cells.

"Biologists must fit together a thousand pieces of information on cell mutation and growth before they can understand how cancer cells differ from normal cells and why," says Dr. Allen S. Fox, associate professor of zoology, who experiments on Drosophilia, a type of fruit fly, and Neurospora, a bread mold.

SOMETHING GOES WRONG

"We do know that in cancer cells something goes wrong with the proteins. Proteins control the kinds of chemical reactions taking place in living materials. It is thus important to learn how genes, which are responsible for heredity, control the manufacture of proteins in cells."

Working with Dr. Jean Burnett, research associate; Dr. Sei-Byung Yoon of Korea and Mrs. Elin Doehne, research assistants, Prof. Fox has made an important contribution to these problems.

Scientists previously believed each protein was the product of a single gene. But the researchers at M.S.U. discovered things are not that simple, and that it takes a complex interaction among genes to produce a single protein.

WORKS WITH BREAD MOLD

In its work with bread mold, the team is also attempting to determine how environment affects protein production. The American Cancer society and the National Cancer institute of the National Institute of Health support the project.

In increasing numbers, cancer chemists today are concentrating on nucleic acids, which all cells need in order to live. If the cancer cells' supply the nucleic acid can be poisoned, the cancer cells will die. Two groups of Michigan State researchers are concentrating in this area.

Dr. James L. Fairley, assistant professor of chemistry, who directs one of the two teams, believes knowledge of the way nucleic acid "molecules of life" build up in the cell from simple compounds may ultimately point to the solution of the cancer problem.

SEARCH FOR COMPOUNDS

Working with graduate assistant Robert Herrmann under a grant from the Atomic Energy commission, Fairley uses radioactive pyrimidines as they are assembled into nucleic acids. Currently he is searching for compounds used as sub-units in the construction of pyrimidines themselves.

Dr. Alfred Novak, associate professor of natural science, heads a team engaged in similar research. Like Fairley, Novak works with radioactive materials and Geiger counters, and studies the proteins and amino acid building blocks. But his method differs.

Dr. Novak first injects amino acids into an animal's body to determine results under normal conditions. Then he injects the same acids into genetically similar animals undergoing hormone treatment.

"My last five years' research data shows that — contrary to current opinion in the medical world — male hormones have no effect on rate at which amino acids are built into the tissues or organs in the abdomen or into muscular tissue," Dr. Novak reports. He believes that, if anything, the hormones may be a hindrance.

STEPS UP REACTION

On the other hand, he said, injection of ACTH steps up the addition of radioactive histidine to both muscle and visceral tissue. And he reports that injection of growth hormones causes a decreased uptake of labeled amino acid into visceral tissue.

The M.S.U. professor is one of the few men using radioactive amino acids to trace protein metabolism in bacteria in relation to hormone effects. Working on this portion of the project with Dr. Charles L. San Clemente, associate professor of microbiology and public health, Dr. Novak is using a bacteria which causes catarrh.

Novak switched from mice to bacteria to reduce the number of variables in the problem. Even if the mice are selected carefully, they show slight differences which sometimes confuse experiments.

If a cure or preventative is found for cancer, it will probably be a dramatic, sudden and brilliant discovery. But it will have its roots in the fundamental research done in laboratories by dedicated scientists such as those at Michigan State University.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD

VOL. 105 — ONE HUNDRED SIXTH YEAR — NUMBER 48 TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, AUGUST 30, 1956 TEN CENTS A COPY

Editor's Corner . . . .

By Phil Belleville

Editor's Corner this week is the first of a series of regular editorials that will appear in the Herald. The column will usually appear in the same position that it now occupies.

It will generally consist of somewhat the same type of material as it does this week. However, as I become more acquainted with Tecumseh and the area, it will contain more strictly local remarks. I will certainly welcome any help you might be able to give me in the way of suggestions as to the type of column you would like most.

Poe said that "those who dream by day recognize many things which escape those who dream only by night." I think that this is a profound and powerful message. People must escape the realities and possibilities of the present, at times, by the way of dreams (day dreams). If they do not, the future will only be a chrome plated copy of the present.

There are few things that are not subject to improvement. Real improvement usually comes about by doing old things, new and better ways. New and better ways are frequently the result of hard work not dreams alone. However dreams are important. There must be an idea in the first place to push an inventor or others on to the hard work involved in progress. The person responsible for progress must be one who can escape the realm of the present and come up with new and original thinking.

Frequently things are done year after year in the same manner for no other reason than that they were done that way the year before. "What is" too often becomes sacred for no other reason than that "it is." That is newness and change are frowned upon merely because they are a change from the sacred past.

I would like to see more dreamers and more people who are willing to take chances and do things differently than the same old way. New trails should be blazed before the old ones become so deep that they cannot be left.

Aesop's Fly has been the object of a lot of laughter because he sat on the axle of a chariot and said "What a dust I do raise." (Doesn't this remind you of a few people you know?)

Quaker Oats' Workers Share $6933 in Profits

Donald Nixon, plant manager, explained that 35 local employees were eligible this year to share in company profits. Eligibility, he said, is chiefly dependent upon six months or more of service.

Similar checks also went out to workers in Quaker Oats' Chicago headquarters and in its other plants, grain elevators and sales offices throughout the country. Total profit-sharing sum was $1,635,723.

The plan was voluntarily established by Quaker Oats 21 years ago. It calls for setting aside each year a percentage of company earnings.

Grubb School is One of 16 Annexed

Grubb School, pictured above, is one of the 15 schools that has annexed to the Tecumseh School in the past year. Grubb school had 18 kindergarten through sixth grade students in 1955. At the same time, it had three students in the seventh and eighth grade.

Saint Elizabeth To Open September, 6

Saint Elizabeth's School in Tecumseh will re-open Sept. 6, with the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass offered by Reverend Father Thomas Collins for the intentions of the sisters and school children for a successful school year.

The Catholic school will have an enrollment of 245 children for the ## Airport Bowl Installs 8 Automatic Pinspotters

Tecumseh Airport Bowl has a set of automatic pinspotters which have replaced pin boys.

Leased, the cost of the eight machines on the eight alleys and their installation probably would have reached $70,000.

Put in last June, the pinspotters will be used by the Bowl's 12 leagues this year.

Cliff Preston, owner and manager of the Bowl, has gone to a special school in Shelby, Ohio, to learn how to maintain the automatic pinspotters.

Cliff is shown working on one of the machines in the alley and the second picture shows how the pins look after they are spotted by the machine.

Briefly, this is how the machines work: the first balls' impact against the pit cushion trips switch on cushion and sets the machine in operation.

The ball is then lifted to ball return and sent back to the bowler.

Balloon Ascension at Band Festival

Will there actually be a balloon ascension at the coming Lenawee County Band Festival? Well, this is assuming a lot. Anyway, the Sand Creek School Band has the assignment of "Balloon" and Jack Phillips, their director, is already working with them. Jack is an old hand at putting on band shows and you can never tell just what he may do. It will be very interesting to watch the Sand Creek Band as it enters the field at the Tecumseh Recreation Center on the Festival evening of October second.

Copy Early Next Week, Please

The Labor Day holiday will make us one day short in our work schedule for the Sept. 6 issue of the Herald. Therefore it will be necessary to do part of the work on Saturday. So please, all correspondents and advertisers, have your copy in on Friday if possible. Thank you.

Tecumseh FFA Chapter Wins National Award

Farm youth groups from Cassopolis, Marshall and Williamson were named today as the outstanding Future Farmers of America chapters in Michigan and selected as state representatives in the national FFA competition.

The Cassopolis chapter enhanced its reputation as one of the country's best units by qualifying for the sixth consecutive year in the national chapter contest at Kansas City in October. Marshall also was a repeater from last year.

A total of 23 chapters including, Tecumseh, were announced as Gold Award winners in the year-long test of group and individual performances sponsored by A & P Food Stores for Michigan's 223 FFA units and their more than 11,000 members.

Gold Awards to officers of the winning chapters were presented by Divisional personnel director Harold Mountain of A & P Food Stores and State FFA executive secretary Elmer Lightfoot during a luncheon program in a Detroit hotel.

Nineteen other chapters earned Silver Awards, and eight chapters rated Honorable Mention.

Some 75 chapter officers, vocational agriculture teachers and state FFA officials gathered from all sections of Michigan for a day long program of activities. Speakers at a morning session on marketing included officials of A & P's Detroit Unit and Mrs. Marjorie Gibbs, Detroit consumer information agent.

In selecting the Tecumseh Chapter for a Gold Award, the State FFA Contest Judging Committee commented as follows:

"This chapter conducted crop demonstration program on 40 acres of land including corn, soybeans, oats, wheat and alfalfa.

"Conducted project tours with members to see each others farm programs.

"Participated in tractor rodeo which emphasized safe practices with farm tractors.

Junior Chamber of Commerce Sponsors Fire Inspections

Tecumseh mercantile establishments will be inspected in the interests of fire prevention on Wednesday, Sept. 26, by representatives of the Michigan State Fire Prevention Association. A preliminary meeting was held August 23, with local officials in attendance, to do advanced work on the event.

This is an event that has never been carried out before in our city. The purpose of the event is twofold. The fire inspectors conduct an educational program in each community, and make inspections of business houses, public buildings, schools and churches.

The Michigan Fire Prevention Association conducts the inspections in nine cities a year. Inspections are made only at the request of the cities.

The board estimates that fire claims 11,000 lives in this country each year. Statistics reveal that fire breaks out every 36 seconds, according to the board. The five major causes of fires is as follows: First is careless handling of cigarettes and matches. Secondly is the misuse of electrical equipment and defective wiring. Defective heating equipment claims the third spot. Defective or overheated chimneys and flues are next in line. Last but certainly not least is the careless handling of old clothes, papers, and magazines — (bad housekeeping).

Delbert E. King is chairman of the event. Superintendent of Schools, James McDowell, and Principal of Tecumseh high school, Neville L. Hart are among those working with Mr. King. Others helping are, Police Chief George Kilbourn, Fire Chief Cecil Alderdyce, members of the clergy, and Dr. Robert Laidlaw who is chairman of Boy Scout Troop No. 4 committee.

Plans are underway at the present time for a luncheon to take place September 26. Watch the Herald for further information concerning this event.

Circus Elephants Draw Crowd

It is very seldom indeed that elephants can be found casually strolling down Chicago Blvd. in Tecumseh. However this picture shows that even this is not impossible. In case you are wondering, the elephants are only part of Hagen Brothers Circus that appeared here Aug. 27, sponsored by the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The circus big top was pitched in Tecumseh Acres at the corner of Russell Rd. and Green Highway. For further information see circus page 6.

Britton-Macon School To Start September 4

Standard Station Changes Owners

Mahlon Sebring has sold the Standard Oil Station at the corner of Chicago Blvd. and Ottawa St. to Mr. Duane Bihlmeyer. Mr. Bihlmeyer is formerly of Clinton. He took possession and began operation of the business Monday, August 27.

Mr. Sebring had been in business at the station for the past seven and one-half years. He states that his plans for the future are indefinite.

Oldest Reader Still Satisfied

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Burleson, whose farm home is on Pennington Road in Macon dropped in the Herald office Monday with their annual subscription and with the information that probably theirs was the oldest subscription on the books. Mr. Burleson's father, Charles Burleson took the paper all his life and his grandfather, Job was also a subscriber. As the first

Tecumseh Schools to Open

An estimated 2834 students will start the 1956-57 school season off to a bang when they report for classes Tuesday, Sept. 4. A staff of 115 will be kept busy taking care of this many students. The following article is composed of information issued from the office of James McDowell, Superintendent of Schools. It includes announcements, information, tentative bus schedules and kindergarten asignments.

Tecumseh Junior and Senior High School pupils are to report to the high school gymnasium at 8:00 a.m., Tuesday, September 4, instead of 9:00 a.m. as it was previously announced.

Due to the increased number of pupils enrolled, it is felt that the extra time can be used to advantage. It will also aid rural pupils to start the first day of school at the regular starting time of 8:00 a.m., so that they will be more familiar with the regular schedule of their bus.

Pupils who have not taken prognostic tests in algebra or foreign language and who wish to enroll in either or both of these subjects this fall, must take the prognostic tests. Algebra prognostic tests will be given at 9:00 a.m. in room 21 of the high school building, and foreign language prognostic tests will be given at 10:30 a.m. in room 1 of the high school building.

All pupils are to return at 1:30 p.m. and go to their seventh hour classroom for orientation and a discussion of school policies.

There have been recent requests for information concerning the shift of the Kindergarten from the Central School to the Newburg School. In the data published previously, a number of reasons for this change were presented, but more complete information indicates that perhaps the most important reason for the change is in the type of room to be used at Newburg. Newburg provides a first floor room, rather than a basement room as at Central. It is felt that since Kindergartners play on the floor a great deal that the difference between a wood and a concrete floor in warmth alone was important. Also, the room at Newburg provides greater visibility to the outdoors for small children and more ample natural light. Also, Newburg is a self-contained classroom, having toilets for boys and girls, adjacent to the classroom, and this is an advantge over Central for small children since Kindergartners should not be using the same toilet facilities as older children. The playground at Newburg is more adequate because it is safer and more private. Here, older children cannot use the kindergarten equipment.

In addition to the more adequate facilities, it was felt that since few kindergartners lived in the Central area and few walked in past years, it would be better to pick the children up by bus and take them to Newburg and return. It would be impossible at present to house all the Kindergartners who live within the city limits in the present kindergartens without transporting some by bus. It is hoped that the community may be more adequately served should the voters decide to build additional elementary schools soon.

Tentative bus schedules have been set up and it is hoped that it will not be necessary to make many changes. However, since service to the entire area has not been previously offered, parents are requested to assist the administration in providing the best possible service to all areas. Should the schedule need adjustment, such changes will be made as soon as possible. Pupils in grade 7 through 12 must of necessity be ready to leave home by 6:50 a.m. on opening days since it is impossible to tell until the routes have been run several days exactly what time the busses will reach each home. Very shortly, however, rural pupils will be picked up at almost exactly the same time each day. Pupils in the elementary grades, one through six, must be ready to leave home by 8:15 a.m. on opening days and soon thereafter will know approximate time of leaving home. Of necessity some pupils will be picked up earlier than others. However, all should be picked up within one-half hour after bus starting times. Elementary pupils living less than ½ mile from school must walk as must secondary pupils living less than 7 mile. This rule also means that elementary pupils living less than ½ mile from the bus route must walk to the route and secondary

Scofield-Larkin Vows Spoken Saturday, Aug. 25

In a morning wedding at the Clinton Methodist church Delores J. Larkin, daughter of Mrs. Louis Scofield of Tecumseh and Almon Larkin of Toledo became the bride of Larry E. Ziegler of Adrian. The Rev. James Simmons, pastor of the church performed the ceremony at 10 a.m. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ziegler of Adrian.

Shirley Ann Manning of Tecumseh, a cousin of the bride was her maid of honor and only attendant while Jerry Ford of Adrian was best man.

Miss Larkin's bridal gown was of nylon tulle over satin, made waltz length with a low round neckline and stole. A cap of seed pearls held her fingertip length veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of pale pink carnations. Miss Manning wore a jersey suit of light tan with a beige hat and accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

At 8 p.m. that evening a reception for 200 of their friends was held at the Eagles hall in Tecumseh with dancing and refreshments. In charge of the guest book was Miss Ruby Lambes of Tecumseh and Miss Wanda Whitamore of Adrian served the wedding cake with Mrs. Hazel Manning, aunt of the bride and Miss Linda Frayer of New Boston pouring coffee.

The bride is a graduate of a Beautician's College in Toledo and the groom is employed at the Studebaker Garage in Adrian. They will make their home in that city.

Janice Merritt and William Cooper Married Saturday

Miss Janice Merritt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Merritt of Clinton and William Cooper, son of Mrs. Geneva Cooper of Tecumseh were united in marriage Saturday evening. The wedding took place at 7:30 p.m. in the Tecumseh Methodist church with the Rev. Horace James officiating.

Mrs. Genevieve Bush was matron of honor and Robert Cooper assisted his brother as best man. Mr. Merritt gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride's ballerina length dress was of white nylon and had a high neckline and short puffed sleeves. With it she wore a small feathered hat and a double strand of pearls with matching earrings, the gift of the groom. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and maline arranged about a white Fuji mum. Yellow Frenched mums centered by a white Fuji mum formed the cascade bouquet of the matron of honor, whose aqua faille dress had a rhinestone trim. Her hat, shoes and gloves were white.

The mothers of both bride and groom had corsages of lavender orchids.

A reception for 50 guests followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents in Clinton. The newly married couple will live in Clinton, where the groom is employed by the Clinton Machine Co.

Drive In Church Ends Its Season

This Saturday and Sunday will be the closing weekend at the Devils Lake Drive-In Church for the 1956 season.

September 1 and September 2, "Battleground Europe" and "Eastward to Asia," two of Billy Graham's films will be presented respectively. "Battleground Europe," filmed entirely in Europe, includes scenes which have never before been photographed such as the largest crowd since Hitler's day in the famous Hitler Stadium in Nuremberg, where the cross replaces the "Swastika."

Sunday's film "Eastward to Asia" which was written up in "Readers Digest" also was given a private showing to President Eisenhower after his tour through Asia.

At 8:30 Saturday, Rev. Raymond Riley, accomplished violinist, will open the service, directing our hearts with music.

The spotlight will be on the "CYC Trumpet Trio" from Jackson, Michigan the following night.

RED ROVER SOUP WITH RICE

A more companionable soup than this Red Rover with Rice would be hard to find. Fragrant and spicy, this soup is quick and economical, yet substantial enough to satisfy even the most robust appetites.

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon sugar
3 cups onion rings
2½ cups (1-lb. 4-oz. can) tomatoes
3 cups water
¼ cup uncooked rice
3 beef bouillon cubes
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon basil
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
3 frankfurters, sliced

Melt butter and sugar in 4-quart saucepan. Add onion rings and cook slowly until soft and golden brown, stirring frequently.

Add all of the remaining ingredients except frankfurters. Simmer uncovered about 25 minutes. Add frankfurters and simmer 5 minutes longer.

Yields six servings.

Three-Day Bible Meet to Be Held

Plans have been completed for a three-day Bible conclave, August 31 through September 2, at Jackson, stated Kenneth Ball, presiding minister of Tecumseh congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses. Fifty from the local area expect to attend, he said.

The Jackson County building has been engaged for the affair, which will bring together delegates from 18 congregations representing Michigan Circuit Number 8. Among other cities to send delegates will be Battle Creek, Charlotte, Ann Arbor, Milan, Howell, Adrian, Monroe, Plymouth, Ypsilanti, and Flat Rock. Two Jackson congregations will act as hosts.

Stating the purposeof the meet Mr. Ball said, "It may seem strange to some that we would schedule an assembly of this nature so soon after our 14,400 Lansing get-together late July. But," he asserted, "we learned things there that now need applying at the local level. There, emphasis was placed on obtaining and properly evaluating accurate Bible knowledge. Here," declared Mr. Ball, "we hope to expand our ministry by aiding all Jehovah's Witnesses and those attending to become better qualified for the ministry by applying the Bible knowledge they have gained."

Each day's program has been arranged with this in mind. Talks, symposiums, and animated demonstrations are all in store. A public showing of the special motion picture, "Happiness in the New World Society," will be featured Saturday.

A. E. Manera, Jr., District minister from Providence, R. I., will be the principal speaker at the convention and will climax the meet Sunday, when he lectures on, "Consulting God on World Affairs." Convention officials expect peak attendance to exceed 1700. There will be no closed sessions.

1272 Babies, Born Too Soon, Died in State

Expectant mothers have it within their power to help bring about a sharp drop in Michigan's seventh leading cause of death — infant prematurity.

How? By visiting their physicians early in pregnancy and regularly from then until the baby is born.

Figures compiled by Dr. Goldie B. Corneliuson, maternal and child health director for the Michigan Department of Health, reveal that during 1955 a total of 1,272 infants died in Michigan because of being born too soon.

Dr. Corneliuson defined a premature infant as one weighing 5½ pounds or less at birth. A full-term baby weighs about seven pounds.

"About one out of 14 of all babies born in Michigan are classfied as premature," Dr. Corneliuson said. With proper care both during pregnancy and after birth, these infants have a far better chance to grow into normal, healthy adults.

"But if proper care isn't provided, then the premature infant has trouble surviving conditions a normal-size baby can take in his stride. The high death rate attributed to prematurity can be reduced by proper nutrition and hygiene, as prescribed by a physician."

The need for care is pointed up by the fact that the highest rate of death from prematurity is found among young mothers during their first pregnancy.

"Many premature babies are dying needlessly," Dr. Corneliuson said. "We urge all expectant moth-

Littering To Be Battled

Miss Anne Carson, President of the Tecumseh Garden Club, has discussed with Chief of Police Kilbourn a more vigorous enforcement of the state law against littering our highways.

The law provides a fine up to $100.00, plus the costs of prosecution, and default of payment can mean up to 90 days in jail.

The Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan, the National Farm and Garden Association, and the Garden Club of Michigan have joined forces in a statewide campaign to abolish the "litter bug," who mars the beauty of our highways and roadsides by throwing all kinds of trash out of automobiles.

The cost of cleaning up this unnecessary and unsightly mess would build several miles of new highway each year.

The garden clubs are appealing to every car owner to carry a litter bag in the car and stop throwing litter on highways. An effort is being made by the garden club members to prevail upon car manufacturers to provide a litter container as standard equipment on cars. In the meantime, little bags are being made by the Detroit Society of Handicapped and by private business firms and can be obtained. Even a paper bag will suffice.

"Chief Kilbourn has promised the full support of his organization in apprehending violators of the state law against littering our highways," Miss Carson told the Herald.

State Fair Pony

"Nutmeg," a Shetland pony, is going to the Michigan State Fair, August 31 through September 9 at Detroit, as a representative of the Taylor Pony Farm of Hudson, Michigan.

Here is 4½ year Todd Driskill, who helped raise "Nutmeg," and who expects to come to the State Fair with him.

Prizes totaling $1,215 for Shetlands are part of the record $138,000 in premiums being offered for the 1956 State Fair.

Michigan State Fair Is To Open Friday, August 31

Grand Opening Day of the Mich. State Fair, Friday, August 31, will feature the opening day parade in downtown Detroit at 11 a.m. Admission to Fairgrounds is free until noon on opening day, Donald L. Swanson, general manager, announces.

Saturday, September 1, is Veterans' Day. All Veterans are admitted free and an outstanding program for the day has been arranged in cooperation with the Allied Veterans of Michigan. Events scheduled for the day include drum and bugle corps, rifle squad drill teams, memorial ceremonies and Veterans' parade.

There will be a repeat of the Sunrise Service on Sunday, September 2, at 8 a.m. The speaker will be Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, president of the National Detroit Council of Churches of Christ. Visitors attending the service, co-sponsored by the Detroit Council of Churches, will be admitted free to the Fairgrounds between 7 and 8 a.m. and may remain for the entire day. The Detroit Police Band will give a concert at the music shell prior to the Service for the benefit of early-comers.

A more varied program has been aranged for Children's Day, Tuesday, September 4, and Old Timers' Day, Thursday, September 6. There'll be several contests for the youngsters; pie eating, watermelon eating, freckle face, pony tail; and the oldsters, too, will have their day of competition; the baldest man, longest married couple, oldest visitor to the Fair. Winners will receive cash awards and tickets to the Coliseum and Grandstand shows.

Saturday, September 8, will be Teachers' Day when the State Fair will honor Michigan teachers with awards for their notable contributions to education and the people of the State. All Michigan teachers will be admitted free.

Again the State Fair will score with a tremendous group of top-notch entertainers in the Coliseum. There will be three shows daily; 3 p.m., 6 p.m. and 9 p.m. The first weekend, August 31 through September 3, will headline Jaye P. Morgan, Don Cherry and the Gaylords.

Following the livestock showing and judging on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, the Coliseum entertainment for the closing weekend, September 7, 8 and 9, will feature Julius LaRosa, the McGuire Sisters and the Four Lads.

Featured on both weekends will be the Platters, the Blockbusters, the Krackerjacks, the Step Brothers, and Bud & Cece Robinson.

There'll be an emcee throughout the Coliseum livestock judging, September 4, 5 and 6, to announce winners and explain points of merit. The evening Coliseum programs on these days are listed as Farm Fun Frolics.

The Farm Fun Frolics, presented free of charge, begin at 7 p.m. They will include Kiltie Band music, million dollar livestock parade, presentation of awards, the Detroit Mounted Police drill team, Arabian, Morgan, Western and Pleasure class horse demonstrations, educated retriever dogs, sheep shearing and other similar events.

At the Grandstand Buffalo Bill Jr. will star in a rootin' tootin' Texas rodeo, giving two performances daily August 31 through September 4 and again on September 8. On Wednesday, September 5, there will be a Marine Mock Attack and a Fire Fighting Demonstration. On Thursday and Friday, September 6 and 7, the rodeo will give an evening performance only, with the 250 Mile time trials taking place afternoons.

On Sunday, September 9, there will be a 10-mile Farmer Pick-Up Truck Derby at 1 p.m., the 250-mile Stock Car Race at 2:30 p.m. and an auto Thrill Show in the evening.

A major attraction in the Shell will be two concerts daily, with the exception of Wednesday evening, of the United States Air Force Band. There will be many other band concerts, musical and amateur shows, nationality programs and dances, hobby classes and demonstrations, radio broadcasts, and other features.

Robert Hoag Wed to Shirley Ruhig in St. Paul's

A wedding of interest to the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sheldon and Mrs. Bertha Hoag took place in St. Paul's Lutheran church in Saginaw Saturday when their grandson, Robert D. Hoag was married to Miss Shirley Ann Ruthig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ruthig of that city. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hoag, who formerly lived in Tecumseh.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Willard Kehrberg of Minneapolis, Minn., a brother-in-law of the bride, and the vocalist was John Pickelmann who was accompanied by Edgar Backer, organist.

Preceding the bride down the aisle were her maid of honor, Miss Jeanine Kolberg of Birch Run and her bridesmaids, Misses Constance Shumate of Gibralter, Mich.; Patricia Young, Lois Ortner and Dorothy Denzer of Saginaw.

The bride's floor length gown of embroidered nylon over taffeta was fashioned with puff sleeves, an oval neckline and bouffant skirt. She had chosen a tiara of seed pearls to hold her fingertip veil of illusion. Glammelias and stephanotis adorned her prayer book.

The bridal attendants wore embroidered nylon gowns similar to the brides and accented with pink taffeta cummerbunds and pink shoes. They wore matching picture hats and carried cascades of ivy and pompoms.

A buffet luncheon was served to 300 guests at a Shrine Temple reception following the reception. Among the assistant hosts was the groom's cousin, Donald Sheldon of Monroe.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hoag had been hosts at a rehearsal dinner Friday evening at the Chanticleer.

After a wedding trip through southern and eastern states, Mr. and Mrs. Hoag will reside at 935 Dewey street in Ann Arbor. The bridegroom will resume his studies at the University of Michigan School of Medicine and his bride will continue with her profession as a dental hygienist.

No Wringing or Squeezing for Drip-Drys

Homemaker appreciation runs high in the summertime for the minimum-care finish used for cottons and rayons, often described as drip-dry finish.

Its great advantage in hot weather is that it saves on the hot job of ironing. It also helps the fabrics resist wrinkles and shed soil.

Dripping is necessary for smooth drying of minimum-care materials, say Michigan State University clothing specialists. After laundering, the clothes should be lifted from the rinse water and hung smoothly on hangers with no wringing, twisting or squeezing to remove water. As the water drips off, it smooths out creases or wrinkles left from the laundering. A final touch-up with the iron may be needed to make hems, seams and edges as smooth as new.

Some of the synthetic fibers, such as dacron, also have this drip-dry quality. Clothes made of these synthetics will be wrinkle-free when dry only if lifted from the rinse water and hung to dry with the least possible handling. The more they drip, the smoother they dry. The fabrics dry fast, because they are non-absorbent and much of the water runs off the surface.

Air Pollution in Michigan Studied by Health Service

The degree of air pollution in Michigan and its possible effect on health will be determined from samples taken at stations now being set up in a number of cities in the state.

The taking of samples is part of a five-year national program carried out since 1953 by the U.S. Public Health Service. Arrangements for establishing sampling stations in this state are being made by the Michigan Department of Health.

According to present plans, new stations will be set up at Grand Rapids and at three other points in the state. A station already is operating at Detroit.

Since 1953, air sampling stations have been set up in most of the states and now stretch from Anchorage, Alaska, to Boston. The number of stations is increasing each year as the U.S. Public Health Service expands the sampling program.

The number of stations in Michigan probably will be increased to twelve in 1957, according to Michigan Department of Health officials.

At each station, a 24-hour sample of air is taken once each week, or every two weeks. The sampling consists of pumping air through an 8x10-inch fiberglas filter. Most of the sampling machines are located on the roofs of buildings in downtown areas.

After the sample is taken, the filter is then mailed to the Robert A. Taft Sanitary Engineering Center at Cincinnati for analysis by U.S. Public Health Service personnel.

There the sample is tested with the latest scientific equipment and procedures for all know air pollutants, including radioactivity.

Results of the samplings in this state will be made available quarterly to the Michigan Department of Health and to health officials where sampling stations are located. The samples will show national air pollution trends and are expected to indicate whether action on air pollution is necessary in a particular locality.

Results also will be studied to see if there is a link between air pollution and the rates of disease and death.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Shiels entertained at a family dinner last Wednesday evening honoring the anniversaries of Miss Carole Loveland, Mrs. Ardis Shiels and Miss Mary Shiels. Many lovely gifts were exchanged. Miss Arlene Hunt of Ypsilanti was an additional guest.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Shiels of Fond Du Lac, Wis. were recent guests in the home of his brother, Harvey Shiels and family, and of his nephew, Mr. and Mrs. James Shiels and son. While here they visited many points of interest in southern Michigan and on Sunday all the family drove to Buck Lake Ranch, Angola, Ind.

Mrs. Reuben Tucker has returned to the home of her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Tucker at Wamplers Lake after being a patient in Herrick Memorial hospital for five weeks.

Robert and Timmy Baker of Tipton are visiting their grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Norris Morehouse this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted McConnell, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bryan and Mrs. Lillian Owen returned Monday from a week spent in the Upper Peninsula and at South Branch. They went as far as Copper Harbor and traveled the Brockway Drive, visiting Wakefield, Bessemer, Millecuoquin Lake and Tahquamenon Falls. On the way home they spent two days at the McConnell cabin at S. Branch.

Mr. and Mrs. George Meads and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Gamboe in Brooklyn Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Naugle and son, Kent spent the past two weeks vacationing in the Upper Peninsula. Most of the time was spent near Munising. They returned Sunday.

Rotary Hears Probation Officer Explain Duties

The Rotary Club, headed by president James McDowell, met Tuesday evening in the Methodist Church basement.

Robert French, program chairman, introduced Charlie Russell, probation officer for Lenawee County, as the main speaker of the day. Mr. Russell spoke on the function, duties and selection of probation officers. He made it clear that his particular office deals only with adults 17 or over unless a waver is issued.

The duties of a probation officer involve a maze of complicated aspects. Cases are referred to him through the Circuit Court. He must interview the subject with the purpose in mind of finding out why the crime happened. This may involve lengthy discussion and investigation and indeed may never be accomplished. A report is then compiled from the probation officers findings. The probation officer is also frequently called upon to give the Judge a recommendation as to how to dispose of the case.

In some cases the Judge puts offenders on probation rather than putting them in jail. The initial part of the probation can be as much as 60 days in jail. Probation can last as long as five years. The purpose of probation is twofold. In the first place, Mr. Russell said that the offender owes a debt to society. In the second place society must find out how it can rehabilitate the offender and make him a useful citizen. It was emphasized that probation is considerably less expensive than jail due to restitution monies paid and incomes earned by the offender while he is on probation.

The person on probation must report to the probation officer during the first seven days of each month. At the same time he is forbidden the use of alcohol, he cannot gamble and he is forbidden from engaging in anti-social activity of any kind. In addition he is charged a fee of five dollars per quarter.

Mr. Russell stated that, in his opinion, probation is helping greatly in combating crime today. The importance of the job can be seen in the careful screening process applicants go through in being selected as probation officers.

Jaycees Report Successful Circus

Hagen Brothers' Circus, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, was well attended Monday, August 27. William Davenport, vice president of the Jaycees, was chairman of the committee. Other members of the committee were Bob Williamson, Proctor Pace, Ray Sheldon, and Bob Breniff.

Tickets were sold by the VFW. Warren Filter was chairman of the ticket committee. William Davenport reports that an $185 profit was made. Proceeds will go for teenage activities in the community.

Patterson PTA Board Meets to Formulate Years Plans

The Patterson PTA Executive Board met at the home of Secretary Mrs. W. W. Ring to formulate plans for the 1956-57 school year.

Officers elected last spring are: J. D. Cook, President; Ray Schlegel, Parent Vice-President; Mrs. Edgar Buttolph, Teacher Vice-President; Mrs. W. W. Ring, Secretary; Mrs. Gibbs Barber, Treasurer. Appointed Committees are: Program, Mrs. Bertram Updike, Mr. and Mrs. Don Nettleman and Mr. Schlegel; Membership, Don Purkey, Chairman, Mrs. Robert Moore, Mrs. Carl Kennell, Mrs. Lowell Edwards, and Mrs. Philip Colgrove; Ways and Means, Mrs. Fred Dickinson, Jr., Chairman, Mrs. Raymond Kempf, Orville Bishop and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson; Hospitality, Mrs. Harry Richard, Chairman, Mrs. Kenneth Herrick and Mrs. Ted Pihl; Publicity, Mrs. Barnard Fero, Chairman, Mrs. John Surratt and Mrs. E. J. Crawford; Refreshments, Mrs. Byron Goodman, Chairman. Mrs. Goodman's committee will be composed of a group of mothers from a different grade each month.

Regular PTA meetings will be held on the third Thursday of each month, except for December and April which months are reserved for the annual Christman Program and the Gym Demonstration in which all Tecumseh elementary schools participate. An interesting and varied program for the year is being planned by the Program Committee. Brochures listing program topics and helpful information regarding school schedules, teaching staff and PTA information will be prepared for distribution to PTA members at the September meeting. Notices will be sent home with the students before each monthly meeting to remind parents of the date and program.

The first meeting, September 20, will be an Open House. All parents of Patterson pupils are urged to attend this meeting, which will afford an opportunity to visit the schoolrooms and to meet the Principal and teaching staff of Patterson School. The business meeting will be held following the Open House and refreshments will be served.

Labor Provisions Apply To Farmers

When the new Fall school term opens in September, every commercial farmer and grower whose products move in interstate commerce directly or indirectly, will become subject to the child-labor provisions of the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act.

The complete change in the legal status of employment of children in agriculture the day local schools open was explained here today by William S. Singley, Regional Director of the U.S. Labor Department's Wage and Hour Division for Ohio and Michigan.

"This law exempts growers of agricultural and horticultural products from its $1.00 minimum wage and overtime provisions, but it specifically prohibits employment of children under 16 years of age in agricultural occupations during hours school is in session in the school district in which they reside while working," Mr. Singley said.

"In other words, children of any age may be employed on the farm by the grower in the planting, cultivating, harvesting or handling of agricultural products during vacation periods, on weekends and before and after school. The grower may use his own children in agricultural work at any time and at any age on his own farm."

"Please note the fact that these are federal restrictions. Each of the 48 states now has a child-labor law of its own. Growers should consult with state officers, local school attendance officials or study these laws to determine their provisions. When the State child-labor standards are higher than those of the federal law, the State law should be observed."

"The federal regulation requires that each grower subject to it have on file for each employee under 18 a record showing his full name, date of birth, the home address and the local address if the minors are employed on days when school is in session."

Mr. Singley emphasized that the federal law applies to all children, whether they reside in the area or are members of migrant worker families. Also that the grower himself is held liable for any violations even though the under-age children were hired and paid by a labor contractor or processor or others.

Shrine in Hills Has Anniversary

St. Joseph Shrine in the Irish Hills is celebrating the 102nd anniversary of the parish, which was established b ythe Irish settlers in 1854. Many of these pioneers are lying in the cemetery alongside the church, which is situated in the beautiful rolling countryside. This resemblance to the Lake of Killarney was the reason they called the territory situated on U.S. highway 112, the Irish Hills.

Formerly a mission served by priests from Clinton, it was made a parish two years ago, and a rectory was built a year later.

On Sunday, September 2, there will be an "open house" and ice cream social, from 11:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

(MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION OFFICIAL NEWS BULLETIN)

All license fees for Michigan's 1956 hunting seasons remain unchanged from last year. Proposed increases in fees would not effect licenses for the upcoming hunting seasons or the 1957 fishing seasons.

The state Conservation Commission voted at its June meeting to ask the legislature to boost license fees to meet rising costs of operation. If the legislature approves the proposed increases early in 1957, the new fees would be in effect on hunting licenses in fall, 1957 and on fishing licenses Dec. 1, 1957, when the 1958 fishing permits go on sale.

Resident license fees for the upcoming hunting seasons are: small game, $2; deer and bear, $3.50; and camp permit for deer, $3.50. These fees apply to firearm or archery licenses.

Non-resident hunting fees are: small game, $15; deer and bear (firearm), $35; and deer and bear (archery), $10.

Normal operations were resumed at Harrietta hatchery this week after damage from recent floods was repaired.

The hatchery, located in Wexford county, was hit by heavy rains during the August 4-5 weekend. The water caused erosion below a new dam, washed around the end of another dam, took out a foot bridge and flooded all hatchery ponds.

Construction workers completed repairs of the erosion damage this week.

Flooding also occurred the same weekend at Bear Creek and Platte River rearing stations, with heavy fish losses expected.

Fish division workers will not be able to estimate the extent of fish losses at the flooded installations until inventories are taken this fall. At that time, the annual grading, sorting and counting of fish will be done.

Possibility of shifting forest fire activities of the Conservation Department to its forestry division will be studied by a special committee to be appointed soon by Department director Gerald E. Eddy.

The division of field administration, in which all law enforcement work of the department is centered, is now responsible for the Department's fire control program.

The study will extend over a 60-day period, according to the director.

An after-dark swim on a hot night can be refreshing—and surprising—according to William Seppala of Covington.

Seppala, who owns a summer home at Three Lakes, recently decided to take a cooling dip in the lake about a half hour after dark. While in the water, he heard splashing in front of an adjoining cottage. Thinking it was his neighbor, Seppala shouted a friendly greeting and then gasped in surprise as a large bear charged out of the water, across the beach and into the woods.

The idea of a leisurely swim apparently had appealed to the bear also. Seppala reported the incident to conservation officer C. E. Delene.

Michigan's appeal to hunters certainly isn't limited to any special age group. A spot check of license purchasers during the last year shows a wide range of ages.

Among resident hunters, the oldest small game hunter found was *William Northgrame, 88, of Fenn*ville. The youngest hunter found in this category was nine-year-old Edmund Phillipson of AuTrain.

Among archery deer hunters, 76-year-old Clyde Gibbs of Lake Odessa was the oldest to show up in the spot check. The youngest bow and arrow hunter found was Gary Nokarado, 6, of Trout Lake.

Game workers at Cusino wildlife experiment station in the upper peninsula have live-trapped and tagged 11 bears so far this summer.

Under the bear research program at Cusino, 30 traps are placed at various points to catch the bruins for tagging, study and release by game biologists. One of this year's trapped bears had been trapped and tagged in the past.

Last year, 31 bears were taken in this manner at Cusino.

Once the bruin has been trapped, game workers quickly apply an anesthetic so the bear can be handled safely. The bear is then weighed and tagged and his statistics are recorded.

Hugh Black, who is working on his Ph.D. in game management at Cornell University in New York, recently visited at Cusino to study methods of live-trapping bears. He is conducting a similar project in the Appalachian Mountains of New York.

A report on a banded evening grosbeck reveals an interesting record of travel for the bird, recovered early this year near Sanford.

The bird apparently was injured and was recovered March 2. The band on his leg was turned over to conservation officer Carl Hermann of Midland.

The band was then sent to the federal Fish and Wildlife Service research refuge at Laurel, Maryland for identification. The report from the refuge shows the bird was banded January 12 of this year at Bloomfield, Connecticut.

The evening grosbeck is normally a western bird, but appears to have an increasing tendency to move to eastern states during the winter.

CONTINUING WITH the frolicsome antics of Casey Stengel when he managed the former Daffy Dodgers in the National League, Ol' Case would sometimes go to extremes to prove a point.

Once, in the days before artificially lighted ball parks, the Dodgers were leading by a slender margin and it was getting dark. Casey wanted the umpire to call the game. The Dodgers, of course, would be declared winners of the abbreviated contest.

The umpire refused. So the very next inning Ol' Case trudged from the dugout with a flashlight in his hand, searching for his place in the third base coaching box.

Dressed for the Occasion

Then there was the time Stengel wanted the game called because it was raining. Again his team was leading, a custom he enjoyed only occasionally in those days. Again the ump refused.

This time the irritated Mr. Stengel took to the field in hip boots, raincoat and rain hat in an attempt to prove his point.

Nowadays, of course, Casey doesn't have to resort to such antics. He manages a team that has a habit of winning.

Who's Got the Ball?

Around Boston, they still talk of the time early this season when one of the Tigers smashed a hard line drive to Billy Klaus at third. Klaus stopped the ball but it suddenly disappeared.

He looked all over in utter bewilderment as the runner safely reached first on what should have been a routine out. Finally he found that the ball had somehow popped inside his shirt.

Early Wynn, the Cleveland pitcher, was accidentally struck in the face by a ball thrown by Jose Valdevielso in Washington and wound up with 21 stitches. Shortly thereafter a friend gave Wynn a fencing mask and he wore it while warming up along the sidelines before a game.

"Fun" at First

Wynn might have become somewhat "gun shy" from his injury, for he intensely dislikes balls being hit through the box. In fact, once when a sizzling liner went through him, he reacted with dispatch.

With the batter on first, Wynn called his first baseman over and confided, "I'm going to throw the ball to first but don't you catch it. I want that guy to feel what it's like to have a ball whizzing by his head."

Earl Torgeson pulled what Minnie Minoso thought was a dirty trick, although it was perfectly legal and smart thinking.

Minoso had reached base in a swirl of dust on a single. Torgy told him to get off for a moment so he could dust off the bag. The unsuspecting Minoso raised his foot and Earl tagged him with the ball he had hidden in his glove.

Mexicans Honor Mario Lanza and W. B. 'Serenade' Unit; Name Cars For Them

A new type of epidemic broke out in Mexico recently, and our neighbors to the South haven't been the same since. It all started with a Warner Bros. location unit traveling deep into Mexico, to the state of Guanajuato, for the filming of the dramatic love story "Serenade."

Mexico, it seems, is a land of custom and tradition. One of the lesser known customs is an individual's naming of his vehicle, his cab, bus or truck. Not of course the names North Americans have for them, but names of their own choice which are brightly lettered on the sides of the cars.

The friendly citizens of San Miguel de Allende took so warmly to the stars of the Warner Bros. film, Mario Lanza, Joan Fontaine, Sarita Montiel and Vincent Price, that they renamed not only every vehicle in town, but practically every vehicle in the entire state.

Mario Lanza appears in his first Warner film. In "Serenade," he portrays the dramatic role of the singer who becomes torn between the loves of two women and his own ambition. What is said to be the most magnificent of vocal and instrumental music is interwoven with the drama.

Sarita Montiel, a fiery Latin brunette, promises to steal the hearts of many an American moviegoer, equally so as she has in her native Spain and Mexico where she has appeared in over thirty films.

Academy Award winner Joan Fontaine is co-starred opposite Lanza as one of the women in his life. She appears in the film following a brilliant Broadway appearance in "Tea and Sympathy."

"Serenade," in WarnerColor, was directed by Anthony Mann and produced by Henry Blanke. It premieres locally September 4, 5, 6 at the Strand Theatre.

Consider the dry cleaning costs of that new fashionable car coat that may lure you with its low purchase price, suggest M.S.U. clothing specialists. Some coats made of leather are lined with a paisley print, metallic-stripe taffeta, wool or alpaca. Such combinations create a cleaning problem. Coats made of water-repellent materials have to be re-cleaned after dry cleaning to restore the finish.

If You're Like Me ----

Your affairs are in order but not orderly enough.

A good friend of mine checked out a few days ago. He just went to bed as usual but died as he slept. It was a shock to his many friends and to me.

It was sufficiently disturbing that it even made me think: What would happen if this same thing happened to me?

It could happen to me — or to you!

I looked into what should be done before such an untoward event occurs. I worked on the premise that in times of emergency it's important to have your family, and those who act for you, in a position to take immediate action with regard to your financial affairs.

Naturally, I thought of a will in order to avoid trouble and expense. I know the court would appoint administrators and guardians when necessary but they might not be the ones I wanted.

I found that my birth certificate and marriage licence should be on hand for insurance purposes, social security pensions, or wherever legal proof of age, relationship, and a place of birth are required.

It seems that things like deeds, copies of mortgages, abstracts of title, tax receipts, etc. are useful when other folks are settling the estate and maybe I should have these in a safety deposit box, or at least some place where they are safe — and yet known and available to my family.

The banks told me that there are thousands of unclaimed bank acounts every year because the depositors didn't tell their families about them. Same way with stock certificates, bonds, etc.

A knowledge of the location of life insurance or disability insurance policies may be important in order to make immediate claims in case of a disabling accident.

I was introduced to the idea of establishing a small trust fund to provide for the care of my dependents. It seems there are living trusts and testamentary trusts and they're different and — but that's another story.

What I really found out was that unless I got my stuff arranged a little better that I was going to cause someone a whole lot of trouble if I kicked off. So I called a friend of mine who knows about legal things and also sneaked in and took two extra vitamin pills.

United For Civil Defense

The United States. Probably never before in our nation's history has the word "united" had so much meaning. More than the States united, it now means the united parts of every state—people united, business united, cities and farms and rural communities, united.

Modern transportation, communication, buying and selling have tied America together. No part of the nation is separate and apart.

The intercontinental bomber and atomic and hydrogen bombs in the hands of a potential enemy have also united us in a common danger. To meet that danger, we must unite under the civil defense banner.

It is only common sense to plan now for our survival and our recovery, so we can fight back and win any war that threatens to destroy us. Civil defense is that plan. Its importance to the nation has been emphasized by President Eisenhower's action in setting aside the week of September 9th as the nation's first Civil Defense Week.

We in the nation's smaller cities and rural areas are a vital part of civil defense. A big part of survival depends on us.

It doesn't take military experts to figure where an enemy would strike first. He'll try to knock out our air bases, cripple our industries and destroy our cities. His goals will be to crush our ways and will to fight back, and to win an early victory.

We may not be able to stop his destruction of things, but we can save the people and the "know how" and the will to win that can rebuild what has been destroyed. There are only two ways: If there is time, get as many of the people as possible out of threatened cities, before attack. These people will be evacuated to communities like ours. If there is not enough warning, get them to shelters.

We must be ready to receive these survivors—as well as to protect ourselves from the danger of radioactive fallout. This is our civil defense responsibility. We must plan for it now.

There are many questions to be answered—many preparations to be made. If an attack should come tomorrow, and we were not ready with the answers, we would never forgive ourselves for our lack of forethought—if indeed we survived to face the recriminations.

Are we giving sufficient thought to civil defense? Would we be prepared to survive and able to help others?

Ask yourself these questions. If the answer is negative, shouldn't you, as an individual, help strengthen our community civil defense?

If enemy attack ever comes, we of small town and rural America will be responsible for much of the nation's future. What we do now could determine whether America will recover to fight back, or perish.

"Hi," said Joe Kinder, "I just dropped by on impulse. Are houses selling very well?"

"Glad to see you," I replied, since Joe was a friendly local businessman. "Houses are selling fairly well. It is a rather spotty market. A lot depends on whether the house has both style and price appeal. Do you want to sell?"

"Yeah," Joe replied, "but keep it quiet for a little while. I'm being transferred to Toledo. I could commute but I prefer to move over and become a part of the community."

Joe continued. "How much would our place be worth? A couple of years ago we had it appraised by FHA. Their figure was $12,500. Do you suppose we could get that now?"

"I've never been in your home," I said to Joe. "Naturally, the only way to tell is to look at it. Can we see it today?"

"Oh, no, not that quick," Joe replied with a grin. "My wife would have a fit. Give us a week to get it cleaned up and then come out. We want to sell it—but don't start until next Thursday.

"O.K., Joe," I answered, "we'll be there."

Now, since we have to see Joe's place, how about inspecting yours, too, the same day? Our schedule will permit us to look over a few more homes. So phone right away! We'll sell your home too.

Officials Study Traffic Engineering Problems at M.S.U.'s New Highway Traffic Safety Center

County road commissioners, county engineers and other officials responsible for highway administration in their areas have had a new opportunity this summer to get help in solving their traffic engineering problems.

Initiating a program of providing assistance on urban and rural road problems, the Highway Traffic Safety Center of Michigan State University, with the cooperation of the State Highway Department, the Michigan State Police, and the County Road Commission of Michigan, conducted a series of eight one-day conferences at strategic locations in the state. Though the main emphasis of these area conferences will be on street and highway traffic problems from the engineering standpoint, other major phases of traffic safety will also be covered.

Primary purpose of the conferences is to assist counties and cities in planning engineering improvements and to make all those in the state with traffic and safety responsibilities familiar with the services and assistance available from the Highway Traffic Safety Center.

In addition to county engineers and road commissioners, conference invitations will be sent to mayors, city managers, village presidents, district traffic engineers and state police and community safety officers having traffic and safety responsibilities.

OUTLINES OBJECTIVES

In outlinging the objectives of the conferences, Gordon H. Sheehe, director of the Highway Traffic Safety Center, pointed out that considerable progress in reducing traffic accidents and congestion can be accomplished by engineering improvements in street and highway facilities which does not necessarily involve new construction.

"With the impetus which will come from the President's highway construction program, it is paramount that we use what roads we already have in the most efficient way," Sheehe emphasized. "Through these area conferences, with sufficient time to discuss localized traffic problems, we can share solutions found in neighboring areas and make our roads produce maximum effectiveness in handling traffic practically and safely."

The counties of Jackson, Washtenaw, Hillsdale, Lenawee and Monroe have had their conferences at Jackson.

Problems discussed included a review of transportation need; engineering applications in solving urban and rural traffic problems; the new federal highway building program; and the need for assistance to those with engineering responsibilitiies in cities and counties.

Conferences are under the direction of a team of advisors including Gordon H. Sheehe, director, Highway Traffic Safety Center; J. Carl McMonagle, director, Planning and Traffic Division, State Highway Department; Oscar M. Gunderson, planning engineer, Wayne County Road Commission; Alger F. Malo, director, Department of Streets and Traffic, City of Detroit; and Adolf D. May, Jr., Department of Civil Engineering, Michigan State University.

The program of each conference includes an afternoon workshop session covering typical area problems. Local representatives act as advisors for the workshops at which those attending have an opportunity to review solutions for similar problems that have worked in other areas.

SERVE AS BASIS

The most vital needs determined by these area conferences will serve as a basis for a statewide engineering meeting to be held in Oct. on the Michigan State University campus.

Conference planning for the eight meetings scheduled is based on a pilot discussion held in June at Grand Rapids which covered the counties of Muskegon, Ottawa, Kent, Montcalm, Ionia, Allegan and Barry.

The Highway Traffic Safety Center at Michigan State University has undertaken one of the country's most extensive programs concerned with traffic safety. These conferences are a part of the assistance the Center plans to provide at various traffic administration levels for the state, counties and cities. The five main areas of activity scheduled by the Center are:

1.—Undergraduate and graduate courses to equip young people for positions as safety directors, driver-education teachers, traffic engineers and traffic police administrators.

2.—Short courses and conferences for police, driver license examiners, judges, engineers, safety directors and all others active in traffic operations.

3.—Field services to towns and counties in all phases of traffic administration; such as surveying local needs, offering consultation assistance, helping improve local traffic activities.

4.—A program of information services, working with the press, radio and television; publishing training materials; and developing a library service to include both published materials and films.

5.—Research programs designed to develop new techniques in the traffic field, such as studying highway economics, preparing procedure manuals, developing standards, improving methods, evaluating reports.

AIMS SUMMARIZED

Summarizing the aims of the area conferences, Director Sheehe pointed out that the meetings on engineering problems illustrate one phase of the assistance the Center can provide various groups.

"Because traffic problems are especially complex, research is needed at all levels with the assistance of the many official and non-official individuals and agencies having traffic administration responsibilities.

The Center's broad, near saturation approach to all phases of an area's problems is a new idea. In these conferences, with the emphasis on engineering improvements, mayors, city managers, village presidents and other non-technical people with safety responsibilities will be able to sit down with engineers and county highway officials to find over-all solutions to their respective problems."

Chicken Backs, Wings, Necks Perk Up Menu

Don't be pessimistic over the bony chicken pieces left over from your chicken dinners. Just plan to use them in main dishes for some other family or company meal.

Or, better still, suggests Dr. Louise Kelley, foods and nutrition professor at Michigan State University, when you clean a chicken, drain the backs, wings and necks and wrap them in moisture-proof paper to hold in the freezing compartment of the refrigerator or freezer for a while. Then the next time you serve a chicken dish, stew these bony pieces in just enough water to keep them covered. Remove the meat from the bones, discard excess skin and use the meat to create a special chicken dish.

Budding Newsmen Search for Storm Cellar as Tornado Hits

University of Michigan journalism students who have taken over the writing and editing of two weekly newspapers in the state for the summer were looking for a storm cellar with lighted matches in hand recently — and they weren't looking for a story.

When winds, reported at 75 miles per hour, swept the town and the offices of the Evart Review and knocked out power lines they thought it was time to head for cover. They had to give it up as a bad job, however, when flickering matches failed to reveal a sturdy shelter in their temporary "city room."

As soon as the winds subsided they grabbed pencils, copy paper, and cameras and ran out among the fallen trees, crumpled barns and demolished house trailers to get their "hottest" story this summer.

JOBS TURNED OVER

The students, working on the Marion Press and the Evart Review, are getting practical experience in the various jobs connected with the publication of community newspapers. Fred Smith, publisher of the two papers, has turned over all of the jobs on the papers to the students.

So far, he said, he's satisfied with the performance of the budding newshawks.

Of course, there have been some minor "goofs." Such as the time two decimal points appeared in an advertisement for a home appliance and readers weren't quite sure whether the cost was $17.50 or $175.00. Or the time a car dealer read the paper and found that he was apparently selling a different brand of automobile than was on his showroom floor. Since then proof readers have become eagle-eyed.

While the students are learning the ins and outs of community newspaper work, Prof. Karl Zeisler, of the U-M Journalism Department staff, who is working with the class, said, "I'm doing some learning up here myself. Our community newspaper courses are going to undergo some revisions as a result of this summer's work."

NEED MORE ADVERTISING

He said that from the strictly news-handling side the journalists are doing very well but it has become apparent that they need more instruction in the field of advertising.

The students agree. They also agree that a good newspaper man in a small town must be a good writer, a good photographer, a good advertising salesman, a good advertising layout man, and a good businessman. They say he must know something about printing, what is going on in his circulation area in the fields of politics, government, education, business, and agriculture. Another thing he must know, they said, is when to talk and when to keep his mouth shut.

Many of these things have been brought home to them during their work this summer. It is what their teachers had in mind when the class was established. Prof. Wes*ley H. Maurer, chairman of the* U-M journalism department, said the Evart project is a major step in augmenting the instructional program in community newspapering and is in conjunction with general newspaper work.

M.S.U. Expects 18,500 Students

A record enrollment of 18,500 students on campus is expected when Michigan State University's fall terms begins next month.

"Welcome Week" and alphabetical registration of students is scheduled Sunday through Friday, Sept. 16-21. Classes will begin Monday, Sept. 24.

This year's expected enrollment will be more than 1,300 above the 1955 fall term registration, according to Kermit H. Smith, registrar. Enrollment of graduate students—those working toward advanced degrees—is expected to be up 25 per cent over last year. In all, students will be enrolled in 152 courses of study leading to the bachelor's degree and 114 leading to an advanced degree.

Michigan State's Evening College classes are also scheduled to begin Sept. 24, as are the fall telecourses—college work offered by KKAR-TV, the university television station. Seven credit and non-credit courses will be offered on TV.

New doctoral programs to be offered for the first time in the fall will include the Ph.D degree in statistics and the Ph.D and Ed.D degrees in health, physical education and recreation.

Mind Readers? Impossible, Says MSU Psychologist

There is no such thing as "mind reading."

There are people who claim to read minds—some of them make a living at it in public performances—but their skill is based usually on perception of muscle movements and other tricks, according to a Michigan State University psychology professor.

"Much of mind reading actually is muscle reading," says Prof. Milton Rokeach. "Barely noticeable muscle movements account for many tricks that pass for mind reading or 'extrasensory' perception."

One of history's most outstanding muscle readers, Dr. Rokeach pointed out, was Clever Hans, a German horse who amazed many people at the turn of the century.

Clever Hans was schooled by his owner—who believed the horse had near-human intelligence—in arithmetic, spelling, music and other subjects. The horse could tap out correct answers to questions with his hoofs.

Long and careful inspection by interested scientists finally revealed that the horse had learned to watch for small movements, usually of the head, which told the horse when he had arrived at the correct answer. Even the owner had not known he made them.

In the same way, a person concentrating on a letter of the alphabet may, in spite of himself, form the letter with his lips unconsciously. The trained observer may read it easily.

A parlor trick done by skilled mind readers is to guess the location of a secretly hidden object while holding a handkerchief tied to his subject's wrist.

"Told to concentrate on the hiding place, the subject literally leads the mind reader to the hiding place by imperceptible movements," Dr. Rokeach stated.

Coincidence is involved in the dreams which foretell real tragedy, the psychologist explained.

Here's why more farmers choose
Twentieth CENTURY
MANUFACTURING COMPANY
AC ARC WELDERS
TWIN CARBON TORCHES

There's more than one reason why Twentieth Century Welders are a favorite among farmers who know good welding.

First and foremost . . . they'll tackle, and turn out "to a T", any welding job. Just dial the right heat for the job, and put your Twentieth Century Welder and Carbon Arc Torch to work:

Cutting metal — Brazing
Drilling holes — Bending and shaping
Soldering — Hard Surfacing

AND . . . Twentieth Century Welders save you time and money.

NOW . . . You can quickly and easily repair or replace worn or broken parts on automobiles, tractors, trucks, on all farm machinery.

AND . . . with a Twentieth Century Welder, you can easily make pieces of new equipment.

Take the work out of welding, with the welder that "fits" your farm—a Twentieth Century Welder. Come in. See us for information and demonstration.

Christian Science Services Listed

Man's real status as a child of God—possessing unlimited freedom and happiness — will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Man" will include the following from Galatians (3:26, 29): "For ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus . . . And if ye be Christ's, then are ye Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise."

Among the passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy is the following (227:24-26): "Citizens of the world, accept the 'glorious liberty of the children of God,' and be free! This is your divine right."

The Golden Text is from 1 John (3:1): "Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God."

UNDERWOOD GRADUATES

Thomas E. Underwood, son of Mrs. Retia O. Jennings of 301 E. Pottawatamie St., Tecumseh, is among those who graduated from recruit training August 25 at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

The nine weeks of "boot training" included drill and instruction in seamanship, gunnery, life saving, sea survival, boat handling and the use of small arms.

Following two weeks leave, graduates will report to shipboard duties or service schools depending on the qualifications each has demonstrated.

Letter To The Editor

Tecumseh Herald
Tecumseh, Michigan

Dear Editor:

H. J. Snell & Co., Tecumseh, Mich.
Charles DeMott, Tecumseh, Mich.
Strong & Drew, Tecumseh, Mich.

Names out of the past—are they familiar to you? One hundred years ago some unsigned penman engraved them with elaborate flourishes on a ledger of D. M. Ferry & Co.

This ledger lists the first customers of D. M. Ferry & Co., now grown into Ferry-Morse Seed Co., supplying the world with vegetable and flower seeds.

We thought you'd like to know of this early record of business houses in your town in 1856. They ordered a seed assortment from D. M. Ferry & Co., and remarkably, several of the varieties ordered are still listed in our catalogue.

Our thanks to Tecumseh for helping us start to grow—100 years ago.

Very truly yours,
FERRY-MORSE SEED CO.

Iva Boyd Died Thursday Evening

Miss Iva Boyd, whose home was on Russell road in Raisin township, died Thursday evening at Herrick Memorial hospital. She had been a patient there for the past five weeks but had been ill for more than a year.

Miss Boyd was born in Raisin October 12, 1889 and was the daughter of Alexander and Mary Anna Mitchell Boyd. She was a graduate of Tecumseh high school with the class of 1909, received an AB degree from State Normal College at Ypsilanti and an MS from the University of Michigan. She taught school in Michigan and in several southern states until the death of her mother necessitated her return to keep house for her brother. She was a member of the Tecumseh Order of Eastern Star.

Besides her parents she was preceded in death by her brother, Willard Boyd in July 1954 and she is survived only by several cousins.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. B. O. Bashore at the Collins Funeral Home and burial was in the family lot in Brookside. Bearers were Arthur Eaton, Austin Partridge, Lawrence Boyd, Clyde Bailey, E. Lavern Russell and LeRoy Titley.

Editor's Corner . . .

By Phil Belleville

Everybody does it! Let the other fellow take the responsibility! These are popular phrases that seem to be increasingly used in this nation as well as in many other countries throughout the world. I like to call this slogan and the hundreds of others with the same meaning the outgrowth of a growing uniformity consciousness.

By a uniformity consciousness, I am not simply referring to indications such as the fact that boys and girls of school age like to talk, act and dress like everybody else in "the gang." For one thing, I am referring to the fact that too many people are plagued with the desire to lose their individuality and become one of the gang (or clique or crowd, or bunch or what have you) during their entire life. Too often they think little of an action itself but concentrate on the appearance or impression it will give. They not only want to keep up to the Jones', but be like and be liked by the Jones'. Artificiality takes the place of sincerity. Everybody wants to be regarded as a "good guy" or "quite a girl." It makes no difference if sometimes their individuality rebels, it must be suppressed. They want to be no different than anybody else and will achieve their goal at all cost.

By "letting the other fellow take the responsibility," I am referring to what Ortega Gassett called the psychology of the mass man. This is the desire to regress to the parent-child relationship. That is the desire to let father or "big brother" make the decisions and take the responsibility while you sit back and enjoy your security and freedom from care. It is so easy to sit back and ignore affairs and let somebody who has no better way to spend his time to do the work involved. Why take the responsibility when it is so much easier to let someone else be responsible for you. The matter becomes really complicated when you don't care to be responsible yourself and can't find anyone to be responsible for you.

Needless to say none of this is good. Our civilization was not built by men who suppressed their individuality in favor of always being a "good guy" and concerned themselves only with impressions and appearances rather than

School Enrollment Is 2444 This Year

Superintendent McDowell reports that the total enrollment so far in the Tecumseh Public Schools is 2444 students. He expects perhaps 50 or 60 more students to enroll later.

Eight hundred and seventy seven of these students are in Jr. High and High School. This means that the facilities are overcrowded since the building was built for 500 students.

|---|---|
| Kindergarten | 269 |
| 1st grade | 234 |
| 2nd grade | 227 |
| 3rd grade | 263 |
| 4th grade | 211 |
| 5th grade | 190 |
| 6th grade | 173 |
| 7th grade | 159 |
| 8th grade | 171 |
| 9th grade | 166 |
| 10th grade | 150 |
| 11th grade | 140 |
| 12th grade | 91 |

The bad condition of many of the rural roads made necessary the purchase of 2 new busses. Eight busses could not handle the load with bad road conditions.

Herald Now To Have A Farm Page

This is an aerial photograph of a farm located somewhere in the Tecumseh area. It is published this week by way of introduction to the Farm Page (page 5) which is appearing for the first time in the Herald. The page is captioned News of The Farm. It will contain current news, articles, announcements, pictures, etc. of special interest to farmers and others interested in agriculture.

This page is designed with the idea in mind that such a page will directly increase the quality of the paper for both city and country people. Country people will find even more news than usual of direct interest to themselves. Town people will find news of interest on the farm page as well as have the knowledge that the farm people, an important part of their economy, are adequately represented in the areas own newspaper and best shopping guide.

The owner of the farm in the above picture will be given a free photograph of his farm as well as a one year new or renewal subscription to the Herald, if he comes into the Herald office and identifies it as his farm.

Plans are now in the precess of being formulated to run a series of weekly contests composed of identifying aerial farm photographs. Prizes and specific arrangements are as yet incomplete. Identified photos will appear the following week with a story on the farm page.

Operation Demonstration Sept. 6 To Sept. 8

Operation Demonstration will be observed by Tecumseh automobile dealers on September 6 through September 8.

Operation Demonstration is a national drive by the Automobile Dealers Association to acquaint the public with the fact that the best place to buy a used car is behind the wheel.

For years, the franchised new car dealers of this community have backed every used car sale with warranties based on quality, dependability, and service. With this drive, they wish to prove beyond a doubt a used car bought from a new car dealer is now, and always will be a good one, a sound one and a dependable one.

Auto dealers participating in Operation Demonstration in Tecumseh are: Schneider Bros. Garage, Inc., Buick and Chevrolet dealer, Butler Motors Sales, Ford dealer; Keith Bailey Motors, Oldsmobile dealer; G. H. Fisher Pontiac Motors, Inc. and Wilson Motor Sales, Inc., Plymouth and DeSoto dealer. See the large advertisment in this issue, sponsored by local dealers.

Tecumseh High School Will Play At Festival

I've been working on the railroad. So sings—or rather, plays—the Tecumseh High School Band as it enters the field at the Lenawee County Band Festival. They have the theme, "Railroad." And, with brand new uniforms to back them up, they will be fully equipped to tell the story of the "Choo-Choo-Train."

Goodwill Trucks Here Sept. 10

The Goodwill Industries trucks will be in Tecumseh Sept. 10th. Christmas may seem far off but it will come up more rapidly than you think. The Goodwill people are in need of good used men's, women's, and childrens clothing as well as small electric appliances, and toys that can be reconditioned to distribute to the less fortunate. If you want the truck to stop, call representative Mrs. Carl Burch by Saturday evening at phone 868 Tecumseh.

$816 Collected During August

The police report for the month of August has been completed. It shows that there were 8 accidents in Tecumseh last month. A total of 50 complaints were received. Forty-one traffic summons were issued during the month. A total of 111 meter violations occurred. There were 4 arrests and 6 liquor inspections.

Traffic fines amounted to $362.-10. Meter violation collections added to a total of $54.95. Meter collections were $499.50. This makes a total of $816.55 collected during the month of August.

City's Schedule Nearly Completed For 1956

The Tecumseh City Council met Tuesday, September 4. The City Managers report was read and approved. City Manager Ed Nelson reports the following:

The curb and gutter on North Van Buren street has been completed. Curb and gutter on one block of West Shawnee street has also been completed. The culvert on Occidental road is now nearly completed. Seal coating is progressing rapidly. Only the curb and gutter on Park Street, South Union and a half of one block on Democratic are left to complete this years schedule.

There were two accidents at the city wells last week. A starter transformer burned out at No. 3 well and a small pipe broke on No. 1. Jachura Brothers are going right along with the new water main and, barring complications, will be finished by the end of the month.

The Council voted to buy a 600 gallon fire truck body from the American Fire Apparatus Co. at a cost of $11,630.56. This action was taken only after Ed Nelson, John Hamilton, Don Purkey and Cecil Alderdyce carefully checked into the fire truck situation by talking to different towns with various makes of equipment etc. The chassis was approved at a previous meeting. It will be a Ford F-800.

113 Boys Will Report Out For Football This Season

Coach Breniff has 113 boys out for football this year. He estimates that another 10 to 15 boys will probably come out after school starts and vacations are over.

Most of the new boys out this year are out for football for the first time and don't have the experience to help the team much this year. There are 40 boys at the present time out for freshman football.

Tecumseh has some very fine football players coming back this year: Alan Dickinson weighing 150 pounds, 225 pound Ray Larned, 200 pound Ed. Covall and 185 pound Bill Hanson are all seniors and returning players. Coach Breniff says that Dickinson will be the star this year as he was last year. He says that he is probably the best back in the county.

New Feature To Be In The Herald

A new feature will be found in the Herald this week called Link Reports. It is composed of golfing news issuing directly from Leo Bishop, Pro at the Tecumseh Country Club.

The column this week contains a report of the match and clinic held Labor Day. It also contains a Tournament Schedule through September 15 as well as other news of interest to golfers, duffers and others.

Not all golfing news will appear in this column however. Much of it as in the past will appear elsewhere in the Herald. Only news directly from the Pro will be in Link Reports.

Pence Appointed To Committee

The Board of Trustees of the Michigan Veterans Trust Fund appointed Dr. Mark E. Pence, 109 East Maumee Street, Adrian, Michigan, as the Veterans of Foreign Wars representative on the Lenawee County Veterans Trust Fund Committee for a three-year term ending September 30, 1959, to succeed Royal E. Welch who resigned.

Highway Department Work Is Completed

The State Highway Department announces that a little less than a mile of bituminous concrete surfacing has been completed on US-223 from the US-223 by-pass north to the city limits of Adrian. About a third of a mile on M-52 from M-50 north to Bidwell street in Tecumseh has also been completed. Ayling Asphalt Paving Co., of Adrian, was the contractor at the contract price of $20,572.80.

Fire Inspection Day Coming September 26

Tecumseh plans to practice preventive medicine September 26, reports Delbert King, chairman of the Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsored Fire Inspection Day scheduled for the 26th.

The Jaycees and the Michigan Fire Prevention Association are quick to remind you, however, that every day should be fire inspection and fire prevention day. They point out that a major fire can and has destroyed large communities.

The program will mean that 20 to 40 fire prevention engineers and inspectors will work in teams and inspect many mercantile establishments as well as public buildings, schools and churches. Everyone should make all-out inspections of their own residential and commercial buildings as well as the official commercial and public inspections on Fire Prevention Day.

There is no cost involved in the program to the people of Tecumseh. It is an effort by the capital stock fire insurance companies to help the public save lives, property values and dollars. The event has never before been sponsored in Tecumseh.

It is felt that the community will derive great benefit from the program. The program will be an attempt at prevention before a cure is necessary. Analysis of the circumstances of and cause of all fires reveal that most of them are preventable or else that the magnitude of their destruction could have been greatly reduced if reasonable prompt and efficient attention had been given to the factor of "good housekeeping" and to the simple fundamental principles of fire safety.

Darrell Lowery Accepts Gold Award

Awards were announced in Detroit at a luncheon during a day-long program of educational and recreational activities for 75 FFA officers and advisors.

Jill Bennington Ties For First Place

Jill Bennington (left) 17, Holloway, Lenawee county and Linda Shetterly, 16, Lake Odessa, Ionia county, racked up the same scores to tie for first place in the clothing judging contest held today during the State 4-H Club Show. Competing for honors at the week-long event being held on the Michigan State University campus, the girls judged cotton dresses, cotton skirts and blouses.

Nazarene Church Scene of Baker-Lawhead Wedding

MRS. EUGENE BAKER

An illuminated cross shown down on the flower and palm banked altar of the Ridgeway Nararene church, Thursday evening when Elaine Joy Lawhead and Merle Eugene Baker were united in marriage. The candlelighted ceremony was performed at 7:30 p.m. by the Rev. George Reader, an uncle of the groom from Georgetown, Ill. who was assisted by the pastor of the local church, the Rev. Fred Belleville. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Lawhead of Russell Road Tecumseh while the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Baker, 9851 Mills-Macon Hwy.

Preceded down the aisle by four attendants and two flower girls, the bride was very lovely in her floor length gown of Chantilly type lace and nylon which was fashioned over satin. The fitted bodice with its tulle yoke and Queen-Ann collar of lace was made with long tapered sleeves, and gleamed with irridescent sequins and seed pearls. Wide panels of lace and tulle alternated to form the skirt. A coronet of pearls and sequins held her fingertip length veil and her cascade bouquet was of white carnations, Pinnocio pompoms and ivy.

Janet Lawhead was her sister's maid of honor, wearing a gown of blue lace and net over taffeta which had a short lace jacket. Her matching headband was sequin embroidered and she carried rubrum lilies combined with blue maline. Dresses, identical in color and style with that of the maid of honor, were worn by the three bridesmaids, Sharon Lawhead, the bride's sister, Miss Carole Loveland and Miss Marilyn Baker, who is a sister of the groom. They also wore blue headbands and carried rubrum lilies.

Joyce Baker of Hudson and Patricia Sorenson of Britt, Iowa, both little cousins of the groom were the flower girls. Their blue taffeta gowns with yolks of embroidered nylon were floor length, their headbands were like those of the other attendants and they carried miniature colonial bouquets in a setting of blue maline.

Elden Lawhead, the best man is a twin brother of the bride and the groom was also attended by Norman Sill of Bristol, Ind., James Reader of Kankakee, Ill. and Floyd Avery of Tecumseh.

Mrs. Francis Frye played a program of appropriate music before the ceremony, and Gerald Barkey of Wyandotte sang, "I Love Life" and "Because." Mr. Barkey also sang "The Lord's Prayer" as the bridal couple knelt at the altar.

Dusty rose lace over taffeta was chosen by the bride's mother for her dress for the occasion and with it she wore blue accessories and a corsage of white carnations with a background of blue velvet leaves.

Mrs. Baker's gown was of peacock blue velvet and her accessories were beige with a corsage of pink carnations and silver leaves.

The 300 wedding guests were entertained immediately after the cermony at the Tecumseh Grange hall where they were received by Mr. and Mrs. Foster Hardesty and registered in the guest book by Mrs. Cloyce Lidster of Clayton. Also receiving were Wilda Kimerer and Loren Avery of Tecumseh and the Misses Kathryn and Delores Lidster of Britton cared for the gifts.

A six-tiered wedding cake, decorated by bells, hearts and flowers which had been made by Mrs. Foster Hardesty, aunt of the bride and groom graced the linen covered table. It was served by Mrs. Leland Fogelsong of Tecumseh and Mrs. Paul Gilman of Tedrow, Ohio while coffee was poured by Mrs. Robert Dick of Holland and punch by Miss Joan Bryant. Mrs. Scott Sill of New Era, Ill. had charge of the groom's cake and Mrs. Lonnie Bryant served the ice cream. Others who assisted at the reception were Mrs. Pearl Myers, Norma Jewell, Marlene DeLisle, Mary Shields, Francis LeBaron, Mrs. Eugene Vaughn, Mrs. Loren Avery and Mrs. Sidney Hathaway.

A light brown tailored suit with beige accessories and a corsage from her bouquet were worn by the bride when the couple left on a trip to Washington, D. C. and other eastern points.

The new Mrs. Baker is a graduate of Tecumseh high school. She attended Comptometer School in Jackson and is employed in the office of Bohn Aluminum in Adrian. Mr. Baker, who graduated from Britton high school and studied at Michigan State University, after serving two years in the U. S. army, is at present engaged in farming.

Two miscellaneous showers were given for Miss Lawhead before her marriage; one by Miss Carole Loveland of Tecumseh and another by Mrs. Harold Baker of Ypsilanti.

Following the rehearsal Wednesday evening the groom's parents entertained the bridal party at lunch.

Thurs. Reception Honors Pearson's

An informal reception Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Pearson honored their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pearson of Concord, New Hampshire. The younger Pearsons were married last December and this is the first visit to Tecumseh of the bride. The house was decorated with flowers from Mrs. Pearson's garden and refreshments were served by the hosts who were assisted by Miss Ann Carson.

Friday evening the Pearsons were entertained in Ann Arbor by Mrs. Pearson's aunt Miss Alice Johnston and later went to Willow Run Airport to meet Gordon Pearson who has been attending I.B.M. school at Kingston, New York.

Vanderpool-Beck Wedding Held Friday, August 31

MRS. ALROY VANDERPOOL

The wedding of Linda Ann Beck and Alroy Vanderpool took place Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the Tecumseh Methodist church, the Rev. Horace L. James performing the double ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Beck of North Adrian Highway and Mr. Vanderpool is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Vanderpool of South Ottawa Street.

Palms, white gladioluses and lighted candelabra decorated the church for the event and pew candelabra were tied with white satin streamers and gladioluses. Preceding and during the ceremony Mrs. Herbert W .Dillon was organist and accompanied Mrs. E. Samuel Beck of Toledo, a cousin of the bride, as she sang "Because," "I Love Thee" and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar. Mr. Beck gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride was lovely in a Vene original waltz length gown of embroidered nylon tulle over starched net, styled with square neckline, short sleeves and tiered hoop skirt, worn with matching mitts. Her veil of very fine illusion was suspended from a tricorn headpiece embroidered with pearls and sequins. She carried a Cascade bouquet of eucharis lilies, pinnochios and white pompoms edged with ivy.

Her sister, Mrs. Thomas Kampmueller of Tecumseh, was her matron of honor and bridesmaids were Betty Barton and Wilma Bumpus of Tecumseh and Luella Bishop of Ridgeway. All wore gowns of coral chystalette over taffeta, fashioned with scoop neckline, cowl back, short sleeves and dropped waistline with full hoop skirt. White tulle picture hats and matching mitts completed their costume and each wore pearl earrings, the gift from the bride. Mrs. Kampmueller carried chartreuse fuji mums centered with coral tulle edged with white shadow leaves; the bridesmaids carried similar bouquets of cream fugi mums with tufts of coral net and pale green leaves. Paula Lynn Mohr of Archbold, Ohio was flower girl and wore a white pleated nylon lace over ice blue with matching hat and mitts and carried a Colonial bouquet.

David Vanderpool attended his brother as best man; little Steven Kampmuller, nephew of the bride in a blue Eton suit, was ringbearer, and ushers were Randall Beck, brother of the bride, Albert Hart of Toledo and Joe Gregory. All were in blue with white boutonierres.

After the ceremony a reception for nearly 300 guests was held in the church social rooms and was in charge of the Mary Foster Circle. Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hamilton were hosts and were assisted in the receiving line by Mrs. Douglas Aylesworth. Katherine Krieger of Pettisville, Ohio, cousin of the bride, registered the guests who came from Bryan, Defiance, Archbold, West Unity, Pettisville, Wauseon, Toledo and Port Clinton, Ohio and Jackson, Plymouth, Flint, Alma, Dearborn, Detroit, Adrian, Brooklyn and Clayton. Mrs. Albert Hart of Toledo and Mrs. David Vanderpool cut the bride's cake and Marcia Bashore and Mary Pat McCann cut the groom's cake. Mrs. Frank Wilson of West Unity served coffee; Shirley Larned served punch and Michael Vanderpool of Jackson, nephew ,of the bride groom, had charge of the gift table. A feature of the reception was the lighting of a 'memory candle' by the bride before cutting the cakes; this custom to be repeated on each wedding anniversary. Garden flowers and wedding bells decorated the reception rooms and the candle-lighted bride's table was centered with a five-tiered wedding cake encircled with palms and ivy.

Mrs. Beck, for her daughter's wedding, wore mauve lace with black accessories and a shoulder corsage of pink cymbidium orchids; Mrs. Vanderpool wore milk jersey with matching hat and off-white accessories and a similar corsage of green cymbidiums. For traveling the bride wore a charcoal sheath gown with matching jacket and avocado accessories. After a short trip they will make their home at 515 West Chicago Blvd.

The bride graduated in June 1956 and Mr. Vanderpool in 1954 from Tecumseh high school. He also attended Albion College. Both are now employed by Tecumseh Products Company and Mr. Vanderpool expects to continue his studies in February.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith Celebrate 25th Anniversary

Observing the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Frank K. Smith entertained a large group of their friends at dinner Saturday evening at the Tecumseh Country Club. Silver was the predominating theme in the decorations of the club, which never looked more beautiful.

Silver bells hung from the chandeliers, silver candles based in clusters of pale pink Fuji mums, silvery pink roses and tiny white pompoms stretched the length of the linen covered tables, interspersed with low silver containers of the same flowers and silver numerals of 25. Swags of silver grapes accented the modernistic arrangements of pink gladioli and white Fuji chrysanthemums on the mantle and placed about the room.

The six tiered silver anniversary cake which was flanked by two heart shaped cakes stood on a serving table whose pleated linen cloth was garlanded with pale pink and silver ribbons.

Strolling musicians entertained the guests during dinner and Cal Damon's seven piece orchestra furnished music for dancing. At the close of the dinner an impromptu skit, based on "This is Your Life" and including several of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Smith was presented by Mrs. Robert Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith, who have made their home in Tecumseh for the past 21 years were married in Bryan, Ohio. They are the parents of one son, Kirk Smith of Tecumseh and Miami, Fla. and a daughter, Jane, a student at the University of Miami at Coral Gables, Florida.

James Stewart, Doris Day Score In Suspenseful Hitchcock Chiller

Alfred Hitchcock, celebrated producer-director, has an incredible record of casting his male and female leads with teams that have caught the public fancy. Over the years, the master of the suspense tale has shown uncanny judgment in pairing stars whose preformances have become treasured memories.

The well-remembered "Rebecca" of some fifteen years ago brought together Laurance Olivier and Joan Fontaine in what became one of the motion picture's most phenomenally popular couplings. Since then Hitchcock has hit the entertainment jackpot with Miss Fontaine and Cary Grant in "Suspicion;" !Ingrid Bergman and Gregory Pack in "Spellbound;" Grace Kelly and Ray Milland in "Dial M For Murder;" Miss Kelly and James Stewart in "Rear Window;" and Miss Kelly and Cary Grant in "To Catch A Thief"—to name only a few.

The newest of Hitchcock's teams is perhaps even more of a triumph. His latest tale of danger and suspense, "The Man Who Knew Too Much," stars James Stewart and Doris Day, and while Stewart has done every type of role, Miss Day has only lately begun to move away from the musical comedy parts that brought her to the top. As Stewart's wife in a tension-packed story that revolves around the assassination of a prime minister in London's Albert Hall, she gives her first fully dramatic performance, and her notices are all raves.

The VistaVision, Technicolor thriller, arriving Sept. 4, 5, 6 at the Strand Theatre, was filmed on location in Marrakech, French Morocco, and in London. Judging by the excitement it has already caused, it bids fair to establish Hitchcock's newest team as ranking with his greatest.

Channel Project to Start Soon

DETROIT — The announcement has been made by Colonel Peter C. Hyzer, District Engineer, Detroit District, Corps of Engineers, U. S Army, that his office has advertised for bids on dredging work to be done in the Amherstburg Channel of the Detroit River, the first phase in the deepening of the Great Lakes Connecting Channels project.

The site of the work will be in the Amherstburg Channel, the lower portion of the Detroit River, opposite the City of Amherstburg, Ontario and approximately 15 miles downstream from the foot of Woodward Avenue in the City of Detroit, Michigan. The Amherstburg Channel includes Ballards Reef Channel below its junction with the upper Livingstone Channel, Limekiln Crossing, Amherstburg Reach, Hackett Range, and Bar Point Range, it its junction with the easterly line of the lower Livingstone Channel. The entire work area is located in Canadian waters. Conditions for working in Canadian waters are being negotiated between the U. S. and Canadian Governments.

The Great Lakes Connecting Channels Project, of which the Amherstburg Channel work being the first phase, authorizes the Army's Corps of Engineers to deepen the Channels between the upper lakes and make other improvements in connection with modernizing the 1,200-mile Great Lakes navigation system, one of the world's busiest and most vital waterways.

The $150 million dollar project, is designed to accommodate the larger, faster and more economical ore and other bulk carriers now being added to the Great Lakes fleet. The 27.5 foot minimum depths, to which the channels will be dredged, will also accommodate ocean vessels of any size entering the lakes via the St. Lawrence Seaway, and enable lake ports west of Toledo, Ohio to develop fully their opportunities for expanding foreign trade. Without the Connecting Channels project the full benefits of the Seaway project could not be extended west of Lake Erie, because of navigation bottlenecks.

The channels to be deepened in the Great Lakes include; the Detroit River, Lake St. Clair and the St. Clair River, connecting Lakes Erie and Huron, and the St. Marys River, connecting Lakes Huron and Superior.

The deepening of the Great Lakes Connecting Channels presents a construction job of the highest magnitude. It is scheduled for completion in 1962, although shipping will begin enjoying partial benefits from the deepening channels at an earlier date, as portions of the work are completed.

For the most part, the construction job embraces removel of 44,000,000 cubic yards of earth and rock, most of which must be dredged in busy channels while at the same time preserving the flow of vessel traffic.

Annual Old Car Festival to Be Held September 8

DEARBORN, Mich. — A 1902 Holsman auto buggy with rope drive, a 1907 Northern built by pioneer Charles B. King, a 1925 Cunningham phaeton that cost $7,500 new, a 1916 Paige touring car, similar to the first automobile to climb Pike's Peak . . .

These and more than 200 other oldtime automobiles will wheeze around in a manner reminiscent of their heydays at the Sixth Annual Old Car Festival at Greenfield Village in Dearborn on Saturday, September 8.

All entries are owned by members of the Veteran Motor Car Club of America, the Horseless Carriage Club and the Antique Car Club of America.

A honking, 10-mile-an-hour parade through the winding streets of Greenfield Village at noon will start the affair. The route will take the cars over old cobblestone roads, over a covered bridge and past historic homes and workshops. The procession will be led by a bright red, two-cylinder 1903 Ford, recently restored by the Henry Ford Museum staff. Drivers and passengers will be in period costumes.

The silent-movie Keystone cops will be on hand to control the steady stream of old cars. Horse-drawn carriages, a Greenfield Village trademark, will be shunted off main thoroughfares for the day.

Most of the old autos will take part in contests through the afternoon. They include cranking, obstacle race, towing, coasting, balancing, drag race and slow driving.

Auto industry executives, automotive writers and automotive pioneers will serve as judges to select cars most accurately restored. Six trophies will be awarded—a first, second and third for cars 1916 and older; and the same for cars 1917 through 1925. A grand champion also will be named.

Jack White will be master of ceremonies.

Before and after the judging and contests, the cars will be on display on the village green, the old-time community gathering place bordered by a general store, town hall, Clinton, Inn, court house and [illegible]

The Henry Ford Museum's 1917 calliope, once used by the John Robinson Circus, and Bill Finzel's band will furnish music throughout the day.

The events are scheduled to conclude at 4:30 p.m.

U. of M. Officials Appeal For Room

With the highest enrollment in its history bearing down on its campus in two weeks, the University of Michigan has issued an appeal to homeowners in Ann Arbor and surrounding communities to contact U-M officials if they have space for rent.

An increase in foreign students and U. S. Government sponsored students has resulted in greater housing pressure than expected, according to Peter A. Ostafin, assistant dean of men. Mostly graduate students of older age, these students do not fit into the U-M's housing control.

Ostafin points out that the pressure is greatest in the fall term and commitments of space need not extend beyond the end of January.

Franchised new car dealers announce that the best place to buy a USED CAR is behind the wheel

To the citizens of Tecumseh

For years the franchised new car dealers of this community have backed every used car sale with a warranty based on Quality, Dependability, and Service. We believe this method of doing business has contributed much to the effort of making the economics of our community sound.

We are extending you an invitation to come in and drive the Used Car of your choice. We know, from years of experience, that "The Best Place To Buy A Used Car Is Behind The Wheel."

All over the nation on September 6, 7, and 8, the new car dealers of America are taking part in "Operation Demonstration" to prove beyond a doubt that a used car buy from a new car dealer is new, and will always be, a good one, a sound one, a dependable one.

SCIENCE IN YOUR LIFE

Backwoods Surgeon

The modern surgeon who invents a radical new operating technique may fear that it won't be successful — but he's in no danger of being lynched if it isn't. The man who performed the world's first operation to remove a tumor from an ovary, however, had reason to fear precisely that.

The rope was ready for Ephraim McDowell that day in 1809. In the backwoods of Kentucky, a mob of more than a hundred frontiersmen battered at his door while he was working inside and accused him of trying to murder his patient. The dramatic story is told in Pfizer Spectrum, magazine for doctors.

The operation was performed in the small town of Danville, to which the patient was carried on horseback from her wilderness home 60 miles away. Lying on a plain wooden table under the sedative effect of a few opium pills, the woman sang hymns in a quavering voice while McDowell and two assistants operated.

The operation, as both surgeon and patient knew, was extremely dangerous. Nevertheless, McDowell managed to remove the tumor and close the incision with complete success. The mob outside, mercurial in temper as most mobs are, cheered when it heard the news.

The patient lived to be 78 years old.

Albion College To Start Classes Monday, Sept. 16

Albion college will open its 1956 fall semester Sunday afternoon, September 16, at 4 p.m. with a convocation in the Kresge gymnasium for approximately 450 incoming freshmen and transfer students together with their parents. A complimentary picnic supper will immediately follow in Baldwin hall.

Of special interest to the entire Albion student body this year will be three new students from other lands whose year of study at Albion has been made possible by the student body. As it did last year, the college's Campus Religious Council, working through a special committee, has obtained modest scholarships from the college for them as well as funds from various college organizations for their living expenses and tuition.

Albion freshman women will this year occupy the recently dedicated East and West halls on the women's residence campus, where they will also use the new Dorothy McVittie Kresge dining hall. These three new buildings, erected at a cost of over one and a quarter million dollars, are the gift of the Kresge Foundation.

Many events have been scheduled for the incoming students' orientation program. Included among other activities are the Y-sponsored Frosh Frolic Monday evening, September 17, in Baldwin Hall; the Tuesday evening reception at Baldwin hall by President and Mrs. W. W. Whitehouse and the college faculty; and the Sunday evening Twilight Assembly at the Victory Park Band Shell, September 23.

Rural Defense Council to Report

Progress in the development of a national rural civil defense program will be reviewed by farm leaders and representatives of national organizations during a meeting at Federal Civil Defense Administration headquarters in Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 13-14.

The review will be made by the 25-member National Advisory Council on Rural Civil Defense, formed last December to advise FCDA of the development, implementation and distribution of practical plans for organization of civil defense in non-urban areas.

The Council plans to discuss methods of assisting county and local governments in developing civil defense leadership. Other discussion items will include civil defense stockpiling of food, fuel and agricultural essentials; the agreement between FCDA and the Department of Agriculture for civil defense activities of both agencies in rural counties; types of research on which operational decisions can be made in the field of rural civil defense; the role of youth organizations and rural public schools in civil defense; and the training of volunteers for rural civil defense.

The Council also will consider continuity of agricultural production in the event of an enemy attack, the capability of delivering farm-produced food to improvised points of distribution in times of emergency, the need for rural areas to serve as reception centers for large groups of evacuees and requirements for furnishing some elements of mobile support to attack areas.

FOOTBALL

Tecumseh's chances are hurt this year by the lack of depth at certain positions such as center and left halfback. The task of re-building Tecumseh's football team has just started with 113 out for football. Coach Breniff says that in 2 years, Tecumseh will be, real tough.

He says' that this years team is a TEAM. They have a true desire, determination and love for the game of football. With all of these ingredients, they could go all of the way.

Link Reports . . . .

A very close match Monday ended on the 18th green with Bigham and Bishop taking a 1 up margin over Smith and Addington. The match was well played with plenty of excitement for the spectators. Thirteen birdies and 2 eagles were collected by the foursome. Tuesday morning, Smith, Addington and Bigham left for the Rubber City opener at Akron, Ohio which starts this week Thursday, September 6 and runs through the 9th. These boys travel from tournament to tournament in trailers.

Kirk Smith, 21, is the youngest pro on the pro circuit playing out of Tecumseh Country Club.

Don Addington, 26, married, and has a baby girl, played the circuit 1.5 years, served 2 years in the Air Force, and is now playing out of Tecumseh.

George Bigham, 28, has been on tour 2 years. He served in the armed forces 2 years. He is married.

Leo Bishop is the golf Professional and greens superintendent at Tecumseh Country Club.

The special match followed a clinic in which each pro demonstrated different shots. Smith and Addington teamed against Bigham and Bishop. Bingham and Bishop 65, Smith and Addington 66.

EDITOR'S CORNER

actions in themselves. Progress comes with originality and newness. Conformity only perpetuates old ideas and dulls the mind to the point where new ones do not appear.

The desire to let someone be responsible for you rather than be responsible yourself smacks of communism, fascism and all of the other totalitarian isms. It is the outward symbol of a growing mass man from which responsible democratic government is impossible. Many of the subjugated people of the world got into that position by the very fact that they wanted someone else to do the worrying and take the responsibility which in turn means dominate them.

Industrial Clinic To Be Held September 11-12-13

Detroit, Mich.—A three-day industrial clinic aimed at increasing Michigan's share of defense contracts will be staged by the Armed Forces in Detroit's Veteran's Memorial Building Sept. 11-13, it was announced today.

The clinic will be a joint effort by 13 industrial, labor, government problems and expand state industries that have defense potential.

The clinic will be conducted by the Department of Defense in cooperation with the Departments of Commerce and Labor and the Small Business Administration. Michigan sponsors include the City of Detroit, Detroit Board of Commerce, Michigan CIO Council, Michigan Department of Economic Development, Michigan Employment Security Commisison, Michigan Federation of Labor, Michigan Manufacturer's Association, State of Michigan and Wayne County.

Army, Navy and Air Force procurement officers, with an eye to further diversification of defense industries, are scheduled to brief state manufacturers on opportunities in aircraft, guided missile and electronics production, much of which now is concentrated on the west coast.

Exhibits on sub-contract items that can be manufactured by Michigan firms will be sponsored by major prime government contractors throughout the nation.

Approximately 15,000 Michigan manufacturers have been invited to attend the clinic, but Max Horton, Director of the Michigan Security Commission, said the clinic should be of "special interest" to firms in areas having unemployment problems.

Horton singled out the nine Michigan sities designated as substantial labor surplus areas—Metropolitan Detroit, Flint, Adrian, Iron Mountain, Lansing, Marquette, Monroe, Muskegon and Port Huron.

Forest Abner Completes Oil Burner Training

Val Spangler Finishes 16th In Nat'l Hearst Tournament

Val Spangler, 17 year old Tecumseh youth, who has been a caddy at the Tecumseh Country club for several years, has just returned from a week of golf in Chicago.

In the finals of the National Hearst Tournament he finished 16th with a 72 hole total of 316. There was a field of 3000 boys when the state tournament started early in August.

Val, who was awarded the Evans scholarship last August, then went to Medinah, Ill. for the 5th annual summer outing and gold tournament of the Evans' scholarship organizaton. There he won the individual championship by firing a 41-33, 74 against a par of 37-35, 72 to lead the field of 306 Evans Scholars representing eight midwestern Universities.

He will leave Sept. 13 for the University of Michigan where he will take electrical engineering.

Helzerman Wins Championship

Ralph Helzerman Jr. son of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Helzerman returned from a two day Championship Target Tournament in Jackson, Tuesday, bringing another archery championship with him. He won the state championship in Target Archery in the Intermediate Class. Ralph had already won the state championship in Field Archery, when that tournament was held recently at the Tecumseh Conservation Club. This latest award makes him tops in his age group.

Protect Your S S Average Income

Your Social Security Benefits are based on the average monthly income you earned, and reported to the Social Security Administration.

Periods of extended illness, wherein you had no income, will be averaged with your periods of high income to reduce your social security benefits, unless you take proper action now.

If a disability occurred that prevented your working for an indefinite period of time, after you had been regularly employed in work covered by social security, get in touch with your nearest social security office. They will get the machinery working to protect your average monthly income by seeing to it that the period of illness is not counted in averaging your benefits.

Applications for a "wage freeze" will be retroactive to the time the disability started, if applied for, before June 1957. Thereafter the freeze can not go back more than one year.

Joseph Yerkes Found Dead In His Apartment

Joseph Yerkes, 25, resident of Tecumseh for the past two weeks, was found dead Thursday in his apartment on North Ottawa Street. Local officer Barnes entered the house at the request of Maurice Rowley, a brother-in-law from Adrian. He found Mr. Yerkes dead.

Coroner Edward Braun of Adrian was called and ruled the death a suicide. The coroner said an inquest was not planned.

Joseph Yerkes was employed for the past two weeks at the Haeussler Wood Products Co. He had been undergoing medical treatment in Ann Arbor for the last two months. He is survived by his widow, Patricia; two daughters, Patty Joe and Paula; a sister, Mrs. Maurice Rowley of Adrian. Funeral services will be Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Everiss Funeral Home with Rev. Raymond Taylor officiating. Burial will be in Lenawee Hills Memorial Cemetery.

Donations Need Not Be Cash

There is a fortune hidden in many of our attics today.

The Internal Revenue Code provides that contributions to a recognized charity do not have to be made in cash in order to be fully deductible. The law states very specifically that the fair market value of property given to a recognized charity is deductible just as if the gift were made in cash.

Items in your attic that may be useless to you, may have a real value to many charities. The Salvation Army, Veteran's Rehabilitation Centers and most recognized charities urgently need these articles of used clothing, furniture or toys.

Ask for, and hold on to the receipts for these articles, they are as good as a cancelled check to a recognized charity in computing your income tax.

Accident Facts by Safety Council

In 26 out of every 100 traffic fatalities last year, a driver or an adult pedestrian had been drinking.

These figures have just been released by the National Safety Council in its 1956 edition of "Accident Facts."

Not counting pedestrian, the Council figures show a steady increase in the proportion of drinking drivers involved in fatal accidents. In 1953 drinking drivers figured in 18 out of every 100 fatalities. In 1954 the proportion jumped to 20 out of every 100, last year it was 22 out of 100.

Council officials are the first to call these figures conservative. The percentages are based on reports from only 20 states, and the driver's condition is not stated in 27 per cent of the cases. Also there is a wide variation in the state report forms and no uniformity on a definition of "drinking driver."

Devils Lake Yacht Club Regatta September 15-16

One of the biggest invitational regattas of the Devils Lake Yacht Club is on tap Sept. 15 and 16 with more than 80 sailboats scheduled to answer the starting cannons. The 13th annual such event, three races are scheduled during the two-day outing.

The Lenawee get-together is the last official meeting of the Michigan district sailboat racing season. Invitations have been mailed to 150 members of the racing fraternity, including skippers in Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. Dr. Keith Whitehouse of Morenci, Devils lake fleet captain, Kenneth Kennedy of Marshall, last year's skipper, and Barney Crittenden of Hudson, are co-chairmen of the event.

Eight classes of boats will fill their sails over the three-mile triangular course. The entries will start by classes at five-minute intervals. There are two races Saturday ,one in the morning and another in the afternoon, and the final go is Sunday morning. Luncheons for captains and crews are planned both noons and a Skipper's Ball is on the docket Saturday night. Music for dancing will be provided by the "Michigan District Philharmonic," a six-piece orchestra of sailors.

Trophies will be awarded the winners of first, second and third places in all classes. Visitors are welcome to view the races either from boats or from the yacht club grounds.

A MEMORY OF THE 1881 FOREST FIRES

If chairs could talk, this one would stand proudly on its wobbly old legs and tell many hair-raising tales about the Michigan Forest Fires (1881) which claimed 300 lives. The chair was given to a family living in the tip of the Thumb Area of Michigan by the Red Cross in its first official disaster operation. It was presented to the Tuscola County Chapter, Mich., in 1950 as a historical reminder of the Michigan disaster and has its final resting place in the National Red Cross Museum in Washington, D. C. To the left of chair is Raymond T. Schaeffer, assistant to the President of the American National Red Cross, and at right is Gordon O. Stone, an official with the Federal Civil Defense Administration, Battle Creek, Michigan.

IF THE TIGERS are to return to first division respectability next season, help is needed either from the farm system or in the form of trades.

Trading can bolster a club substantially if the club is lucky enough to get what it needs without giving up a key player in return. Too frequently, however, one position must be weakened to strengthen another.

Much more preferable is the development of capable material in the farmlands.

Thus the Tigers look to their number one farm club, Charleston, for help in the next campaign. The pickings aren't exactly heavy but there might be just enough ripe fruit on the vine to satisfy the Bengals' hunger.

Pitchers Needed

Detroit is hungriest for pitchers, and it so happens that a couple of young left-handers are doing a fine job with the sixth-place club in the Class AAA American Association.

Hal Woodeschick, a 6-foot-3, 200-pounder, is the possessor of a highly respectable 9-and-4 record as of this writing. Just 21 years old, he won his last five in a row and his record might be even more impressive had he not been out for a month with a bad elbow.

Gene "Twinkle" Host, who was looked over by the Tigers last spring, owns a 12-12 record and his fast ball has looked good. A strong thrower, he stands 5 feet, 9 inches and weighs 195 pounds.

Most Promising

Their receiver is Charlie Lau, probably the most promising player on the Charleston team, according to farm director Johnny McHale.

His .268 batting average is deceptive, reports McHale, because Lau got a bad start after jumping from a Class B team and most of his hitting has been achieved in the last two months.

The former Romulus schoolboy's timely hitting has been an important factor in Charleston's surge from the basement and his 10 home runs give promise of progressively greater power at the plate.

Duke Maas, who had trouble winning for the Tigers, is thriving since his return to the farm. He has a 4-1 record there.

Showing Improvement

Larry Donovan, the 22-year-old redhead from Ionia, is likewise doing well while on option to Buffalo. As of now, he's won 9 as against 5 defeats.

Reno Bertoia, whom the Tigers sent out for seasoning once his bonus probation had expired, is showing fine improvement at Charleston. Playing third base, he's hitting .289 but many of these hits have been when they were needed most, with men on base.

Harry Byrd, whom the Tigers acquired in the trade that sent Jim Delsing to Chicago, is making a spirited bid to return to the major leagues. His Charleston record so far reads 7-and-6.

Further down in the farms, at teams like Augusta, Idaho Falls and Valdosta, players who may someday wear Tiger livery are coming along impressively. But they're several years away yet.

If immediate help is forthcoming, it must come from Charleston.

Applications for permits for Michigan's proposed special deer seasons are scheduled for distribution to hunters after September 15.

The applications, together with detailed information on regulations and areas, can be obtained after that date from license dealers or from Conservation Department district headquarters and other selected field offices.

Violation of state conservation laws can have costly consequences.

Conservation law convictions reported last week resulted in an average penalty of more than $22 for each of 54 violators. The group was ordered to pay $806 in fines and $421 in court costs in justice courts throughout the state.

Fines assessed by justices go to the library fund in the county where the lawbreaker is convicted.

Several of the convictions were for possession of loaded firearms in automobiles or in game areas during closed seasons.

Careless operation of motorboats brought penalties to two other persons, including a Detorit resident who was ordered to pay $35 in fines and court costs in an Ann Arbor justice court.

Illegal possession of deer cost an Iron River resident $107 in fines and costs in an Iron River justice court.

Reports from Chippewa county indicate the eastern portion of the upper peninsula has its share of wildlife species relatively scarce in Michigan.

Conservation officer Edward Dorie of Strongs recently sighted a pair of timber wolves in the Sweiger Creek area of Chippewa county. Dorie said he had observed wolves in the same area on three other occasions in the last several years. Limited numbers of timber wolves still roam the more remote areas of the U.P.

---

Otters generally are disliked by fishermen because of the animal's reputation as a fish-killer. At least one otter gives indication that this unsavory reputation is more fiction than fact.

The otter, a five-month-old female ward of the Conservation Department, doesn't like fish!

Dr. S. C. Whitlock, assistant chief of the Department's game division, said the animal will eat fish only if no other food is available. The otter even prefers bread and milk to fish, but her favorite dish is hamburger.

The type of fish doesn't seem to matter either. The otter has turned up her nose at mackeral, salmon, sardines, smelt and other varieties.

Whitlock has been studying the habits of the otter since the animal was turned over to the Conservation Department in April, after being caught by a dog on a farm near Mio.

The U. S. Forest Service has announced publication of a new booklet which gives in "nontechnical terms" a picture of the nation's timber situation today, the probable demands on forests in the future, and the country's ability to meet these needs.

The booklet, "Timber and People," places particular emphasis on the part farmers and small-woodland owners play in the nation's future timber supply.

—In Washington

With

Clinton Davidson

If you like to go to a county fair you would have enjoyed the Republican National Convention in San Francisco. Everybody was in a holiday mood and there was enough excitement to give you a real thrill.

You would have gotten the impression that the Republican Party didn't have a worry in the world. It was in San Francisco to whoop it up at a sort of family reunion and, incidentally, nominate Dwight D. Eisenhower for another four years in Washington.

Cow Palace, where delegates assembled to sing, cheer and vote, had all the gaiety of Midway at a county fair. Banners, flags, bands and parades added to the festive atmosphere. The contrast between that and the Democrats at Chicago was startling.

The Democrats were taking their politics in dead earnest. They had been out of power in Washington for four years, for the first time since the 1932 convention. They were so eager to do battle that they even fought among themselves.

In San Francisco it was different. You got the impression that Republicans regard the election in November as a mere formality. They were very pleased with the way they have been running the Federal government the past four years, and certain that most voters feel the same way.

Joseph W. Martin, Jr., minority leader of the House, told us that "for more than 40 years it has been my privilege to serve the American people in public life. Never before has the faith and hope of our people been directed more intently upon the Republicans."

For all of the optimism and gaiety it was a well-organized, and efficiently run convention. The expression most frequently used to describe the convention was "it's going just like clockwork." And it was, too.

The women may have had something to do about things being both gay and orderly. Women delegates and party officers played a far greater part in the conventions this year than ever before. In 1900 only one woman was a delegate to one of the conventions, but this year the same convention had 555 women delegates and alternates.

Mrs. Carroll D. Kearns, President of the National Federation of Republican Women, was one of the outstanding personalities of the convention. Referring to the spirit of aggressive optimisim that prevailed, Mrs. Kearns told us "the eyes and ears of the world are directed to this gathering. It is the American people themselves who give real significance to the accomplishments of this convention."

Republicans put on their Sunday manners for the whole country to watch over television, and for news photographers and newsmen. I was especially attracted by the 20-foot high platforms on which cameramen were perched. The long camera lenses looked like stovepipes. Some of them were 4 and 5 feet long. Cameramen sent down film and received replacements by means of a canvas bag on a rope.

There was little of the suspense that prevailed at Chicago; no frantic campaigning by managers for different candidates; no bargaining for the votes of delegates. Everybody knew in advance whom they would nominate. They whooped it up for Eisenhower and Richard Nixon, but that was what they came to San Francisco for.

International Problems

How strong are the Russians — and how adequate are this country's defense establishment and security program? These enormously important questions have been given an answer by our ranking military man — Admiral Arthur W. Radford, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The Admiral's views were presented to a Senate subcommittee and excerpts were released for publication at the beginning of August.

Admiral Radford pointed out that the threat to our security consists of the policies and power of the Soviet Union — and that the problem is how to best meet this threat "without undermining our fundamental values and institutions." Moreover, the situation is vastly complicated by the fact that the threat is not solely a military one — it also involves economic, psychological, and subversive programs. Thus, "we must be constantly prepared and remain sufficiently flexible to counter all of these threats simultaneously."

Still another difficulty faced by the Defense Department, Admiral Radford went on, lies in "gearing production schedules to anticipated obsolescence." The nuclean, aeronautical and electronic sciences wait for no man. Revolutionary changes and developments may take place almost overnight. Thus, the question of obsolescence weighs heavily in deciding how many weapons of any particular type should be produced.

In view of all this, Admiral Radford said, "I believe that at the present time and under present world conditions the over-all defense program is a sound one."

Then, in answer to questioning by subcommittee members, Admiral Radford dealt with various phases of that program. He does not, for instance, believe that guided missiles will drastically change the picture for a considerable time to come. He opposes the proposal that it is time to abolish the present military services and replace them with a single service and a single uniform. As he put it, "We could all go in the same uniform and we would still have compartmentation within this single uniform."

He does believe that modern weapons make it possible for a nation to have powerful deterrents with smaller forces than in the past — and that we have such deterrents and will have still more effective ones in the future. He feels that the North Koreans would not have attacked South Korea in 1950 if we had had even one little combat unit on the 38th parallel — for the reason that they would have known that war with us would follow. And, he reasons, our potential enemies are not likely to take warlike steps now if they know that U. S. retaliation would be inevitable. In this connection, he feels that Congress should give advance authority — "unmistakable notice to the whole world" — for U. S. military action if aggressors threaten our national and international interests.

Finally, Admiral Radford touched on Russian strength. Here he said: "There is good reason to believe that we normally overestimate Communist capabilities in almost every respect . . . There has been an almost hysterical assumption of great capabilities on the part of the Communists, some of which, in my opinion, acutally do not exist." The sum of his testimony was simply that the enemy capabilities are watched and evaluated with extreme care and thoroughness — and that our defense program meets the present needs of this nation.

Concrete Durability

Michigan's oldest concrete pavement has passed its 50th birthday and still is going strong.

Eleven blocks of municipal streets in the village of Calumet, built in 1906, still have their original surface exposed and are continuing to carry traffic after half a century of wear and weathering.

The 50th anniversary was celebrated Aug. 23 at a civic celebration in Calumet attended by municipal officials and community leaders. N. F. Kaiser, Sr., of Houghton, who was Calumet village clerk in 1906, joined in the celebration.

The contractor for the 1906 paving proved more than conservative in agreeing to do the work. He guaranteed the concrete streets would last five years, a safe estimate since the streets already have lasted 10 times that warranty.

The Calumet concrete street paving was completed three full years before the nation's first mile of concrete highway was constructed in Wayne county in 1906. Calumet selected concrete after early tests with brick and creosoted wood blocks proved too costly to maintain.

Calumet paid $1.74 per square yard or about one-half of present-day costs.

Tecumseh BOOK SHELVES Library

BOOKLIST

New Fiction

"The Unquiet Spirit," Steen, M.
Here is an intriguing tale of the supernatural; definitely not a book to read in a lonely house.

"Old Yeller," Gipson, F.
An eloquently simple story of a boy, and his dog in the Texas hill country.

"Roll Shenandoah," Lancaster, B.

"Executive Suite," Hawley, C.
A gripping novel of the business world.

"Speak to the Winds," Moore, R.
In this book you smell forests; you feel the ocean winds and the salt spray; and you meet some unforgetable characters.

"The Half-Crown House," Ashton, H.
This is the story of an English country-manor house; but mostly it is the story of the vivid people who lived there.

"The Bradford Story," Walden, A.
A tense and dramatic novel of one man's struggle to preserve his true identity.

Non-Fiction

"Arthritis and Common Sense," Alexander, D.
Gives a complete outline of an inexpensive correctice diet, including illustrations and menus.

"Quackery in the Public Schools," Lynd, A.
A timely, controversial book by a stanch friend of education.

"Cheerleading," Loken, N.
High school and college students will welcome this as a complete and authoritative volume on the subject.

Realty Views

"A friend said to look you up," said an attractive young newcomer, Mrs. Morliss. "She said you'd find the right home for us."

Before long, Mrs. Morliss expressed an interest in a nice home near Patterson School. This was, to her, the preferred location. She asked me to show it to her husband that evening.

Mr. Morliss liked the house, too.

"It's okay," he said, "can we get a large loan? I only have $1,200 to put down."

"No," I replied, "that won't quite work on today's tight mortgage market. Do you have any other assets available?"

"Yes," he said, "we own a small house here. We rented it when we left four years ago. Now that we've returned, it isn't adequate. But we could trade in our equity in that home. It amounts to nearly $3,000."

"That might work," I replied. "The house you want is clear of indebtedness, so the owners might consider such a trade."

They accepted.

When I phoned Mrs. Morliss to tell her the good news she said, "We certainly want to thank you. You've helped us solve a major problem. Believe me, we'll certainly recommend your firm to our friends."

A message from Ralph Hodges, 'Your Pharmacist'

PREVENTIVE DENTISTRY is now the goal of the Dental profession. Your Dentist judges his success by how many of your teeth he can save for you.

WHEN YOU VISIT YOUR DENTIST regularly you give him the opportunity to prevent troubles. Cavities are filled painlessly before they begin to ache. Gums are observed for possible recession, or infection, and treated when necessary.

YOUR MODERN DENTIST often prescribes special vitamin and mineral combinations that fortify your teeth, or one of the new medicines that will relieve those subject to nervous tension.

HIS DENTAL JOURNALS keep him informed about new techniques, just as our drug journals report to us. Your Dentist is an important member of the "Health Team" that is helping you to enjoy life more. Should he wish to prescribe any medication, or recommend any special dental-aids, please tell him that we will be glad to carefully follow his instructions.

Mars to Draw to Its Closest Point

ANN ARBOR — Mars will draw closer to the Earth than it has been in 32 years around midnight tonight, University of Michigan astronomer Hazel M. Losh declares. It will be a mere distance of 35 million miles away.

Because of this year's relatively close approach, elaborate plans are currently under way for a detailed study of Mars, which will appear as a bright reddish object.

September also brings the official beginning of autumn and the season when night becomes longer than day. This year the opening will take place on Saturday evening, September 22 at 8:36, according to the astronomer.

"Autumn will be a little over eighteen hours earlier than last year," Professor Losh continues. This is because of the leap year day in February.

A "highlight" of September will be the Harvest Moon. "The full moon of September 19 will be the Harvest Moon of this year," the professor points out.

The peculiarity of this moon, as distinguished from other occasions when the moon is near full phase, is a slight delay in rising for several nights in succession. "Due to this small retardation," Professor Losh says, "the evenings at harvest time are well supplied with moonlight and attract much attention."

Another point of interest will be the Great Nebula of the Andromeda constellation, known since the tenth century. Located above the third star in the row of Andromeda, the Nebula is now an object of intensive study by the world's largest telescopes.

This faint wisp of light is almost inconceivable in size and distance, being the most distant object that the unaided eye can perceive, about one and one-half million light-years from us.

"Modern research shows this Nebula to be a universe or galaxy like ours, similar to our own Milky Way," Professor Losh explains. Like our system, it may contain many billions of stars or suns, interspersed with nebulous material and dust."

Intestional Flu Will Be Battled by Scientists

The "24-hour intestinal flu" which sweeps through hundreds of communities each year is going under the microscope at the Michigan Department of Health laboratories in a far-reaching study financed, in part, by the U. S. Public Health Service.

The health department today reported that a federal grant of $20,596 has already been received for the first year of a five-year research project on this widespread diarrheal disease.

Although most cases of this form of diarrhea last only for 24 or 48 hours, health department investigators point out that the disease often reaches epidemic proportions, reducing manhours on the job, cutting production and piling up medical costs.

The scientists will seek to screen out and characterize tiny virus organisms which are believed to cause the flu-like disease.

In their attempt to isolate the particular viruses which may be involved, the Michigan team will study blood and stool specimens collected from persons ill with diarrhea.

These specimens will be tested, filtered, screened for known virus families and finally used in complicated feeding experiments with human volunteers, whose contribution will be to prove whether the isolated viruses actually will cause diarrhea when spread from one person to another.

If the health department scientists succeed in identifying virus causes of diarrhea, the disease will then be more vulnerable to specific treatment, if not prevention.

Correspondent

The Macon Women's club will begin regular monthly meetings Thursday, Sept. 13th.

The community was saddened by the death of Ann Henry and she will be sadly missed.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schwitzenberg of Metamora, Mich., formerly of Macon, attended Ann Henry's funeral.

Mr. and Mrs. LaVern Pennington and family have moved recently to the farm formerly owned by Mrs. Mae Morgan on the Britton road.

Mrs. Haddie Miller has returned from vacationing in northern Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bartells and daughter, Carolyn spent the Labor Day weekend at Clear Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Miller and family have returned from a three weeks vacation, touring the western states.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton F. Moore spent Sunday in Ypsilanti with Mrs. Moore's sister and family, Mr and Mrs. Edward Furlong and daughter, Sue. Other guests in the Furlong home were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nahle and daughter, Judy, Mrs. Edith Hampshire and grandson, Dennis of Chicago, Gerald Carey and family of Ypsilanti and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bruder of Tecumseh.

The Macon Boy Scouts met Wednesday evening. Several of them will sell popcorn at the Britton Labor Day celebration to help build up their treasury.

Buick CENTURY 6-Passenger 4-Door Riviera

SENSATION OF THE CENTURY
-at an easy-to-take price
It's Bonanza Time at Buick Dealers'!
FIRST TIME you take the measure of a '56 Buick CENTURY, you'll know what the sports-car folks mean when they say the CENTURY is a great performer.
The getaway is right away—the road feel superb — the handling a joy. For this is Buick's most spirited and spectacular car.
It has the highest power-per-pound ratio in all Buick history.
It rides on a chassis compact to the last ounce and inch.
It takes to movement like a prima ballerina — nimble to the *n*th degree.
And when you press the pedal, you get the response of Buick's mightiest V8 engine and the silk-smooth wizardry of an advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflow that lets you switch the pitch for emergency acceleration that's the most satisfying safety measure in the land today.*
As we said, the name is CENTURY.
So you really ought to try a '56 CENTURY...
Especially now, while your present car is at its peak worth . . .
Especially now, at today's Buick prices (who knows when they'll ever be as low again!) . . .
And especially now, with Buick so solidly in the Top 3 of America's best sellers—and that kind of sales volume permitting us to make you an even finer trade-in allowance.
Drop in on us this week—today would be even better!—and see what a buy you can make right now on the best Buick yet.

NEWS OF THE FARM

Conservation Reserve Phase of Soil Bank Act Explained

The Conservation Reserve phase of the Soil Bank act is the long-range program designed to reduce the volume of production of surplus crops. In the hope of shedding some light on the program for farmers and other interested people in our reading area, a series of pertinent questions and answers has been prepared concerning operation of the program. More detailed information can be obtained by contacting the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

1. What is the purpose of the Conservation Reserve Program?

Ans: As a part of the Soil Bank and companion to the Acreage Reserve, the Conservation Reserve is a long-term program designed to reduce the volume of crop production by assisting producers in establishing vegetative trees, water storage facilities, other soil and water or wildlife conserving practices on lands regularly used in the production of crops.

2. What type of asisstance is available?

Ans: The Secretary of Agriculture will enter into contracts with producers (1) to share the costs of establishing approved conservation practices on the designated acres of the conservation reserve, and (2) to make annual payments to such producers for maintaining the conservation uses for the term of the contract.

3. Who is eligible to participate?

Ans: Any farmer with eligible land.

4. What land is eligible?

Ans: Cropland, including both land devoted to tame hay which does not require annual tillage and land which was tilled or is in regular crop rotation.

5. Is there a deadline date?

Ans: If 1956 is included as part of the contract, October 15, 1956 is the final date for signing a contract with the ASC county committee. After 1956 the deadline date is March 15.

6. How long do contracts run?

Ans: Not less than 3 nor more than 15 years. A 1956 contract must run at least 4 years.

If the land is already protected by adequate vegetative cover the contract is for 3 years, or 5 if the producer elects.

If the contract calls for cost-sharing practices the minimum is 5 years, or 10 if the producer chooses.

For trees the contract period is 10 years, but may be for 15 years.

7. How much will the annual payment be?

Ans: The average in Michigan will be $11 per acre.

(Where the non-diversion rate applies it will be 30 percent of the regular rate or an average of $3.30 per acre.

8. What practices are eligible for cost-sharing?

Ans: For establishing grass, trees or water storage facilities. Many are similar to those under the ACP program. (For details see your local ASC committee.)

9. How much of the cost will be paid under the contract?

Ans: Up to 80 percent of the average cost of the practice. The maximum payment for water storage, however, is $500.

Indoor Stock Is Coming Thing

Most livestock on good commercial farms in the middle west will be reared in confinement in another 10-15 years, believes a Michigan State University agricultural economist.

John Doneth points out that the trend towards specialization and larger enterprises will encourage the move toward confinement rearing.

Better control of environment conditions such as temperature and humidity will be possible, he contends. At the same time, costs of equipment and buildings per unit of livestock produced will be lower.

This confinement trend will be true especially for fattening hogs, dairy and feeder cattle, he says. Poultry has already well started in that direction.

Doneth cites a Michigan farmer who has gone to confinement rearing entirely. The farmer and his son are milking 50 dairy cows, feeding 100 steers, fattening out 75 hogs each year and farming 450 acres of cropland. Except for small lots, this farmer has no fences on the farm.

Lenawee 79th In Tomato Production

Tomatoes were harvested for sale from 439,555 acres on United States farms in 1954 reports Sinclair Weeks, Secretary of Commerce. Figures recently completed show that Lenawee County itself had 1176 acres of tomatoes harvested for sale. This made Lenawee County rank 79th out of the 100 leading counties in tomato production in the country.

Two other Michigan counties made the list of the top 100. Monroe County with its 2242 acres of tomatoes harvested for sale won the 33rd spot in the nation. Berrien County, with its 5037 acres of tomatoes harvested for sale, ranked 13 in the nation.

News Briefs For The Farming Man

Ninety-six per cent of Michigan's school districts took part in the federal government's special school milk program last year.

Farmers would be wise to remove their dairy cows from pasture an hour or two before milking time to prevent off flavors in milk, say specialists.

Sept. 21 is the deadline for farmers to place 1957 wheat acreage under the soil bank program.

A low cost record keeping system that dairy farmers can use as a feeding and culling guide gets under way in Michigan on Oct. 1. It's called the weigh-a-day-a-month plan and will cost as low as 5 cents a cow per month.

The M. S. U. forestry department recommends red pine for reforestation plantings in lower Michigan instead of white pine.

Detroit Area Dairies Give In And Avoid Milk Strike

Acceding to the cooperative demands of dairy farmer members of the Michigan Milk Producers' Association, Detroit area dairies, Friday, agreed to pay $5.35 Cwt. for Class I milk, in some instances only a few hours ahead of the deadline set by MMPA.

Three of the four largest dairies serving the market, Bordens, Detroit Creamery and Wilson, were the last to meet the price demand. The fourth, Twin Pines, announced its decision earlier. According to MMPA, officials, acceptance of the $5.35 price is now substantially market wide and is effective for the next six months.

It was pointed out that the new price applies only to Class I drinking milk as defined in the Federal Milk Marketing Order. The Federal Market Order provides an additional 20c Cwt. for Class II milk for four months beginning in October.

The increase of approximately 60c Cwt. over the Market Order price for Class I milk will mean a net increase to the dairy farmers shipping on the Detroit market of about $4,000,000 during the next six months. This averages $350 for both MMPA members and non-member shippers.

In the huge Metropolitan Detroit market, it is estimated that the increase will mean about 50c per month for the average family.

Bang's Disease Fought In 15 Upper Michigan Counties

Fourteen of the 15 counties in Michigan's Upper Peninsula have become test and slaughter areas under the accelerated program of the U. S. and Michigan departments of agriculture to rid the state of Bang's disease, which is contagious abortion in cattle.

At the request of the board of supervisors of Luce county, the Michigan commission of agriculture recently adopted a resolution placing that county as a Plan "A" county, which requires testing and slaughter of positively reacting animals. All but Menominee county in the Upper Peninsula are now under Plan "A."

Bang's disease, or Brucellosis as it is sometimes called, has cost cattle owners untold millions of dollars over the years. Its economic effect naturally is reflected in the price the consumer pays for milk and milk products. Under certain conditions the disease is transmissable to man in the form of undulant fever.

All of Michigan's 83 counties are under test for Bang's disease, and the state is among the leaders in its efforts to stamp out the scourge.

Under Plan "A", animals that react positively to a blood test are identified and tagged. Within 15 days they are moved to slaughter so the owner may qualify for indemnity. The indemnity is up to $50 for a registered cow and up to $25 for a grade animal. The owner also gets the value of the carcass.

Testing is being conducted in all counties by federal and state veterinarians cooperating on the program. Milk tests determine suspicious herds, but do not indicate individual reactors. Where milk tests cast suspicion on a herd, veterinarians make blood tests of each animal in the herd to determine the individual reactors.

Big Dairy Show To Open In Chicago

CHICAGO — America's dairyland will reveal its best products and its finest herds at the forthcoming 4th annual International Dairy Show, October 6 to 13, in the International Amphitheatre at the Chicago Stock Yards. The Amphitheatre is undergoing a third big expansion which, when completed, will make it the world's largest exhibition building.

Owners of purebred dairy animals from coast to coast and from Canada to the Gulf plan to send their best animals to the competitions of the six breeds of dairy cattle that will be featured at the Chicago show. The management is preparing quarters in the Amphitheatre to house more than 2000 head.

Judging of the six dairy breeds will fill most of the daytime hours from Monday, October 8 through Friday, October 12 ,according to those in charge of the cattle department. All junior classes, consisting of entries owned and shown by young 4-H and F.F.A. members, will be judged on Monday, October 8.

Three breeds — Brown Swiss, Guernseys, and Jerseys—are scheduled for judging October 9 and 10; Holsteins, Ayrshires, and Milking Shorthorns are set for October 11 and 12.

Group tours to Chicago and the show for farm people, organized last year for the first time, will be repeated, according to the management. It will include transportation to the show and return, hotel rooms if desired, and reserved seats for the International Rodeo.

Tile Demonstration Thursday, Sept. 6

A special tile drainage demonstration has been scheduled for today, Sept. 6 at 2 p.m. at the Clark Engel farm, near Palmyra for all area farmers.

The demonstration will illustrate a method of stabilizing tile lines through quicksand pockets to keep the lines from being dislocated when they are backfilled.

The method uses a vinyl plastic material underneath the tile and has been on trial at the Engel farm for about three years. The Lenawee county Cooperative Extension Service and the Soil Conservation Service have been cooperating with M.S.U. agricultural engineers in conducting the trials

Two new lines of 5-inch tile will be installed using the plastic material. The lines will be placed in a sandy loam soil that is very productive when properly drained, according to Cutler. Special backfilling material such as straw, hay, corncobs and possibly some material similar to the vinyl plastic will be used over the tile to prevent the fine sand from filtering through the lines.

The Engel farm is located about one and one-half miles southwest of Palmyra. In case of rain, the demonstration will be moved to Friday, Sept. 7.

Twentieth CENTURY
AC ARC WELDERS
TWIN CARBON TORCHES

There's more than one reason why Twentieth Century Welders are a favorite among farmers who know good welding.

First and foremost . . . they'll tackle, and turn out "to a T", any welding job. Just dial the right heat for the job, and put your Twentieth Century Welder and Carbon Arc Torch to work:

Cutting metal — Brazing
Drilling holes — Bending and shaping
Soldering — Hard Surfacing

AND . . . Twentieth Century Welders save you time and money.

NOW . . . You can quickly and easily repair or replace worn or broken parts on automobiles, tractors, trucks, on all farm machinery.

AND . . . with a Twentieth Century Welder, you can easily make pieces of new equipment.

Take the work out of welding, with the welder that "fits" your farm—a Twentieth Century Welder. Come in. See us for information and demonstration.

A MEMORY OF THE 1881 FOREST FIRES

If chairs could talk, this one would stand proudly on its wobbly old legs and tell many hair-raising tales about the Michigan Forest Fires (1881) which claimed 300 lives. The chair was given to a family living in the tip of the Thumb Area of Michigan by the Red Cross in its first official disaster operation. It was presented to the Tuscola County Chapter, Mich., in 1950 as a historical reminder of the Michigan disaster and has its final resting place in the National Red Cross Museum in Washington, D. C. To the left of chair is Raymond T. Schaeffer, assistant to the President of the American National Red Cross, and at right is Gordon O. # Tecumseh -- City Of Progress And Rapid Expansion . . .

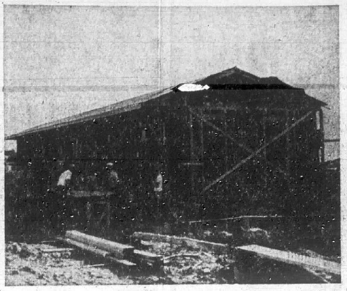
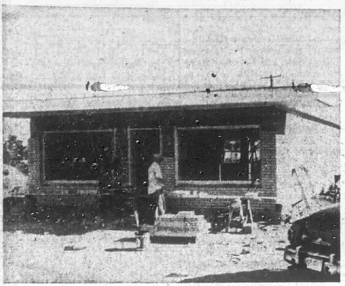
Herald Staff Photos

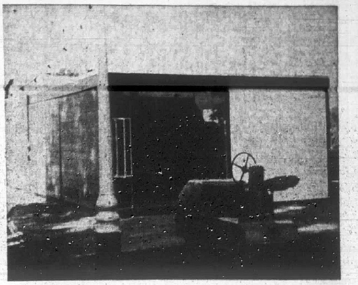
The large structure above will be the future home of Schneider Brothers Chevrolet and Buick dealership. It is a 50 x 110 foot cement block building with an all glass front. The show room will be 24 x 50 foot in size with attached offices. The firm plans to move in the next few weeks.



The above is a picture of the Jack Pine Motel which will be completed about November 1st. The structure is 200 ft. by 20 ft. and consists of 13 rooms with living quarters. It will be a brick and frame building with a ultra modern design. Lester Handy is the owner.



The building in the above photo is being built for Mr. Bart Badalucco from Macon. It will be a fruit market when completed. The structure is a cement block building 24 x 42 feet in size. It is slated for completion in about a month.



This is the new home of Tecumseh Finance. The firm will move in and be ready for business September 17. The contemporary 42 x 20 foot frame structure is very attractive with a modern glass front and east side. Local architect A. J. Smith is the designer and Karl Schneider is the owner.

Editor's Corner . . .

By Phil Belleville

Dale Bowen, the owner of last week's Mystery Farm was in last Thursday forenoon to identify it as his. That is what I call fast identification. It just goes to show you that people can't wait to read their home town newspaper.

* * *

I understand that waterskiing is about the fastest growing sport in the Country. It may seem pretty silly to many people to see those crazy people being towed behind a fast boast on two pieces of wood or fiberglass when they could get an even faster ride inside the boat with less effort. However to those of us that have been taken in (maybe its taken over) by this sport, it seems about like the most exciting and worthwhile participating sport there is. No matter how good you get, there is still a challenge to learn a new and more difficult trick. Needless to say, I'm sold on the sport (along with about every other sport there is).

Now to strike a more serious vein, did you ever notice that there is nothing in nature that is not in a state of constant motion? There is nothing that is not changing. Material things are growing and dying, evaporating, condensing, weathering or undergoing some other changing process. Immaterial things also change. Habits, morals, modes of acceptable behavior, and even religion undergo changing interpretations.

The world seems to be like a cloud filled sky with its ever-changing shapes, forms and relationships. That which is now is only a temporary state which at this very minute is on the way to another temporary state. This is a procession that goes on until infinity.

This fact seems to get many people in trouble. They cannot see beyond the present. They do not realize that there is no permanent status, quo. Things as they are now are not permanent but are only temporary.

Plans are made every day that depend upon the permanent perpetuation of the present scheme of affairs. Other plans are made on the basis if a prophecied future. Some of these latter plans will fail horribly. However, some of them

Tecumseh Indians Are To Meet Hudson Friday

Friday night, September 14, the Tecumseh Indians will meet the Hudson Hornets. Last year, Tecumseh was beaten 45-0.

Tecumseh was down after their win over Bedford and when Knapp from Hudson ran the kickoff back for a touchdown Tecumseh just didn't have it to come back.

Hudson has their whole team back this year and should win the L.C.A.A. They are big and fast and have Ron Peltier, one of the best linemen in the county. They also have a fine backfield with Chuck Redding, a fine high school passer, leading the way.

Knowing what Hudson has, the average fan wouldn't think that Tecumseh had much of a chance. However! Remember Bedford. Our boys are going to be up for this one and if they get a few breaks, they can beat them.

Mystery Farm Contest Arrangements Complete

The arrangements for the Mystery Farm contest referred to in last week's Herald have been completed. A different unidentified aerial photograph will appear each week in a feature advertisement entitled "Thrifty Shopper". At the same time, the identified photo from the week before, will appear on the farm page with a story about the farm and its owners.

There will be a free finished photo of the farm given to the owner of the farm if he will come into the Herald office by noon Saturday the week that the picture appears and identity the farm as his. The owner of the farm will also receive $5.00 worth of merchandise or services from one of the Merchants advertising in the "Thrifty Shopper".

The Merchant in the "Thrifty Shopper" giving away the free merchandise for the week can be identified by the * appearing somewhere in his part of the advertisment. It is liable to be anywhere in the "Thrifty Shopper" so examine each part of it carefully.

Fifteen business places are sponsoring this special feature in addition to The Herald: They are, Jack Pine Drive-In and Motel, Ben's Market, John's Golf Service, Hayden Flour Mills, Jim's Hy-Flash Station, Helms Furniture, Proctor's Shoe Store, Tecumseh Country Market, Tecumseh Tire Service, Linger Meat Market, W. D. Hite Hardware, Bug's Super Service, Tecumseh Electric, Gaston and Son Jewelers and Jerry's Market. Read these ads every week and tell the advertisers you saw it in the Herald.

SCHOOL BOARD ACCEPTS BIDS

Lenawee Co. Band Festival Themes Are Announced

The great Lenawee County Band Festival is scheduled for October second. It will be held at 8:00 at the Tecumseh Recreation Center. This event is sponsored by the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The following is a list of the participating high school bands and the theme that has been assigned to them: The Britton Band, directed by Harold Waters, has been assigned the ox cart as a theme. The Addison Band, directed by Karl Abel, has sailboat as a theme. Director Jack Phillips and the Sand Creek Band have been assigned the balloon as a theme. Adrian Catholic Central Band under the direction of Paul Tkach has the Steamboat as a theme.

The horse and buggy will be the theme of the Clinton Band under the direction of Richard Wegner. The Morenci Band, under the direction of Charles Winzler, has been assigned the telegraph as a theme.

The Tecumseh High School Band, under the direction of Don Johnson, has been given railroad as a theme.

The Deerfield Band, under the direction of Robert Kinder, has been given the automobile as a theme. Director Andrew Valkuchak of the Hudson Band, will have the airplane as a theme. The Onsted Band, directed by Robert Reynolds, has the radio as a theme. Director Howard Bond and the Blissfield band have been assigned television as a theme. The Adrian Band directed by Al Bohms, has space ship as a theme.

Tecumseh Is The City of Progress

Tecumseh is the city of progress. If you don't believe it, look at the four pictures of new commercial construction above. This is interesting not only for the fact that four brand new business buildings are being built.

It is interesting to note that these new buildings are all within an area no longer than a city block. They are all out on the west side of Tecumseh on Monroe Rd.

Fire Prevention Day Is Sept. 26

Don't forget the Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsored Fire Prevention Day, September 26. Watch next weeks Herald for final announcements on the affair and plans for a luncheon to be held that day.

Band To Appear In New Uniforms

The Tecumseh High School Band will appear at the football game Friday night for the first public showing this year. They will be garbed in their brand new band uniforms for the first time.

The band wishes to express its sincerest thanks to Mrs. James Barton who was chairman of the project as well as all of those who worked with Mrs. Barton.

Seven New Directors At Tecumseh Country Club

A recent reorganization meeting of the Tecumseh Country Club resulted in the election of seven new directors. They are Frank K. Smith, president; Edward C. Boss, secretary and treasurer and Curtis M. Brown, Virgil Tucker, Paul Clauda, Willis Porter and Frank Rice, members of the board.

Voting stock and property of the club were purchased several weeks ago by Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Smith. The club opened on Memorial Day, 1949. It originally was the property of its 180 members and Frank Purcell was the first president of the board of directors. Owing to financial difficulties, the club was purchased in 1954 jointly by Tresco, Inc. and the Tecum-

The Board Of Education Discusses Problems at The September Meeting

The Board of Education at its regular September Meeting Monday evening reviewed the annual audit as presented by the Certified Public Accountants, Collins and Buri of Detroit. General Fund balances for 1955 were $3,357.91 and in 1956 $16,682.96; the Public Library balance was $1,189.99 in 1955 and $1,986.31 in 1956; Debt Retirement Fund balance in 1955, $13,583.83 and in 1956, $4,475.05; and Bond Debt Reserve Fund balances in 1955 were $129,889.91 while in 1956 they were $98,631.66 and in addition the Board retired $165,000 of 1952 school bonds plus interest and premiums. Full text of the audit will be presented in the Herald next week.

The Board discussed bus transportation problems such as County road conditions, additional children new to the district, bus conditions, and routing. They approved the purchase of two additional new busses to serve the district more effectively and authorized the trading of the two 1949 busses toward two new fifty-four passenger busses since an offer of $1000.00 for each bus has been received which they felt was more than adequate for busses in use seven years.

Fuel Oil bids for No. 1 and No. 2 oil were received from six firms and low bid was by Beach Bros. for Sohio fuel. The Board authorized purchase of fuel for the schools from Beach Bros. for the year 1956-1957.

Gasoline Bids for the school owned motor equipment were received from four companies. Following considerable discussion of the excellent past service of Lee Purkey and Sons in operation, maintenance, and service of the school busses, the Board voted to table the gasoline bids indefinitely and to continue to buy gasoline of Purkey and Sons as in the past since no school owned garage services are yet available.

The Superintendent reported that 35 teachers had earned 255 semester hours of college credit during the past year which is an average of 7¼ hours per person. The lowest number of hours completed was two and the highest was fifteen. This is an excellent record for teachers on the job. Forty-six percent of the secondary staff have Masters degrees as do 12½% of the elementary staff.

The Board received copies of their revised Personnel Booklet and of the Teachers Manual for their personal use.

The Bradley District vote was discussed and satisfaction expressed at the affirmative vote for annexation to Tecumseh.

Bids for the supply of milk to the schools were discussed and since identical bids were received from Driggs and Meadowridge, the contract was awarded to the latter since they have supplied the local school in the past and have always given excellent service.

Mr. F. C. Hanna, having been engaged by the Board to appraise the Bird and Bradley School Houses for sale by the Board, set the value of Bird School building at $800.00 and the Bradley School at $500.00. The Board having received an offer of $500.00 by the owner of the land from whom the Bradley School was leased, voted to sell the building to the owners at that price.

The present owners of the Bird School property having requested the privilege of purchasing the school building have yet to decide whether they wish to purchase the building at $800.00.

The Board reviewed the enrollments in the school as of Monday of this week and discussed problems relative to best educational facilities for all areas. The total enrollment is 2479.

Due to the increased number of children in the high school enrolled in physical education and the fact that over one hundred boys are out for football, the school towel laundry is hard pressed and unable to cope with the situation. Bids were opened for two additional washers and three driers and Gamble's Store being low bidder was authorized by the Board to furnish Bendix equipment.

The Board reviewed data concerning assessed evaluations, tax rates, refunding of bonds from debt retirement surplus, and tuition rates. The Board also voted to table the decision on architects for the Tipton School area until all of the Board members could be present.

The girls marching in the above photograph are the women's drill team of the American Legion Ladies Auxiliary. This shot was taken at the Convention at Lansing in August. They appeared at the Clinton Homecoming next. Then the first of September they appeared at River Rouge for River Rouge Days. At River Rouge, they placed third in competition and won a rating of 97.4 and a trophy.

The team has been established for six years. Douglas Tate is the Drill Master. There are sixteen girls in the group. They practice twice a week during the summer. Now that they have gained recognition, they hope to obtain bookings for next spring. The group is sponsoring a Benefit Dance the 15th of September.

Community Fund Board Adopts Budget Tuesday

The Board of the Tecumseh Community Fund met Tuesday evening at the United Savings Bank and adopted the budget for the 1956-57 fund drive. The fund goal for this year is $13,244 which is an increase of $2,010 over 1955 and 56. Of this, $3,444.00 will go to the Michigan United Health and Welfare Fund, $1,040.00 more than requested by them last year. There were other increases slated for several local organizations and one new listing, $700 for the new Lenawee branch of the Huron Valley Child Guidance Clinic which now has an office in Adrian.

The business meeting was conducted by the president, George Green Jr. and routine reports were made by the secretary-treasurer, the Rev. Edward Escolme. Mrs. Truman Rentschler gave a report of the recent meeting of Michigan Health and Welfare Board which she attended in Lansing. Mrs. Rentschler served on the panel which set up the state Budget.

The Community Board has requested the local Junior Chamber of Commerce to conduct the fund drive as they have for the past two years. The Jaycees have accepted responsibility, relying on the support of the community.

The 1956-1957 budget for the fund as adopted by the board with a comparison with the 1955-1956 budget is as follows—

|---|---|---|
| Girl Scouts | $ 500.00 | $ 500.00 |
| Tecumseh Service Club | 350.00 | 400.00 |
| Tecumseh Community Parties | 630.00 | 1,000.00(to include band festival) |

Claude Plumbing Offers Listings

Clauda Plumbing and Heating is offering a special ad to Tecumseh Churches to be used free of charge for church activities such as bake sales, bazaars, etc.

The ad will be found in this issue announcing the special service.

The only requirement is that churches phone items to the Herald not later than Tuesday, a.m. (the sooner the better) the week it is to appear.

Sisson-Bowen Marriage Spoken Saturday Afternoon

Miss Dulcie Dede Bowen

White and cream colored gladioli were massed with natural palms in the chancel of the Presbyterian church, Saturday afternoon, and with the red velvet hangings formed a beautiful background for the marriage ceremony which united Dulcie Dede Bowen and John Morse Sisson. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Dale Jerome Bowen and of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Sisson, all of Tecumseh. Gladioli tied with white satin marked the pews of the center aisle, which was covered with a white runner.

The Rev. George Walworth, pastor of the church pronounced the double ring service at 3 p.m. and the bride was given in marriage by her father. She was preceded down the aisle by five attendants, her matron of honor, Mrs. Ritchie Davis and her bridesmaids, who were Miss Jane Smith, Miss Dianne Woodward and Mrs. David Murphy all of Tecumseh and Miss Sandra Ross of Lansing. Tom Hamm of Kalamazoo assisted the groom as best man and Dean McDonald of Okemos, Jack Betzoldt, Macon, James Wilson, Tecumseh and James Breitenwischer of Burlington, Iowa were the ushers.

Guests at the church were welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Philip Colgrove and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hanna.

Miss Diane Dillon was at the organ, playing traditional selections and the wedding march and accompanying Miss Diane Woodward and Mr. Ralph Radford of Lansing who, before the ceremony, sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly." Mr. Radford sang "The Lord's Prayer" as the bridal couple knelt in prayer.

The bride was very lovely in her princess gown of mirro-mist taffeta, whose lace bodice was made with long sleeves and a square neckline, outlined in pearl and sequin embroidery. The long lines of the skirt swept back into a chapel train. Her veil was held by a low coronet of matching lace, seed pearls and sequins and she wore a strand of pearls which were a gift of the groom. Eucharist lilies were combined with tiny Pinnochio pompoms and ivy to form her cascade bouquet.

The matron of honor and bridesmaids wore ballerina length dresses of irridescent taffeta in a beautiful neptune green. Identical in style they had dropped waistlines with an inset of matching velvet and lace, short sleeves and V-necklines. All carried colonial type bouquets of rubrum lilies and crimson roses in a setting of matching tulle.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bowen wore mauve lace over satin, embroidered with opalescent paillettes and her hat and accessories were of the same shade. Her corsage of pink roses and Eucharist lilies had a background of blue velvet leaves. Mrs. Sisson's gown was of charcoal grey crystalette, with which she wore white accessories and white velvet leaves accented her corsage of red rosettes and stephenotis.

At the close of the service 350 guests were entertained at the Tecumseh Country Club where they were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Percy Bowen and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ammer. Decorations at the club were beautiful arrangements of gladioli and chrysanthemums in shades of pink. The serving table, before the flower banked fireplace was flounced in organdy and held the five-tiered wedding cake which was topped by a colonial arrangement of gardenias and pink roses and encircled by a ring of white pompoms and ivy.

Mrs. Jens Touborg was assisted in cutting the cake by Mrs. Donald Cobb, Mrs. Edward Boss and Mrs. Dalton Walper. The coffee services were in charge of Mrs. Carl Fosbender, Mrs. John Furry, Mrs. Lawrence Larsen and Mrs. Robert H. Moore while the guests were served by Miss Agnes McIntyre, an aunt of the groom, and by Mrs. Curtis M. Brown and Mrs. Orville Farver. Dale Daniels and John Walper of Tecumseh with Miss Janet Fredenburg of Lansing and Miss Fredine Pfeiffer of Grand Rapids presided over the punch bowl. Barbara Ousterhout cared for the guest book and Constance Clark and Brenda Porter received the gifts.

When the newlyweds left for a wedding trip through northern Michigan the bride was wearing a flannel suit in grey with brown accessories. Her corsage was from her bridal bouquet. On their return they will reside in East Lansing where the groom is a senior at Michigan State University in the School of Education and the bride will be sophomore this year. She attended Western Michigan College at Kalamazoo last year. Both are graduates of Tecumseh high school. Mr. Sisson is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity at East Lansing.

Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Sisson, parents of the groom entertained twenty-six members of the wedding party at a rehearsal dinner at the Country Club. The dinner table had an arrangement of chrysanthemums and roses as a centerpiece. Dancing followed the dinner.

Club Schedule Is Nearly Completed

Plans are about complete for the 1956-1957 year of the Tecumseh Monday Club. The first meeting of the new Club year will be held October 1, with a luncheon at Fellowship Center, Presbyterian Church. This program is in charge of the Past President's Club of which Mrs. Perry Hayden is the new president. All members who plan to attend the luncheon are requested to make their reservations with either Mrs. Clarence Brock, phone 220-W, or with Miss Lillian Cannon, phone 259-J.

The Year Books will be sent through the mail again this year, and it is hoped that each member will receive her book about a week in advance of the opening meeting.

The Lenawee County Federation of Women's Clubs held a "Federation Tea" at the Schultz-Holmes Library in Blissfield on September 5th. Those in attendance discussed their plans for the coming year. Mrs. Herbert Murphy, treasurer of the County Federation, Mrs. Truman Rentschler, Mrs. Wilfred Waldron and Mrs. Robert Bonner, president of the Monday Club, attended.

Musical Tea To Be September 15

An excellent program is being arranged for the annual Methodist Musical Tea, which, this year, will be held Saturday, Sept. 15 from 2 to 4 p.m. in the church social rooms. Miss Sally Rentschler, flutist, of Tecumseh and her accompanist Miss Patricia Noffsinger from Ann Arbor will be the featured artists and other local musicians will complete the program.

The event is sponsored by the Mary Foster circle of the W.S.C.S. with Mrs. Clyde Smith and Mrs. W. G. Waldron as co-chairmen. Mrs. Edward Leighton will be in charge of the tea which will be served by the ladies of the circle after the musical program.

Hittenrauch-Titley Vows Were Exchanged Saturday

Miss Elizabeth Titley

The Tipton Community Church was the setting for an impressive candlelight ceremony Saturday evening at eight o'clock when Marian Elizabeth Titley became the bride of Howard R. Hittenrauch. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Herman Titley of Tecumseh and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Hildreth of Jackson. The double ring ceremony was performed by Dr. A. E. Jervis of Jonesville, assisted by the Rev. David Holly, before an altar banked with lighted candelabra, hampers of white gladioluses, and palms. The center aisle was lined with aisle candelabra, and pews were marked with white satin bows centered with white gladioluses.

Before the ceremony, a prelude of wedding music was played by Mrs. Harold Every, church organist, who also accompanied Mrs. Glenn Titley, an aunt of the bride, as she sang "This Is My Beloved" and "Through the Years." During the ceremony, she sang "The Lord's Prayer" while the couple knelt at the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a princess style gown of bridal satin and pointe Venice lace, ending in a chapel train. The torso bodice of lace, trimmed with pearls and sequins, featured a Sabrina neckline and long fitted sleeves. Medallions of the same lace adorned the skirt. A lace cap, also embroidered with pearls and sequins, held the double illusion lace-edged fingertip veil, which had been worn by the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Dorman Titley. The bridal bouquet was a cascade arrangement of white Fuji chrysanthemums, edged with white velvet leaves and centered with tulle.

The bride asked her sister, Miss Ruth Elaine Titley, to attend her as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. James Elliott of Marlette and Miss Patricia Switf of Herkimer, New York. They wore dresses identically fashioned in graduated shades of blue, with ballerina length full skirts of tulle over taffeta and crystalette bodices featuring draped off the shoulder neckline. They carried cascade arrangements of pink Fuji chrysanthemums, edged with transparent angel feather leaves and centered with shades of pink tulle. Their identical blue feathered headpieces, white gloves, and pearl chokers were gifts of the bride.

Mr. Dale Densmore of Rives Junction attended his brother-in-law as best man. Ushers were Mr. James Manthei of Albion, Mr. Dale Titley and Mr. Donald Sunderland of Tecumseh, and Mr. Dorman Titley of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Titley chose a dress of dusty rose crepe trimmed with lace. She wore black accesories and a corsage of white Eucharist lilies. Mrs. Hildreth wore a grey two-piece dress with red accessories and a corsage of white flowers.

Immediately after the ceremony, a reception for 200 guests was held in the church parlors, with Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Mohr, uncle and aunt of the bride, acting as host and hostess. Guests were registered by Patricia O'Brien of Tecumseh, and Mrs. Raymond Mosh of Farmington, aunt of the bride, cut the four-tiered wedding cake. Coffee and tea were poured by Mrs. Roland Mohr and Mrs. LeRoy Titley of Tecumseh, aunts of the bride. Assisting with the gifts were Miss Gail Claxton of Britton, Miss Sally Rentschler of Tecumseh, and Mrs. James Manthei of Albion. Patty Dibble, Joan and Marilyn Whelan and Sharon Claxton assisted with the serving.

For her going away outfit, the bride wore an aqua print dress of polished cotton, with black velvet acessories and a tailored corsage of pink carnations. After a short wedding trip, the couple will reside at 749 Wisconsin Avenue in Lansing.

The bride is a graduate of Tecumseh high school and will receive her degree from Michigan State University in March. Mr. Hittenrauch graduated from Harding high school in Marion, Ohio, and served 3 years in the United States Army. He attended Jackson Junior College and received his degree from Michigan State University last month.

A rehearsal luncheon was given Friday evening by the bride's parents at their home, with Mrs. LeRoy Titley assisting. Pre-nuptial bridal showers were given by Miss Patricia Clancy of East Lansing, Mrs. Lawrence Boyd of Tecumseh, Miss Sally Baker of Adrian, and Mrs. Frank Hildreth and Mrs. Asa Hildreth of Jackson.

Wedding guests attended from Tecumseh, Tipton, Adrian and surrounding communities, Albion, Marlette, Jonesville, Jackson, Rives Junction, Dearborn Birmingham, Farmington, and Detroit, Michigan, Marion, Cuyahoga Falls, and other points in Ohio, and Herkimer, New York.

Blocker-Brown Wedding, Saturday at St. Peter's

Before a small gathering of family and close friends in St. Peter's Episcopal church, Saturday morning, Mary Elizabeth Brown and James E. Blocker were united in marriage. The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Brown of Tecumseh while the parents of the groom are Professor and Mrs. John Blocker of Lawrence, Kansas. The double ring ceremony was performed at 11 a.m. by the Rev. Richard O. Petersen of Youngstown, Ohio with the assistance of the Rev. E. C. Dickin, pas[illegible] Peters.

White chrysanthemums and white pompoms filled the vases on the candle-lighted altar and as the guests were seated by George Elliott, Jack Tonneberger of Toledo played appropriate selections on the organ, ending with the traditional wedding march. Entering on the arm of her father, the bride was given in marriage by both her parents. She was attended by Miss Ann Barril of Lansing, a college friend and Mr. Blocker had asked George Rogers of Kansas City to be his best man.

White lace formed the bride's gown, a street length sheath with a white taffeta sash pleated into a bustle bow. It had a square neck and short sleeves and the matching lace hat featured a circular veil. She carried a cluster of Eucharist lilies and stephenotis on a lace covered prayer book. Miss Barril's dress of sage green silk shantung had a fitted bodice, short sleeves and square neck and the street length skirt was very full. She wore head bands of the same material and carried a cascade bouquet of pale pink Fuji chrys anthemums combined with transparent leaves.

Mrs. Brown wore midnight blue shantung for the wedding with a white feathered hat and white accessories. Her corsage of pink rosettes and white velvet leaves was pinned to her purse. The mother of the groom was in charcoal gray with hat and accessories of fushia velvet and her shoulder corsage was of Eucharis lilies. Mrs. J. D. Blocker the bridegroom's grandmother wore black with a blue feathered hat while Mrs. J. P. Kelly his maternal grandmother was in steel blue taffeta. Both had corsages of pink and white carnations and rose buds.

After the ceremony the guests adjourned to the home of the brides parents in Macon where luncheon was served with Miss Virginia Dowell of Grosse Point cutting the wedding cake. Miss Julie Juracek registered the guests and Miss Diane Kline the gifts. Mrs. Elizabeth Wing assisted as hostess both at the church and the home and Gail Elliott, and Joann and Mary Wing helped with the serving. Beautiful arrangements of roses and chrysanthemums decorated the house and pink roses, white bebe mums and ivy filled the epergne on the bride's table.

Later in the afternoon the newly married couple left for New York from where they flew to Bermuda for two weeks. The bride wore a brown sheath dress for traveling with long matching coat trimmed in black and the corsage from her bridal bouquet. On their return they will motor to Kansas City, Mo. where the groom is connected with the Spencer Chemical Co. Mr. Blocker is a graduate of the University of Kansas and of the graduate school of Business Administration of Harvard University. Mrs. Blocker graduated at Eastern Michigan College of Education after attending Albion College and has taught for three years in the schools of Grosse Pointe.

Hyder and Murphy Are Wed in Tecumseh Baptist Church

Karen Marie Murphy and Bob R. Hyder spoke their wedding vows Saturday evening in the Tecumseh Baptist church. Karen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Murphy of 206 E. Pottawatamie, Tecumseh and the parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hyder of Adrian.

Palms and baskets of white gladdoli and chrysanthemums decorated the altar before which the Rev. B. O. Bashore performed the double ring ceremony at 8 p.m.

The matron of honor and only attendant of the bride was Mrs. Zelma Woodby, a sister of the groom and Orin Dale Murphy, the bride's brother was best man.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of soft white nylon over taffeta and net, whose full skirt was worn over hoops. The bodice was shirred and had a pleated neckline which ended in a cascade arrangement of white carnations and pinnochio pompoms combined with ivy and clusters of white tulle.

Mrs. Woodby's gown was of pink nylon and she wore flowers in her hair. Her bouquet was of pale pink carnations and frenched white chrysanthemums, edged by transparent leaves and blue tulle.

The mother of the bride chose a black and white ensemble for the wedding and wore a shoulder corsage of red rosettes, while Mrs. Hardy was in navy blue with a similiar corsage. Mrs. Beevers, a grandmother of the bride wore blue and white and her flowers were yellow roses.

Appropriate music both before and during the ceremony was played by Mrs. Kenton Hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Orin Beevers, grandparents of the bride, were hosts at the reception which followed the ceremony. Seventy-five guests were entertained at the Baptist Youth house where they were registered in the guest book by Cora Murphy, a sister of the bride. The four tiered wedding cake was encircled by a wreath of pink and white carnations and topped by a miniature bride and groom. It was cut and served with other refreshments by Mrs. Jim Murphy, Mrs. Duane Murphy, Mrs. Edward Shoemaker and the Misses Geraldine Drouillard, Sandra Wilds and Shirley and Madelyn Seeburger.

The bride wore a black sheath dress, with accessories of black patent leather when the bridal pair left for a honeymoon in northern Michigan. Returning they will live at 505½ W. Pottawatamie street in Tecumseh. Mrs. Hyder who graduated from Tecumseh high in 1955 is employed in the office of the Hayden Flour Mills and Mr. Hyder is also an employee of the Mills.

Orient Picture at St. Peters

A television personality of international fame will appear at the Parish House of St. Peters Episcopal Church, Monday evening, September 24 at 8 p.m. "Singapore Joe" Fisher, world traveler and photographer for almost forty years, will show his color picture "The Changing Orient."

Mr. Fisher is currently showing this in a series in full color on WWJ-TV at 11 a.m. every Sunday, the first travel pictures on color television. He will personally narrate the story of this beautiful and mysterious area, of which we know so little. Born in South Africa, he has lived and traveled the far east for about forty years. His knowledge of the orient is said to surpass that of any other living person. The entire story is a dynamic revelation of the crucial situations that face western civilization today.

The presentation is staged by the Men's Club of St. Peters Church. All are invited.

Report on Examination

Year Ending June 30, 1956

Honorable Mayor and Members of the Council
City of Tecumseh
Tecumseh, Michigan

Gentlemen:

We have examined the fund balance sheet of the CITY OF TECUMSEH and the TECUMSEH CEMETERY ASSOCIATION as of June 30, 1956 and the related statements of cash receipts and disbursements for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

Cash — $39,703.22

Cash receipts and disbursements per the books and per the bank were reconciled for the period under review on a test basis. Confirmation of the bank balances at June 30, 1956 was obtained from the bank direct and reconciled with the book balances, as shown on the consolidated balance sheet. The cash on hand was counted by us on July 30, 1956.

Hospitals and doctors of medicine are to furnish reports to Michigan Hospital Service and Michigan Medical Service relative to services rendered under the plans.

Hadley And Schumm Are To Represent Kiwanis Club

H. PARK ARNOLD

The Kiwanis Club of Tecumseh will be represented at the 1956 convention of the Michigan Kiwanis District at Detroit, September 16-19, Club President Fred Hadley announced today. The Metropolitan Council of Detroit Kiwanis clubs will act as hosts for the mid-September meeting.

Local delegates to the convention will be Fred Hadley and George Schumm.

Mr. H. Park Arnold, Treasurer of Kiwanis International, a Glendale, California businessman, will be a featured speaker during the three-day meeting at the Statler Hotel. He will be accompanied to Detroit by Walter F. Patenge, of Lansing, Michigan, a trustee of Kiwanis International.

Delegates from 162 clubs, representing a total membership of nearlyl 10,000 business and professional leaders, will participate in the various sessions. Committee conferences, a discussion of plans for the coming year, and the election of officers will high light the convention program, Mr. Hadley said.

The presiding officer at the three-day session will be Mr. Aldrich C. Locke, Governor of the Michigan District, and operator of a department store in Fenton, Michigan.

Mr. Arnold, one of the principal speakers, and the official representative of Kiwanis International at the meeting, is a 32-year veteran of Kiwanis. During that time, he has served in numerous capacities in his home club of Glendale, California, the California-Nevada-Hawaii District of Kiwanis, and in Kiwanis International. Prior to his election to the treasurer's post, he served two two-year terms as a trustee of the international service organization. Arnold is a retail lumber dealer and precision parts manufacturer. He is active in civic and professional organizations. He is a past president of the Board of Directors of the Southern California Lumber Association, a member of the Board of Directors and a past president of the Glendale YMCA, and a member of the Advisory Council of the Salvation Army of Glendale and for the State of California. He is also a trustee of the University of Redlands and a member of the Glendale Research Hospital board.

Legion Auxiliary Met Monday Night

Mrs. Robert Lowe presided at the business session of the American Legion Auxiliary meeting Monday evening. There were thirty-two members and twelve guests present. The guests were the installation team from the Brooklyn Auxiliary, the Second District President, Mrs. Ruth Bowers of Blissfield and her secretary, Mrs. Jean Partee.

A memorial service was conducted for Mrs. Mable Lewis, who was a charter member of the Auxiliary and members of the local drill team presented a trophy they had won at a recent contest at River Rouge.

The new officers of the organization were then installed with Mrs. Bowers as the installing officer. Mrs. Donald Wood is the new auxiliary president.

Refreshments were then served by Mrs. Charles Osburn, Mrs. Lester Fogelsong, Mrs. Kenneth Herrick and Mrs. William Powell. Mrs. Charles Howe and Mrs. Robert Lowe presided at the lace covered table which had a centerpiece of chrysanthemums, flanked by lighted candles.

Scouting Assoc. To Meet the 17th

The Tecumseh Scouting Association will hold the first meeting of the year, Monday evening, September 17 in the Scout Cabin at 8 p.m. All Den Mothers, Boy Scout Leaders and Cubmasters and all leaders, assistant leaders and committee members of the Brownie Scouts, Intermediate Troops and Senior Girl Scouts are requested to be present.

This organization, which represents all phases of the scouting movement in Tecumseh, is in charge of the scout cabin and works for the benefit of all the boys and girls included in the various groups. The leaders of the association ask that if the various leaders are not able to attend in person that they send a representative.

The Milk Price Depends On Use

The price dairy farmers receive for milk depends on whether it is put in bottles or used in manufacturing.

This price is also affected by prices in neighboring markets, the amount they can earn by selling other farm products, and costs of production, reports Dale Butz, agricultural economist at Michigan State University.

The price paid by the plant for milk used in manufacturing is lower than that for bottled milk because:

1. Bottled or fluid milk demands higher quality and more careful handling.

2. Milk of bottling quality beyond that which is needed as fluid is manufactured. When a surplus exists, and more is manufactured, prices fall. This, milk producers hope, lessens the surplus by encouraging people to buy more and discouraging farmers from producing more.

When prices in one area are comparatively high, outside milk may come in unless barriers are set up to keep it out. This could lower prices there while boosting prices in surrounding areas, Butz explains.

Milk prices generally are lowest in Wisconsin, says Butz. Prices in other states usually exceed Wisconsin prices by about the cost of transportation from the Badger State.

Certainly, present milk prices are low compared to production costs, says Butz. If a farmer is to stay in the dairy business, prices must be above his costs in the long run.

Turning to the price of other commodities, Butz explains that relatively low milk prices may cause a dairy farmer to shift to hogs or some other enterprise. His outside opportunities depend on other prices, and on how well his farm operation is suited to other enterprises.

RESIDENT

Mr. Anderson was born in Tecumseh, July 21, 1880 and was the son of Seaton W. and Ella Randall Anderson. He attended Tecumseh high school and graduated from Whipple Academy at Jacksonville, Ill. later attending Illinois College at Jacksonville. He was associated with his father in the Dry Goods business in Tecumseh for a number of years and also spent six years in Cincinnati and one in Toledo in the same work. Before his illness he had spent twelve years in the time office of the Bohn Aluminum Co. in Adrian.

October 28, 1903 he was married to Viola A. Shull and they observed their Golden Wedding anniversary three years ago.

In addition to his wife he is survived by his daughter and son-in-law, Mary Eleanor and Dr. Edwin Williamson of Kalamazoo and by several cousins.

Funeral services for Mr. Anderson were conducted by the Rev. B. O. Bashore at the Collins Funeral home Wednesday afternoon and burial was in the family plot in Brookside cemetery. Harold Anderson Jr., Robert Retter, Donald Filter, Kenneth Johnson, James Temple of Birmingham and Gibbs Barber of Tecumseh were the bearers.

Judy Fairbanks Given Shower

Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks entertained, Saturday evening, at the home of Mrs. Fred Fairbanks honoring her sister-in-law, Judy Ann Fairbanks, a bride to be. The event was a miscellaneous shower for Miss Fairbanks, whose marriage to Arthur Jack Hill of Clinton will take place September 22.

Eighteen friends of the bride elect were present and she received many lovely gifts from beneath a gaily decorated umbrella. Games were the entertainment of the evening, prizes being given to the guest of honor. Refreshments were served by the hostess from a table decorated in green and yellow which are to be the colors of the gowns of the bride's attendants. Garden flowers decorated the rooms.

Picnic And Roast To Be Held Sat.

There will be an all church picnic and weiner roast (weather permitting) Saturday evening on the lawn of the Friends church. There will be a weiner roast at 6:30 for which those attending are to bring weiners, buns and a beverage. At 7:30 the group will adjourn to the church where a Martin Luther film will be shown. This is the story of a great man and of the Reformation which changed the world. It is a picture that reveals the heroic and devout struggle of the man who dared to proclaim, "My conscience is bound to the word of God and it is neither safe nor honest to act against one's conscience."

Future Teachers Club Meets

The Future Teacher's Club of Tecumseh high school met in the high school cafeteria, Tuesday evening, at seven o'clock. This is an organization of high school students interested in making the teaching profession their goal. It is sponsored by Mrs. Roy Cadmus of Junior high.

The guest speaker for this first meeting was Mrs. F. C. Dickinson, who reviewed the book, "The Peabody Sisters of Salem." Mrs. Dickinson, who is a past master of the art of making a book come alive for her hearers, drew a graphic picture of the three Peabody daughters; Sophia, who became the wife of Nathanial Hawthorne; Mary, who married Horace Mann and Elizabeth, who was an educator in her own right and a force in the early struggle for "woman's rights."

My Favorite Prayer

SUBMITTED TO THE LAYMENS' NATIONAL COMMITTEE

By CAPTAIN ROBERT J. STROTH
Commanding Officer, The Saratoga, U. S. Navy

Sternal Father, Strong to Save, Thou who art ever with us in the light of the day and in the night watches, guide us along the path of righteousness. Enable us, through Thy Grace, to follow the precepts of Christian Morality. May we believe Thee, in the Bible, and in men of good will, so that in the final judgment it may be said of us, "This is the victory which overcometh the world, even our Faith." In His Name.

AUGUST SEPTEMBER OCTOBER NOVEMBER DECEMBER
Fabulous HOME HEATER Sale

WE WILL ALLOW FOR YOUR OLD HEATER UP TO $60.00 WHEN TRADED FOR A NEW Superflame
BEAUTY PLUS ECONOMY
The charm and beauty of Superflame heaters has been unmatched by any other space heater. Designed to stay in style for years to come, only Superflame gives you the truly modern styling plus the amazing Fuel-Saver that saves you up to ⅓ on fuel.

Only Superflame Fuel-Saver Saves Up to 1/3 on Fuel!

500° Superflame "FUEL-SAVER" has low chimney temperature—only 500 degrees on high flame. Note how much farther the flame travels before entering chimney.
SUPERFLAME

850° Ordinary Oil Heater has high chimney temperature of 850 degrees on high flame. Illustration at left shows how heat from ordinary heater rushes up chimney.
ORDINARY HEATER

AMAZING SUPERFLAME FUEL SAVER SAVES 1/3 ON FUEL
The illustrations at left show at a glance why a Superflame Oil Heater with exclusive "FUEL-SAVER" delivers increased circulation of warm air throughout the home. You get modern furnace efficiency with a Superflame! The Superflame "FUEL-SAVER" doubles heat radiating surface! Laboratory tests show that the Superflame "FUEL-SAVER" reduces chimney heat loss 40% on the average! These same tests show that up to 33⅓% less fuel is required to get the volume of heat in the home.

NO COLD FLOORS WITH SUPERFAN
Only Superfan Blower with Superflame gives you a completely automatic forced air heating system for your home. Superfan is fully automatic . . . blows warm air when year heater is hot and shuts off when your heater is cool. Circulates ⅓ more warm air than ordinary heater fan.
That's not all . . . Superfan with the Superflame fuel saver will save up ⅓ on your fuel bills. Eliminates cold air pockets and cold floors . . . is guaranteed to give heating comfort to every room in your home. Superfan is portable and may be used separately during summer months for cool air circulation.
New Superflame owners are amazed at the remarkable way a Superflame automatic forced air heating system circulates heat evenly to every room of their home and saves on fuel.

Field and Stream

Michigan's experimental wild turkey restoration project is scheduled for expansion in early September, with releases of the big birds slated in three northern areas.

Some 200 turkeys, about 14-weeks-old, will be released by Conservation Department game biologists. Some of the birds will be released in the Lake-Newaygo county area to "reinforce" plantings made there last year.

New plantings will be made in an area northwest of West Branch, Ogemaw county, and in Houghton Lake state forest in northwest Clare county.

The wild turkeys were hatched from eggs obtained from Pennsylvania earlier this year.

The wild turkey restoration project was initiated two years ago when some of the birds were released in Allegan state forest Evaluation studies indicate the gobblers are doing reasonably well in the Allegan and Lake-Newaygo areas.

---

Two forest fires were reported in the northern lower peninsula during the last week, with damage to slightly more than 15 acres. No fires were reported in the upper peninsula or the southern lower peninsula.

One fire burned 15 acres of the Baldwin district and another damaged less than an acre in the Gladwin district.

The latest fires boosted the year's fire damage to 2302 acres of state and private forests and grasslands. Damage totals do not include losses on federally-administered lands.

Seventy-eight confiscated rifles, carbines and shotguns will be sold to highest bidders in the Conservation Department's sealed bid sale at Gaylord, September 21.

The appraised value of the weapons ranges from $125 down to $3 and the sale is open to every*one except members of the De*partment.

The weapons will be on display at the Department's central repair shop at Gaylord between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., September 17-20.

Description lists and complete bidding instructions are available from the Department's field administration division, Lansing 26.

Michigan's 1956 hunting regulations on waterfowl and other migratory birds are slated for confirmation by the Conservation Commission at its September 6-7 meeting at the Conservation Department's Higgins Lake training school.

Earlier this month, the Commission approved game division recommendations and authorized Department Director Gerald E. Eddy to set up detailed regulations, based on Commission action, within the framework of basic regulations set by the federal government. The regulations now need only formal approval by the Commission.

Under the regulations set, only three changes were made from last year's hunting laws. These changes are:

No open season on wood ducks. Last year, one was allowed in possession.

A 30-day season on jack snipe, October 1-30. Last year, only 15 days were allowed, October 1-15.

A 70-day season, October 1-December 9, on rails and gallinules. Last year, a 60-day season, October 1-November 29, was permitted.

SCIENCE IN YOUR LIFE

Slim Summer

Being overweight is no joke at any time, but it can be particularly uncomfortable — as well as embarassing — in the summertime. Excess pounds can turn hot weather into torture, get in the way of summer sports, and make the heavy person reluctant to appear in a bathing suit.

Thus, spring is the time of year when reducing diets begin to blossom out in newspapers and magazines. Diets undertaken on a doctor's advice are helpful, for calorie-counting can be very effective in helping the overweight to get back into shape.

But maintaining sound nutrition is also essential. Patients who are eating less must be careful to continue taking in proper amounts of the essential vitamins and minerals — for loss of weight plus malnutrition can be a dangerous combination.

It is for this reason that weight-reducing aids such as Am-Plus, often prescribed by doctors to help the patient say "No" to second helpings, do much more than just depress the appetite. Am-Plus, for instance supplies 11 important minerals and eight essential vitamins — all in the same capsule.

Such compounds safely control the nagging day-in-and-day-out hunger for food, and satisfy the hidden tissue hunger for essential vitamins and minerals.

It is the same principle used at the famed Mayo Clinic, where obesity is treated by diet restriction, but all reducing diets providing less than 1500 calories contain a vitamin supplement.

Bridge Session Being Arranged

Because interest has been expressed in such a course, lessons in bridge are being arranged with Mrs. Walter McClain of Ann Arbor as the instructor. If a sufficient number of people register, a series of 8 lessons will be given at the Tecumseh Club beginning Sept. 17 and continuing to Nov. 5th meeting each Monday evening.

Lessons will be given to couples as well as individuals and will start at 8 p.m. Mrs. McClain is an expert in this field and has taught the subject to many would-be players. Anyone wishing to perfect his or her game may register with either Mrs. Carleton Cook, phone 98-M, Mrs. Earl Baldwin, 7010-R, Mrs. Clarence Champanois, 574-J or Mrs. Harry Richards, 957. It is necessary to have twenty tables to obtain Mrs. McClain's services and the deadline for registrations is Saturday, Sept. 15.

Tourist Industry May Decline

The travel department of the Auto Club of Michigan is analyzing the parks situation in the state of Michigan.

They report that the States 59 state parks and recreation areas have been a major factor in luring half of all Michigan residents to vacation within their own state, and in building a $600 million tourist industry. Millions of people from Indiana, Illinois and Ohio vacation in Michigan partly because of these parks.

But now they are falling apart. Parking and picnic areas, electric facilities, campsites and beach development are inadequate in many of the parks. Unless something is done soon, Michigan's tourist business will be affected. While California spends 74.3 cents, New York 44 cents and Florida 42 cents per park visitor on capital outlay, operation and maintenance, Michigan spends only 13.3 cents.

More money is needed both for maintenance and building at present parks and for acquiring land for the future. Desirable recreation sites on the Great Lakes, streams and inland lakes are being swallowed up swiftly by development which prevents public use.

Line Drive

by MEL OTT

JUST AS IN business and industry, baseball today is a game of specialists.

Batters are platooned to go either against left-handed or right-handed pitching, players get into the line-up either largely for defensive skills or else because of ability with a bat and now relief pitchers are specialized.

Where once relief pitchers were expected to replace faltering starters and finish out the game, no matter what the inning, today they are classified roughly as "long men" and "short men."

The so-called short men are effective for two or three innings in relief but thereafter they wilt. The long men, appropriately, can come in after only a few innings have expired and last out the contest.

Solved Bullpen Problems

It is necessary for a team to have both the long and the short variety to get anywhere today, and the Tigers for one have shown considerable improvement since solving these bullpen problems.

Al Aber and Walt Masterson have progressed to a high degree as short-duration pitchers. Jim Bunning, since his return from the Charleston farm, has revealed a true talent for long-term relief jobs.

Steve Gromek, too, has proved effective many times in lengthy relief chores, although he still gets some starting assignments.

Train Arms

Relief pitchers must train their arms for this particular kind of work. They throw the ball a little bit every day. They don't run as much as the starting pitchers, but they keep their arm strong and must be able to warm up in a short time.

Where starters take 15 minutes to warm up for a game, the reliefer must be ready in 15 pitches.

Above all, relief pitchers require good control.

Players like Aber and Masterson have trained themselves to throw strong for a few innings every day if necessary. Paul Richards of Baltimore says that ex-Tiger George Zuverink could pitch an inning every day but might not last a full game any day.

Power vs. Control

Bunning suffered before he conditioned himself as a long man. At Charleston, he started 20 out of 21 games and had ample rest in between. Pitching in relief with Detroit, his arm used to be stiff between turns but now he's trained himself for this sort of thing.

Some relief pitchers, like Ray Narleski and Don Mossi of the Indians, throw hard and overpower the batters. Others, like Alex Kinder of the White Sox and Al Benton when he was with the Tigers, are control pitchers.

Benton used to be good at throwing low, when men were on the bases, forcing batters to hit grounders that were simple to convert into double plays.

Band Boosters To Organize

Plans are under way for the organization of a Band Boosters Club to back up the activities of Tecumseh's high school band. Notices have been sent to all parents of band members in Senior or Junior high or in the sixth grade telling them of a meeting to be held in the band room at the high school building, Thursday evening Sept. 13 at 7:30. Details of the organization will be perfected at this time and it is hoped that all friends of the band, whether parents or not, will be on hand.

If Your Like Me

You live near a justice of the peace and know that he dishes out traffic fines but you aren't sure of his other duties.

In every place where people live they have to have someone to settle the neighborhood squabbles, quiet the barking dogs, restrain mischievous children, and to punish those guilty of petty offenses and misdemeanors. Our larger courts—or courts of record as they are called—could not handle their more important business if their dockets were cluttered up with small suits, traffic offenders, etc. In the cities these matters are handled by municipal courts or special justice courts but in the villages and rural areas and many suburbs the justice of the peace does the work.

The justice of the peace is a township officer—and must obe a resident of the township. The office was established by the constitution and each justice is an elected official and must run for office every four years. There are no educational qualifications for this job—however, a justice handles the public funds and must be able to post bond before he can be sworn in. There can be as many as four justices in each township.

In civil matters this neighborhood judge has exclusive jurisdiction of matters valued at $100 or less. This means that his is the only court where you may start your suit. For all matters up to $300 and certain cases up to $500 he has concurrent jurisdiction. In other words, you may start with him or with a higher court. However, he cannot hear real estate title disputes, libel, slander, or false arrest suits.

The justice of the peace also has power to hear crimes and misdemeanors punishable by a fine not to exceed $100 or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than 3 months—or both. For example, traffic violations, disturbing the peace, loitering and so on.

Of course, an accused has a right of trial by jury—a special justice court jury of six.

The justice does many other things such as arraign criminals, perform marriages, hear small claims against the school board and charges for overloaded trucks. All matters may be appealed to the next higher court.

Tecumseh BOOK SHELVES Library

BOOKLIST

"The Searchers," LeNay, A.

This story concerns the tough and quiet Texas cattlemen and the savage fighters and fabulous horsemen of the Comanche Indian tribe.

"A Dram of Poison," Armstrong, C.

A novel of suspense.

"So Far From Spring," Curry, P.

A beautiful contribution from an American writer to the small number of modern novels that are genuinely true to the life and people of the West.

"Jubilee," Brick, J.

This is the stody of a divided nation, of war and the men who fought it; but it is also the story of great love and loyalties.

"The Wind in His Fists," Jennings, J.

This is a tale of adventure, rich in action, absorbingly authentic in its 6th centry setting of the tempestuous Mediterranean at the time of the Turkish corsairs.

"The Girl He Left Behind," Hargrove, M.

"I Take This Man," Loring, E.

The 32nd. novel by this writer of love stories.

"The Diary of Anne Frank," Goodrich, F.

A searing study of the suspense and torture visited upon a group of Jewish people hiding out from the Nazis in Amsterdam during World War II, yet written with tenderness and respect.

"Tales from Shakespeare," Lamb, C.

This new edition of a classic will aid greatly in the simplification of the stories which Shakespeare gave to the world.

Hall-Slater Aux. Met Wednesday

Only routine business was conducted at the meeting of the Auxiliary of the Hall-Slater Post V.F.W. last Wednesday evening. Final plans were made for the 10th anniversary celebration of the Auxiliary which will be held Saturday evening, Sept. 22. There will be a planned potluck dinner and social meeting at the post home and all Post members and their wives, all Dad's Post members and their wives and all Auxiliary members and their husbands are invited to attend.

A Ways and Means committee was appointed consisting of Iris Slick, Gene Hess and Barbara Knight and it was announced that "Fall House Cleaning Day" would be held at the post home Sept. 13. This will be an all day and evening affair.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Earl Kruger.

The next meeting, Sept. 19 will be the annual paper party which is open to guests as well as members. Hostesses will be Mrs. Waldo Mohr and Mrs. Carl Kempf.

Realty Views

"Come on out and set the value on our property," a sincere owner urged us recently.

But, as we explained to this friendly owner, we do not "set values." Naturally, what he really wanted was our best estimate of the current market price.

Ordinary people—all of us who live here—make the values of local properties. An appraiser merely tries to interpret the "value" that is already there.

Some valuable commodities, such as automobiles, have well-established values because the product is limited to comparatively few models, of standard design, widely sold, and readily movable to more favorable markets elsewhere.

Real estate is different. While widely owned, each unit is unique. The nature of both the land and improvements can vary tremendously. And since each house, farm, or acreage is in a fixed location, the "supply" on the local market greatly affects the value. It takes specialized training to determine what the "value" is of a piece of property. There are numerous factors to consider.

If you plan to sell, let us help you. We are always "in touch" with the local real estate market and can give you an estimate of current "value." Then, we will guide you to a successful sale!

University of Michigan at Ann Arbor Sets Record of 22,300 Students on Campus

An all-time enrollment record will be set at the University of Michigan this fall.

President Harlan Hatcher has reported that at least 22,300 resident credit students will be enrolled on the Ann Arbor campus and that another 300 students will be attending the new Flint College, 54 miles north of Ann Arbor at Flint.

The previous enrollment record was set in the fall of 1948 during the "veterans' bulge" when 21,363 resident credit students were enrolled.

There will be these new items for the students:

1. A new automobile driving regulation which will permit students who are 21 or older to drive.

2. A new calendar under which classes start on Thursday, September 20. Traditionally classes have always started on a Monday.

3. Freshmen and transfer students are now required to take their physical examinations at home rather than during the registration process on campus.

4. This will be the first year for the College of Literature, Science and Arts' new foreign language requirements which substitutes actual proficiency in a language for a fixed requirement of credit hours.

5. The expanded and remodeled Michigan Union, men's social center, will be in full operation. A $3,000,000 project was rushed to completion in time for last June's commencement. All food service areas have been air conditioned, a new kitchen was constructed and a 400-seat Snack Bar was provided.

6. There will be 300 more married student apartments on the new 700-acre North Campus, bringing the number of apartments in this area to 400. Three hundred more will be ready by the fall of 1957.

Another new structure to be ready this fall is a $400,000 "Communications Center" at Michigan Stadium. The new unit, replacing the old Press Box, will provide expanded and modernized facilities for the sports writers, photographers and the radio and television personnel which will be covering Michigan's seven home football games. The new construction also has increased the number of seats in the stadium to at least 100,000.

Much interest will center this fall on the unique experiment being launched with the opening of the Flint College of the University of Michigan. The establishment of the college gives Flint a four-year college with Flint Junior College giving the freshmen and sophomore years while the new Flint College of the U-M takes care of the junior and senior years.

Flint College brings to 16 the number of schools and colleges which are a part of the University of Michigan. It also is the first to be located off the campus at Ann Arbor.

HELP YOUR Safety
PATROL

Michigan's 43,000 safety patrol boys will again try to equal last year's record of having none of their charges killed at guarded school crossings. They'll need the help of every child and of every motorist who drives near school areas. School children should obey instructions of patrollers. Motorists should be alert for the child who may suddenly dart into the street.

Jennifer Jones Stars In New Role

Jennifer Jones, who was once a Powers model and who certainly has the figure for it and who has been seen on the pages of Vogue and Harper's Bazaar in the latest fashions, has strangely enough seldom worn extensive or glamorous wardrobes for her film roles. As the small town schoolmarm in "Good Morning, Miss Dove," Twentieth Century-Fox's heart-warming CinemaScope picture in De Luxe color, which comes to the Strand Theatre on Sunday and Monday, Sept. 16 and 7, she once again wears one simple costume throughout most of the picture.

Miss Jones was very happy with her role in "Good Morning, Miss Dove" because she believes that everyone who has ever been to school will enjoy seeing the picture. The teacher she portrays in the film is a 55-year old spinster who is a strict disciplinarian, rules her classroom with an iron hand, and demands absolute obedience. At heart she is a gentle, understanding human being and the picture shows how her methods of teaching over a period of 35 years molded her pupils into better men and women. Her portrayal of Miss Dove already has been hailed by those who have seen previews of the picture as worthy of Academy Award consideration.

Robert Stack, has the co-starring role with Miss Jones in this CinemaScope production and the supporting cast is headed by Kipp Hamilton, a newcomer to the screen.

Frederick A. Swan Laid To Rest Friday Afternoon

The funeral of Frederick A. Swan was held at the Tecumseh Friends church Friday afternoon at 2 p.m. with the Rev. Alvin Brazee assisting the Rev. Edward Escolme, pastor of the church. Interment was in the family plot at the Raisin Valley Friends burial ground.

Mr. Swan was born in Tecumseh in 1875 but went to Florida with his family during his boyhood. He graduated from Moses Brown school (a Friends boarding school) in Provides, R. I. and received his A.B. degree from Haverford College with the class of 1898. In school and college he was an ardent member of the football team. Those who knew him best say that from early manhood his greatest interest was in research and he applied its principles of investigation to everything he did. He investigated many types of property and business problems for himself and others in the U. S. and Canada.

For many years he had been the district agent of the Provident Mutual Life Insurance Co. where he continued to apply the principles of investigation to help people to understand the basic facts of this work. He always sought to find the truth beneath surface appearance.

All his life he found pleasure in astronomy and for years had been a member of the Cranbrook Institute of Science, trying to interest others in the study of the stars so they might share the inspiration he gained from them.

Washer-Dryer Meeting To Be Tuesday, Sept. 25

Planning to buy a washer or dryer or do you have questions about the laundry equipment you already own?

Then, Lenawee County Home Demonstration Agent, Faye Nichols, suggests you attend the electric-automatic washer-dryer meeting to be held in this district September 25, Belleville, Wayne County, 4-H Fair Building.

Eight of these meetings are being held throughout the state by the Cooperative Extension Service to provide up-to-date information to those consumers who are buying laundry equipment and to home demonstration agents and high school home economics teachers.

Open to all, the day-long program starts at 9 a.m. with coffee and doughnuts and a chance to visit equipment on display. From 9:30 to 11:30 home management specialists, Lucile Ketchum and Coral Morris, and agricultural engineers, Donald Brown and Robert Maddex from Michigan State University will discuss planning the laundry area, equipment selection, hot water supply, wiring and waste water disposal.

From 11:30 until noon, water conditioning equipment and quality water will be discussed by leaders in the utility and water conditioning field.

The afternoon program will include discussions on detergents, bleaches and package water conditioners. Specialists will also tell of the washing action of all machines and explain just how washers and dryers work. The last part of the program will include a panel of all speakers who will answer any questions from the audience.

All during the day's session, Miss Nichols says, the women will have a chance to see a variety of machines which will be in operation.

The first meeting for the season of St. Elizabeth Altar Society was held September 5, with Mrs. Mable Whiting presiding. Thirty-two members gathered in the school auditorium at 8 p.m. and two new members, Mrs. Cal Roll and Mrs. Cecil Servoss were welcomed.

The guest speaker was Mr. Walter Romig of Detroit who is a publisher of Catholic Reference books and editor of the Guide to Catholic Literature and the Catholic edition of Who's Who.

Announcement was made that the activities committee would sponsor a Fur Modeling Show, Nov. 5 and Mrs. Lois Hendricks reported on the ice cream social given by the society in August. It was also announced that Christmas cards and wrappings were available through the society with Mrs. Robert Laidlaw in charge.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Harold Weakly and Mrs. Paul Breitenwischer and their committee.

The altar committee for September was announced as Mrs. Weakly, Mrs. Paul Valendra, Mrs. Robert Mohr and Mrs. Madonna Pask.

Refreshment committee for the October meeting will be Mrs. Ben McWilliams and Mrs. Louis Caterina, co-chairmen and Mrs. Lucille Limes, Mrs. Faith Cody, Mrs. Walter Mueller, Mrs. Virginia Hall, Mrs. Julia Kutzner, Mrs. Irene Lewis and Mrs. Joe Dziachan.

NEWS OF THE FARM

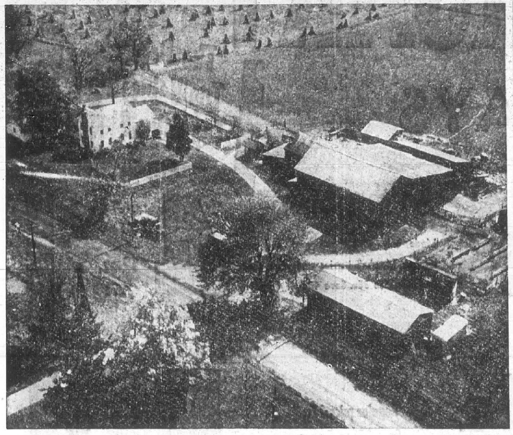
Mystery Farm Identified As The Farm Of Paul And Dale Bowen



The mystery farm appearing in last week's Herald and above has been identified, by the owners, as the farm operated by Paul Bowen and his son Dale. It is located at 2541 Occidental Rd.

The farm has been owned by the Bowen family since 1836. This is four generations of the family. It was purchased from Moses Bangs in 1836. It is estimated that the farm was first put under the plow around 1830.

Changes in recent years have included tiling and ditching as well as an extensive remodeling of the house in the spirit of early Michigan.

Paul Bowen is a widower. Mrs. Dale Bowen is Evelyn McKay Bowen. Mr. and Mrs. Dale Bowen were married in 1929. Their son is Lt. Dale Jerome Bowen who is a Marine stationed in Palms California. Their daughter is Mrs. John M. Sisson.

The Bowen's are engaged in general farming and wool producing. Their sheep are American Delaine breed. They farm 100 acres.

Two Cent Gasoline Refund Available Now to Farmers

"The farmer knows how many strokes of labor the dollar represents. His bones ache with the days work that earned each of them" . . . . Ralph Waldo Emerson.

The gasoline excise tax was originally placed on our statutes to help defray the cost of highway construction. The Congress, on April 2, 1956, realizing that the farmer uses a considerable amount of gasoline for non-highway purposes, enacted H.R. 8780, which relieves the farmer from paying for something he does not use.

The owner, tenant, or operator of a farm who buys gasoline is now entitled to a refund of 2c on each and every gallon of gasoline that he purchased during the period from January 1, 1956 to June 30, 1956, for use on the farm.

The application for this refund must be filed before October 1, 1956. The Internal Revenue Service has provided form No. 2240, that simply requires the farmer's name, address, and the number of gallons used during these six months for farming purposes.

Lenawee Co. Agricultural Agent's Column - - - - -

It doesn't pay to hedge on the "fly-free" date when you're planting wheat, says Lenawee County Agricultural Agent Louis Hall.

Hall points out that some farmers last year suffered almost complete loss of their wheat crop because they planted before the danger from the fall brood of Hessian fly was past.

The larvae of the insect develops between the leaves of the plant near the base. In the late fall or early spring the pupae or "flaxseed" stage appears. The adult fly emerges in the spring and lays the eggs for the generation that causes most of the actual damage.

The eggs hatch into larvae which feed on the plant tissues under the leaf sheath. This causes lodging and shriveling in the wheat. If the infestation is serious, the whole crop could be lost.

Several generation are produced during the summer if food plants such as volunteer wheat are available. However, as cool weather approaches in the fall, the flies begin to disappear. If there is no wheat available for egg laying, they die without providing for the next generation.

The date when most of these flies are gone varies with the area, but for a given county, it remains approximately the same from year to year. Wheat can be planted after this "fly-free" date without fear of Hessian fly damage and still have time to get established before cold weather.

Agent Hall says the fly-free date for Lenawee County is Sept. 26.

Hall says there are several practices that will keep fly damage down to a minimum in your wheat crop.

First, of course, plant after the fly-free date.

Second, avoid planting wheat following a crop of wheat, rye, or winter barley. If you can't avoid this practice, delay planting seven to ten days after the "fly-free date."

Third, don't leave stubble or volunteer wheat exposed in fields or near fields to be planted to wheat.

Finally, plant wheat varieties that are adapted to Michigan conditions. These strains have developed a certain amount of immunity to the Hessian fly.

Do you know how much milk each cow in your dairy herd produces?

If you don't, a simple and low-cost way to find out will soon be available to Lenawee County dairymen, according to Ass't. County Agricultural Agent C. C. Ingerson.

He points out that milk production figures for each cow in the herd will be provided by a new record-keeping system that wil lget underway Oct. 1. Dairymen can use these figures to cull out the low producing cows in the herd to boost profits and efficiency.

Extension dairymen at Michigan State University use cow production figures from an actual Michigan herd to show what culling poor producers can do. This 5-cow herd under dairy herd improvement association testing had a yearly production of 9,400 pounds of milk per cow. But two cows in the herd produced less than 5,000 pounds, which is below the average for the entire state.

By culling out these two low-producers, this dairyman could have raised his herd average 730 pounds per cow to a total of 10,130 pounds. Dairymen also point out that cows producing less than 6,000 pounds of milk per year barely pay their feed costs, let alone make a profit.

Agent Ingerson believes that county dairymen not already under DHIA or owner-sampler testing can profit by making use of the new system, which is called the "weigh-a-day-a-month" plan. The cost will be about 5 cents per cow per month.

Dairymen interested in this new plan can contact the Lenawee County extension office.

Solar Heat Dries Grain in Test Device at M.S.U.

Michigan State University is putting Old Sol's energy to use for drying grain.

An agricultural engineer has rigged up a solar heat collector and a device for blowing the air it heats into the bin. The gadget is believed to be the only one of its kind.

Actually, it's a scale model but a larger unit would work the same way. The collector of heat is made of a piece of sheet metal painted with black asphalt and covered with a sheet of glass.

The collector absorbs heat when the sun shines through the glass. The glass lets the heat go into the black surface but won't let it back out. The underside is well insulated for that purpose, too.

So, air can be blown along both sides of the metal sheet and it's heated as it passes through these half-inch-wide spaces. This, then, could take the place of air heated by electricity or fuel oil.

Buelow figures that if the collector had 1,000 square feet of glass and was tilted directly toward the sun the device would be heating air as warm as could a 722-kilowatt electric heater or a furnace burning two gallons of fuel per hour.

But what if the sun doesn't shine while you're trying to dry grain?

The air simply would not heat, admits Buelow. But, he hastens to add, this would not be a serious problem because unheated air would keep the grain from spoiling until Ol Sol reappeared.

If the grain needs heat at night a heat storage would be needed. Buelow has this figured out, too. It's a binful of stones that are two to four inches in diameter.

The stones would be in a straw bale silo about 12 feet in diameter and 12 feet high for bottling up the heat until it's needed. That means some surplus hot air could be blown into the stones to make them hot.

Then as the frigid night air is blown through the rocks it is heated in turn. So the drying process could continue, or the air could be blown into the house or the barn—wherever it's needed.

Buelow believes, however, that heat for grain drying from solar energy is much more practical than heating a house at the moment. The collector for a house and the installation would cost more than a conventional furnace.

Solar heating for grain drying can be practical now, contends Buelow, because the installation cost would not be great. The heat storage unit could be more crude than that needed for a house.

And the system for grain drying can be made to be more efficient than a house heating unit.

But just because solar energy heating may not have a big practical application for many things at the moment, the researchers aren't discouraged.

They says there is a great need for further research and development in solar energy devices because the fuel supply of oil, coal and gas is not inexhaustible. Cost of these fuels could go higher, too. But once you've made the initial investment in a solar energy device, they point out, the energy is free for the taking.

Editor's Corner . . .

By Phil Belleville

It is said that "in the modern world the intelligence of public opinion is one indispensable condition of social progress." Public opinion is often molded in great part by what we call the newspaper and the news in it. A very interesting fact that few people know is where the word news comes from. It comes from the four points of the compass, namely, North, East, West, South. This, to me at least, is a very appropriate derivitive.

* * *

I am particularly fond of Frances Bacon's statement on Mahomet. Bacon said "Mahomet made the people believe that he would call a hill to him, and from the top of it offer up his prayers for the observers of his law. The people assembled. Mahomet called the hill to come to him, again and again, and when the hill stood still he was never a whit abashed, but said, if the hill will not come to Mahomet, Mahomet will go to the hill." (I call this facing realities.)

* * *

War seems to me to be a state of affairs where men solve their international problems by ignoring those qualities which set them apart from the other animals. However it would seem that we would be gods rather than men if we always acted according to our unique, characteristics. Thus war may not be inevitable, but it is surely likely.

Isn't it a real pity that so many people have the idea that an agreeable person is one who agrees with them.

"New opinions are always suspected and usually opposed without any other reason, but because they are not already common." John Locke said this in 1690 in his essay on Human Understanding. I think that it is one of the most profound bits of human nature analysis in existence today. We too easily condemn a man because he breaks the bounds of conventional thought. Progress by definition is new and different ideas and ways of doing things.

Quaker Oats Company Likes Good Advertising

The Tecumseh Herald is one of 27 select newspapers which have been included in The Quaker Oats Company's current advertising campaign in communities where company plants are located.

Mr. D. T. Nixon, Plant Manager, said this year's budget for plant community advertising has been increased by nearly 40 per cent over the 1955-1956 budget. Newspapers carrying the current series of advertisements are located in 18 states from coast to coast, he said.

Newspapers have proved to be a very effective medium for reaching a large audience in communities where Quaker Oats plants are located, according to the company.

The current campaign will consist of nine advertisements — one a month — beginning this week. In addition to bringing in various Quaker Oats products, most ads in the series will feature a message and the picture of a local employee.

History Of County Band Festival Shows Work And Planning

A decade, or so, ago the school bands of Lenawee County did not put on the type of festival that we now see, every fall, in Tecumseh. The festivals of those days usually consisted of a number of bands simply playing and marching. This was all to the good — the bands played well. However, feeling the need of something more colorful and theatrical, an experiment was tried out in the fall of 1946.

Several neighboring school bands were invited to share in this venture which was to be the first attempt at the story type of program. Such shows as, "Mother Goose" and "The Old Woman in the Shoe" were put on at the Tecumseh Recreation Center, much to the delight of the audience. These shows, which were dramatic and colorful, were continued until the year 1950.

Then the first theme type of performance was tried out under the title, "This is America". Its success astonished everyone — its directors — its sponsors and all that had anything to do with it.

It has grown steadily since then and has embraced such themes as, "Seekers of Freedom" — "The Story Hour", "America the Beautiful" and "Builders of America".

To bring this mighty spectacle up to its present peak of popularity has taken a great amount of work and planning on the part of everyone in any way connected with the event. This includes the bandmasters and their students, the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce, and many individuals — especially the Rev. Blair Bashore, who has acted as master of ceremonies from the very start.

Mr. Camburn is grateful to those who have helped him develop this idea. Competent and friendly advice has been freely given, without which, this festival could not have reached its present stature.

Nowhere but here in America could this idea have had its birth. It is, indeed, fitting that we should have named our first band festival, "This is America".

Exchange Club Is To Sponsor Sale

The Tecumseh Exchange Club will have a blind products sale September 26. Walter Hochrein is chairman of the event.

Such an event may be described as follows: The National Blind Products Sales Company of Detroit hires blind people to make such items as brooms, ironing board covers, and clothes pin holders. Groups like the Exchange Club sell these products on special occasions and receive a small commission for their organization as well as the knowledge that they are helping to provide work for the blind.

Thus the Tecumseh Exchange Club will make a house to house canvas from 6:30 p.m. on Wednesday the 26th of September, to sell these products of the blind. Any proceeds retained by the club will go into the bleacher fund.

Old Pens Are Out Now

Postmaster Jack Metcalf has announced that the post office now is equipped with ball point writing pens. Thus the days of the old style pens are over in Tecumseh at least.

First Meeting Of Parent Teachers

Square and round dances to the music of Driscoll's orchestra will be the order of the evening at the first fall meeting of the high school Parent-Teacher's Association Thursday, Sept. 27. This will be a strictly social affair with no business meeting and will be held in the high school gymnasium beginning at 8 p.m. Every lady is requested to bring a "sack lunch" for two. Coffee will be furnished.

The officers of the association especially urge that parents of all the new students attend, as this is a "get acquainted" evening when city and country may learn to know each other and find they are all members of the same school district.

City Manager Reports Work Progresses Rapidly

The Tecumseh City Council Monday evening accepted a petition for a new ordinance, to be put before the people in the November 6th election, to adopt the use of Fluoride in city water in Tecumseh. Thus this highly debated issue will be decided at the polls.

The Council voted to accept the final plat of Brook Meade Subdivision. They also accepted the proposed plat of Sunset Meadows subject to the approval of the City Attorney.

City Manager Ed Nelson reports that the highway work has been progressing very nicely. One block on Shawnee and a block on Democratic have been given curb and gutter in the last two weeks. A block is also under way on South Union street.

....Seal coating has also been progressing rapidly. One block on Maple, Shawnee, Democratic and Van Buren has been completed. Red Mill Drive has been given a single coat. Further progress can be noted in the fact that the hill on N. Union Street has been cut down 22½ feet.

Storm sewer has been started on Park street. Park street will also get curb and gutter. Water mains have been laid on Pine and Cairns street. Work will start soon on a water main going north on Cairns street and west on Chicago. The water department has completed reading water meters for this quarter and now will check all fire hydrants for leaks to be repaired before winter.

Letter Writing Week Oct. 7-13

National Letter Writing Week will again be celebrated in City and State during the week October 7 to 13, Postmaster Jack G. Metcalf announced today.

Commenting on the significance of National Letter Writing Week, he pointed out that each year since 1938 this event has been observed as a reminder of the real meaning of a personal letter.

Emphasizing the traditional sanctity of the letter mail, Mr. Metcalf reminded Tecumseh residents that one of the basic American Freedoms is the uncensored transmission of their first class mail. It is the most valuable possession of the citizens of a free country.

"We all know the human importance of letter writing," he stated, "the way in which it holds scattered families together, of giving comfort and love and news to all the people of the land. But its value is immeasurably greater than that. Its implications are almost infinite.

"We in America have the privilege of uncensored and unlimited means of communication. With this in mind, I urge all citizens of Tecumseh to join me in this national celebration. Let's make National Letter Writing Week for 1956 the greatest ever."

Traffic Offenses Have Increased

Michigan State Police made 25,381 arrests during the month of July of which 23,822 were for traffic offenses. The overall total was an increase of 56 per cent over the same month a year ago, but traffic arrests gained 58 per cent.

For the first seven months of the year total arrests were 32 per cent higher than in the same period of 1955, while traffic arrests increased 33 per cent.

The figures do not include juvenile arrests.

Arrests of juveniles in July totalled 934, a gain of 12 per cent over July last year. Of these 566 were for traffic offenses ,an increase of five per cent. For the first seven months of the year juvenile arrests increased 32 per cent, but of these traffic offense arrests went up 41 per cent.

The increases are attributed mainly to more State Police manpower, as well as heavier travel.

Get Out And Vote It Is Important

It's time to start thinking about voting in the November 6 elections. It is the duty of every citizen, whether Democrat or Republican or Non-partisan, to express the privilege given him by our founding fathers.

People in countryside areas such as ours have 92 million out of our country's population of 165 million. This is 55 percent of all

Mayor Proclaims Sept. 26 Fire Prevention Day

PROCLAMATION

Whereas, The City of Tecumseh with the cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce, the Boy Scouts, the public schools, and the city officials, have invited the Fire Prevention Association of Michigan to conduct a fire hazard survey and educational campaign in Tecumseh; and

Whereas, the destruction of life and property by fire occurs daily in this nation, and is a serious drain on our national life, and the larger part of this fire waste could be averted through carefulness; and

Whereas, such effort should be made by this community and for the community, to so improve our conditions and inform our citizens;

I, Therefore hereby proclaim Sept. 26 Fire Prevention Day, and do request that all citizens cooperate, to the end that permanent and lasting results may be obtained.

H. H. Hanna, Mayor

Fire Prevention Day is officially proclaimed. Approximately thirty to thirty five State Fire Inspectors will be in Tecumseh Wednesday, September 26, to inspect mercantile establishments as well as schools, churches and the hospital. They will start their tour of inspections at 9:00 Wednesday morning.

The inspectors will tag everything not condusive to fire safety. They will also give the owner a booklet when they leave with unsafe conditions checked on it.

It is stressed that there is no cost to the city involved in this program. It is an effort by the capital stock fire insurance companies to help the public save lives, property values and dollars. It is sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Tecumseh. Delbert King is chairman of the event.

It is a program to offer prevention before cure is necessary. Analysis of the circumstances ot and cause of fires reveals that many of them are preventable in whole or at least in part. Obedience to a few fundamental principles can insure a maximum degree of fire safety.

There will be a luncheon on Fire Prevention Day at 12:00 noon in the American Legion Bldg. It it expected that over 100 will be in attendance. It will be jointly sponsored by the Rotary Club, the Exchange Club, the Kiwanis Club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Anyone is invited to attend this luncheon. Tickets may be purchased from Del King.

Goodwill Industries To Come September 24

Toys and other potential Christmas gifts, which have been discarded but which can be repaired are being stressed by Goodwill Industries for their pick-up this month. The truck will visit Tecumseh next Monday, Sept. 24 and those having articles to be collected should call Mrs. Carl Burch, phone 868. Mrs. Burch requests that calls be placed by Saturday, the 22nd.

Indians Will Face Monroe C. C. Friday

Eleven of the above hard fighting thirteen will probably be the starting line-up at the game in Monroe with Monroe Catholic Central. They are as follows starting with the left side of the line. First is end Lee Marsh, then follows Tackle Ed Covell, guard Dave Elliott, center Tony Kasik, guard Dave Merillate, tackle Ron Gurtzweiler and end Mike Walters. Starting with the left side of the backfield we have right halfback Gary Hanna, right halfback Bill Hanson, fullback Ray Larned, fullback Dick Baker and left halfback Al Dickinson.

These boys fought a hard battle Friday evening but were defeated 24-0 by a polished Hudson eleven. Knapp from Hudson scored four touchdowns for his team. He scored from 6 yards out in the first quarter. He came back again in the third and returned the kickoff for a touchdown with a 70 yard run. He intercepted a pass in the third quarter and ran it back for a 55 yard touchdown. His final touchdown came in the third quarter when he ran around left end for a 30 yard gain.

This was a good clean game with few penalties. Tecumseh was penalized for 20 yards and Hudson for 30 yards.

Tecumseh ran 55 plays and gained 138 yards. They threw 8 passes and completed one for a 3 yard gain. The local team had three long drives and was stopped within the Hudson 10 yard line twice. Al Dickinson piled up 70 yards for Tecumseh with an average of 4.4 yards per try. Bill Hanson averaged 4.3 yards per try. Tackle Ron Gurtzweiler looked very good in the Tecumseh line.

Tecumseh has a team this year that never lost its fighting spirit even when the score was 24 to 0. Coach Breniff says that he thinks that the biggest change in Tecumseh's football fortune since he has been here is the attitude of the boys. They are full of fight, however he says they will also have to learn how to play a little football.

Monroe CC is a tough team with good backs. This is the game that could make or break the Indian's season. If we beat them, we will definitely be a contender for the league crown. The boys will be out to avenge the 26-19 defeat handed them last year by Monroe.

Many June Graduates Begin Higher Education

Sunday was "take-off" day for dozens of Tecumseh's young people who were college bound. Students, parents and luggage filled the cars which filled the highways, leading to the Michigan colleges and universities. For some it was a return to a world of which they were already a part but to many it was an excursion into new fields.

Of the 1956 graduates of Tecumseh High School a good percentage are now enrolled in some institution of higher learning.

We have prepared a list of 1956 High School graduates that are starting college this Fall. It is complete as far as the resources available to us were able to report. The list of names follows with the name of the school they will attend:

Western Michigan at Kalamazoo —Betty Day. She will specialize in Music.

Eastern Michigan College of Education—Marcia Bashore, to study Occupational Therapy. Betty Barton, Physical Education. Luella Bishop, Mary Pat McCann, Shirley Larned and Judy Seidel, who will study elementary education.

Michigan College of Applied Science at Houghton—Larry Hooten and Albert Gebarowski.

Adrian College — Douglas LeFefevre, Jim Purkey and Beverly McClain.

University of Michigan — Don Partridge. He will study business with the aim of becoming a CPA. Val Spangler, Evans Golf School. Sharon Claxton who will major in speech correction.

Julie Crawford has already enrolled in St. Joseph School of Nursing in Detroit and Rosemary Murphy is also taking up nursing.

Several of the boys have entered or will enter military service, they include Jon Smith and Ronald Harris.

Many graduates plan to work for a time and enter school next year or later, among these is Harold Weakly who already has a job. Many more, especially of the girls, are married or plan to be married soon.

Merene Boltz, Betty Day and Don Partridge received the Herrick Scholarship upon graduation. Don also received the Regents scholarship as did Marcia Bashore. The new Lilley award went to Val Spangler and the Marion Hart Scholarship and the State Board of Education Award were won by Betty Barton.

University of Colorado — Barry Brock.

Michigan State University—Bob Benham, Merene Boltz (physical education), Sylvia Helzerman, (hopes to be a veterinarian) Ray Puffer (journalism) John Cadmus and James Dean.

Toledo Stautzenburger Business College—Vere Hart and Betty Vargo.

Toledo University—John Dennis.

Jackson Business University — Ernest Jeschke.

Alma College—Gary Marsh, liberal arts course.

Ashland University, Ashland, Ohio—Leo Lohrman.

William and Mary College, Virginia—William Browne.

F. F. A. Boys Show Crops At Co. Fair

The annual county F.F.A. judging contests will be held today at the Lenawee County Fair. All F.F.A. chapters in Lenawee County will compete in the judging of Dairy, Livestock, Poultry, Crops, Crop Pests defects and diseases.

The Tecumseh chapter will judge the following: Ag. I. Dairy, Ag. II Poultry and Livestock, Ag. III Crops, Crop Pests, and Diseases. Last year the chapter received a banner for winning 1st prize in the crops, pests and disease contest.

In addition to judging, the boys will show their crops and livestock projects, twelve boys are showing corn, five showing soybeans, one showing tomatoes, one showing rye, two showing wheat and one honey.

Woman's Society Holds Meeting

The September meeting of the Woman's Society for Christian Service of the Tecumseh Methodist church was held in the church parlors, the evening of Sept. 12, with Mrs. Carlos Jones presiding. Mrs. Edward Harper led the 22 members in the opening religious service, a note of appreciation was read from Mrs. Lenore West and the illness of four members was reported.

The president explained that all members will receive a new membership card to sign for the new year and announced the important dates to be kept in mind. They are; Sept. 24 when the executive board will meet at 1:30 p.m. to outline quarterly reports; Sept. 30, when there will be a Missionary Education meeting at the First Methodist church in Ann Arbor, beginning at 3 p.m. and including an evening session; Oct. 9, the Fall Assembly at Flint; November 8, the date set for the annual bazaar and public dinner; December 1, the Christmas Tree Lane Tea to be held in the church parlors. The date and place of the Study Course is yet to be announced. It is being organized by Mrs. W. G. Waldron.

Mrs. Aden Mead reported that eight children attended Judson Collins Camp this summer; Mrs. Robert Bonner and Mrs. Jones reported on their week at Albion which they found very interesting and helpful; Mrs. Edward Leighton said all literature has been ordered and will be received as soon as off the press and it was announced that Kay McClure would tell of her Caravan Trip at the next regular meeting of the Society October 10.

"The Spirit of Christ — for all of Life", which is the call of the Quadrenial of the church, started last June, was then explained by the program leader, Mrs. Harper. She introduced the study material and gave the goals of the Quadrenial of the church, started last June, was then explained by the program leader, Mrs. Harper. She introduced the study material and gave the goals of the Quadrenial for every member of the society as follows; First, to commit herself to the spirit and principles of Christ for the whole world; second, to accept responsibility in the total program of the local church; third, to interpret the place of the educational institutions of the Womans Division of Christian Service in the world mission of the church; fourth, to confront the local church with the challenge of recruitment for Missionary and Deaconess service; five, to create a fellowship without barriers in the local church and community; six, to identify herself with the people of the world; seven, to speak and act boldly in Christ's name for justice and peace for all people. As the goals were presented each step was illustrated in pantomine.

Grade School News . . . . . .

CENTRAL SCHOOL NEWS

The close of the first full week of school and things at Central seem to be moving along smoothly. There are five hundred thirty-three children enrolled at present. Safety patrols have been organized and are functioning. Two new buses have been added and even the smaller children are having little difficulty finding their own bus. A teacher is on bus duty each night so bus children are supervised. Mrs. Maples and Mrs. Rumpf are on noon playground and lunchroom supervision.

In room 105, Miss Lukens and her first graders have been talking about one of their community helpers, the policeman. Pictures of policemen drawn by the children, stop lights and stop signs have helped to make their room more colorful for the beginning of the school year.

In turn, the children are also learning how to help mother by learning to set the table correctly. Each morning two children set the table and two children check to see if everything is placed just right.

Beth Frownfelder brought in a pretty butterfly for the children to enjoy watching and several children have brought flowers to brighten the room.

The children in Mrs. Neitling's first grade are playing many games using right and left. These games are fun and they will help us to go from left to right when we begin reading from our big book.

So far, we have learned to recognize the names of four colors.

We take turns putting our room in order before we go home at night. This helps the custodians and also teaches us to be good housekeepers.

Nina Robinson brought two unusual lilies in a corsage to Mrs. Miller's fourth grade room. Since we are studying plants in Science, her flowers started us to bring other flowers. We are learning the names of the kinds of flowers grown in Tecumseh gardens.

There are sixteen girls and eighteen boys in Mrs. Baily's room. All but one were in Tecumseh Schools last year. Donna Norman is new from Detroit.

Mr. Sawyer's fifth grade have started the new plan for art this year which is the working of art in with the various subjects. For the first intergration of art, we have made drawings of some of the events, places, and people studied in our social studies class. We have some very good pictures of Paul Revere's famous ride, George Washington, and others. These may be seen decorating our room.

For science, we have an ant colony under observation in our room.

Mrs. VanWinkle and her second graders have been spending the past few days getting acquainted with one another. We've enjoyed drawing pictures about what we did during our vacation. We are sure that second grade is going to be a lot of fun but we are planning on being good hard workers, too.

Mrs. Puffer's second grade has twenty girls and only nine boys this year. Several children in this room have interesting hobbies. Gary Spillman brought seventy-three shells that he collected this summer. Patty Wilson has her rock specimens on display on the hobby table. Other children plan to exhibit their hobbies during the year.

Mrs. Schwartz has twenty-two boys and fourteen girls in her room. They like their new spelling books. The science books look like fun, too.

Mrs. Thomas' room is thirty-eight third graders strong. Dennis Richardson brought two turtles to school to visit us.

We made some character faces or funny faces for our art work. It was such fun thinking of ideas for them.

Mrs. Callihan's fourth grade group is interested in live things. So far, five turtles have been here as well as a toad. These live animals make science much more realistic.

The boys and girls in Mrs. Whiting's room have been bringing their hobbies to show to the rest of the room and we are using these in our science class.

Mrs. Becker's sixth grade have aranged a display on safety. They are collecting insects on the side as a room hobby.

They wrote letters to friends in the room for English. Last week they told the class about their vacations.

Band Boosters Elect Officers

There were nearly 75 "Band Boosters" at the initial meeting last Thursday evening in the high school band room. Officers were elected for the year with Wilmer Kaiser as chairman, Harry Beland as vice chairman and Mrs. Luther Kemp secretary and treasurer.

The Boosters plan to meet once each month, the date for which will be announced. It is hoped that these meetings will be attended not merely by the parents of band members but by everyone else who is proud of and interested in the band. Several fund raising projects were discussed but no decision was reached at this meeting. The care, cleaning and general maintance of the new uniforms is a responsibility which has been assumed by the Boosters.

Patterson P.T.A. Meets Tonight

The first meeting of the school year of Patterson Parent-Teachers Association will be held this evening (Thursday) at the school house. The first 45 minutes will be an open house, beginning promptly at 8 p.m. Parents will go directly to their children's home room. Name tags will be supplied, with varying colors for the different grades. The prescribed courses of study for the year and methods whereby parents may help their children will be discussed and the teachers and staff are very anxious that all parents be present for these important interviews.

Room awards for the highest attendance of parents will be given again this year. A short business meeting will be held in the gymnasium following the open house and President J. C. Cook and members of the executive board will present P.T.A. plans for the year for discussion.

Mrs. Bertram Updyke and Ray Schlegel, program co-chairmen will have the program books on hand for distribution and the membership committee headed by Don Purky will be in the lobby to receive membership subscriptions.

Mrs. Byron Goodman and her committee, Mrs. Jack Metcalf, Mrs. Wayne Selders and Mrs. Roger Linger will serve refreshments with the assistance of the sixth grade mothers.

TIPS FOR SURVIVAL

FCDA Offers Practical Defense Against Fallout

In a split second during the pre-dawn hours of a morning in November 1952, radioactive fallout came of age as a potential hazard to every living thing.

Since then, millions of words have been written and spoken about it. We are told that it cannot be detected by any of the human senses, only by radiation detection devices. It can hitch a ride on the wind for hundreds of miles from a nuclear blast, settle to earth even in remote places and make entire areas temporarily uninhabitable.

BUT WHAT, ACTUALLY, is fallout? Can its movement be predicted? And what can people do to protect against it?

Fallout is nothing more than tiny dust particles blasted into the air when a nuclear weapon's fireball intersects the earth's surface. This material is then made radioactive by the fireball, and thus carries dangerous radiation to wherever the dust falls.

By plotting high-altitude winds, weather men can predict the area of fallout, and tell approximately where it will land. Radiological monitoring would then establish specific fallout patterns.

People can protect themselves mainly by staying under cover, and tuning a battery-operated radio to emergency civil defense frequencies for expert instructions. A basement makes a fair shelter, an old-fashioned root cellar an excellent one. This is because only 1/5,000th of the radiation that would hit a person in the open will penetrate three feet of earth.

MOST IMPORTANT, remember that fallout leaves no margin for errors, or amateurs. For example, just because the surface wind is blowing from a "safe" direction doesn't mean that the winds above 10,000 feet—which would usually dominate the direction of fallout—weren't blowing some other way. Only the experts have the equipment to predict fallout areas.

Reverend Cole Conducts Revival

The Rev. Mrs. Mildred Cole of Detroit is conducting a revival at the church of God, 605 S. Pearl street. These services began Sunday, Sept. 16 and will continue through Sept. 30. The Rev. Mrs. Cole is widely traveled and well known for her outstanding ability as a singer and preacher throughout eastern United States and the West Indies.

The pastor, the Rev. T. L. Cruse and his congregation extend a cordial invitation to the public to attend these spirit filled, Pentecostal services and hear the message brought by Mrs. Cole. Meetings begin each evening at 7:30 p.m.

Tecumseh People In College News

Among graduates of the University of Michigan who received their degrees during the summer are Thomas R. Rice of 404 Center Drive, Tecumseh with a Bachelor of Science in Engineering and Donayld J. Berkley, 716 Ternes Road, who completed work for his Master of Arts degree recently.

Information received by the Herald from Michigan's two largest institutions of learning mentions three students from Tecumseh and vicinity. The honor roll of Michigan State University lists Marion E. Titley's name as appearing during the spring term of 1956. Students on this roll are those who maintained an average of B-plus or better. Their names are now on display in the University Union building.

Not Always For Emergencies

Last week the Herald ran a picture of the new ambulance that Collins Funeral Home has purchased. We called the vehicle an emergency vehicle. This was not accurate.

Ambulances are not necessarily emergency vehicles. Frequently they are used in accidents and other emergency situations when speed and safety are required but this is not their only or perhaps most frequent use. Ambulances, like the one pictured last week, are designed also for and frequently used as speedy, comfortable, and adequately equipted transportation for convalescent cases etc. that are plainly not emergencies. In this instance, they provide the most comfortable and safest transportation possible for those you care the most about.

World Traveler At St. Peter's

"Singapore Joe" Fisher, above, world traveler and adventurer of the old school, will narrate the showing of his full color film "The Changing Orient" at St. Peters Episcopal Parish House, next Monday evening at 8 p.m. Sponsored by the St. Peters Men's Club, everyone is invited.

Born in Cape Town, South Africa, Mr. Fisher has traveled around the world 14 times. He has found adventure on Safaris across the Kalahari Desert, into the heart of China to the source of the Yautze River, and on journeys by ox cart, camel, river steamers and Chinese junks, in shipwrecks off the African Coast and in the Yellow Sea. His main interests are theatrical and film enterprises, but he has done everything from managing the great Pavlova to shipping elephants to the United States.

Hospital Aux. New Members

Four new members were announced at the September meeting of the Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary. They are Mrs. Herbert Newman, Mrs. Jack Brown, Mrs. Joseph Galazzi and Mrs. Cal Roll.

Mrs. Robert Bowers conducted the religious opening and the business session was in charge of Mrs. Robert Fuller, auxiliary president. There was a discussion of the project to divide the organization into smaller, more compact and active groups. This matter will be taken up at the next meeting. The suggestion was also made that the auxiliary sell fruit cake for Christmas as a fund raising project.

Hostess for the evening were Mrs. Ruth O'Neil, Mrs. Homer Colson, Mrs. Paul Keyser, Mrs. Robert Bowers and Mrs. O. W. Laidlaw.

Presbyterian Men To Entertain

The men of the Tecumseh Presbyterian church will entertain delegates from the 28 churches of the Lansing Presbytery, Sunday afternoon, Sept. 23. These men will be delegates to the regular fall meeting of the Lansing Presbytery Men's Council which will be conducted by the president, John Lockerbie of Lansing. Members are expected from an area including Howell, Lansing, Hastings, Battle Creek, Hillsdale and Blissfield.

Featured on the program will be an officer of the National Conference of Presbyterian men, Mr. Leigh Kagy a lawyer and businessman from East St. Louis, Ill.

John Saling, president of the Tecumseh Chapter will welcome the men to the session which opens at 4 p.m. and the Women's Association will serve dinner at 6 p.m.

All Tecumseh Presbyterian men are invited to attend this regional meeting and give the visiting delegates a warm Tecumseh reception.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS

from The Bible

We have thought of Thy loving kindness, O God, in the midst of Thy temple.—(Psalms 48, 9.)

If we go to church merely as a formality or habit—or if we just sit there passively listening—what is the benefit, where the devotion? Rather should we affirm in our hearts, each individually and personally, God's abiding mercy and love, and strive in righteousness to earn them.

Bridge Lessons Are Started

Twenty-five tables were filled at the Country Club, Monday evening, when Mrs. Walter McClain, bridge expert from Detroit gave the first of her eight lessons. The committee in charge of the course are very gratified over the interest shown and over the enthusiasm of the players. Mrs. McClain is an experienced teacher and is herself a tournament player.

Mrs. Carleton Cook who has organized the course of lessons says other players may join the group at the next session if they so desire. For the next few weeks Mrs. McClain will meet with new players at 7:30 p.m.

First Meeting of Extension Group

The first regular fall meeting of the Raisin Green Bees Extension Group was held Monday evening at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. George Downard. There was no formal program for this meeting and the members spent the time completing their 1956-57 year book. Mrs. George Halberstadt, the new chairman conducted a short business meeting during which it was voted that, in the future, all members unable to attend must notify the hostess of the month in advance.

The October 22 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Halberstadt when Traffic Safety will be the topic of the evening.

Line Drive

by MEL OTT

IT IS NOT entirely impossible that when the next American League campaign begins, James Arthur Small will be a regular member of the Detroit starting line-up.

Although he still makes mistakes and has a great deal to learn, the 20-year-old bonus player is surprising not only the Tigers but the rest of the league with his substantial hitting.

Jimmy, who signed a reported $30,000 bonus contract in 1955, was scheduled to be farmed out for further seasoning next June when his enforced two-year tenure with the Tigers expired. But if he continues his solid batting he will go nowhere but to Briggs Stadium.

Poise of Veteran

The young left-hander may well turn into "another Kaline," as many say, which would not be exactly good news to the rest of a league already envious of the the Tigers' good fortune with Adept Albert.

Small, who won't be 21 until next March, already possesses the poise of a veteran at the plate. He is confident of his hitting ability and, greatly in his favor, he isn't attempting to knock down any fences, just get a piece of the ball.

He has learned to pull the ball, to hit through the middle, to hit to the opposite field. The fastest man on the team, he's also learned the value of the bunt.

As a fielder, he looks better in center field than in right, getting a better line on fly balls from the mid-field vantage point.

Practices Early

Virtually everybody on the Tigers has sought to assist the youngster. Even opposing players, including the illustrious Ted Williams, who took him aside for 20 minutes, have proffered advice.

For all of this, Small is grateful. But even more he prefers to get on the field by 10:30 in the morning and have someone pitch to him for a half-hour or so. Young Jimmy Briggs, son of Spike and a close friend, frequently takes on this task.

Should Small follow in Kaline's footsteps, someone among the regulars would have to yield. Bill Tuttle, despite his superb defensive skills, may find his job in peril—unless Small is converted into a first baseman, as Earl Torgeson suggests. In that case, Torgeson might be out of a job.

Baseball Background

Small, who possesses a solid background in baseball, is the grandson of Bill McCarthy, president of the Pacific Coast League in the 1920's. A second cousin, Bill Cunningham, was a centerfielder with the New York Giants shortly before I came up. I knew him slightly.

Small's dad, John, was a shortstop in the semi-pro Timber League around Portland, Oregon, where Jim was born. The family moved in 1946 to San Jose, California, where Jim played on the high school team in addition to playing American Legion and semi-pro ball.

California baseball, from February to October, helped greatly in his early development. Now the Tigers are attempting to polish up what may well be a diamond in the rough.

The next article under Link Reports will be the construction and care of putting greens. It is felt that people would like to understand how top greens are cared for. Leo Bishop reports that the Tecumseh Country Club Greens are well known throughout Michigan and have the reputation of being the top greens in Michigan if not best in the country.

Postmaster Jack G. Metcalf, announces that the 1956 Federal Migratory Bird Stamps can be purchased at the Tecumseh Post Office. Waterfowl hunters are required to purchase this stamp and carry it with them. The owner must sign the stamp in his own handwriting.

Unfavorable spring weather caused a 15 percent drop in pheasant production, but hunters are expected to bag about 1,000,000 birds this fall if weather and other hunting conditions are normal.

Ralph I. Blouch, Conservation Department pheasant specialist, said studies indicate a 15 to 25 percent decrease in the kill this fall, compared to last year's ex-

FORD Trucks COST LESS

Ford initial costs are still low. Smart truck buyers know this—they also know that Ford on-the-job costs are low.

Take operating costs—no other trucks with engines of comparable horsepower can beat Ford-pioneered Short Stroke engines for gas and oil economy. And with Ford trucks, you get money-saving Short Stroke power in every model—V-8 or Six.

Take maintenance costs—day-in, day-out dependability is a major reason why Ford trucks cost less. It means less downtime, lower repair costs, more work output.

And take durability—Ford trucks are built stronger to last longer. This accounts, too, for Ford's traditionally high resale value.

So consider everything when you buy—you'll buy Ford.

Giving The Lie To Communism

"We are rapidly making capitalists out of butchers, bakers and candlestick makers," says the Apollo, Pennsylvania, News-Record.

This statement was made in an editorial concerned with some facts that were recently made public by the country's principal stock exchange. It has been found that about 8,630,000 people now own shares in our corporations, a jump of 33 per cent in four years; that two-thirds of them have incomes of under $7,500, with $4,200 as the average figure, and that, significantly, the greatest growth in share ownershiu has taken place in the grass roots — that is, in communities of populations ranging from 2,500 to 25,000.

The News-Record points up the most important thing about all this by saying that it gives "the lie to Communists." They, and other left-wingers, have said with weary monotony that big business is owned by the few, at the expense of the many, and that the way to help the poor is to soak the rich. These catch-phrases were never based on more than half-truth, and today they are plain lies. There has never been a country, in history in which good things of life were more widely shared than in this country—including ownership of enterprise.

To quote the News-Record once more, "It is, after all, people who make capitalism work."

Neither All Hero Nor All Villian

An inflexible pattern seems to govern the nomination of candidates at both the national political conventions. Each nominee for office, no matter how obscure or what his record, is made to appear an incredible combination of every virture, without a single fault or vice. Thousands of lush words are spent in over-gilding each lily.

Then, when candidates are finally chosen, these successful ones are extolled in even more extreme terms. The opposition is often characterized, at least in effect, as consisting of fools, knaves, or a combination of both.

Many people have come to believe that this technique is a basic political necessity. But past history contains examples of an entirely different kind. For instance, a presidential candidate who was to have a very great future was given a nominating speech of exactly 27 unadorned words. Here is the speech in full: "I desire on behalf of the delegation from Illinois to put in nomintion as a candidate for the persident of the United States, Abraham Lincoln of Illinois."

During the coming months we will be barraged from all sides by the claims and arguments of aspirants for office. It will be good indeed if a reasonable number of these speeches are based on logic and reason instead of blatant emotion—and if the fact is recognized that neither party nor anyman is all hero nor all villian. As Herbert Hoover said at San Francisco: "From the day of its founding, men and women of the Republican Party have lead our country to safety in many great crises of freedom. Men and women of the Democratic Party, too, many times in that party's long history have served freedom to the full."

Realty Views

"Do you think you can sell our house before too long?" Mr. Morley asked seriously. "I've been offered another job in Virginia, and it's too good to pass up. Naturally, I'd like to get the family moved there as soon as possible. But I'm going to have to leave next week."

"Yes, we can sell your home for you," I assured Mr. Morley. "However, I'd like to talk over a market condition with you while you're still in town. New mortgage money is tight. This makes it impossible for many potential buyers to consider your home if you demand your full equity in cash. Temporarily, until such time as mortgage money is more plentiful, it may be necessary for you to accept a reasonable down payment and carry the balance on a contract sale for deed. Naturally, the Purchaser would agree to refinance and cash you out as soon as possible."

Mr. Morley nodded. "That sounds all right. We'll probably rent for a little while when we first get to Virginia. I'd like to be sure I like the new job, and to look over the city, before buying. So go ahead and sell it."

Study Hangtags Before Buying

Hangtags on new garments should be carefully studied, according to textile and laundering experts at American Institute of Laundering, the research and educational center for the professional laundry industry.

With the growing popularity of cotton in sportswear, the problems of chlorine retentive finishes continue to grow. Garments whose hangtags warn against bleaching in chlorine bleaches probably will be ruined if the directions are not followed.

Wrinkle resistant finishes especially should be watched. White garments must be bleached to retain their whiteness. If they have been finished to be "wrinkle resistant" they should be bleached with a perborate type bleach. These bleaches can be identified by the label marking "Safe for Wools and Silks."

The ease in caring for "minimum care" garments can be questioned. Textile and laundering authorities at A.I.L. point out that many hangtags on these garments are as extensive as text books. Some tags carry seven-or-eight step washing directions and run from 100 to 200 words. The results promised on the tag usually are highly qualified.

Circle Seven of Assoc. Has Met

Circle 7 of the Women's Association of the Presbyterian church, whose meeting had been postponed for one week, met at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Boyce with 22 members and guests present. After a short business meeting and devotions by Mrs. Bobbie Robinson, the group enjoyed a most interesting and amusing talk by the Rev. W. C. S. Pellowe, pastor of the First Methodist church of Adrian. Dr, Pellowe reviewed his book "Laughter Under the Steeple" relating many of his own experiences and those of his friends of the cloth which had provoked laughter during his nearly 40 years as a pastor.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. LeRoy Titley and Mrs. Harold Kempf and it was announced that the next meeting, Oct. 2 would be held at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at the home of Mrs. Donald Ketteman in Tipton.

Quaker's new "idea center"—nerve center of research to keep Quaker's business healthy and growing—are these Research Laboratories recently completed in Barrington, Ill. The staff here works continuously to improve Quaker Oats products and methods. As a result, jobs of all Quaker employees are made more secure, because the company is able to keep up with changing markets and consumer preferences. Quaker Oats, as a Company, always has an eye on the future. From this new building will come many of the developments which will mean easier and better living in the years ahead.

MANY folks here in this community work for The Quaker Oats Company. It's known far and wide for lots of famous products, including Quaker Oats and Mother's Oats.

You can't help noticing a feeling of pride in people who work for the Company. Not only in what they help produce, but in all Quaker products. It's a family pride. They like the idea of living up to past tradition and moving ahead with the times, too. (A good formula for any business, isn't it?)

New Quaker oatmeal is smoother than ever. There's an extra creaminess that especially appeals to children. And the high-protein content supplies needed strength and energy for busy days at school.

As you enjoy these cereals, you'll share some of the pride your neighbors have in all The Quaker Oats Company products.

Talented Model Car Makers May Win $115,000 In Prizes

Eighteen university scholarships worth $38,000 and another $77,000 in cash and other awards are the stakes in the 1957 Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild model car competition.

Enrollments for the competition are being accepted now, it was announced today by James P. Wines, secretary of the Guild.

Boys born in the years 1933 through 1940 are eligible to enroll in the senior division; boys born in 1941 through 1945 may enroll in the junior division. An enrollment card may be obtained by writing to the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild, General Motors Corporation, Detroit 2, Michigan.

Approximately 1000 public and parochial schools throughout the country will be visited this fall by field representatives of the Craftsman's Guild to explain the model car building program.

A booklet on model car design and construction is given to each boy enrolling in the Guild. Prepared by professional designers and engineers, it is the only textbook of its kind for boys wishing to learn about automobile design.

Since 1930, the Fisher Body competition has awarded 160 university scholarships valued at $484,500 to national winners. Approximately $800,000 in cash and other awards have been made to thousands of boys winning state and regional honors. The Fisher Body model car competition has become nationally famous as one of industry's most successful talent sources. A survey of former winners revealed that the same dreams that help a boy design and build an award-winning model car help most of them to become prize-winning adults, too.

Awards for the best models entered in the Guild competition include eight university scholarships for the national winners of the Junior and Senior divisions of the competition. In each age group the awards will be: 1st — $5,000 scholarship; 2nd — $4,000; 3rd — $3,000; 4th — $2,000. In addition, ten $1,000 scholarships are awarded to boys showing exceptional designing ability.

Civil Air Patrol Has New Classes

Officers of the Civil Air Patrol, which meets every Thursday evening in the Sage building, are announcing the organization of new Cadet classes. They meet at 7 p.m. and are open to all boys of fourteen or older. The age limit has been dropped one year to admit high school freshmen who can thus become a part of this vital branch of Civil Defense before they become involved in too many other activities.

Approximately 50 per cent of the workers in the Printing Industry are organized into the seven leading trade unions.

Harvella Widney Funeral Held

Several people from Tecumseh attended the funeral of Miss Harvella Widney in Adrian Saturday afternoon. Miss Widney, who at one time lived in Tecumseh, will be remembered here as the daughter of Mrs. Alfred James. She taught for a period in the elementary schools here.

She was born in Ottville, Ill. eighty-two years ago, graduated from Adrian high school and from Adrian College and taught in the Adrian schools. She was a past First Reader of the First Church of Christ, Scientist. A sister, Elizabeth (Mrs. Everett Grout) who was librarian of the Tecumseh Public library during their residence here, preseded her in death two years ago.

Miss Widney was survived only by cousins, and a sister and brother-in-law. Funeral services were held at the Braun Funeral Home Saturday afternoon and were attended by Mrs. Ralph Westgate, Miss Bess Pulver, Miss Edith Ingersoll, Miss Bertha LaPointe, Dr. Mary Swan and Miss Beth Satterthwaite.

It's Bonanza time at Buick Dealers'!

—And Smart Folks are buying Now

THERE NEVER WAS a better time to start enjoying a gorgeous new Buick.

Take today's '56 Buick prices. They're not much higher than those of the smaller cars. Frankly, who can tell if they'll ever be as low again?

Take trade-in allowances. It's a fact that a volume dealer can afford to give you the benefit of any doubt. It's another fact that the beautiful '56 Buick is more strongly than ever in America's top three best sellers. You can draw your own conclusions.

Take the season of the year. Ask yourself—isn't it time to turn your present car out to pasture before its excellent value today goes down, down, down?

Above all, consider all you get in a big, roomy, solidly built '56 Buick. The pride of being years ahead, today. Advanced styling, advanced power, advanced ride, advanced everything. And best of all, you get wonderful new advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow*—with a double helping of take-off and a sweet new kind of control.

So doesn't it all add up to a real bonanza of value? Drop in and we'll prove it does. And hurry—the sooner, the smarter!

Bonanza Trade-in Allowance

—because your present car is at its peak value right now. And because—with Buick so solidly set as America's No. 3 Best Seller—our bigger sales volume permits us to make you an even better trade-in allowance.

Bonanza Buy

Buick prices start right next to those of the smaller cars. But those Buick dollars buy you a whale of a lot more automobile—more room, more power thrill, more styling freshness, more ride stability, more solidity of structure—the Best Buick Yet.

Bonanza Resale

A Buick always resells high. But the '56 Buick will bring you even more money when you trade it because it carries today's new Variable Pitch Dynaflow.* It's the most advanced transmission yet developed—and the only one that breaks with the past to bring you the switch-pitch performance and gas savings of the modern plane's variable pitch propellers.

It's a great time to buy a Buick

P.S. We have some especially good buys right now on the high-powered CENTURY and the extra-spacious SUPER. Better see 'em real soon!

NEWS OF THE FARM

Last Week's Mystery Farm The Titley's

Last week's Mystery Farm belonged to Mr. and Mrs. Herman Titley who live on M-52, 1 1/4 miles south of Billington's Corner, 7 miles north of Adrian.

The family has been on the farm since 1907. This includes 2 generations. Michael Wilson was the previous owner. Recent changes include remodeling the house.

Herman Titley and his wife, the former Mary Mohr, were married October 14, 1925. They have a son Dorman who lives at Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, a son Dale who is still at home, a daughter Ruth who is a senior at Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit and a daughter Marion Hittenrauch who resides in Lansing.

The Titley's worship at the Tipton Community Church and belong to the Farm Bureau and Grange.

They are engaged in general farming on their 117 acres. They have 15 head of Holstein cattle.

Mr. and Mrs. Titley received $5.00 worth of free merchandise from Ben's Market for being the owners of the Mystery Farm. They will also receive a free framed aerial photograph of their farm from the Herald.

Lenawee Co. Agricultural Agent's Column - - - - -

Lenawee County dairy farmers can get an accurate culling and feeding guide for their herds for as low as 5 cents a cow per month.

This is possible through a low-cost record keeping system that gets underway in Lenawee County Oct. 1, according to Ass't. County Agricultural Agent C. C. Ingerson. The system is called the "weigh a day a month" plan and is being sponsored jointly by the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

For this low fee, the monthly milk production, total production to date and the yearly total production for both individual cows and the entire herd is calculated. The farmer weighs the milk from each cow in his herd, morning and night one day a month and sends the recorded weights to the Lenawee County extension office. Arrangements will be made there for the necessary computations.

To show the value of culling low producing cows, Agent Ingerson cites this example: Cow producing 6,500 pounds a year, about the average for Michigan, returned $125 over feed costs last year. A 20-cow herd would have returned $2,500 above feed cost.

On the other hand, the average cow in dairy herd improvements association testing returned about $225 above feed cost. A herd of 20 of these cows would have returned $4,500. Dairymen in these groups have used testing results such as returns above feed costs to cull out the low-producing cows.

Beans Shown At The Fair

F.F.A. Boys Show Corn At County Fair

Chicago Dairy Show Will Be A Many Featured Event

The first entries for the 4th annual International Dairy Show reflect the international character of this relative newcomer in the dairy exposition field.

The management reports exhibition herds of Jersey and Milking Shorthorns from Maryland, New Jersey, and Massachusetts among the first to come in, and other early listings include herds of purebred dairy animals from Canada, the West coast, and Georgia.

The show will be held October 6 to 13 in Chicago's International Amphitheatre.

The continent's finest farm animals of the 6 breeds that supply the nation's milk will compete for $40,000 in cash premiums and for scores of valuable sterling silver trophies. These breeds are the Ayrshire, the Brown Swiss, the Guernsey, Holstein, Jersey, and Milking Shorthorn.

The Chicago show has been designated by the American Jersey Cattle Club as the national show of the year of that breed, and auction sales of prize-winning Guernseys and Holsteins will add interest to these two breed competitions.

The International Guersney Cattle Sale will be held in a special sale area of the International Amphitheatre on Wednesday night, October 10, at the conclusion of two days of Guernsey cattle judging. The International Holstein Cattle Sale is scheduled Saturday morning, October 13, following the Holstein show on Thursday and Friday, October 11 and 12.

Freezers Help The Farm Budget

Farm families with freezers have more total food at a little less cost than farm families who do no home freezing.

According to figures from a family food consumption survey done by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in north-central United States, farm families with freezing facilities had more home produced food, especially meat and frozen fruit and vegetables.

For example during the week of the survey, farm families with frozen storage ate food with a retail value of $7.25 a person, but the food they bought came to only $3.75 a person. Of this food, 46 per cent was home produced.

In contrast, farm families without frozen storage ate food worth $6.70 a person and of that $4.15 was bought. Only 37 per cent of this food was home produced.

Non-farm families with freezing facilities had somewhat more home produced food than those without, but they spent as much to buy food. Those using freezing space had about $7.10 worth of food a person during a week, including $5.75 bought. Home-produced food amounted to 13 per cent. The non-freezers had food worth $6.40 per person, with $5.65 bought and 8 per cent home produced.

Changes Needed For Good Living

Many of the farmers in the central and north central portions of Michigan will need to make a good many changes in their farming in the next decade if they are to make a good living.

That's the conclusion of Richard Wheeler, a research farm economist at Michigan State University, after a close look at some representative farms in Mecosta county.

According to the last census, there are more farms in Mecosta county with gross sales of $2,500 to $5,000 than with gross sales of more than that. Even $5,000 is considered small business for a full-time farmer these days, Wheeler points out.

So, a boost in farm prices of 15 to 20 per cent would hardly help a farm with gross sales of $3,500 yield a good living for most families, he adds.

Many of the farms in the area are operated by young men who want to do full-time farming and get an adequate family income.

But how can they do it on 60 to 100 tillable acres of sandy land and sometimes depleted soils?

Wheat Profit If Yields Over 20

"You're just working for your overhead and not for profit if your wheat yields are under 20 bushels," according to a well known agronomist.

He backs up this statement with facts and figures: Land preparation costs average $35 per acre in all wheat areas. These costs break down to: disking and harrowing $4, seed and seeding $5, labor and overhead $3, harvesting $5, taxes $3, and interest on land and investment $15.

With wheat at $1.75 net, and fixed costs at $35, it will take 20 bushels per acre just to pay actual costs. All your profit will be in the bushels over 20 that you raise.

Here's why more farmers choose

Twentieth CENTURY
MANUFACTURING COMPANY
AC ARC WELDERS
TWIN CARBON TORCHES

There's more than one reason why Twentieth Century Welders are a favorite among farmers who know good welding.

First and foremost . . . they'll tackle, and turn out "to a T", any welding job. Just dial the right heat for the job, and put your Twentieth Century Welder and Carbon Arc Torch to work:

Cutting metal — Brazing
Drilling holes — Bending and shaping
Soldering — Hard Surfacing

AND . . . Twentieth Century Welders save you time and money.

NOW . . . You can quickly and easily repair or replace worn or broken parts on automobiles, tractors, trucks, on all farm machinery.

AND . . . with a Twentieth Century Welder, you can easily make pieces of new equipment.

Take the work out of welding, with the welder that "fits" your farm—a Twentieth Century Welder. Come in. See us for information and demonstration.

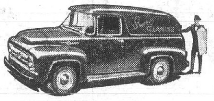
Ford tandem axle BIG JOBS are rated to carry more payload than comparable tandems of any of the leading manufacturers. T-800 model has max. GVW of 45,000 lb.—GCW is 65,000 lb.



Ford's F-100 Custom panel is one of the top load carriers in its class. It provides 155.8 cu. ft. of cargo space in a smooth, fully lined interior and hauls up to 1,535 lb. of payload.

The hardest-working, biggest-saving "two-tonner" of them all is the Ford F-600. Only Ford offers a Short Stroke Six and three Short Stroke V-8's in this field. Max. GVW is 19,500 lb.

FOR BIG JOBS . . . SMALL JOBS . . . ALL JOBS

Ford Trucks cost less

Ford's F-100 pickup with 8-ft. box is the biggest in the half-ton field—up to 19 cu. ft. more loadspace than the others. Regular 6½-ft. box with a full 45 cu. ft. capacity also available.

And low first cost is only your first saving

COME IN TODAY!

● Before you buy your next truck, look at both sides of Ford's story of value. Check what you get and what it costs. You'll like what you see.

Look at the costs. Ford's first cost is low. Resale value is high. Modern Short Stroke engines—V-8 or Six—are designed for less friction, less wear, lower running costs. Maintenance costs are lower, too, because Ford trucks are built stronger for rugged long life. And a 10-million truck study proves Ford trucks last longer.

Look at what you get and you'll see you get more in a Ford. For example, more horsepower per dollar—proved by a comparison of factory-suggested list prices and net horsepower of all truck lines. You get more comfort and safety in Ford's Driverized Cab with exclusive Lifeguard features.

Look carefully . . . consider everything. You'll agree Ford trucks cost less, give you more. If you want a great deal—a great deal more for your money—see your Ford Dealer.

FORD TRUCKS LAST LONGER
Using latest registration data on 10,502,351 trucks, insurance experts prove Ford trucks last up to 9.9% longer.

The Macon Methodist Sunday School meets at 10:00, church services at 11:00 a.m. Junior Choir practices Thursday at 7 p.m. Senior Choir practices Thursday at 8:00 p.m. Junior M. Y. F. meets at 4 o'clock on Sunday. Senior M. Y. F. meets at 7 o'clock on Sunday. Anyone interested in any one of these groups are invited to attend.

Invitations were received this week to attend the fortieth anniversary of Rev. Dial E. Simons in ministery. Rev. Simons will preach his anniversary sermon Sunday, September 23 in the Trenton Methodist Church at 10 a.m. Followed by dinner at Wabeek's Tea Room in Wyandotte at 1:00. Rev. Simons was minister in the Clinton and Macon churches for several years before going to Flat Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gorton presented a white cross to hang on the dosal cloth, to the church. Mr. and Mrs. George Pinkerman and family presented a pulpit lamp to the church.

Mrs. Clare Gillespie opened her home to the first fall meeting of the Macon Woman's Club, Thursday. Following a cooperative luncheon, Mrs. Melvin Travis the president, conducted a business meeting, followed by a program.

Mr. and Mrs. Cousino of Monroe spent Sunday with their son Emol Cousino and Mrs. Hazel Maddox and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hughs and their daughters of Tecumseh have moved into Clayton Bigelow's tenant house vacated by the Harry Reidy family.

Mrs. Clarles Ricicia has returned home from Herrick Memorial Hospital where she had surgery.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Bigelow were his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wright of Pontiac and his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Avery Bigelow of Oxford. Sunday guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bigelow and family.

Miss Margie Papp left Sunday afternoon for Ypsilanti where she will attend Normal College.

Miss Lorna Dicks was a patient in the Herrick Memorial Hospital where she had her appendix removed on Thursday evening.

New sidewalks are being laid across the front of the church. The yard is to be landscaped. A new oil furnace is soon to replace the old one.

Mrs. Mildred Moore spent Tuesday and Wednesday at Port Huron Methodist Camp, attending the planning of the Detroit Conference Missionary Education Conference to be held in Ann Arbor First Methodist Church on Sunday, September 30 at 3 to 9 o'clock. This is sponsored by the Woman's Society of Christian Service, the Conference Cabinet Board of Christian Education and Board of Missions.

Anyone interested in joining or helping organize a Hobby Club is invited to meet Thursday, September 27 at 1:30 at the home of Mrs. Ruth Howells.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Moore Sr. and Hamilton F. Moore called Sunday afternoon on Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dorriel, Mr. and Mrs. James Brooks and family near Sand Lake and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Moore in Adrian.

Twenty-nine million young pine trees are available now from Conservation Department nurseries for fall plantings.

Red, white and jack pines, ranging from 2" to 12" in height, are sold for reforestration plantings and may not be resold or otherwise used commercially.

The trees are available in various age classes and prices vary according to class and species.

Interested persons can obtain order blanks, price lists and complete information by writing to: Conservation Department Forestry Division, Lansing 26.

Editor's Corner . . .

By Phil Belleville

I wonder how any intelligent being could believe in and advance the doctrines of socialism? One close look will reveal that it might as well be called catchwordism (to coin a phrase).

By socialism, I am not referring to the Russian brand of socialism or communism or what ever you wish to call it. Needless to say, this brand of socialism with ruthless tyranny attached to it stands on even weaker ground (if possible). I am referring to the milder brand of socialism such as that advanced by certain intellectuals (not to be taken as meaning intelligent) here in the United States as well as the type advanced in Great Britain. This form puts foreward the belief that the State (Nation) should own and control the means of production and distribution. In other words, all production would be on the same basis as the U.S. postal system is now. The government would own the producing facilities and everybody would work for the government. What would be produced would not correspond to what the producer could sell and make a profit on, thus what the customer wanted, but what a planning board decided was what the people wanted. A group of men perhaps no larger than a dozen people would have to decide what they think millions of people want to buy.

A socialist will brag that if profit is eliminated, immediately a saving is brought to the consuming public. This is not so. Sure the profit is eliminated but for some reason unexplainable to the socialist planner, the goods cost the public more on a cost basis than they did when a profit was made. This is not difficult to explain. Incentives have been lost by the lack of the profit motive. Thus production must be less per unit of capital. A bureaucracy of government employees must be hired to handle all of the additional red tape necessitated by artificial attempts to organize a nations economy. Companies are not forced to be efficient and measure up to the yard stick of economic success or go broke. A company in a socialist system cannot go broke unless the government goes broke. Competion is all eliminated similar producing units all combined under one grouping. Needless to say, efficiency is lost without the rigors of competition to keep it in line.

In addition to this superficial look at some of the economic issues involved, there are many human and personal issues involved. I cannot see the point advanced by the socialists that the working man is being exploited by the capitalist and desires only to throw him out and put themselves in control. I think the average working man, in the United States, far from desiring to overthrow the capitalist (employer) would like to become one himself someday. In other words instead of wanting to beat and defeat him in the long run, wishes to join him or at least have his children or grandchildren become a capitalist. Sure we have labor-capital disputes and problems, but they are day to day problems and not the outburst of a long run philosophy of overthrowing capitalism.

Young people are very likely to lose the freedom of choosing the type of work they wish to devote their lives to. Since the government controls production and the means of production and distribution, they must treat labor like any of the other raw materials available to them in their scheduling of production and place it where they think it is needed most. There is not the automatic mechanisms such as higher wages in certain industries whose products are highly demanded to allow freedom of choice and efficient allocation of labor at the same time.

This editorial only scratches the surface of the advantages of capitalism. I hope it serves to stimulate your thinking the next time you hear socialism mentioned in a favorable light.

COUNTY BAND FESTIVAL OCT. 2

National Bowling Week October 7 through 14

The National Bowling Week competition is open to everyone in the nation, age 18 or over, to match bowling skills with champions Bill Lillard and Anita Cataline for valuable prizes during the period Oct. 7-14.

In order to compete, an entry fee of fifty cents, is required with each official entry blank. These can be obtained at the Tecumseh Airport Bowl. Mr. Clifford Preston has charge of the blanks.

All entry fees will be turned over to the American Red Cross. October 7 to 14 has been designated National Bowling week and the Red Cross designated as sole beneficiary. Each year the National Bowling Association selects some organization to be the recipient, and this year because of the heavy drain made by the many disasters, Red Cross was chosen to share with the national organization in the money raised. All who participate in or would enjoy bowling are urged to see Mr. Clifford Preston for further information.

Compete in this event if you are a good bowler or even if you know nothing about it. You will enjoy yourself and carry away the knowledge that you have helped the red cross.

New Bleachers Will Be In Use Friday

Workmen have begun construction on the new Recreation Field bleachers. The above photo shows only a part of the area that will be covered by bleachers.

Program Is Announced For Annual Musical Event

This title of "One World" the theme of this great outdoor event is not a mere play on words but it points to an era in which we must live. From the time of the primitive ox cart man has dreamed of conquering space. He has been so persistant and successful in his quest for triumph over great distances that he is now being compelled to revise his thinking. He must plan his activities with the thought of "One World" in mind.

That is the story of this, the tenth annual Lenawee County Band Festival. It will tell how, through transportation and communication, the world is becoming one instead of many countries.

One of man's first mode of transportation was made possible by the invention of the wheel. With the wheel he made the ox cart. The "Ox Cart" theme will be played by: THE BRITTON BAND.

Man takes another step when he discovers that he can use the power of the wind to push his canoe along. The exact origin of the sailboat is unknown, but it has enabled people to travel distances before unthought of and it finally conquered the ocean. The "Sailboat" theme will be played by: the ADDISON BAND.

One would not consider the balloon as a medium of transportation but in the year 1783 two men — one an American — crossed the English Channel in a balloon. The first balloon ascent in America was at Philadelphia in the year of 1794. In 1935 two army officers ascended to a height of 72,000 feet in a balloon. We are all familiar with the weather balloon which can ascend to a height of 20 miles. The balloon has been one more of our steps in the conquest of space. The "Balloon" theme will be presented by the: SAND CREEK BAND.

The horse and buggy has been with our forefathers for many generations, and it was the great means of transportation for those who had never had the chance to ride on a railroad or steamship or sailboat. It was the forerunner of the automobile and, indeed, most of the early autos were simply gas powered buggies. The horse and buggy had its day and that day was a romantic one. The Clinton Band will tell us of those times when the young man courted his sweetheart with a shiny new buggy drawn by a spirited black horse. The "Horse and Buggy" theme will be presented by the: CLINTON BAND.

Samuel Morse, writer inventor and public figure braved poverty and even hunger to give us the telegraph. In the year 1844 a telegraph line financed by the U.S. Congress was built between Washington and Baltimore. When it came time to send the first official message over this wire Samuel Morse true to his promise to Miss Annie Ellsworth sent the following words: "What Wonders Hath God Wrought". One more step in the conquest of the elements. The "Telegraph" theme will be presented by the: MORENCI BAND.

The first American railroad was built in Massachussetts in the year 1826 and it was used to haul granite for the Bunker Hill Monument. It was, however, not until after the gold rush of '49 that there became a great public demand for railroad construction. In the year 1869 the Union Pacific and the Central Pacific railroads were completed to the place where they met at Promontory Point, Utah. Two locomotives were driven face to face. A gold spike was driven. A bottle of champagne was broken on each enjine and

Indians Down Falcons 19 to 6

Rebounding strongly last Friday night from the previous week's defeat by Hudson, the Tecumseh Indians traveled to Monroe where they rolled over Monroe Catholic Central, 19-6, for their first win of the season.

This win marks the first victory for Tecumseh over the Falcons in six straight years. Last year, the Indians led Monroe at the half, 19-6, but were defeated, 26-19. This year, things were different.

Receiving the opening kick-off on their 27 yard line, Bill Hansen, Al Dickinson, and Ray Larned combined to move the ball to the Falcon's five, setting up Tecumseh's first score. Larned chalked up the first of the Indians' three td's, but failed in his attempt to kick the extra point.

After taking the Tecumseh kick-off, it looked as if the Monroe team would rack up a touchdown. However, the Tecumseh defense stiffened and halted the Monroe drive on the Tecumseh 30. At the end of the first quarter the score stood at 6-0 in favor of Tecumseh.

In the second quarter the Indians again dominated the play. They didn't score, though, until 30 seconds before half time. Bill Hansen, gathering up a Falcon punt on the Monroe 48, romped untouched down the sideline to notch the score at 12-0. This time, Larned succeeded in converting, and at the half, Tecumseh led, 13-0.

The third quarter was the only period in which Monroe was able to penetrate the Indians' forward defensive wall. As a result of a bad punt, they took control of the ball on the Tecumseh 37. After moving to the 23, the Falcons scored their lone td on a run by halfback Jack Gerson. Gerson also tried to run for the extra point, but was stopped short of the goal. The score then was Tecumseh 13, Monroe 6.

In the fourth period, the Indians' clinched the game with one last touchdown. With a little less than half the quarter gone, Larned recovered a Monroe fumble on the Falcon 25. Tecumseh drove to the one, and then Dickinson scored on a lunge through the center of the Monroe line. The rest of the quarter consisted of an exchange of punts. The final tally showed Tecumseh on top, 19-6.

During the game, the Indians made 13 first downs while Monroe gained only seven. Tecumseh connected on two of three passes thrown, while the Falcons completed one of two.

Without a doubt, Tecumseh would not have faired so well without the excellent offensive and defensive play that the Indian linemen displayed. Time and again they opened gapping holes in the Monroe line for the Tecumseh backfield while, on defense, they kept the Falcons bottled up for a large part of the game. A great deal of Tecumseh's yardage gained was made by Larned's plunges through the line and Hansen's end sweeps. Dickinson and Yoakum also contributed their share.

Most outstanding on the Monroe team was Jack Gerson who was the Falcons' main yardage gainer.

This victory puts the Indians in first place for the time being in the Southeastern League since neither Bedford, Airport, nor Hillsdale have played any league contests yet. The Indians' game here at Tecumseh with Airport tomorrow night will decide whether Tecumseh remains in top position or not.

Hansen Is Named Number 1 Player

Bill Hansen was named last weeks most outstanding player for Tecumseh under a new policy inaugurated this fall. The player named the outstanding player in each football game will have his name inscribed on a football.

After each game, the football will be presented to the boy named the outstanding player in that game. The football will then be placed in the school trophy case since it does not become the property of the player.

Several Local Organizations Held A Noon Luncheon Yesterday Sept. 26

There was a luncheon yesterday, Wednesday, Fire Prevention Day sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Club, the Exchange Club and the Kiwanis Club. It was held at 12:00 noon in the American Legion Building.

Chairman Delbert King reports that there were 100 reservations and many more in attendance. Robert Moriarty, President of the Michigan State Fire Prevention Association, was the principle speaker. Mr. Moriarty introduced a film and revealed nationwide statistics on loss of property and life ance of the fire prevention program and the necessity of acting on the information gained by the Tecumseh inspections.

Few people realize it but more people die and are injured this time of the year by fire than by polio. Yet few people give it as much attention.

The luncheon was the noon event of the fire inspections in Tecumseh where approximately thirty State Fire Inspectors were in Tecumseh to inspect merchantile establishments as well as schools, churches and the hospital. See last weeks Herald.

Arlene Randolph Given Sentence

Arlene Randolph, age 27, was sentenced Friday to serve 15 days in the county jail for neglect of minor children.

This resulted from the fact that, a few weeks ago, a local garageman saw three children abandoned in an automobile on main street in Tecumseh and notified the police. The children were comforted as much as possible and given water by the garageman. Meanwhile, local police found the woman leaving a local tavern. She was arrested by local officers Rodehaver and Cox. At this time, a petition was filed against her in probate court. The children were turned over to their father Kenneth Randolph.

Consumers Power To Move By Oct. 15

1500 Watch The Cam Twisters

The Tecumseh Cam Twisters held their Sunday drag race September 23, at the Tecumseh Products airport. It is reported that approximately 1500 were in attendance. Ninety cars and 10 cycles competed.

The Cam Twisters are a group of drivers devoted to promoting safety and furthering road courtesy. They also give young mechanics the incentive to create and design more efficient pieces of precision machinery.

Cars were entered Sunday by the following Tecumseh people: Chuck Des Ermia, Peter Brock, Walt Davenport, Raymond Morley, Dale Reitz, Dean Pitheam, Dale Campbell and Bob Creger.

The group is supervised by Tecumseh Police and the County Sheriffs Department as well as the State Police.

The group wishes to announce that it would appreciate it if spectators would stand behind the fence at the Sunday drag races.

The Sunday programs are organized as follows. First time trials are held and cars classified in various classes. Then, eliminations are held in the various classes. After this a run off is held for the cars coming out in top position in the class eliminations. Finally,

Police Report Local Arrests

Local police report the following arrests and convictions: Carl Federspir was arrested for unlawfully driving away an auto but later had the charge reduced to reckless driving by order of the prosecutor.

Federspir backed into a tree and drove the car, belonging to Charles Wheeler, down town. He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Van Deusen of Clinton. He paid fifty dollars in fines and four-thirty in costs. Federspir was also given thirty days of probation.

Steve Smerekanich was arrested September 21 for assault and battery. He paid twenty dollars in fines and four dollars and thirty cents in costs. Smerakanich was arraigned before Justice L. G. Van Deusen of Clinton.

Sammie Stuart Lee was arrested for drunk and disorderly. He pleaded guilty and paid a ten dollar fine and ten dollars and thirty cents costs. Lee is from Ozan, Ark.

E. D. Thomas was arrested for carrying a concealed weapon. He was carrying a thirty-two caliber automatic in his trunk. Thomas is from Ozan, Ark. also.

He waived examination and was bound over to Circuit Court. His bond was set at one hundred dollars. No date as yet is set for the hearing.

Helen Halsey, age 24, of Fairlawn, Adrian, Michigan was picked

Products Employment To Jump In The Fall

This ocean of automobiles is not Times Square on a Saturday night. It is an every day scene at the Tecumseh Products parking lot. The company is employing around 4000 at the present time. Mr. R. W. Herrick, Chairman of the Board of Tecumseh Products, states that they expect to employ between 4900 and 5000 employees later this Fall. Workers drive as far as 45 miles every day to work in Tecumseh at the Products.

Hill-Fairbanks Double Ring Ceremony

MRS. ARTHUR JACK HILL

Autumn colors predominated in the setting of the wedding of Judy Ann Fairbanks and Arthur Jack Hill, Saturday evening in the Methodist church. The bride, who is the daughter of Mrs. Fred Fairbanks and the late Frank W. Fairbanks was given in marriage by her uncle, Fred Fairbanks. The parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hill of Clinton.

Yellow pompoms and gladioluses in hampers and baskets were combined with palms and lighted candelabra about the altar where the Rev. Horace James performed the double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m.

Preceded by her four attendants, a flower girl and ring bearers the bride made a beautiful picture in her wedding gown of taffeta and lace. The bodice of Chantilly lace over taffeta had a scalloped batteau neck line and the hooped skirt was fashioned of taffeta and net with a simulated apron of lace. A scalloped chantilly lace cap held her veil of French illusion and she wore an heirloom bracelet which was a gift of the groom. Eucharist lilies and lilies of the valley formed the cluster on the lace covered Bible she carried.

Miss Shirley Larned, the maid of honor wore a gown of green crystalette over yellow taffeta whose sleeveless fitted bodice had a dropped waistline and whose full skirt was worn over hoops. She carried a cascade type bouquet of cream and yellow pompoms. The dresses of the three bridesmaids, Mary Lou Partridge, Mary Pat McCann and the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks were of identical design with that of the maid of honor but were of yellow crystalette over yellow taffeta and their flowers were shaded bronze pompoms. The costumes of all four were completed by matching crownless hats and all wore pearl earrings which were gifts of the bride.

William Jedele assisted the bridegroom as best man and Dan Gilleylen, Douglas Fairbanks and Robert Waltz were the ushers.

Debbie Sue Fairbanks, the flower girl and a niece of the bride wore a dress which was a small replica of that of the bride and carried a tiny white and yellow nosegay in a colonial setting. All the gowns of the wedding party had been made by the bride's mother with the assistance of Mrs. Jeanette Bailey.

Little Gary Lee Fairbanks of Tecumseh, who is a nephew of the bride and Randy Gilleylen, a nephew of the groom from Hudson were the ring bearers, carrying the rings on satin and lace pillows.

Mrs. Fairbanks choose a sheath gown of light blue jersey for her daughter's wedding and wore with it black accessories and a shoulder corsage of gardenias and red rosettes. The bridegroom's mother Mrs. Hill wore a sheath styled dress of charcoal gray and her accessories were winter white. Her gardenia corsage was accented by pink rosettes.

Mrs. Kenton Hunt was at the organ before and during the ceremony. She played traditional selections and accompanied Miss Rosemary Murphy when she sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly" and then "The Lord's Prayer" as the bridal completed their vows.

Following the ceremony the 300 guests were received in the church parlors by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rukl Jr. of Macon who acted as hosts for the occasion. Mrs. Dan Gilleylen, sister of the bridegroom was in charge of the guest book, Miss Sylvia Helzerman and Gail Douglas cared for the gifts, coffee was poured by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Lon Dickerson of Toledo and Merene Boltz and Judy Seidel served the punch. The decorated brides cake was cut and served by Mrs. Jeanette Bailey and Miss Claudia Cook while Mrs. Douglas Aylesworth, Miss Marcia Bashore and Miss Julie Crawford were in charge of the ice cream. Yellow and green were the colors used in the decorations of the serving table and of the reception rooms.

When the newly-weds left for a weeks trip the bride was wearing a charcoal grey sheath dress with a matching jacket and had pinned the corsage from her bridal bouquet to her shoulder. She is a graduate of Tecumseh high school with the class of 1956 while the groom graduated in 1955 from Clinton high school. After the first of October Mr. Hill will be employed at Marv's Market in Tecumseh and they will live with his parents in Clinton until the completion of their new home on Rogers Highway.

Hall Slater Post V.F.W. Aux Celebrates Anniversary

The tenth anniversary of the Auxiliary of Hall Slater Post V.F.W. was celebrated at the Post Home Saturday evening, Sept. 22 with 53 members and guests present for a ham dinner. More members came in for the festivities later in the evening.

The table was set with a beautiful centerpiece which was the gift of the post. Cream colored gladioli with red centers were combined with red carnations and gilded Bells of Ireland and with golden 10 numerals. The birthday cake in three layers was decorated in yellow and blue and was topped with ten candles. It was made and decorated by Mrs. Lloyd Stites, the Auxiliary president.

Mrs. Waldo Mohr gave a brief history of the Auxiliary to open the program which followed the dinner. A letter of regret was read from the Commander of the Sixth District. The Sixth District President, Mrs. Mabel Fabreau of Lansing, the Sixth District secretary, Mrs. Inez Myers of Lansing and Mr. and Mrs. Wyman Campbell, past district officers were introduced and spoke briefly and Commander Filter congratulated the Auxiliary on the part of the Post. Glenn Driscoll, President of Dad's Post also spoke and all members of that post who were present stood and were recognized.

A glamelia corsage was presented to Mrs. Fabreau from the auxiliary and Mrs. Lloyd Stites, auxiliary president presented members with their 10 and 5 years pins. After the Pledge of Allegiance the audience enjoyed a social evening of cards and dancing with Mrs. Harlan Boyes as general chairman.

Members who received their ten year pins were Mrs. James Artman, Mrs. Robert Butler, Mrs. Grace Coffey, Mrs. Jack Curtiss, Mrs. William Davenport, Mrs. Glenn Driscoll, Mrs. Ethel Hammack, Mrs. Charles Irelan, Mrs. Carl Kempf, Mrs. Waldo Mohr, Mrs. Walter Mueller, Mrs. Florine Smith, Mrs. Hilda Will, Mrs. George Wittrup and Mrs. Russell Hall. All of this list with the exception of Mrs. Hall are also charter members.

Five year pins were given to Mrs. John Applegate, Mrs. Roy Beasley, Mrs. Harlan Boyes, Mrs. Richard Brighton, Mrs. John Braden, Mrs. Frank Daechne, Mrs. Ray Dahlke, Mrs. Warren Filter, Mrs. Robert French, Mrs. William Fielder, Mrs. George Hay, Mrs. Arling Heavener, Mrs. D. # No Festival By Presb. Women

At the recent meeting of the Presbyterian Women's Association it was decided, after considerable discussion, that the association would not hold a fall festival as it has in the past. Mrs. M. R. Blanden conducted the meeting which was held at the Fellowship Center and Mrs. David Murphy was in charge of the devotional period.

Circle 3 entertained the association that evening and provided the speaker who was Dr. Robert Grant of Adrian, the head of the Lenawee branch of the Huron Valley Child Guidance Clinic. Dr. Grant spoke on the responsibility of the home and the church in child development with the comment that if both functioned properly there would be little need for his work.

Garden Club Met Friday

The first fall meeting of the Garden Club was held at the home of Mrs. William Stearns Friday afternoon with a large attendance. It was the annual member flower show and in spite of the [illegible] many arrangements were on display. Mrs. Kenneth Ringman and Mrs. David Ousterhout of Ousterhout's Flowers were the exhibit critics and made helpful suggestions for future arrangements.

Mrs. Charles Kempf, Mrs. Robert Bonner and Mrs. Clayton Bigelow were the hostess committee who served refreshments at the close of the show and Miss Mary McWilliams was chairman of the event.

The next meeting, Oct. 19 will be at the home of Mrs. Thos. O'Hara.

All Church Dinner Nov. 1

A meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Peter's Episcopal church was held Thursday afternoon with the president, Mrs. Thomas O'Hara conducting the business session. Mrs. E. C. Dickin led the devotional period and the members voted to sponsor the Brownie Troop whose leader is Mrs. Russell Cooper. They also made plans for the all church public dinner to be held in the Parish House, Nov. 1. There will not be a bazaar, but a limited number of articles will be sold in connection with the dinner. Mrs. O'Hara will be general chairman of this event. It was also announced that in the future children of members will be cared for in the Parish House while they attend the meeting.

LOSE UGLY FAT IN TEN DAYS OR MONEY BACK

If you are overweight, here is the first really thrilling news to come along in years. A new and convenient way to get rid of extra pounds easier than ever, so you can be as slim and trim as you want. This new product, called DIATRON curbs both hunger and appetite. No drugs, no diet, no exercise. Absolutely harmless. When you take DIATRON, you still enjoy your meals, still eat the foods you like but you simply don't have the urge for extra portions and automatically your weight must come down, because, as your own doctor will tell you, when you eat less, you weigh less. Excess weight endangers your heart, kidneys. So no matter what you have tried before, get DIATRON and prove to yourself what it can do. DIATRON is sold on this GUARANTEE: You must lose weight with the first package you use or the package costs you nothing. Just return the bottle to your druggist and get your money back. DIATRON costs $3.00 and is sold with this strict money back guarantee by:

Informal Dinner Opens Fall Season of Club

An informal dinner meeting opened the fall season of the Business and Professional Woman's club in the Presbyterian Fellowship Center, Monday evening. Colorful garden flowers decorated the tables, arranged by the hostess committee, Mrs. Gordon Greiman, Mrs. William Britton, Mrs. Elmer Burleson and Miss Marjorie Wickwire.

Immediately after the dinner, Mrs. Hoyt Whelan showed a selection of the beautiful colored pictures taken on her Mayflower trip to Europe last year. She interested her audience with her running commentary on the scenes taken in Holland and England, closing with the impressive views of the Stone Hedge.

Membership questions were discussed during the business meeting and it was decided to raise the club dues from one dollar a year to two. Three guests of the evening decided to become new members. They were all teachers in the Tecumseh schools, Miss Barbara Trumble, Miss Dorothy Lukens and Mrs. Dorothy Westdyke. Plans were also discussed for the October meeting which is to be a trip to the Gilbert Candy factory in Jackson. The hostesses will make arrangements for transportation and the group will have dinner somewhere in Jackson.

Rotary Club Welcomes Gov.

The Rotary Club of Tecumseh will be host Oct. 2, 1956 to Ralph E. Lyne, Governor of the 223 District of Rotary International, who is making his annual official visit to each of the 39 Rotary Clubs in southeastern Michigan and southern Ontario. He will address the local Club and confer with President James McDowell, Secretary Lester Rogers, and committee chairmen on Rotary administration and service activities.

The Governor is a public speaker of some note, and is known for his wit and human interest stories. He was elected as a District Governor of Rotary International for the 1956-57 fiscal year at Rotary's 47th Annual Convention in Philadelphia last June. He is one of 248 District Governors supervising the activities of more than 9,100 Rotary Clubs, which have a membership of 431,000 business and professional executives in 99 countries throughout the free world.

Governor Lyne will hold a local Club Assembly one and one-half hours before the regular Club meeting. This will be attended by all Club officers and all Club Committee Chairmen; the Governor's plans for the year will be discussed at this time.

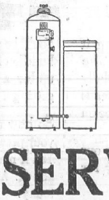
SOFT WATER? that's for me!



SERViSOFT

Lady—you sound like the voice of experience. There's nothing like soft water to make washday almost a pleasure. It makes such sudsy suds, with so little soap. It turns out your laundry so soft, fresh and sweet. Makes white things white, colored things bright—because it leaves no soapy curd to turn 'em gray and injure fabrics. Soft water—a woman's best friend in laundry, kitchen, bathroom. Yours—with a Servisoft Water Softener in your home. So come on in—or phone—for full details.

Glenn Barton Given Party

Fourteen boys and girls, who are third grade classmates of Glenn Barton were invited to the Barton home Friday afternoon to help him celebrate his eighth birthday. His mother, Mrs. James Barton had arranged a treasure hunt about the home and neighborhood which was climaxed by the discovery of an outdoor weiner roast on the side lawn. After the company adjourned to the house for birthday cake and desert and Glenn opened the many gifts he had received.

September 30 Is Rally Day

Sunday, September 30th will be Rally Day at the First Methodist church for members of the Sunday School and the church. There will be a brief session of the Sunday School classes at 10 a.m. and then at 10:30 they will take part in the combined Rally Day services. There will be special music for this morning service.

Circle Will Now Meet 3rd Wed.

Mrs. Robert Wood entertained the Naomi Irene Circle of the First Methodist church Tuesday evening, Sept. 18 with Mrs. Viola Mark assisting. Miss Lillian Cannon was in charge of both devotions and program, and Mrs. Ena Whaley of the entertainment for the evening.

The members of the group voted to hold their meetings the third Wednesday of each month hereafter. There was a discussion of plans for the all-church bazaar which will be held November 8 in the church social rooms. Mrs. Edward Harper then told the members of the goals of the W.S.C.S. which have been set for the next four years.

Refreshments served by the hostesses brought the evening to a close.

Mrs. O'Brien Hosts Circle

Mrs. Jerry O'Brien was hostess to the Sara Rebecca Circle of the Methodist church Tuesday evening. The meeting opened with a period of devotions conducted by Mrs. Seaman Packard. During the business session it was decided to change the regular time of the meeting to the third Thursday of each month instead of the present time of Tuesday evening. It was also voted to sponsor the same troop of Brownie Scouts as last year.

Mrs. Edward Harper was a guest of the group and spoke on "Pledges to the W.S.C.S." Names were exchanged for mystery sisters for the year. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Helen Geiger.

It's Bonanza time at Buick Dealers'!
Buick CENTURY
6-Passenger 2-Door Riviera

See what a Great Deal you get Now
(You get a triple Bonanza in today's Buick)

RIGHT NOW—we're making it bonanza time for you. The popularity that's put Buick solidly up in America's top 3 sellers means we can give a better allowance on your trade-in.

And Buick's success tells you our prices are right and ready for action.

But this is more than a great deal on a dollars-and-cents basis—it's a smart deal on how much more car you get in a '56 Buick.

You'll be getting the greatest buy in performance with Variable Pitch Dynaflow*—the only transmission that uses the switch-pitch principle of a modern airliner's propellers.

You'll be getting the most efficient bundle of V8 power ever placed under a hood. And you'll be getting a ride that's sheer luxury.

So how about hurrying in while your present car is at peak worth? You'll make a buy you can crow about. And we'll prove that—today.

P.S. We have some especially good buys right now on the high-powered CENTURY and the extra-spacious SUPER. Better see 'em real soon!

Bonanza Trade-in Allowance
With Buick solidly in Number Three sales spot nationwide, our large sales volume lets us deal you an even sweeter trade-in allowance on your present car—which is at its peak worth right today!

Bonanza Buy
Today's Buick prices start right on the heels of the smaller cars—but man! just count the extra blessings Buick brings you. Extra power and sizzle. Extra size, room, luxury. Extra-smooth ride. More structural weight and solidity. New-as-tomorrow styling. It's the Best Buick Yet!

Bonanza Resale
You can always bank on Buick's resale value — but your '56 Buick should get you even more when you trade it, thanks to today's new Variable Pitch Dynaflow.* It's the world's most advanced transmission—only one that gives you the cruising thrift and full-power acceleration of the modern plane's switch-pitch propellers!

Cub Scout Pack 73 Holds Reorganizational Meeting

The annual reorganization meeting of Cub Scout Pack 73 was held Monday evening in the Products Union Hall.

The regular meeting was preceded by a half hour social period when the parents of new boys and parents of boys [illegible] registered were able to get better acquainted. Refreshments were served at this time.

Mr. Richardson, organization and extension chairman of Le-nap-ee district, called the meeting to order. After a short explanation of the necessary duties of the people needed to serve on the pack committee, the meeting was then divided into two sections.

That of the women was in charge of Mrs. Frederick Dickinson and here the prospective den mothers were instructed as to the nature of their various duties. The men's section, in charge of Mr. Richardson was a school of instruction for the men who will serve as committee men and other officers of the pack.

From these two separate meetings the following people volunteered to serve on the pack committee in the various capacities of den mothers, leaders and other needed workers: Erwin Richardson, Carson House, Charles Huber, Stanley Kruse, Udene Richardson, Leora Brooks, Charles Lewis, Marie [illegible], Betty Goodman, Evelyn Schultz, Helen Beasley, Ella May King, Bob Seitz, Roy Beasley, Donald Williams, Jeannette Gillis, Virginia Milosh, Floris Snyder, Norman Bailey, Eleanor Klingensmith, Claire Wise, Lucille Smith, Opal Dickinson, Pat Brazee, Monita Fergus, Mabel Williams and Virginia Kruse.

Mrs. N. Pearson Honored at Tea

Honoring Mrs. Neil Pearson, who is leaving Tecumseh soon Mrs. Donald Wright and Miss Ann Carson, are entertaining her friends at a tea at the Wright home this (Thursday) afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Pearson have been residents of Tecumseh for more than twenty years. They plan to spend the summer seasons in northern Michigan, near Hale and their winters in Florida but are not cutting all ties with Tecumseh as they still own their home on W. Pottawatamie.

Fire Department Had Three Calls

The fire department responded to three fire calls during the past week, all evening alarms.

Thursday at 10:15 p.m. a car belonging to Peter Michajlenko was discovered on fire at 606 Occidental Road. Upholstering of the front seat was completely destroyed and the interior badly smoked.

Friday the department was called at 8:50 p.m. to 120½ W. Chicago Blvd. over Cameron's Drug store where a pasteboard box left on a gas stove had been ignited by the pilot light. Only smoke damage resulted. Later the same evening a tree was reported on fire on Green Highway south of Russell road. Evidently the result of lightning, the fire caused no damage except to the tree.

FESTIVAL

thus two roads were wedded in one great trunk line from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The "Railroad" theme will be presented by the: TECUMSEH Band.

There are many people living who remember when the automobile was a curiousity. Everyone would run to the window and stare. Horses would run away. Crowds would gather when an auto came into town. It would take days for a horse and buggy to travel the distance that a modern car can make in just a few hours. Distance is not the barrier that it was in those days. The "Automobile" theme will be presented by the DEERFIELD BAND.

When the Wright Brothers flew the first aeroplane at Kitty Hawk, North Carolina, people were very skeptical. Now we literally fly across continents, oceans and polar wastes. We visit and mingle with people that we, once, only read about. We are, indeed, beginning to live in "One World". The "Aeroplane" theme will be presented by the: HUDSON BAND.

When radio came in, not so many years ago, people were almost ready to repeat the words, "What Wonders Hath God Wrought". With modern radio sets people can literally talk around the world. The "Radio" theme will be presented by the ONSTED BAND.

Our grandfathers could not even dream of what is now an everyday living reality — television. Truth is, indeed, stranger than fiction. One can sit in his comfortable chair and take a trip to New York or to the wilds of Africa. The "Television" theme will be presented by the: BLISSFIELD BAND.

We hear of Flying Saucers" and other objects, supposedly from outer space. Some of our scientists agree nothing is impossible and that sometime man may actually conquer space and make trips to the other planets. If that day comes we will actually and literally live in "One World". The "Space Ship' 'theme will be presented by the: ADRIAN BAND.

Lucy Lee Neiswander, national and state champion baton twirler, will be presented at this time.

The massed band will play three numbers:

The Triumphal March from Aida. Representing the triumph of man over the elements in his march toward the goal of "One World".

Onward Christian Soldiers. Representing the power that Christianity has wielded in bringing the world together. An actual physical structure of globe will be on the field at this time. It will be accompanied by several people, in native costume, that will represent the different races of mankind.

The Star Spangled Banner.

REGISTRATION NOTICE

FOR

GENERAL ELECTION

Tuesday, November 6, 1956

To the Qualified Electors
CITY OF TECUMSEH, COUNTY OF LENAWEE
STATE OF MICHIGAN

Notice is hereby given that in conformity with the "Michigan Election Law," I, the undersigned Clerk, will, upon any day, except Sunday and a legal holiday, the day of any regular or special election or primary election, receive for registration the name of any legal voter in said Township, City or Village not already registered who may APPLY TO ME PERSONALLY for such registration. Provided, however, that I can receive no names for registration during the time intervening between the Thirtieth day before any regular, special or official primary election and the day of such election.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT I WILL BE AT MY OFFICE

Monday, October 8, 1956 - - Last Day

The Thirtieth day preceding said Election

As provided by Section 498, Act. No. 116, Public Acts of 1954. From 8 o'clock a. m. until 8 o'clock p. m. on said day for the purpose of REVIEWING the REGISTRATION and REGISTERING such of the qualified electors in said TOWNSHIP, CITY or VILLAGE as SHALL PROPERLY apply therefor.

The name of no person but an ACTUAL RESIDENT of the precinct at the time of registration, and entitled under the Constitution, if remaining such resident, to vote at the next elecion, shall be entered in the registration book.

ELECTOR UNABLE TO MAKE PERSONAL APPLICATION, PROCEDURE

SEC. 504. Any elector who is unable to make personal application for registration because of physical disability or absence from the Township, City or Village in which his legal residence is located, may be registered prior to the close of registration before any election or primary election by securing from the Clerk of the Township, City or Village in which is located his legal residence, duplicate registration cards and executing in duplicate the registration affidavit before a notary public or other officer legally authorized to administer oaths and returning such registration cards to the Clerk of the Township, City or Village before the close of office hours on the last day of registration prior to any election or primary election. The notary public or other officer administering the oath shall sign his name on the line for the signature of the registration officer and designate his title.

UNREGISTERED PERSONS NOT ENTITLED TO VOTE

SEC. 491. The inspectors of election at any election or primary election in this State, or in any District, County, Township, City or Village thereof, shall not receive the vote of any person whose name is not registered in the registration book of the Township, Ward or Precinct in which he offers to vote. (As provided unded Act 116, P. A. 1954.)

TRANSFER OF REGISTRATION; APPLICATION; TIME

SEC. 506. Any registered elector may upon change of residence within the Township, City or Village cause his registration to be transferred to his new address by sending to the Clerk a signed request, stating his present address, the date he moved thereto, and the address from which he was last registered, or by applying in person for a transfer. The Clerk shall strike through the last address, ward and precinct number and record the new address, ward and precinct number on the original and duplicate registration cards, and shall place the original registration card in proper precinct file. Such transfers shall not be made within the (30) days next preceding any election or primary election, (unless such 30th day shall fall on a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday in which event registration shall be accepted during the next full working day), provided that no such transfer shall permit any person to vote in any Township, City or Village in which he had not resided (30) days next preceding any election or primary election.

TRANSFER OF REGISTRATION ON ELECTION DAY

SEC. 507. Any registered elector who has removed from one election precinct of a Township, City or Village to another election precinct of the same Township, City or Village shall have the right to make application to have his registration transferred on any election or primary election day by executing a request over his or her signature for such transfer and presenting the same to the election board in the precinct in which he is registered. Upon receiving such request the inspector of election in charge of the registration records shall compare the signature thereon with the signature upon the applicant's registration record and if the signatures correspond then the inspector shall certify such fact upon said request and the applicant for transfer shall then be permitted to vote in such precinct for that election only. The application for transfer shall be filed with the Township, City or Village Clerk who shall transfer such voter's registration in accordance with the application. When the name of any street in a Township, City or Village has been changed, it shall be the duty of the Township, City or Village Clerk to make the change to show the proper name of street in the registration records, and it shall not be necessary for the elector to change his registration with respect thereto in order to be eligible to vote.

Field and Stream

Although baseball is known as "the national pastime," hunting and fishing probably are better qualified to hold that title.

A recent survey of the economic aspects of hunting and fishing, sponsored by the federal Fish and Wildlife Service, reveals that some 25,000,000 persons in the nation hunted or fished during 1955. Major league baseball attracts an attendance of approximately 15,000,000 each year, but many fans attend several games and are counted each time.

The survey report indicates that one out of every five Americans 12-years-old or older either hunted or fished. By categories, the survey listed approximately 13,000,000 who fished, 4,000,000 who hunted, and 7,600,000 who did both.

The figures included some 5,000,000 women who fished and half a million feminine hunters.

On the economic side, the survey indicated that some 25,000,000 sportsmen spent almost $3 billion on their outdoor recreation in 1954, an average of approximately $114 per person.

Average expenditures included $51 for equipment, $52 for trips, $7 for miscellaneous expenses, and only $3.26 for licenses.

Some of the average annual expenditures included: freshwater fishermen, $77; duck hunters, $60; big game hunters, $73; small game hunters, $50.

Continued favorable weather and public cooperation are key factors this year in Michigan's drive toward a record low in forest fire losses.

Through mid-September, 439 fires had damaged 2309 acres of state and private forests and grasslands. At this time in 1954 — the year of the state's best fire record — the damage figure was 3564 acres.

M. M. Bergman, chief of the Conservation Department's fire control section, praised the public for its part in the 1956 record, but emphasized that the state faces a critical two-month fire period before the first snowfall.

"People are more fire-conscious than in the past. Their cooperation in reporting fires is excellent, but their greatest contribution is in fire prevention through observance of safety regulations."

Bergman also pointed out that weather has played an important part in keeping fire losses at a minimum this year. Timely and generous rainfall has kept woodlands wetter than usual.

Another important factor in fire suppression is the Department's mechanized fire-fighting force. Vast communication facilities and mobile fire-fighting equipment cut to a minimum the time between discovery of a fire and its suppression.

Line Drive

by MEL OTT

NOW THAT the American League pennant chase is dead, with the Yankees again the league representatives in the coming World Series, perhaps a few post mortems are in order.

How were the Yankees, although inferior to Bronx Blockbusters of other years, still able to win the flag? What happened to the bids of the Indians, the Red Sox and the White Sox?

And, finally, what happened to the Tigers, a team that surely seemed destined to make a strong first division showing this year?

The Yankees won with one of their less potent teams because nobody in the league was very strong. But the New Yorkers at least had Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra and their usual superb bench strength.

Wealth of Talent

With Mantle and Berra both enjoying good years and a wealth of talent he could juggle in and out of the line-up as the situation arose, Manager Casey Stengel had only to worry about his pitching.

Only Whitey Ford of those hurlers he had counted on came through in the manner Ol' Case expected, but two others he had overlooked—Tom Sturdivant and Johnny Kuchs — delivered in a most gratifying fashion. Moreover, Tommy Byrne proved capable in relief where he failed as a starter.

Boston was erratic. The Red Sox' young players didn't pan out and they lost many games through errors. Their pitching likewise left much to be desired.

Cleveland, on the other hand, had the pitching. It was as good as ever, but the Indians clearly lacked batting punch. When Al Rosen was out with injuries, Vic Wertz was left to carry the whole load.

Growing Old

Larry Doby's bat might have been missed, also, and when Ray Narleski was shelved for several weeks with injuries, the Indians were hurting badly in their relief department.

Chicago started out strong this season, then folded up like a makeshift tent in a strong wind. The reason may be that the White Sox are something of an "old" team. The long schedule proved just too tough.

While they were a good fielding team and could run the bases, the White Sox suffered from a weak bench, in addition to their aging difficulties.

Finishing Strong

If the Tigers hadn't started out so poorly, they probably would have done considerably better this year. They're finishing exceedingly strong, and that tells a story.

For one thing, Al Kaline suffered a poor start. Then Harvey Kuenn and Ray Boone were injured. When you're weak in replacements, you can't afford to lose your regulars.

The Tigers were in a bad way at second base until Frank Bolling returned from military service. Catching also was much of a problem and the pitching was erratic until recent weeks.

Now, with the team finally clicking, an old cry is raised: "Wait until next year!" And, you know, they might be right.

CONSTRUCTION

In construction of a golf green, several things must be considered.

The most important factors are:

1. Consider structure of greens to be played on for 50 years or longer.
2. Soil samples to be taken.
3. The amount of golfers that will be using the greens.
4. Soil mixture or top dressing mixture.
5. Fertilizer and insecticide incorporated into green.
6. Choose with care proper bent stolens, for the green.
7. Proper drainage, for fast run off, at no time can play or course be closed because of soggy greens.
8. Weed control, while stolens are taking root.
9. Constant light top dressing, fertilizing and watering lightly 3-4 times per day first 30 days after greens are put in.
10. After choosing Bent Stolens; fall best time to plant stolens.
11. If properly taken care of a bent green should be in good putting condition in 4 months.
12. Care must be taken with the first 3 mowings. Should start mowing at ½ inch and keep up until green is in good putting condition, then gradually should be lowered to 3/16 inch and kept there.

This is an outline of the important points of greens construction. Now we follow up with regular maintenance of greens. We must break this down to weekly, monthly and yearly maintenance schedule. I will now follow the normal procedure starting from March 15th.

MAINTENANCE

1. Soon as frost is out of the soil, roll, greens down with approx. 700 lbs. water ballast roller.
2. Aerify green after rolling, pick up plugs with sweeper.
3. Fertilize with mixture of 20 lbs. of 10-6-4, 60% organic ferizer to 100 lbs. of 100% organic fertilizer. Approx. 20 lbs. per 1,000 sq. feet.
4. Start of our fungicide treatment, March 20-29.

Fungi diseases that we are confronted with—Snow, mold, dollar spot, brown patch, pink spot. Melting out. Pythuim Ring and Algea.

Weather and climate conditons must be taken into consideration of applying fungicide for the above mentioned turf fungi diseases

5. Every 7 days, 2 oz. of Terson "75" plus 2 oz. of Semesan per 1,000 sq. ft. (Mercury turf fungicide 16.8% Metallic Mercury.)
6. Application of "Uramite" 38% Nitrogen is a mixture of Methylene ureas. Almost completely water-insoluble apply dry for 15 lbs. per 1,000 sq. ft. of green area. Only once per season.
7. Mixture of No. 3 Fertilizer—applied every 30 days or more often according to weather conditions.
8. Water greens every morning, if no rain, approx. 300 gal. per green. Hand watering is so much better than use of sprinklers. Over watering encourages fungi disease.
9. Every 3rd week a fungicide and crab grass killer is applied, 4 oz. per 1,000 sq ft. Water it thoroughly after application.
10. One application of Arsenate of Lead 10 lbs. to one green. The old reliable control for chickweed in greens,. Note—6 level tablespoons per gal. for lawn grass.
11. Apply 3 pints chlordane Emulsion 72% to 100 gals. to 8,000 sq. ft. of green area. This insecticide will control ants, grubs, cut worms, garden worms, beetles and many other lawn pests. Its applied twice per season.
12. Aerifying the greens 3 times during growing season. Air is very important to bent greens.
13. Top dress once, early spring or early fall.
14. Mow greens at least 5 days per week at 3/16" cutting height.

I've often heard people say how much they would give for a beautiful bent lawn, after reading this article if you still have a yen for bent lawn. Well—God Bless you.

THIS IS WHERE TOMORROW STARTS

A new "inner car" gives you a NEW KIND of FORD for 1957! Coming October 3rd.

On Wednesday, October 3rd, Ford Dealers throughout the United States will unveil a new kind of automobile!

Cars are involved in every American's life. News of a new kind of car is the biggest kind of news to millions of Americans.

The Big New Kind of Ford is that kind of news ... a car totally new in design from crest to trunk lock.

This completely new automotive package will sell at the traditionally low Ford prices.

This makes possible a new high standard of such honest-to-goodness value that it actually increases the purchasing power of your automobile dollar.

The New Kind of Ford is the fullest, most eloquent expression of Ford's special personality—the youthful grace, the whiplash action—and the reputation for durability known wherever there's a road.

To all this we have added true elegance—a kind of elegance never before seen in the low-price field. To make a car truly elegant, you must start deep-down inside.

The New Inner Ford

The Inner Ford—the car you cannot see—is a very remarkable structure. Its frame is actually a cradle. Side members extend almost the full body width; they serve not only as supporting members but as concealed side bumpers of immense strength.

The New Ford Body

The new Ford body is a triumph of engineering in steel. The doors close with the solid finality of a bank vault. Even the door-lock button has been moved up front—easier for you to reach, but out of the children's reach.

All these features were engineered to give you a solid new kind of comfort.

The New Ford Ride

The New Kind of Ford sits six people as no other low-priced car has ever sat them—six elbows wide in each seat, with deep space around each one of six knees. And above all that space, there's hat room to spare for all six passengers.

The 1957 Ford rides low, solid, with a firm, deep road-holding feel. Yet it's a light-hearted, flight-hearted ride—this car is responsive, nimble, agile, with a proud easy movement.

The New Ford Choice

Ford offers not only one, but two sizes of cars ... each on its own extended wheelbase ... each with its own body shell ... each with its own styling.

First, the two Fairlane Series on a 118-inch wheelbase. The Fairlane 500's come in 5 body types, a four-door sedan, a two-door sedan, a two- and four-door Victoria with no center pillars, and a convertible coupe. The same body types (except for the convertible) are available in the Fairlane Series.

Second, two Custom Series mounted on the 116-inch wheelbase chassis. In the Custom 300 Series, a four-door and a two-door sedan are distinguished from the Custom models by more luxurious interiors and elaborate trim. The Custom Series also includes a Business Sedan.

Beyond all these, you also have your choice of five Station Wagons—the famous glamour cruisers that are the champions in this field!

The New Ford Look

That low, low cradle-span frame means a low, low car. The Fairlane 500 is only four feet eight inches from road to roof! The Custom is just over four feet nine inches!

The new Ford is not only low—but long. Ford gives you more than 17 feet of elegant length in the Fairlane Series, a shade less in the Custom. It's a nice kind of fun just to look at it. It's high-priced in every way except price.

The New Ford Performance

You can have up to 245 wonderful Thunderbird horsepower in any Ford model. There's a moderate—and really moderate—extra charge for this engine of 312 cubic inches with its 4-barrel carburetor.

For "Six" lovers, we've got the 144-hp Mileage Maker Six. Whether you choose Six or V-8, the going is great!

Here is where your own tomorrow starts

It starts at your Ford Dealer's showroom!

The cars will be there on Wednesday, October 3.

These are the best Fords of our lives.

They are the first symbols out of Detroit of the new automotive age that is beginning for you.

This is where tomorrow starts—at your Ford Dealer's.

This is when your tomorrow starts—October 3rd.

Come in and see us for the Big New Kind of Ford!

Shopping In Two Berlins

There is no place in the world where the differences between the economics or Communism and the economics of free enterprise are so vividly illustrated as in Berlin. Half the city is under total Communist rule; the other half has representative government and a competitive economy to match.

Writing in the New York Times Magazine, Harry Gilroy points up the contrast in an excellent way. First, he takes us on a tour of a Communist department store. Its three floors, he writes, ". . . contain more second-rate merchandise than all the 'fire sale' shops in Manhattan: sleazy cloth, loose or protruding seams, clumsy leather goods often made of something that is not quite leather, furniture with poisonous green and dispiriting brown upholstery. Some departments are really melancholy in their poverty."

Then he takes us to a store in West Berlin: "This turns out to be a department store in the style to which Americans are quite content to be accustomed . . . There is quality and quantity, all the usual things that are required for a decent existence, and choice enough to give individuality a play."

At this point Mr. Gilroy states a significant fact. East Berliners are eager to exchange their hard-earned money for West Berlin currency, even though they must do so at a very unfavorable rate. The reason: ". . . They want to shop in the Allied sector."

We Americans, who are used to the very best in retail service whether we patronize a big store or some little independent shop, would do well to wonder occasionally what makes that kind of service posible. It is this: A free, competitive system of making and selling, things, in which the rewards go to those who do the best job and where the governmen wisely keeps its hands off.

Sign Of The Times

The government now uses a check writing machine which produces 100 checks a minute. But, apparently, this machine is obsolescent. A new one is on order—and it will zoom out the checks at the rate of 300 a minute.

That is about as typical a sign of the times we live in as anyone could imagine.

Research Opens New Horizons

Town Journal recently ran an editorial on the farm situation. It pointed out that agricultural prices apparently hit bottom last winter, and that gradual improvement has been taking place since. Noteworthy advances have occurred in the values of livestock, corn, and other important crops.

Then the magazine said: "Meanwhile, farmers are displaying the usual ability of free Americans to work out their problems. The new factories springing up in rural surroundings present new income opportunities for members of farm families, and will continue to do so. New efficiencies are adopted in farm production as fast as they are proven. Research reaches more aggressively toward new markets, new uses and new crops as well as for new methods."

The posibilities of research in agriculture have hardly been scratched. A while ago the Amberican Meat Institute pointed to important areas where much remains to be learned, including meat preservation, nutritive values, flavor and tenderness, and new commercial uses for animal by-products. Comparable areas where more knowledge is needed exist in the case of all the other basic farm products.

Research has vastly expanded the markets of American industry, by making posible better products and countless new products. There is every reason to believe it could do the same for agriculture.

"Do you have a large house for sale near Patterson School?" a young lady asked one day.

"Yes," I said, "it's on Brown St. Would you like to see it?"

"A little later," she replied. "I'm on my way home now but I'll drive by it, although I know about what it looks like. I'll observe it differently, though, when thinking of owning it as against just passing by."

"That's rather well stated," I said. "And the extra careful observation should extend to the inside of the house as well. Lots of times it is easy to see how small defects can be overcome. And, it is also possible to verify outward appearances as to the structural soundness of the home. Many other things should be considered, too. That's why we'd like to show you and your husband through the house. Even under close inspection, it will pass the test."

If you are "thinking of owning" let us help you, too. We have many good homes and acreages for sale in all sizes and price ranges. Merely stop by, or phone, and we'll visit you.

Your future health can be good or bad, depending on what you are doing now to protect it. If, when illness strikes, you delay seeking the skilled advice of your physician, you expose yourself to complications that later in your life may torment you.

Nature sends you pain or discomfort to warn you that something is wrong. Self treatment drugs that temporarily relieve that pain or discomfort, may hide a trouble that can become serious. Be wise. At the first sign of illness get your physician's advice and let him treat the real cause of your trouble.

PATTERSON SCHOOL NEWS

There are thirty-four in our fifth grade room this year, fifteen boys and nineteen girls.

We have filled our display case with science materials such as shells, insects, leaves etc.

Michelle Anderson brought a shell from a baby killer clam.

In using the dictionary this year we are learning to pick out the definition of a word that will fit in the story we are reading.

There are eighteen girls and sixteen boys in third grade.

We are well under way with our work in our room. Some of us have finished the first unit in our reading books.

John Roe brought into our room a garden snake so for science we learned about snakes. We have also studied the garden spider and a few other spiders. Did you know a spider usually has eight eyes? We thought we could see an awful lot with that many eyes. Many of us brought in seeds for our science case.

Virginia Smock and John Davis have had birthdays.

———o———

This year in the first grade we have thirty-two, sixteen boys and sixteen girls. We are all having fun reading a new big chart every day. We like the one best that is a big picture of Dick. His pants are cut from Melissa Hanna's jeans. He has real buttons on his sport shirt.

Second grade has twenty boys and eleven girls this year. Perhaps that is the reason we have had so many live animals brought to school for our screened box. At present we have a tree toad which we have named "Jumpy," many grasshoppers, a Katy-did; monarch butterflies and 3 moths. We are looking for cocoons to keep over the winter.

Billy Dustin brought us a hornet's nest which had some hornet's eggs and two hornets in it. We kept that tightly enclosed in a plastic bag.

Nearly all of us have started reading in our second grade reading books and are meeting some new children in our stories just as we met new children in our room when school started.

Kindergarten—Patterson School
Dorothy Updike, Teacher

School beginning means another year of challenge and opportunity. As teachers in the kindergarten, we shall forget our mistakes of the past and start all over again with a chance that the year will be the best of all years. We will not forget how little children coming to kindergarten this fall look upon this great wonderful and perplexing school world. With understanding and friendliness, we shall try to keep forever the same enthusiasm in children's hearts that they have when they first enter kindergarten. We are "pretty sure" that none of them will grow to dislike school because they now look at this experience as an adventure that leads into all sorts of fascinating and exciting trails.

A child is happy anticipating kindergarten and parents are usually as enthusiastic about their child's first school days as he is. So let us all have a happy school year. In these first days with the beauty of autumn all about us, let us feel, indeed, that it is a new year beginning for all of us. Let us find words of praise and encouragment which will help our children grow in confidence and a true feeling of personal worth.

Come and visit kindergarten. We are always glad to have you.

The fourth grade has been very busy getting acquainted with our new books, our teacher, and the new children in our room. We also put some of our drawings and hobby collections in the display case in the hall.

Nancy, Toni, Sue, Barry and Marvin made an autumn scene in our room display case.

We have many samples of our work on our bulletin boards so that our parents can see what we are doing when they come to our P.T.A. meeting on Thursday night.

Our science collection is growing larger each day. Among the things we have brought to study are ants, grasshoppers, spiders, a snake, a frog and a fish.

SIXTH GRADE
Mr. Gillam, Teacher

We sixth graders feel very fortunate in being able to have a man teacher this year. His name is Mr. Gillam, he is also our new school principal.

Our school year started with thirty-four pupils, however, one of our members, Pat Carted, left us at the end of the second week.

Our class this year had an election of officers. Mary Ann Mead is our president, Mike Rice, vice president, Jane VanValkenburg, secretary, and Jack Dick, treasurer.

Various committees were chosen. For Parties we have, Bonnie Oyer, Odelle DePuy, Nancy Nixon, Norman Grigg, Gary MacKenzie, and Tom Dickenson. Hall showcase for October, Bonnie Blaska, Linda Selders, Karen Penrod, and Gail Sisson. News committee, Ann Metcalf, Penny Head, David MacDonald, and Eugene White.

We are making name totem poles, spatter painting and printing of leaves for art.

Gail Sisson had a birthday September 16.

CENTRAL SCHOOL NEWS

Mrs. Neitling's first grade went to the library room Monday where they listened to a story and each child chose a book to take out.

Mariam Puffer brought her turtle to school and the children have been finding out what turtles eat and how to care for them. They enjoyed a story about "Tillie Turtle's Tickle."

Miss Luken's first grade has been working to learn the colors and their names and the numbers and number words.. It's fun to see how many people can "climb the number or color ladder" when several of the words are written on the board in ladder fashion. Several of the children can recognize every single number name they've talked about so far this year.

Many children have brought pretty flowers which brighten the room and curtains with a circus pattern now decorate the windows.

Mrs. VanWinkle's second graders are reading a story about David, a little boy who lives in the country, and goes to a little one-room country school. They are making a farm and school just like David's and are using boxes for the buildings and colored sawdust for the grass and earth. The class has never done any painting before and they are finding it a lot of work but they are having lots of fun, too.

Mrs. Thomas' third graders are learning to tell time. They made some beautiful clocks to help them practice telling time. In science they are studying about animals and how they get their food.

Harold Richardson has been transferred from Mrs. Baily's room to Ridgeway.

In Mrs. Miller"s fourth grade, they are studying maps and the globe. Carolyn Purple brought her large plastic globe for the children to use on Tuesday.

Joan Langham has been out of school for an appendectomy so one day for Art, the class made cards for her.

Mr. White's fifth grade now has thirty-four pupils. In sicence they are studying about bees. In geography they are learning about the colonist's trouble with England which led to the Revolutionary War.

Mr. Sawyer's fifth grade has been studying in science how buttons are made from clam shells. Pat Schwede brought in a clam shell which was dug up in her back yard. Corky Squires brought in a collection of shells including different types of coral. In science, the class observed various parts of the honey bee and fly under a microscope.

Several children in Mrs. Whiting's fourth grade have been bringing caterpillars and cocoons to school. We are all interested in them and will keep them to see if they hatch. For art class we each drew our own picture. We have had fun identifying the pictures.

Carol Hamilton's grandfather Waldron grew some colorful Indian corn on his farm this year, so Carol brought several ears to Mrs. Puffer's room for their first display. In addition to the pictures, pennants and displays of produce the children constructed a large mural across one end of the room depicting themselves and their families attending the fair. Howard Miller brought a beautiful abalone shell, some cowries, and a cat's eye shell to add to the ever growing collection on the second grade hobby table.

NEWS OF THE FARM

Lenawee Co. Agricultural Agent's Column - - - - -

Common calf scours are usually caused from feeding the young animals too much milk or milk too high in fat.

But white scours are caused by infections and should be treated by a veterinarian, points out C. C. Ingerson, Lenawee county asst. agricultural agent. This type of scours is severe and usually occurs within 24 hours after the calf is born.

However, common scours can usually be corrected by feeding the right amount of milk or diluting the milk to proper fat content.

The recommended feeding is one pound of milk for each 10 pounds of calf weight per day with a maximum daily feeding of 12 pounds. If milk being fed is high test, dilute it with one-third water.

Experts remind farmers that feeding young alfalfa hay can cause calves to have loose bowels. This is not necessarily scours and the additional food value, vitamin A and D particularly, that the calf gets from good alfalfa hay is very important to good calf health.

Lenawee county dairy farmers will be able to adjust grain feeding to milk production by joining the new "weigh-a-day-a-month" plan for keeping milk production records.

This new low-cost plan will begin in the county Oct. 1, according to County Assistant Agricultural Agent C. C. Ingerson. He urges dairymen not already under dairy herd improvement association or owner-sampler testing to join the plan.

Underfeeding of good cows and overfeeding of poor cows is a major cause for poor profits among Lenawee county dairymen, he believes. A study of herd records of farmers on DHIA testing shows that differences in profit of up to $100 per cow can be attributed to overfeeding and under feeding of grain. Just as many cows were being fed too much grain for top profits as were being feed too little.

County Agent Ingerson urges farmers not already keeping production records to contact the county extension office for full details on joining the "weigh-a-day-a-month" plan. Cost is expected to be as low as 5 cents per cow per month.

Farm Income Is Less Than Labor

What are the income possibilities of farming compared to other types of work?

That's one of the questions some 4,000 Michigan farm boys ask themselves each year in deciding whether they stay on the farm.

James Nielson, agricultural economist at Michigan State University, reports that the average net income was $2,871 last year for a group of 500 farmers who keep account records with M. S. U. He defines net income as the farmer's return for his labor, capital and management. The average working week for these farmers was 57 hours and their average capital investment was $45,000.

Nielson compares this farm income with that of one alternative to farming — wage earning. The average weekly pay for wage earners in all Michigan manufacturing industries was $95 for 42 hours of work last year. Wage earners in other types of work received an average of $101 for a 43-hour week.

Nielson estimates that a farmer netting $3,500 a year would have to earn $100 a week to have a comparable living in town. The farmer has the use of the house on the farm, can produce part of the family's food supply and has no transportation charges in going to work. On the other hand, the wage earner has no large capital investment in his business.

Crop Residues Build Up Soil On The Farmers Land

Crop residues such as straw, cornstalks and soybean vines need not be burned or removed from the land to preserve a seeding or facilitate tillage operations for another crop. Various types of stubble chopping or shredding machines are successfully incorporating crop residues directly to the soil on many farms.

This is a very good soil and water conservation practice. It is especially important on cash crop farms where no livestock is kept, no straw is needed, and no manure is available. Restoring crop residues to the soil is nature's way of maintaining soil structure and holding moisture. Some amount of plant food is certain to be contained in these crop residues and is saved to become available to other crops by using this practice. The material decays more rapidly when cut and left in close contact with the soil.

A high degree of soil structure and moisture holding capacity allows more rainfall to be absorbed directly into the soil which reduces runoff and consequently lessens erosion This condition also allows excess water in the soil to perculate through the soil more easily and efficiently, improving drainage. The fact that more water can be absorbed by the soil may assure adequate moisture for longer periods of drought and may even lessen the necessity of artificial drainage.

When residue material is shredded and spread evenly over the ground it makes a very effective mulch for new seedings.. It is some protection to the tender plants from excessive heat and drought in late summer and from severe freezing in winter without smothering. The shredding process also cuts many weeds which appear after grain harvest and utilizes them as mulch before they mature seed.

Some types of these stubble shredding machines are also very useful around the farm for weed and brush control and pasture management. All of which ties in with good conservation farming.

There is one note of caution, however. Corn stalks should not be shredded in the fall to be left over winter in areas which are subject to flooding during high water time in the spring. It is better in that case to leave the stalks intact and attached to the ground until the following season. Heavy rains last spring flooded many fields and considerable corn and soybean residue was carried away by the water. Considerable damage to rivers, ditches, culverts and drainage outlets resulted besides the loss of the material from the farmer's land.

Annual Boar Show Monday, Oct. 8

The 4th Annual Boar Exhibit, Show and Sale offering will be held at the Livestock Pavilion, Michigan State University, Monday, October 8.

This annual event is sponsored cooperatively by the Michigan Swine Breeders' Association, the State Department of Agriculture and Animal Husbandry Extension.

Up to 100 choice spring boars representing all major breeds will be placed on exhibit during the day by Michigan leading breeders. To encourage an outstanding exhibit, $1000.00 is offered as premium awards on top quality boars. Breeders may exhibit, not to exceed 2 boars, which must be offered for sale.

This educational event serves as an advertising media to exhibiting breeders and also offers to the public an opportunity to purchase top quality boars at nominal prices.

Conservation Payments For 1956 Are Due To Some

Some farmers may be able to comply and receive payments in 1956 in the conservation reserve phase of the soil bank program. Clarence Prentice, Lansing, state administrator for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, urges interested farmers to contact their county ASC office.

Those farmers who planted or harvested less acreage than their "soil bank base" of depleting crops during this year may be eligible, Prentice said. The "soil bank base" is the acreage eligible for the full payment in the conservation reserve. It includes all cropland except that normally in conserving crops or idle land. Land in the acreage reserve phase of the soil bank is included but this acreage is normally eligible for acreage reserve payments, which are higher than conservation reserve payments.

Farmers who put land in the conservation reserve may also be paid some cost sharing payments for certain practices including cover crops, pond construction or forestation.

Contracts for payment for 1956 compliance must be completed before Oct. 15. Contracts for 1957 may be signed any time before March 15, 1957, both landlord and tenant must sign the contract.

Research Center Help Farmers

Plans for "Operation Farm Improvement," a nationwide program to increase farm operating efficiency and living comfort, were announced in Chicago.

The project, which will be administered by the Thor Research Center for Better Farm Living, will be launched at dedication ceremonies Oct. 3 at which Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson will give a major address. Secretary Benson's speech will climax a two-day program opening the research center and model farm shop near Huntley, Ill., 55 miles northwest of Chicago.

The non-profit research center, working with agricultural colleges and established farm agencies, will spearhead a research-educational program designed to help the nation's farmers take greater advantage of their modern mechanization.

New Agent In Lenawee County

Four appointments, two resignations and one transfer of staff members of the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service were approved by the State Board of Agriculture.

The transfer was of Josephine A. Brighenti, home demonstration agent in Lenawee County, who has been on leave for health reasons, to home demonstration agent-at-large.

New appointments included:

Faye Nichols as home demonstration agent in Lenawee County, effective September 1. Miss Nichols earned a B. S. degree from Colorado A. and M. College in 1940 and has served on extension staffs in Missouri and Oregon since that time.

Fair Patrons Like Their Milk

Michigan State Fair patrons this year proved they liked their milk. More than 68,000 of them, a new record, stopped off at the giant 72 foot dairy bar sponsored by the Michigan State Fair Dairy Committee and consumed a record total of 9,260 gallons of milk, Charles E. Stone, chairman and treasurer of the committee announced.

The fair patrons were participating the yearly program sponsored by the committee which provides all the milk a person can drink for ten cents.

Stone said that 68,200 persons drank an average of two cups of milk per person for nearly 140,000 servings. Sold were 6,425 gallons of homogenized milk and 2,835 gallons of buttermilk.

Sponsors of the dairy bar were: The Michigan Department of Agriculture, the Michigan Milk Producers Association, United Dairy Workers Local 83 of Detroit, Detroit Milk Dealers Association, Dairy Council of Detroit and the American Dairy Association of Michigan.

Natural GAS

YOUR SILENT SERVANT

Your Natural Gas Comes A Long Way

The natural gas you get at the turn of a valve has traveled hundreds of miles. Laying pipelines to carry it to you presents many engineering problems.

Rivers are only one of the hazards which must be overcome on the pipeline's cross country journey. Since gas is lighter than air, 30 pounds of ballast are used for each foot of 30-inch pipe in a water crossing.

Corrosion is another headache engineers have minimized by coating and wrapping the pipe before it goes into the ground.

Millions of dollars in equipment join with labor and know-how to keep natural gas flowing to your home or place of business. Natural gas is your dependable low-cost servant.

Charles Mantau Died Saturday

Charles Edward Mantau, a former resident of Monroe, died Saturday afternoon at the home of his daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Ruth Burley in Monroe. He had been ill for the past four months.

Mr. Mantau was born Nov. 15, 1878 in Windsor, Ont. and was the son of Nicholas and Mary Huff Mantau. For thirty years he was a marine construction engineer for the Wabash railroad. He had spent considerable time in Tecumseh in the last few years and had made many friends here. His wife, Edith preceded him in death 11 years ago.

He is survived by nine children: George Mantau of Allen Park; Ruth, Mrs. Clayton Burley of Monroe; Fern, Mrs. Fred Hadley of Tecumseh; Ralph of Detroit; Kenneth, Allen Park; Robert, Dearborn; Arthur, Detroit; Stewart, Livonia and Helen, Mrs. Jack Douglas of Tecumseh. Other survivors are three brothers, Henry and Ernest Mantau of Windsor and Clifford of East Detroit and two sisters, Mrs. Ida Brooks, Detroit and Mrs. Katherine Banks of Windsor.

Funeral services for Mr. Mantau were held in Tecumseh Sunday afternoon at the Collins Funeral Home with the Rev. E. C. Dickin officiating. Wednesday, services were conducted in Detroit at the Fred Wood Funeral Home. Rev. Dickin had charge of these services also. Burial was in the St. Charles Lutheran Cemetery.

September Traffic Deaths Upset The Improved Record

Michigan's outstanding record this year in reducing deaths on the highway has taken a nose dive in September, bringing a warning from State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs that even deadlier months are ahead unless drivers and pedestrians alike pay more attention to the job of saving their lives.

"We have suffered a disappointing setback following five consecutive months in which, contrary to the national trend, traffic deaths in Michigan were less than in the corresponding months of last year," Childs said. "As of today, September 17, records in our operations office show that thus far this month 99 persons have been killed in 80 accidents. This is one less fatal accident than in September of a year ago, but 10 more deaths. We have had more multiple death accidents and in these speed is usually a very important factor.

"The September figures are, of course, provisional, but the final monthly figures based on official death reports to the state health department are always higher than the day provisional totals."

Childs pointed out that although deaths were higher the first three months of the year, the total for the first eight months was 137 less than the 1,251 who lost their lives in the same period in 1955. Final verified figures may somewhat increase the death total, but even allowing for that the state was well on its way to the goal of saving 200 lives this year. September threatens to upset this hope.

If the present trend continues, September will wind up as one of the worst on record, with total deaths approaching 200. Last year the total was 159. The record high was 204 in 1936 and the second high 202 in 1937. The highest post war total was 187 in 1953.

"The outlook is not good unless drivers and pedestrians reverse the present trend through a determination to stay alive by conscientiously following the rules of safety," Childs said. "The early fall and winter months are the most deadly of the year. October is the worst month, November the second worst and December the third worst. September actually ranks fifth among the worst months, with August fourth, but this year September is climbing rapidly upward while August had a provisional saving of 78 lives.

"Pedestrian deaths especially have always shown increases in the fall and winter months. But certainly having demonstrated that we can save lives in Michigan even though the national trend is the other way, there is no reason that we can't continue to do so in the months ahead. Everybody in the state has been very proud of our record, but I hope they don't feel that now they can take is easy and drift. Constant vigilance is the price of safety, but it's a cheap price for such a valuable product."

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Changed Her Whole "Point of View"

Some local high school teachers spent the summer taking courses at the State University. They learned a lot, but one of them—Miss Williams—got homesick.

"To save expenses," she reports, "we chose a hotel that was clean but grim. When I found my window looked out on a coalyard—my heart just sank!"

But, when Miss Williams noticed a pot of geraniums on the window sill—and a note saying "Look at these instead. (signed) Last Occupant"—she decided to stick it out. She kept those flowers watered and tended to make things that much easier on the next occupant.

From where I sit, it's often hard to adapt to new surroundings—just as new customs often seem strange to us at first. For instance, if you've always had tea with your meals you might find it odd that I prefer a glass of beer. It's OK to prefer what's familiar to you ... but also keep an open mind on what's not.

Editor's Corner . . .

By Phil Belleville

Why is this week National Newspaper Week? I am going to give up my space and let John B. Long, General Manager of the California Newspaper Publishers Association, and founder of National Newspaper Week tell you in his own words.

The answer to this question which is raised every year goes back to the depths of the notorious depression of the early 30's in the United States. During those harrowing days the free press of America was made the whipping boy of prominent men and women in high government positions.

We were dubbed "capitalistic press" with a sneering snarl of degrading connotation. The same important officials kept telling the people the nation's editors were owned and controlled by the big advertisers, and editorial policies of American newspapers were "dictated from the counting room". Public confidence and acceptance of our hometown newspapers, like the economy of the country, hit its lowest ebb.

Suddenly, out of the nowhere into the here the Blue Eagle spread its wings as the symbol of the National Recovery Act, which was quickly adopted as the cure-all of all depressions. This plan appeared suddenly, but gave ample evidence of having been worked upon over a long period of time in advance because the program was worked out to the smallest detail, including a federal government licensing provision for every business in the country down to the smallest corner store or weekly newspaper in the great plains, rugged mountain areas, seashores, or desert. Any one could file a charge of a violation of ethics of the Blue Eagle Code and the business institution—large or tiny—thus charged would have to appear personally in Washington, D. C., to defend itself out of its meager resources against the giant prosecution machinery of the greatest government in the history of the world. As in all cases predicted upon the greatest good for the greatest number, our newspapers went along until suddenly the officers and managers of organized newspaper associations throughout the country came to the sudden realization that the Blue Eagle was a licensing scheme by which to control the press of the country, and the war was on! Ultimately the Blue Eagle and its codes were declared unconstitutional by the United States Supreme Court, but in the meantime several state newspaper associations in California, Pennsylvania, and Oklahoma, had started illuminating campaigns in their separate jurisdictions to reconvince the people that their faith in their hometown newspaper as guardian of their freedom, fighters for their right to know, and their key to better living, were still worthy of their respect and acceptance. These were so successful that seventeen years ago John B. Long made the motion at an annual convention of Newspaper Association Managers, Inc., which established as their responsibility an annual observance of National Newspaper Week during the first week of October.

Newspapers now enjoy their highest net paid circulation of American newspapers in history, and all in spite of new competitive media in the field of mass communication.

That is the "Why" of National Newspaper Week.

Schools To Close October 11-12

More than 3,000 teachers of Jackson, Washtenaw, Lenawee, and Monroe counties dismiss their classes October 11 and 12 to attend the annual regional conference of the Michigan Education Association convening in the New Ann Arbor High School.

During the two-day program members of the M.E.A. will hear John Furbay, director of air education, T.W.A., on the topic of "The Shape of Things to Come;" Clair L. Taylor, state superintendent of public instruction, on the topic "Education in 1970;" Leo Goldberg, director, University Observatory, Ann Arbor, on the topic "The World Around Us;" Robert A. Skaife, field representative, N.E.A., on the topic "The Profession Looks Ahead;" and Francis W. Beedon, president, N.E.A., on the topic "A Greater M.E.A.—A Greater Profession."

Fire Prevention Week Starts October 7

Arnold Renner, state fire marshall, (center) joins with Richard Pfister, (left) and Francis Bust, both of the Michigan Rural Safety Council, in asking home owners to observe the week of October 7 as Fire Prevention Week.

Local insurance agencies, namely F. C. Hanna, LeRoy Titley Agency, Elmer W. Eberhardt, Glenn L. Driscoll, A. B. Hammond and Delbert King Agency also join in asking home owners to observe fire prevention next week as well as all year. These insurance agencies have sponsored an advertisement in the public interest in this issue stressing fire prevention.

IMPORTANT STUDY IS PROPOSED

PHIL HART

Lieutenant Governor for the State of Michigan, Phil Hart, will speak in Tecumseh Friday at 8:30 p.m. in the study hall of the High School. Mr. Hart will speak on the Michigan Senate.

The public is invited to attend this meeting.

Hospital Aux. May Reorganize

An important program is scheduled for Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary's meeting on Tuesday, October 9th in Fellowship Center of the Presbyterian Church.

A panel made up of Mrs. Sam Sisson as moderator, Mrs. Dale Bowen, Mrs. Joseph Rohweder, Mrs. Paul Keyser, Mrs. Donald Purkey and Mrs. Robert D. Moore will lead the discussion.

Auxiliary members exerting their influence to promote the interests of the Hospital find the Auxiliary has grown to such proportions that perhaps smaller guilds would make better representatives and provide for better public relations. The panel will discuss "pro's and con's" on the subject.

With the growth of the hospital the problems of the Auxiliary has grown too. Active and smaller groups may prove the answer to all their problems. Realizing the need for a change, the Auxiliary president Mrs. Robert Fuller has enjoined every member to be present at this important meeting.

Mrs. Fuller has also invited Mrs. Jane Henderson, past State President of the Michigan State Hospital Auxiliary Association to attend this meeting and give her views of various organizations around Michigan who have done what this Auxiliary is now going to try to do.

Send Mail By Oct. 15

Postmaster Jack Metcalf reports to the Herald that packages for overseas Christmas mail should be sent between October 15 and November 15 if they are to reach their destination by Christmas.

Council Hears Manager Report

City Manager Ed Nelson gave the City Manager's report at the council meeting Monday night.

He reported that work on the curbs and gutters, for the year, is completed. Now some streets are being prepared for seal coating so the new construction season can be completed. The storm sewer on Logan and back to the alley and the storm sewer on North Union from Evans Creek to the Cemetery should be installed this fall. The sanitary sewer from Pottawatamie to Murray Drive should be installed this month.

The water main on Cairne Street west on Chicago Blvd. to Occidental Road was laid last week. The job is now complete except for the installation of a fire hydrant. Jachura Brothers have the 12" water main completed with the exception of Red Mill crossing and they expect to have river crossing pipe in the last part of this month. Storm sewer will be installed this week from the top of the hill on Maumee Street south of the bridge to Evans Creek.

RALPH E. LYNE

The Rotary Club of Tecumseh was host October 2, to Ralph E. Lyne, Governor of this district of the Rotary International.

He is a public speaker of some renown and was thoroughly enjoyed by local Rotarians. His wit and human interest stories provide a very interesting program.

Airport Carlton Outplayed

"Completely outplayed" would be the suitable expression to describe the Airport Jets last Friday night as they were soundly trounced by a team of hard-fighting Tecumseh Indians, 28-6. This victory not only gave the Indians a 2 won, one lost record, but also put Tecumseh on top in the race for the Southeastern League championship.

The Indians, playing on their own field in front of an exceptionally large home-town crowd, conducted a seemingly unstoppable offensive game as they racked up seven points per quarter, 14 of these being the result of long drives. Airport was able to push the pigskin across the goal line only once during the entire contest, and would not have scored at all, had it not been for several damaging penalties called against Tecumseh.

The Indians were almost denied a score in the first quarter. Taking the ball on their own 33, they marched down deep into Airport territory, but were stopped one foot short of the goal by a stalwart Airport line. However, opportunity presented itself again four plays later as Tecumseh's left tackle, Ron Gurtzweiler covered an Airport punt on the Jets' 15, which had been blocked by the Indians' other tackle, Ed Covell.

Two plays later, Tecumseh's 220 lb. fullback, Ray Larned, plowed over from 10 yards out for the first td of the game. Larned also kicked the extra point, making the score 7-0, Tecumseh. The score had not changed at the end of the quarter.

Early in the second period, the Indians upped their total number of points to 14. Al Dickinson, sprung loose with key blocks thrown by Dave Merrilate and Ed Covell, rambled 62 yards for the td in the most spectacular play of the night. Larned booted the extra point putting Tecumseh 14 points ahead.

As the quarter progressed, the Jets took the ball on their own 21 and, aided by 60 yards in penalties assessed against Tecumseh, moved down to the Indians' 8. On the next play, Ted Price ground out the remaining yardage for Airport's lone td. Price also attempted to kick the extra point, but failed. The score at halftime was Tecumseh 14, Airport 6.

The Indians' last two touchdowns were the result of long drives. In the third quarter, the Tecumseh squad started a 73 yard drive on their own 27 which ended in Bill Hansen lugging the ball for four yards and the Indians' third td. Larned again converted, making it 21-6, Tecumseh.

The Indians' fourth quarter score was brought about by a drive started in the third period on the Tecumseh 20. A 22 yard touchdown pass from Hansen to Lee Marsh climaxed this 80 yard thrust. Larned concluded the scoring for the evening by kicking the final extra point. The contest ended with Tecumseh leading, 28-6.

Hansen threw only three passes during the game. He completed all three for a total of 56 yards gained. Airport threw ten passes, completed two, and had one intercepted. The Indians made 14 first downs while Airport totaled ten.

Airport's outstanding player of the evening was fullback Ted Price.

Although the entire Tecumseh team played a bang-up game, special credit must be given to Dave Merrilate and Ron Gurtzweiler, who did tremendous jobs in the Tecumseh line. These two were awarded the honor of having their names inscribed on the outstanding players' football by Coach Breniff and his coaching staff.

The directions to Cranbrook are as follows: Take the Expressway to Southfield Rd. and turn on to north bound Southfield. Stay on Southfield until you reach Lincoln Rd. Turn left on Lincoln Rd. and go on to Cranbrook Rd. Then turn right on Cranbrook and follow it until you are there.

Problems Discussed At The City Council Meeting Mon.

The Tecumseh City Council met Monday evening in the council chambers. A citizen was present and complained to the council that automobiles were not giving the right-of-way to pedestrians on Chicago Boulevard at the stop light. City Manager, Ed Nelson, stated that signs would be installed, reminding motorists to watch out for pedestrians, on the Boulevard in the near future.

Parking on both sides of the street on South Maiden Lane was discussed. The council decided to post "no parking" signs on one side of the street on the block the Library is in. It was pointed out that the signs "walk" and "don't walk" on the traffic lights at the main intersection of town are put there for the safety of pedestrians.

Pedestrians at present are not obeying the signs. If they do not start obeying the signs, pedestrians may start receiving tickets.

The council held considerable discussion in regard to sewers and water to residents on Occidental Highway and Sunset Street. A petition was recently presented for sewers and water in this area. The council decided to have a hearing on the petition at the next council meeting.

Tecumseh Is First Choice For A Study Of Past Present and Future Health

Tecumseh has had the honor of being selected by the University of Michigan as first choice for study of past, present and future health. The community need now only express its willingness to cooperate with the University in this study and it will be done here.

The study, the first of its type anywhere, will undertake a complete mapping of the disease potential of the community and its total environment, biological, physical and social. It will constitute efforts to record all detectable disease and disability with the intention of establishing their prevalence and rate of occurance. By thorough history, examination and continued observation, data can be obtained which it is hoped will give information as to the frequency with which certain abnormalities might precede the development of patent disease and thus provide new tools for preventative medicine.

The future health needs of the community can also be anticipated. Cardiovascular disease, diabetes or other metabolic diseases, mental, dental, malignant, and infectious disease can be determined. The relation of industrial or other hazards to disease in the community can be studied by engineers interested in the physical environment. The relation of the flora and fauna to disease in the community including infection, will be charted. Thus it will represent a thorough recording of disorders of man in relation to his fellow man and economy.

Physicians, engineers, epidemidologists, biostatisticians, sociologists, nurses, health educators and industrial hygienists will take part in the study, which is under the direction of Dr. Robert J. Horton of the School of Public Health. Dr. Horton says the researchers will need the complete support of all community organizations, institutions and individuals. "Our investigators will first go to published records such as census reports, department or agriculture reports, state records, Chamber of Commerce statistics and others.

"From there we will rely on unpublished records, many types of which are confidential and will require special consideration to safeguard their use, such as medical records, municipal files, records and files of various organizations," Dr. Horton continued.

Questionnaires especially designed for the study are being worked out to give interviewers the most comprehensive information with the least burden to the persons interviewed in the shortest possible time. Information will be Coded to make it extremely confidential and transferred to punch cards for rapid analysis.

This study will not only be valuable to the people of Michigan and the University but also to the nation. It will provide, for the first time, a base line which studies on a larger scale in other communities or countries can be evaluated.

The University has been provided with $30,000 for the project by the State Legislature. Other financing for the project will come from clinics and research organizations throughout the United States. Some estimates put the cost of the project at about one quarter of a million dollars a year. The study will take several years at least, and might well go on for many years.

Police Report For Last Month

The police report for September is as follows. Fifteen accidents have been reported. There has been thirty seven complaints and thirty two traffic summons. Meter violations totaled thirty four. There were ten arrests and five liquor inspections.

One hundred fifteen dollars and thirty cents was collected as the result of traffic violations. Meter violations brought in a total of fourteen dollars. Meter collections totaled two hundred fifty eight dollars and fifty cents. Total revenue collected was three hundred eighty seven dollars and eighty cents.

The Driscoll Building Has Been Enlarged

Glenn Driscoll has recently enlarged his office building on the corner of Mill and Brown streets overlooking the Red Pond. The aditional office space, which has been leased by Quincey Products Co. is occupied by E. C. Boss of Ocsert Inc. Ossert, which is Tresco in reverse, is an organization incorporated for the purpose of liquidating the assets of the former Tresco Inc.

Suggestions Welcome

The Herald would welcome your suggestions as to features you would like to see in your hometown paper. Of course, we will not be able to carry out every suggestion presented to us but you can be assured that we will carefully consider each one.

Our goal is to make the Herald bigger and better. We want to give our readers and advertisers what they want in the way of news coverage etc. The only way this can be accomplished is by suggestions from you.

Jaycees Hear Doctor Horton

The Junior Chamber of Commerce met Thursday after their summer recess. A five man committee was appointed to investigate the possibilities of keeping an office open for part of each day at least.

The club is planning a beans and steak dinner for its November meeting. The object of the dinner is a membership drive. Each person is on one of two teams. No one knows what team he is on until the night of the meeting. The team bringing the most new members eats steak. Needless to say, the other team eats beans.

The Jaycees voted to support the Teen Club under Jaycee leadership. They also voted to back the teen age bowling leagues to be formed soon.

The organization voted to accept the Community Chest drive project and appointed Jack Osburn as chairman again this year.

The program was a talk by Dr. Horton, from the School of Public Health of the University of Michigan, on the study proposed for Tecumseh.

Maves-Meyes Wedding Vows Exchanged

MRS. DONALD P. MAVES

The Grace Evangelical Lutheran church of Tecumseh was chosen by Miss Phyllis Meyers and Donald P. Maves for their wedding Saturday afternoon. Yellow pompoms and white gladioli were combined to fill the altar vases and yellow gladioli, tied with satin bows, marked the family pews. The double ring ceremony was performed at four o'clock by the pastor of the church, the Rev. A. Jescke and the bride was given in marriage by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Meyers of Blissfield. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Maves of N. Union street, Tecumseh.

Mrs. Harold Baks Jr. of Blissfield, only sister of the bride, was her matron of honor and Miss Jean Demlow, also of Blissfield and Mrs. Gary Jones of Denver, Col. were bridesmaids. A fourth attendant was Mistress Monica Baks, as miniature bride, in a costume which was a replica of the bride's and which was completed by a tiny nosegay of yellow and white poms edged with yellow tule. The grooms brother, Douglas Maves assisted him as best man and another brother, Kenneth Maves of Appleton, Wis. with LeRoy Bater of Tecumseh were the ushers. The rings were carried by Master Graham Calbath of Allen Park.

The bridal gown, cut on princess lines, was of Italian silk duiponi and Chantilly lace. The scalloped edge of the wide scooped neckline was embroidered with sequins and pearls and the fitted lace bodice also featured long tapered sleeves. The skirt was full and swept into a chapel train. Her double, finger tip length, veil of French illusion was held by a jeweled lace crown and she carried a cascade bouquet of French feathered mums mingled with tufts of white tulle and edged with ivy.

The waltz length dresses of the attendants were identical in design, having full skirts torso bodices with scooped necklines and three quarter length sleeves. That of the matron of honor was irridescent-deep tangerine crystalette, Miss Demlow's was of the same material in an irridescent emerald green and Mrs. Jones' was a deep gold. All carried cascade arrangements of pompoms in cream, yellow and bronze respectively and all wore matching shoes and hats.

Before the ceremony James Zimmerman of Blissfield sang two solos, "At Dawning" and "Through the Years". He was accompanied by Mrs. George Schippers of Adrian.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Meyers chose a dress of Dior blue with navy accessories and wore a shoulder corsage of crimson rossettes. Mrs. Maxes' gown was of mink brown. Her hat, gloves and shoes were rose and her corsage of pink delight roses. The bride's paternal grandmother was also present, wearing navy blue with a corsage of pink carnations.

In the church parlors after the ceremony 250 guests were received with Mr. and Mrs. Rhae Henkel and Mrs. Lucille Graham acting as hosts. Others who assisted with the serving were Mrs. Howard Beaty of Royal Oak, Mrs. LeRay Bater and Mrs. Douglas Maves of Tecumseh, Mrs. Robert Meyers of Blissfield and Mrs. Kenneth Maves of Appleton, Wis. The four tiered angel wedding cake was topped by a colonial arrangement of white and yellow flowers an encircled with ivy. It stood on a linen covered table and was flanked by lighted lemon colored candelabra. An anniversary candle, which was a gift to the bride, was kept burning throughout the reception and through the larger one which followed in the evening at the American Legion Hall. There dancing was enjoyed.

The new Mrs. Maves wore a sheath dress of salt and pepper tweed with matching jacket and accessories of black velvet when the couple left on a trip through the states of the southwest. On their return they will make their home in Tecumseh where the groom is in the Trailor Sales business with his father. He is a graduate of Tecumseh high school and has spent two years in the army. Previous to her marriage the bride was a secretary at the Robert's Rubber Co. in Toledo. She is a Blissfield high school graduate and also graduated from Comptometer school.

During the past few weeks the young couple have been honored by showers given by Mrs. Leon Zimmerman, Mrs. Sam Bell and Mrs. Elmer Seeger of Blissfield; Mr. and Mrs. LeRay Bater of Tecumseh, Mrs. Carl Piotter, a group of ladies from Paul's Trailor Court and by Mrs. Edward Demslow and daughter Jean of Blissfield.

Wit And Wisdom Clubs Meets

"Our Michigan" was the subject discussed by Mrs. Marcus Fisher, guest speaker at the October meeting of the Wit and Wisdom Club, Monday evening. Mrs. Fisher, who is a daughter of the hostess, Mrs. Hoyt Whelan used the book, "Michigan in Four Centuries" as a basis for her talk which included the history, geography, resources and development of the state. Herself an employee of the civil service department, Mrs. Fisher gave her audience the benefit of her information regarding the services rendered by the various state agencies, and brought many bulletins and pamphlets for distribution.

During the short business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Herbert Munger the programs for the year were distributed and discussed and a vote of thanks given the committee headed by Delmar Finch. Three new members, Mrs. Perry Hayden, Mrs. Ruth E. Dustin and Miss Clara Waldron were elected to fill vacancies in the membership.

Refreshments were served by the hostess with the assistance of Mr. and Mrs. Mel Partridge and Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Finch. The November 5th meeting will be a musical evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Waldron.

Baptist Church Ladies Serve At The County Fair

This fall, for the fifth consecutive year, the ladies of the Tecumseh Baptist church fed all and sundry at the Lenawee County Fair. Once more it was a successful undertaking.

As in the past, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Barritt were chairmen of the event. Mr. and Mrs. William Grigg made their usual good-to-the-last -sip coffee and Mrs. Earl Woods, Mrs. John Surratt, Mrs. George VanCamp Jr., Mrs. Vern Manwaring and Mrs. Lyle Grigg had charge of the dining room. Mrs. Harley McConnell recruited the help for the kitchen and Mrs. Eddie Kirkland and Mrs. B. O. Bashore solicited pies. But the real mid-way roustabouts were Mrs. Bashore, Mrs. Hewlett, Mrs. Woods and the Barritts, who lived on the grounds for all the seven days and nights.

Many others gave time and effort all of which was much appreciated by those in charge. The entire proceeds of the many weeks of work will be turned over to the church building fund.

W.S.C.S. To Meet Wed. Evening

The general meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service will be held at the Methodist Church Social rooms Wednesday evening, October 10 at 8 p.m. Kay McClure will give her report of her caravan trip illustrated by the use of slide pictures. Members of all the circles and women of the church are urged to attend, as the slides will not be available to repeat the program at the circle meetings.

There's nothing that someone cannot make a little worse and a little cheaper.

Happy Hunting

BE SAFE

BE PROTECTED

Before you go on that hunting trip, be sure you have enough insurance—for yourself and your personal effects. You can get travel accident insurance and travel baggage insurance, two low-cost policies, for your trip.

No matter how much accident insurance or life insurance you now have, you need the extra protection of travel accident insurance.

The investment you have made in hunting equipment and other personal belongings you take with you deserves the protection of travel baggage insurance.

J.V.'s vs. Blissfield

The Tecumseh High School Junior Varsity team is scheduled to play Blissfield Thursday afternoon. The game is scheduled at 4:00.

Monday Club Opens New Season With Fall Luncheon

Fall flowers were the appropriate decorations of the tables at the Presbyterian Fellowship Center Monday when the Monday Club opened their new season with the annual fall luncheon. Cornucopias of strawflowers were the centerpieces of all but the speakers table and there an arrangement of chrysanthemums was used and cards tied with clusters of bittersweet marked each place. Miss Mary MacWilliams and Mrs. W. H. Mast were in charge of the decorations.

There were 70 members and guests present when the new president, Mrs. Robert Bonner opened the business meeting. It was Past Presidents Day and Mrs. Guy Pocklington conducted an impressive memorial service for Mrs. Charles Williamson and Mrs. Frank Turner, the two who had died during the year.

Mrs. Perry Hayden was program chairman for the meeting and introduced Miss Jackie Rucker who sang, "Sunday Clothes" and "I did it Teacher" in her usual delightful manner. Jackie is the high school student whose course of study at Interlaken Music camp was sponsored by the club last year.

The guest speaker, Dr. William Pellowe of Adrian who has written a book on the life of Mark Twain then gave a most amusing talk on the philosophy of that great American author, quoting from the inexhaustable fund of his humor. Dr. Pellowe is pastor of the First Methodist church in Adrian and is the author of another book entitled, "Laughter under the Steeple".

The next meeting of the club, October 15 will be at the home of Mrs. Thomas O'Hara with Mrs. Russell Allen as speaker.

Here Today!

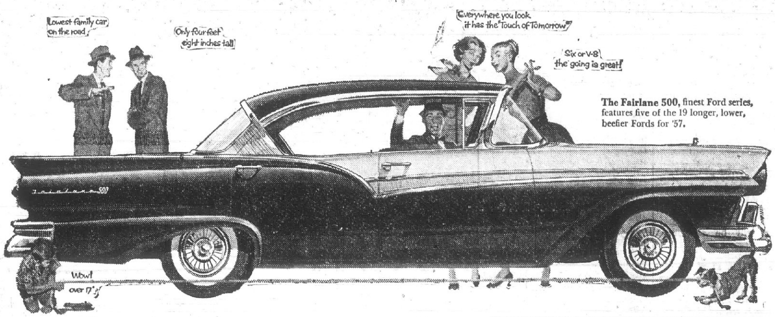
FROM A NEW "INNER CAR" PROVED IN ACTION

came the magic that made possible so wonderfully different a Ford. In the toughest on-the-road tests ever given to a car, this "Inner Ford" demonstrated that a '57 Ford rides you sweet and low . . . that it takes the bumps without a bobble, the curves without the pitch . . . and, that in power, it "takes nothing from nobody!" Nothing on wheels hurries, handles or holds up like a Ford!

A new kind of FORD with the mark of tomorrow



Lowest family car on the road
Only four feet eight inches tall
Everywhere you look it has the "Touch of Tomorrow"
Six or V-8 the going is great!
Wow! over 17'

The Fairlane 500, finest Ford series, features five of the 19 longer, lower, beefier Fords for '57.

You're in for a thrill when you see this new knockout named Ford! But save your superlatives till you drive it! That's where the fun really starts.

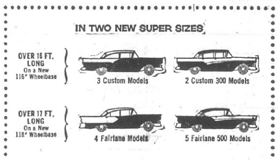
It's fun just knowing that others who see you wish they were you. For you're commanding the longest, lowest, heaviest, biggest car ever to sport such a low price tag. There's head room to spare for a new fall bonnet . . . stretch-out space for a "Daddy Longlegs."

You'll find that the tough and ready new "Inner Ford" is built to take the roughest road you'll care to travel. New outboard rear springs and ball-joint front suspension let Ford take the turns without the tilt. New swept-back control arms help take bounce out of bumps.

Best of all, Fords library-like quiet is built in. And the new "Inner Ford" is why. For never before in Ford's field has there been a body with so much extra bracing so firmly anchored to its foundation. And you can choose from three big Silver Anniversary V-8's with up to 245 horsepower. There's also a new Mileage Maker Six with 144 horsepower, the most modern Six in the industry.

You can pick your Ford tailored to your desires and your budget, too! Choose from nine Fairlane or Fairlane 500 models or from five Custom or Custom 300 models. Or take your pick from Ford's five longer, lower, new station wagons. Whichever model you select, you'll get a car that's been re-invented from the wheels up!

So there's the new kind of Ford. Big! Gracious! Spacious! A luxury car true—but one that any new-car buyer can easily afford. Come in! See what wonder-cars you can buy now at low Ford prices.



IN TWO NEW SUPER SIZES

3 Custom Models
2 Custom 300 Models
OVER 17 FT. LONG On a New 118" Wheelbase
4 Fairlane Models
5 Fairlane 500 Models
PLUS 5 NEW MODELS IN THE STATION WAGON SERIES

The Fairlane Fords for '57, like the Fairlane 500 models, have no equal . . . no counterpart, in the low-price field.

Card of Thanks

I wish to thank all my friends who sent me cards, gifts, and flowers while I was a recent patient at Herrick Memorial Hospital. Special thanks to Dr. Helzerman, the nursing staff, the nurses aides, and to Rev. Donald Bates for all the kindnesses shown me. I appreciated it so much. Mrs. Russell Collins. 1-p

---o---

Many, many thanks to the good folks, who sent me all those nice get well cards and letters, brought beautiful flowers and gifts and who visited me during the past weeks, while I was in Herrick Memorial Hospital and since recovering at home. Special thanks to all the wonderful nurses, aids and doctors, to our kind neighbors and members of the St. Peter's Lutheran Ladies Aid for their thoughtful gifts of home made cakes, pies, cookies and other food and especially to Rev. Borman of St. Peter's Church in Petersburg and Rev. Priest of Britton for their frequent visits and prayers that have helped me and my family so much. Mrs. Helen Kneer. 1c

Line Drive

by MEL OTT

WORLD SERIES time invariably brings exultation to the pennant winners, regret to the runners-up and envy touched with hope to the also-rans.

More than anything else, more than all-star appearances, more than public acclaim, yes, even more than individual achievements, major league ball players look forward to appearing in at least one world series.

It represents a team effort, something that the whole club has been pointing toward since the beginning of the season.

Ball players, who possess an unusual lot of pride, derive an enormous sense of satisfaction from appearing in the October classic. Winning it means more than just the long money. It means that their team is the best in organized baseball.

Tension Hangs Heavy

But the thrill of appearing in a world series is tempered by feelings of nervousness and tension. Even the so-called "old pros," veteran players like the Yankees' Yogi Berra and Jerry Coleman, are unable to dismiss such contests as "just another ball game" before taking the field.

The tension hangs heavy in the clubhouse before the game.

I well remember the first of my three world series with the Giants. The year was 1933 and we were playing Washington.

Although my roommate, second baseman Hughie Critz, and I refused to admit it to each other at the time, we were as nervous as a couple of bridegrooms. We tried the nonchalant act, but I guess it didn't come off too well.

Feeling Returns

As soon as I caught my first fly ball and Hughie grabbed his first grounder, all the jitters disappeared. We were still keyed up and still played just as hard as we could, but the butterflies were gone. We won that series, incidentally.

Despite my 1933 experience, that old feeling returned in our 1936 and 1937 series with the Yankees, both of which we lost. The feeling always returns.

After a victory, however, there is an atmosphere of exhiliration in the clubhouse, particularly if the game appears to be a key one in the series. Some players maintain their equilibrium better than others, but the thrill is there.

To the team winning the series, of course, comes general jubilation. This is it. This is the payoff for the months of determination, effort and drive. It isn't something put on for the benefit of newspaper photographers. This is real.

Another Payoff

Besides the usual civic celebration and private party by the club owners, there is another payoff. This comes less than a month later from the Baseball Commissioner's office to the player's permanent address.

It is a check for the winning team's share of the gate receipts of the first four games. It generally comes to a very tidy sum.

No Tiger has seen such a check since 1945, nor has a Detroit player seen even a fourth place team's cut since 1950. But if the Bengals can resume where they left off this year, the situation next season may be vastly different.

Field and Stream

A nationwide survey of the economic aspects of hunting and fishing reveals that 25,000,000 sportsmen spent almost $3 billion in the pursuit of outdoor recreation in 1955, according to the federal Fish and Wildlife Service.

The survey showed that the average sportsman spent $114 during the year for sporting equipment, travel, licenses and other related expenditures.

According to the survey, based on interviews at 20,000 homes, 21 percent of the population either hunted or fished or did both.

Approximately 21,000,000 persons fished during 1955 and more than 11,000,000 hunted, the report said.

The results of the survey were announced September 14 at the annual meeting of the International Association of Game, Fish and Conservation Commissioners at Toronto.

The largest brown trout on record in Michigan is due for careful study by the Conservation Department's institute for fisheries research at Ann Arbor.

The trout—weighing 19 pounds, four ounces—was taken August 29 in Lake Michigan approximately two miles north of Manistee by Robert Bjorquist, commercial fisherman. Bjorquist was fishing for walleyes when the big brown showed up in his nets.

The 31½-inch trout was turned over to the Conservation Department and analysis will be made of scales and identifiable organs.

Removing trees from state-owned land recently cost a Gaines resident $20 in fines and $5 in court costs.

The man, convicted in an Ithaca justice court, was one of 130 persons listed in the latest weekly summary of conservation law convictions.

The violators paid a total of $2185 in fines and $1033 in court costs, an average financial penalty of more than $24.

In a White Cloud justice court, four Muskegon men were assessed fines of $100 each for killing deer during the closed season.

All money from fines for conservation law violations goes to the library fund in the county where the fine is assessed.

A nine-year-old angler, Nancy Blank of Bay Village, Ohio, reports that she caught a tagged, 12-inch rainbow trout in Frankfort harbor this summer. This fish was one of the 29,000 hatchery-reared rainbows planted this year by the Conservation Department.

The plantings are part of an experimental program to determine if hatchery-reared rainbows can be used to supplement natural runs of "steelheads" from the Great Lakes.

Elected To Radio Station Office . . . .

Miss Rosanna Niedermier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Niedermier of Munger Road, has recently been elected Vice-President of Radio Station WPLY at Sheboygan, Wisconsin. She also assumes the duties of Program and Traffic Director.

Miss Niedermier graduated from Tecumseh High School in 1952, taking the business course with co-operative training in the advertising office of A. C. Hamaker & Co. Following this she has been in copy writing and program duties at Station WKHM at Jackson, Michigan. She moved to Plymouth, Wisconsin, a suburb of Sheboygan to take over her new duties on September 1.

THE LAWN

All home owners would like to put in a beautiful weed free lawn. But what must be considered for a uniformly vigorous turf that stands wear without the necessity of constant pampering and reseeding. The following principle items must be considered in this locality.

1. Provide surface drainage.
2. Is organic matter to be added to present soil. Note: Our soil in and around Tecumseh is of bank run gravel, sandy, or heavy clay. It is unusual to have good top soil.
3. Choose with care the type of grass seed to be used.
4. Soil testing can help.
5. Top soil is necessary for good root growth.
6. Make good seed bed.
7. Use plenty of fertilizer—10-10-10 new lawn. 25 lbs of 1,000 square feet.
8. The last but most important is buy good grass seed.

When buying grass, it is cheaper in the long run to use better grades. Each pound contains larger numbers of seed of the permanent grasses which give a longer lasting planting. Good seed should be high in germination percentage and purity and be relatively free from weed seeds.

Avoid lawn grass mixture that contain any timothy or orchard grass and high percentages of rye grass or red top. It must be remembered special care and effort are put into the seed production of these superior grasses, so naturely their price will be higher than that of regular strains. However, if the lawn is well managed, the better turf produced by the new grass selections is certainly worth the higher seed price.

WEED CONTROL

Several weeds grow in our locality, of these crabgrass, dandelion, common plantain, buckhorn plantain and chickweed are the most troublesome.

Many chemicals have been tested and are available for control of crabgrass. When chemicals are used to control crabgrass they should be used according to recommendations on the container.

Di-Sadium Methyl arsenate has shown very selective crabgrass control in many fields and test plots at Michigan State University, Purdue and United States Golf Association Turf research department. DSMA is available under different trade names listed below:

Sodar, Crab-E-Rad, Di-Met, Ortox, Ortho, Methor and there may be others. These chemicals have been tested and are recommended for the home owners use.

Spraying with 2, 4, D (2, 4-Dichlorophenuoxyacetic Acid) early sprays are recommended, approximately two weeks apart. Start first spray April 20-25th, 2nd spray, May 10-15th and one more spray approximately Sept. 1st. This spray schedule should eliminate all broad leaf plants for that season.

It would be better if a qualified nursery man or local man that has had experience in spraying of lawns was contacted. Im sure that a very good job could be accomplished on your lawn.

These articles are written by Leo Bishop Pro-Greens Supt. of Tecumseh C. C. To help hundreds of home owners in and around Tecumseh. Our turf information is compiled from Michigan and border cities golf course supt's ass'n. Michigan State, Purdue University and United States Golf Ass'n. turf research dept's. and many turf material suppliers are available to golf courses, landscaper nurseries and park supt's.

Hunter's Moon In October Sky

October skies will be well supplied with moonlight as the Hunter's Moon appears on the 19th, says University of Michigan astronomer, Hazel M. Losh.

"The full moon, which is the first full moon following the Harvest Moon in September, is a great boon for hunters, hence the name," Professor Losh comments.

A striking effect of October is the noticeable shortening of the days, "Dropping from somewhat less than twelve hours at the beginning of the month," the astronomer notes, "the daylight period will last only about ten hours and 20 minutes by the end of the month."

During the 14 evening hours of October, several attractions will light the sky. Two meteor showers are scheduled for the month, Professor Losh points out. One will appear in the north around October 9, and the other in the east around October 22.

Mars will continue to shine as a bright object this month. Although it is steadily increasing its distance from the Earth, it will still be relatively near and will continue to dominate the southern sky, the professor says.

NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK

Your newspaper is freedom's key to better living. It unlocks the door to a richer life for everyone.

In this country the concepts of a free press and a free society developed together. Because it is free the Americans newspaper has been able to broaden its activities and to meet new demands as the nation has grown. Today the newspaper fulfills a myriad of functions.

The advertiser promotes his products in a field of open competition. The more he advertises the more he sells and the more he sells, the lower he can reduce prices. Factories, production and payrolls grow. Bigger payrolls result in more prosperous communities and a stronger nation. Newspaper advertisement pays over all other because people pay for the privilege of reading the newspaper. The newspaper may not be number one in gross circulation but it is number one in read circulation. Newspapers end up in the trash can only after they are read unlike so called shopping guides, throw away sheets or whatever you wish to call them.

Readers learn who is sick, who died, who was born, who married, who was divorced, who took his own life, who was hurt in an accident, the tolls of disaster and of the eternal efforts of the wrongdoer and his nemesis, the lawman.

Newspapers scrutinize courts, the law, politics, elections and government. They inform and sometimes arouse the electorate. Through editorials problems are posed and thinking is guided.

Americans have more leisure time than ever before and in turn rely on newspapers for more and more suggestions of what to do with it. The person with time on his hands automatically consults the newspaper to learn more about his hobby, the road to the beach or the ski area, for reports on spectator sports and outdoor activities — golf, fishing, hunting or hiking.

The classified advertising section provides a weekly market place for buyer and seller, a market place so vast as to be immeasurable and one that sometimes extends halfway around the world.

In civic promotions better living results in such projects as the construction of a playfield or the control of pollution. Corrupt police departments are reorganized. Political rascals are turned out. Safety campaigns are launched.

Mighty fund raising drives set out annually to whip poverty, polio, cancer, heart disease, muscular dystrophy and similar afflictions. Their workers call repeatedly on newspapers for support. They receive it, too.

These same newspapers sponsor wholesome youth activities, such as summer camps, and in other ways keep wary vigil over juvenile problems.

AD INFINITUM — AD NAUSEUM

The advocates of socialized electric power development have a number of favorite catch words and phrases, which are being repeated ad infinitum in this political year. For instance, when a taxpaying independent power company is allowed to develop the power potential of a river, it is charged that this is a "giveaway" of priceless public possession, and amounts to a steal of resources which belong to all the people.

One of Oregon's leading newspapers, the Salem Statesman, which is published by a former governor of the state, has this to say on the subject: "The phrase 'steal our resources' is quite prejudicial. A private company can begin in hydroelectric project only after obtaining a license from the federal power commission. It takes the risk of construction, raises and invests the required capital, distributes energy in compliance with law and regulation. It is subject to state regulation. Its earning power is definitely limited. It is required to amortize its plant investment in a federally licensed dam over a period not to exceed 50 years. Then the plant is subject to recapture, as at all times it is subject to government condemnation. It seems quite demagogic, therefore, to brand private utilities as 'thieves' for developing a hitherto unused resource, when they are limited in earnings to a fair return based strictly on their prudent capital investment."

That is a sober and factual statement. However, as said before, we will continue to hear, ad infinitum, the socialists' catch words and phrases. And here another common Latin term applies — ad nauseum.

Brilliant Story Is M-G-M's Gaby

A love story that touches the heart and that will leave most of its viewers misty-eyed is being shown at the Strand Theatre. It is M-G-M's "Gaby," filmed in CinemaScope and color, with Leslie Caron and John Kerr, one of the screen's most talented newcomers, in the starring roles.

The theme of "Gaby" is a timeless one. It is that of a girl whose moral scruples keep her apart from the soldier she loves on the eve of his departure for the front. Then comes the report of his death and the realization that she has denied him the few hours of happiness he might have had before being killed.

Leslie Caron made her American film debut as a dancer in the Academy Award-winning "An American in Paris" and subsequent revealed her versatility and appeal in such dancing-acting films as "Lili" and "The Glass Slipper." Her latest picture also gives her an opportunity to appear on her toes in a beautifully staged ballet sequence, but the title role of "Gaby" is primarily a dramatic one. Miss Caron rises to new heights in the role of the girl caught in a tragic dilemma.

Realty Views

Perhaps you are in a "quandary" over your house owning problem. Like the couple who were heard to remark:

"But, dear," he protested, "if we buy a new house, how will we pay for it?"

"Now George," she responded, "let's not confuse the issue by considering two problems at once."

Whether we like it or not, such confusion is apt to exist. It is important to consider how you will pay for a home.

We can be of real service to you in helping to arrive at the answer. First, we will be glad to discuss the down payment and monthly payment requirements of the homes we have for sale. Then, within the range of your pocketbook, we will show you the right home for your family. You will have the satisfaction of knowing the price is fair and "in tune with the market."

Finally, and very important these days when mortgage money is tight, we will help you obtain the necessary financing to complete the purchase of the home of your choice.

So, if you are thinking of buying a home, remember we feature a complete, helpful "Buyer's Service."

Merely drop in our office or phone and we will visit you!

REGISTRATION NOTICE

FOR

GENERAL ELECTION

Tuesday, November 6, 1956

To the Qualified Electors
CITY OF TECUMSEH, COUNTY OF LENAWEE
STATE OF MICHIGAN

Notice is hereby given that in conformity with the "Michigan Election Law," I, the undersigned Clerk, will, upon any day, except Sunday and a legal holiday, the day of any regular or special election or primary election, receive for registration the name of any legal voter in said Township, City or Village not already registered who may APPLY TO ME PERSONALLY for such registration. Provided, however, that I can receive no names for registration during the time intervening between the Thirtieth day before any regular, special or official primary election and the day of such election.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT I WILL BE AT MY OFFICE

Monday, October 8, 1956 - - Last Day

The Thirtieth day preceding said Election

As provided by Section 498, Act. No. 116, Public Acts of 1954. From 8 o'clock a. m. until 8 o'clock p. m. on said day for the purpose of REVIEWING the REGISTRATION and REGISTERING such of the qualified electors in said TOWNSHIP, CITY or VILLAGE as SHALL PROPERLY apply therefor.

The name of no person but an ACTUAL RESIDENT of the precinct at the time of registration, and entitled under the Constitution, if remaining such resident, to vote at the next elecion, shall be entered in the registration book.

ELECTOR UNABLE TO MAKE PERSONAL APPLICATION, PROCEDURE

SEC. 504. Any elector who is unable to make personal application for registration because of physical disability or absence from the Township, City or Village in which his legal residence is located, may be registered prior to the close of registration before any election or primary election by securing from the Clerk of the Township, City or Village in which is located his legal residence, duplicate registration cards and executing in duplicate the registration affidavit before a notary public or other officer legally authorized to administer oaths and returning such registration cards to the Clerk of the Township, City or Village before the close of office hours on the last day of registration prior to any election or primary election. The notary public or other officer administering the oath shall sign his name on the line for the signature of the registration officer and designate his title.

UNREGISTERED PERSONS NOT ENTITLED TO VOTE

SEC. 491. The inspectors of election at any election or primary election in this State, or in any District, County, Township, City or Village thereof, shall not receive the vote of any person whose name is not registered in the registration book of the Township, Ward or Precinct in which he offers to vote. (As provided unded Act 116, P. A. 1954.)

TRANSFER OF REGISTRATION; APPLICATION; TIME

SEC. 506. Any registered elector may upon change of residence within the Township, City or Village cause his registration to be transferred to his new address by sending to the Clerk a signed request, stating his present address, the date he moved thereto, and the address from which he was last registered, or by applying in person for a transfer. The Clerk shall strike through the last address, ward and precinct number and record the new address, ward and precinct number on the original and duplicate registration cards, and shall place the original registration card in proper precinct file. Such transfers shall not be made within the (30) days next preceding any election or primary election, (unless such 30th day shall fall on a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday in which event registration shall be accepted during the next full working day), provided that no such transfer shall permit any person to vote in any Township, City or Village in which he had not resided (30) days next preceding any election or primary election.

TRANSFER OF REGISTRATION ON ELECTION DAY

SEC. 507. Any registered elector who has removed from one election precinct of a Township, City or Village to another election precinct of the same Township, City or Village shall have the right to make application to have his registration transferred on any election or primary election day by executing a request over his or her signature for such transfer and presenting the same to the election board in the precinct in which he is registered. Upon receiving such request the inspector of election in charge of the registration records shall compare the signature thereon with the signature upon the applicant's registration record and if the signatures correspond then the inspector shall certify such fact upon said request and the applicant for transfer shall then be permitted to vote in such precinct for that election only. The application for transfer shall be filed with the Township, City or Village Clerk who shall transfer such voter's registration in accordance with the application. When the name of any street in a Township, City or Village has been changed, it shall be the duty of the Township, City or Village Clerk to make the change to show the proper name of street in the registration records, and it shall not be necessary for the elector to change his registration with respect thereto in order to be eligible to vote.

Goodwill Program Aids Handicapped

There are many important things in life in America today and most of them cost either time or money.

Goodwill Industries, as many housewives know, have a program which costs the contributor nothing financially and costs her no time. As a matter of fact, the program saves her time. This program is built up at a grass-roots level with usable discards the basic ingredient.

Goodwill Industries services the entire district in southeastern Michigan in the collection of materials, which have either gone out of style, are worn out, or have become too small for the owner.

Goodwill Industries also asks for toys, small appliances, tools, and other such articles which are broken and would otherwise be thrown away.

There are 400 handicapped people at Goodwill Industries, whose livelihood is made through the refurbishing of these materials, which are then sold in six retail stores.

Requirements For Safety Belt

Proposed rules and regulations governing motor vehicle safety belts were discussed at a public hearing held at Michigan State Police headquarters in East Lansing as part of the process involved in setting up standards as provided in the law passed at the first special session of the legislature in 1955.

The law empowers State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs to establish standards for seat belts sold or installed in Michigan. In accordance with the regular procedure, these rules and regulations must be presented at a public hearing before they are finally drawn up by the commissioner and placed in the state administrative code, at which time they have the effect of law.

Agreed upon were provisions that, if installed, belts must be for one individual only and not for two or more, they must have permanent markings identifying the manufacturer, and have a minimum width of one and seven eighths inches and a tensile strength of at least 2,250 pounds. This also applies to any fittings attached.

The rules and regulations will apply to any person who sells or installs motor vehicle safety belts or fittings used with them.

—because your present car is at its peak value right now. And because—with Buick so solidly set as America's No. 3 Best Seller—our bigger sales volume permits us to make you an even better trade-in allowance.

Bonanza Buy

Buick prices start right next to those of the smaller cars. But those Buick dollars buy you a whale of a lot more automobile—more room, more power thrill, more styling freshness, more ride stability, more solidity of structure—the Best Buick Yet.

Bonanza Resale

A Buick always resells high. But the '56 Buick will bring you even more money when you trade it because it carries today's new Variable Pitch Dynaflow.* It's the most advanced transmission yet developed—and the only one that breaks with the past to bring you the switch-pitch performance and gas savings of the modern plane's variable pitch propellers.

With Buick booming up in the No. 3 sales spot, we're set to rate your car at its peak trade-in worth right now.

With only two smaller cars outselling Buick—you can be sure we know how to make you happy on price.

So it adds up, doesn't it, that you can really strike a bonanza and a bargain by coming in now? Especially when you see how much more smart dollars can buy here...

—The fun of Buick's brilliant Variable Pitch Dynaflow* with its thrilling switch-pitch action.

—The might of Buick's big V8 engine — 322 cubic inches with record horsepower and compression ratios.

—And the luxury of Buick's ride—a ride that knows no equal for buoyant levelness, torque tube steadiness and sweet handling.

Why don't you come in today?

P.S. We have some especially good buys right now on the high-powered CENTURY and the extra-spacious SUPER. Better see 'em real soon!

It's a great time to buy a Buick

Coffee Break Brought Over By The Dutch

ANN ARBOR — Ever wonder how that all-prevailing custom of the Coffee Break got started?

"If you're one of millions who appreciate that steaming cup and a few minutes relaxing conversation at 10 a.m. and 3 p.m., you can probably thank the Dutch-Americans who settled in Michigan in 1847. They brought the delightful custom with them to the new country."

So says F. Clever Bald, assistant director of The University of Michigan Historical Collections, and he's backed up by the Netherlands Information Service, Holland, Michigan.

According to the latter organization, nearly everybody in Holland and the surrounding area takes a break for coffee around 9:30 to 10 a.m. Business people usually go to a nearby restaurant where they discuss politics or civic matters. Factory workers usually carry a "lunch" while on the farms, lunch is often brought to the fields.

It's further reported that the housewives also take a coffee break, often going to the neighbors for a few minutes relaxation and talk. This is usually sweetened by a cookie, doughnut or roll and the friendly interval is limited to about fifteen minutes.

The Netherlands Information Service further volunteers this information, "The coffee break at Holland probably stems back to the old Dutch custom of serving coffee at about 11 o'clock each morning, a custom that prevails in the Netherlands today. In the Netherlands coffee is often served in the afternoon, too, and around here many people also take coffee breaks at about three o'clock.

Ann Arbor Game Traffic Helped

The new US-12 by-pass around the south side of Ann Arbor, was opened from US-23 southeast of the city, west to Saline road, at 11 a.m. on Saturday, September 29, in time to handle traffic going to the University of Michigan-UCLA football game opening the U. of M. gridiron season. He says he expects the entire by-pass from US-23 west to present US-12 west of Ann Arbor will be open by the morning of the Michigan State-Michigan game this week.

Opening of the entire by-pass will mean completion of another link in the Detroit-Chicago expressway system and will make available a complete expressway route from downtown Detroit to present US-12 west of Ann Arbor to serve not only Ann Arbor-bound traffic but through traffic to Jackson, Lansing, Battle Creek, Kalamazoo, other western Michigan cities and Chicago. The by-pass extends 8.6 miles from US-23 where it connects with the extension of the Willow Run-Detroit Industrial expressway system, west to US-12 west of Ann Arbor.

Sections of the future Chicago-Detroit, limited-access, expressway have been completed from east of Jackson west to Parma, and from Galesburg part way around the south side of Kalamazoo.

NEWS OF THE FARM

Lenawee Co. Agricultural Agent's Column - - - - -

When you finish planting wheat it's a good idea to bury, burn or otherwise destroy any small surplus of seed, advises Louis Hall, Lenawee Coun[illegible] Agricultural Agent.

The reason, he says, is this: The treated seed is apt to get mixed with clean wheat and that will render the entire bin unsalable as human food. And it shouldn't be fed to livestock or poultry.

Most wheat seed, he points out, is treated with a mercury compound which is poisonous. Such grain is called "pink" wheat. This has been one of the main sources of grain contamination in the past two years in Michigan.

Michigan law prohibits the presence of mercury in food products. And many carloads of wheat have been seized by authorities within the past year for that reason.

Under a new provision of the law, all seed grain that has been treated with a poisonous substance must be stained a distinctive color so that it can be readily identified.

The agent points out that in no way does this condemn the treating of seed. Seed treatment is the best method of controlling covered smut, or bunt, and seedling blights.

Lenawee County farmers who can figure their forage seed needs now for next spring's planting would be wise to order now and take advantage of present prices.

That's the advice of County Agricultural Agent Louis Hall. He points out that the supply of grass seed is down from recent years.

And, he adds, there is good reason to believe that the supply of red clover and alfalfa seed won't be any higher than during the past year.

With the supply situation on grass seeds below normal and no increase in legume seed, all indications point to future higher prices, suggests farm crops specists.

One of the main reasons is that seed probably will be in great demand by farmers who will put land in the soil bank.

Forecasts have indicated that: the supply of alsike clover is the smallest on record, the supply of bromegrass seed is the smallest in eight years—59 per cent below the 1945-'54 average; and the timothy seed supply is 23 per cent less than a year ago—29 per cent below the 1945-'54 average.

23 Varieties Are Undesirable

The 23 Wheat varieties designated as "undesirable under the 1957 wheat price support program include the following, according to Bruce Clothier, Chairman of the Michigan Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee:

Hard Red Winter — Stafford, Pawnee Sel. 33, Red Chief, Chiefkan, Early Blankhull, Red-Jacket, Kanking, New Chief, Blue Jacket, Purkof, Cimarren, Red Hull.

Soft Red Winter—Kawvale.

Durum — Pentad, Golden Ball, Peliss.

White—Rex, Sonora.

Chairman Clothier explained that, while the designated varieties have been planted in the past to meet specific production problems such as drought or rust resistance, early maturity adaptability for modern harvesting methods, and others, they proved undesirable for commercial food use.

To discourage their production and lessen the possibility of U.S. wheat of inferior quality finding its way into domestic and export channels, therefore, a discount of 20 cents per bushel was adopted last year for the first time under the support program. The application of the discount of 20 cents per bushel to produced support rates will be the same under the 1957 program as under the 1956 operation, Mr. Clothier declared. Price support regulations will provide for producers that they produce the wheat and produced it in the current crop year.

Because the varieties are difficult to determine from threshed samples of wheat, Mr. Clothier said, the identification of the variety going under price support will be the producer's responsibility, based on his knowledge of the varieties he seeded and harvested.

Mystery Farm Was George McKendry's

The mystery farm above, as it appeared in the Thrifty Shopper last week, has been identified as the 162 acre farm of George McKendery. John Davis is the tenant. It is located 1¼ miles west of Tecumseh on M-50. Mr. McKendry lived on the farm as a child and now lives ½ mile west.

Mr. McKendry was married to Bertha Nortley McKendry in 1943.

George McKendry has had the farm 58 years. It has been in the family for 2 generations. John Davis farms it now on a share basis.

The previous owner was Samuel Bryan who owned it from obout 1840 to 1898. Recent changes include remodeling of the house and a new silo. The farm was first put under plow in 1835 by Moses Smith.

Agricultural Conservation Funds Are Still Available

T. O. Brittain, Chairman of the Lenawee County ASC Committee, announced today that Agriculture Conservation funds are still available. Practices such as Liming, Planting Trees and Shrubs, Permanent Pasture Improvement, Pruning Pine Plantations, Thinning, Release and Protection of Desirable Trees, Permanent Fences to Protect Farm Woodland From Grazing, Tile Drainage, and Structures For Erosion Control, can still be carried out by the end of the program year. In connection with the lime practice, a soil test is required of each field intended to be limed. A sample is to be taken to the County Agents Office, located in the basement of the Court House, or Brookside Farms Laboratory, pH only, Esterline Brothers, pH, P. K., Cronkhite, pH only, American Agricultural Chemical Company, PH, P and K. Any farmer who has not previously applied for a payment for the cost of ACP practices, if he will make that application now or as soon as possible he will receive a cost share. Applications concerning these practices are to be filed at the Lenawee County ASC Office, at 118 West Church Street, Adrian, Michigan.

Farmers should get their requests into the county ASC office so that funds can be allocated prior to the start of performance on that particular job. The ACP funds are intended by Congress to be spent in the interest of additional conservation to obtain the maximum conservation benefits. There are many times as many conservation practices that should be carried out in Lenawee County as there are available funds. Any farmer who will perform additional conservation practices with the use of this cost-share that has been appropriated by Congress should made application just as quickly as possible.

Make Sure Your New Tank Fits

Are you going to buy a bulk tank for milk?

You had better consider a few points about your milkhouse first, suggests Allen Gillette and Carl Hall who are agricultural engineers.

The advise the farmer to make sure the milkhouse will give 18 to 24 inches of clearance around the tank for servicing and cleaning. Some tanks take up much less floor space than others, and you can buy one with a separate refrigeration unit that can be located outside the milkhouse.

If you're remodeling a milkhouse you can have a removable panel in the wall to make the door at least four feet wide. That's so the tank can be moved in and out for installation and servicing.

Make sure the floor of the milk house is strong enough to support the tank's weight. Remember that it rests on a few points instead of spreading its weight. It will be holding twice as much milk weight as your can cooler if you have every-other-day pickup.

If the floor settles at all, the milk measurement won't be accurate.

And make sure of adequate wiring and ventilation.

STOP FIRES

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK · OCTOBER 7-13

You can make your farm and home safe from fires if you don't give them a place to start.

And Oct. 7-13, National Fire Prevention Week, is a reminder to get rid of places for fires to start before the winter months when fire hazards are greatest. Last year farm fires caused $150 million of property damage.

As a starter in removing fire hazards, the leading causes of fires in barns and other outbuildings are: Spontaneous combustion, electrical faults, lightning and defective heating systems.

In the home, main causes of fires are: Defective heating equipment, careless use of gasoline and kerosene, defective chimneys, sparks from chimneys and electrical faults.

Library Is To Receive A Shipment Of New Books

At a recent meeting of the board of the Tecumseh Public Library it was announced that a large shipment of new books would be received soon. In addition it was suggested that perhaps the public was not sufficiently aware of the size and variety of the supply of magazines always available in the reading room.

There are 67 magazines and periodicals in the racks of which several are new this year. Fourteen, largely of a religious character or the publications of organizations are gifts to the library but the remainder are purchased with tax money and are there to be used by the reading public.

The list includes:

America, American Builder, American Girl, American Heritage (New and especially noteworthy), American Library Assocn. Bulletin, Atlantic Monthly, Better Homes and Gardens, Boys Life, Business Week, Capper's, Catholic Digest, Child Life, Children's Digest, Christian Science Sentinel, D.A.R. Bulletin, Farm Journal, Field and Stream, Collier's Consumer's Report, Coronet, Current History, Flying Forbes, Ford Times, Good Housekeeping, Harpers, Harper's Bazaar.

Holiday, Home Craftman, Horn Book, Household, Ideals, Introduction to Korea, Jack and Jill, Junior Libraries, Ladies Home Journal, Library Journal, Life, Mademoiselle, Missions, Modern Photography, National Geographic, N.Y. Times Book Review, New Yorker, Newsweek, Parents, People and Places, Popular Mechanics, Presbyterian Life, Radio and Television News, Readers Digest, Religion and Health.

Rotarian, Saturday Evening Post, Saturday Review of Literature, Scholastic, Science News Letter, Seventeen, Sports Illustrated, Stamps, Time, This Day, Today's Health, U.S. News and World Report, Wilson's Library Bulletin and Womans Home Companion.

When you put the Democratic and Republican farm platforms side by side the most surprising thing about them is their remarkable similarity. You would almost need a label to tell them apart.

The only real farm issues are (1) which party is more responsible for low farm prices, and (2) which would do more to restore fair prices and income.

Both state as their major objective 100% of parity prices and income for farmers. They differ only moderately over the level of price supports. Democrats would fix price supports for cotton, wheat, corn, rice and peanuts at 90% of parity. Republican supports for those ranging from 82% to 85% of parity.

It is only natural that in an election campaign each party should attempt to place the blame for low prices on the other. Fact of the matter is, prices were going down before the Democrats moved out of the White House, and they've been going down most of the time since then.

The reason for that decline is less political than it is economic. Both parties have hesitated to take the drastic measures that would have been necessary to force a big cut-back in production. Under both parties U.S. prices have been above world market levels because costs of production were higher than in other producing countries.

Other than price support levels, there is little difference between what the two parties promise to do if elected, Both recognize surpluses as the biggest farm problem, and each promises to take pretty much the same steps to remedy the situation.

Republicans and Democrats alike favor the soil bank payments to compensate farmers for taking still more land out of production until demand catches up with the supply. Both favor a vigorous export program to make our products competitive on world markets.

Both recognize that farmers' greatest need, aside from immediate improvement in prices, is for the development of bigger markets so that they can expand, rather than decrease, their production. Both favor spending more money for research to expand old markets and develop new ones.

There are no differences over helping family type farmers earn a good living. Both oppose programs which help big, commercial farmers more than they do small farmers, and each would use about the same methods as the other.

There are no differences between the platforms about the need for more soil conservation, and both favor expansion of crop insurance to help ease the blow of drought or other disaster.

Both platforms pledge support for farm cooperatives, and both are equally committed to such programs as Rural Electrification and the Farmers Home Administration.

Neither party, if elected, would make any major changes, with the possible exception of Democratic repeal of flexible price supports, if elected in November. Republicans want to keep the flexible price law, but they know they can't use it fully so long as there are large surpluses of cotton, wheat and other major crops.

The way it boils down, about the only real farm issue is whether you prefer Republicans or Democrats in Washington.
